LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

—One week from next Sabbath will be Easter. —Oil market closed yesterday 75¢. Opening this morning at 76¢.

—Trout fishing will be legal from to-morrow until the 15th of July. —Chas. E. White of the Tidouete News paid the burg a flying visit Monday.

—Arbor Day to-morrow. Let him that is without shade plant the first tree. —Mr. Samuel Clark is again able to be out on the streets, after his late serious illness, glad to report.

—Park Grove has gone to house-keeping, occupying rooms in the spacious mansion of his brother Wilbur. —Mr. L. L. Hunter, one of Tidouete's popular and substantial young citizens was in town Monday and gave us a pleasant call.

—Cobb & Co.'s new stove mill near the depot will soon be in running operation. A great many bolts have already been piled up around the mill. —Monday and yesterday we had some real April showers, and if the temperature don't take cold, it is but reasonable that we may look for May flowers.

—W. H. Roth of Oil City, was on our streets yesterday. When informed that he was a day or two too soon for the trout season he took the evening train for home. —Late reports from Mr. John Cobb state that his friends have little or no hopes of his recovery. This news will be learned with sorrow by his many friends in this section.

—Mr. B. M. Price, the popular traveling freight agent of the B., N. Y. & P. R. R., stopped in town a few hours last Thursday to consult with the patrons of the road. —One of our enthusiastic citizens, who seems "smashed" on Washington Territory, writes a communication on that far-off country which will be found in this issue. While it is painted up in all colors of the rainbow, it is well enough not to be too hasty about packing up for that climate.

—The trailing arbutus, the loveliest child of the wildwood, the sweetest flower that blooms, the choicest little pink darling in the garland of Spring, is now budding out. The eye that understands Nature's secrets may detect the fragrant little visitor peeping from under the dead leaves on slopes which have a southern exposure. —Franklin News.

—Mr. Briggs of Porky, Howe twp., was elected justice of the peace for his township, at the election in February, but it seems there was no vacancy. This fact does not lessen Mr. Briggs' appreciation of the honor which his neighbors intended to bestow, and he feels duly grateful, and had there been a vacancy, would have taken out his commission, although he did not seek the office.

—Heretofore it has been customary for school boards in most sections to levy and collect taxes on money at interest for school purposes. This source of revenue will be cut off hereafter, as section first of the new law for the collection of taxes on mortgages and other moneyed capital for State purposes has a provision which says "that the same shall, after the passage of this act, be exempt from all taxation, except for State purposes."

—Kellestville begins to loom up as a prospective oil town. But there's many a fairer prospect faded into cloudy disappointment. But we wish a hundred per cent. more of realization than the present promises for Kellestville.

—The last of the rafts left this place on Monday, the water having dropped to a fair rafting stage. About all of those who pulled out last week have returned, being a full week on the way, most of which time was spent laying up on account of high water. All got down safely.

—Democratic civil service reform struck Stewarts Run last week and knocked the post office some distance away from its former location. Mrs. Frank Metcalf is the new official, we understand. Our old friend J. I. Range, who has served the people long and well, will scarcely lose any sleep over the loss of his position under Uncle Sam.

—Work of excavating for the foundation of the tannery at West Hickory has been going on for several days, and lumber, timber, brick and other materials are on the ground in abundance. The works will be located about 30 rods below the depot, on high ground, nicely situated, nine acres of which were donated by Mr. Orion Siggins; certainly a very liberal gift. It is expected the tannery will employ about 300 men when in full blast, exclusive of outside employes. This certainly means a handsome boom for Hickory.

—From the Williamsville, N. Y. Bee, we clip the following complimentary notice of Hon. Peter Berry of this county: "A very enjoyable incident occurred at the camp-fire of Ransom Post, last Friday evening. The Post entertained the Hon. Peter Berry, of Forest county, Pa., a member of the Legislature of that state and brother to our esteemed Commander. He entertained the Post with a neat speech, and knowing the burdens falling on an institution of our kind and thinking the soldiers should not bear all of them, generously presented them with a green-back bearing an x on it's back."

—Vol. 1, No. 1, of the "Referee and Dramatic Critic" is before us. As the name implies it is devoted to sports—outdoors and indoors—particularly the better class of sports, and as the tendency of the times is toward the elevation of amusements of all kinds, the new journal will lend every assistance toward the accomplishment of such an aim. The number at hand contains sixteen pages of clean, instructive and entertaining matter, and if this is a fair index of future issues its success is already assured. It is published weekly at 66 Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa., at the nominal sum of $2.00 per year.

—Our friend Butterfield, the convivial ticket agent at the Valley depot at this point, showed himself possessed of a great amount of will power during the time the trains were delayed Tuesday and Wednesday. All that time he was constantly besieged by people asking if he had tidings of the delayed trains. He answered with his accustomed cordiality all questions, and never for an instance did he allow his ire to get the better of his self-possession. I. G., has many friends in Emlenton. Show us his equal if you can. —Emlenton News. Sometimes, however, even his patience gives out. For instance when a gentleman wanted to rent an office from him. After having been repeatedly put off, he made a final assault on "Is," asking "what he would take for the office, anyway?" Turning vehemently upon the fellow, with a tragic gesture and closed fists, he ejaculated, "A hundred dollars a minute! Do you want it?" He was bored no further.

—The wife and two children of B. P. Anderson are very sick with the measles. Alfred Shaw of Watson Farm has recently lost two children with the diphtheria and one more is very sick with the same disease. The farmers have commenced plowing in this vicinity. The Brookston School closes this week. Pigeons are very thick in this place; they are a good deal thicker than the pigeons. We have heard of only eighteen being "cotched yet."

—Charles Rhenner has commenced with his "black horse and red wagon" supplying this vicinity with meat, butter and eggs. OBSERVER.

Kellestville Items.

Once more we seize the quill and glance around to see what we can say of our "fellow citizens" this week that will be of interest to your readers at a distance; we find that—

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Whiteman are still absent from home, the high state of the Allegheny being the cause of their protracted stay.

Miss Maggie Small, the popular music teacher, still makes her regular visits to pupils here and in this vicinity.

The Dean boys are engaged in making maple syrup at a camp near here; having sampled some of the same we can say it is truly delicious.

We notice that much ado is made of the fact that pigeons are feeding in different localities in the country. At the old Hancock & Kennedy well, about 1 mile from here, they have been feeding in large numbers. Some clever boys salted the ground and then when they were thickest, slew several with clubs, and it wasn't much of a day for pigeons either.

Prof. J. E. Hillard spent an evening of last week in Kellestville. The Prof. is a genial conversationalist, and one whom it is profitable to meet.

Free Methodist preaching and prayer meeting held on alternate Sundays in the new school house across the creek. Rev. D. B. Toby and wife are now attending meeting at East Hickory.

Much amusement was caused the other day by the endeavors of a young Swede to row a skiff across the creek; at each effort the oars would fly from the oarlocks and up would go the heels of the foreign gentleman; at last the boat came ashore much to his relief.

The tannery men are all here; from reports we are led to believe that very low wages will be paid for labor—$1.25 for man boarding himself; $3.50 for team and find its self; also board at $3.50 per week—it looks like a case of "root hog or die."

There is a good deal of suppressed excitement at Buck Mills, but quiet as they keep we can say at least that seven new rigs are being built, a tank has been put up and every house is full of boarders, which is pretty good evidence that some one has struck it. April 12, 1886. EZEKIEL.

Attention, Stow Post. The next meeting of the Post will be on Wednesday, May, 5, 1886, at 7:30 o'clock. Let there be a good attendance as we wish to make arrangements for Memorial Day at that meeting, and business of importance. All who wish Memorial badges, silver stripe border with Post and emblems on it, patent antique "G. A. R." printed at the top, very beautiful, will send postal to Adj't. S. D. Irwin, or call and see him before May 1st, and see sample; price 25 cents. Old members who are behind in dues can be reinstated by paying $2.25 under present regulations, and whether in regular standing or not in Post, all soldiers are expected and requested to take part Memorial Day.

J. W. MORROW, Com. S. D. IRWIN, Adj't.

Meade's Strategy at Gettysburg. Major General Lafayette McLaws, who commanded the 1st Division of Longstreet's corps at the battle of Gettysburg, will contribute to the Weekly Press of April 21 a very important article showing the probable consequences of an assault if made by General Meade either just after Pickett's repulse or at Williamsport. General McLaws is one of the few surviving officers in important command who can speak with authority concerning Lee's plan of battle and preparations to resist a possible assault. His article is a most interesting and valuable endorsement of General Meade's conduct of the greatest battle of modern times, and will exert a very positive influence in forming the judgment of history. It will be preceded in the Weekly Press of April 14 by an authentic account of the movements of the two armies from "Cemetery Hill to the Potomac," by Thomas Robbins, Jr., written from papers heretofore inaccessible.

—My physician said I could not live. My liver out of order, frequently vomited greenish mucous, skin yellow, small dry humors on face, stomach would not retain food. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me." Mrs. Adelaide O'Brein, 372 Exchange St., Buffalo, N. Y.

—Fresh Garden Seeds, Clover and Timothy Seed, and Onion Sets at Smearbaugh & Co. 2t.

East Hickory Done up in Rhyme.

Gentle reader, if you will listen, A short story I will tell About the inhabitants of Hickory—I won't attempt to tell it well, But when reading of the boys of other towns, I thought that I could do the same, So gentle reader, if you'll listen, I will mention each by name: To begin with—let me see,— T. J. Bowman, merchant here, Is a man of worth you'll agree; He will sell to you without a fear Of prices falling down too low, For he can put them up you know, And go on selling with a smile, That wins respect from all, the while. Our other merchant, Walter Crouch, Goes on in business fine, With a pretty little lady clerk, He lives up to the line; He has a fine array of goods, Perfume and candies rare; He will furnish you with all you want, And sell at prices fair.

The next on the list is our Hotel, The proprietor is Wesley Ball; He does a flourishing business; Give it your custom one and all. His cooks are always pretty, And they do their work right well, And if you want good victuals Just come to our hotel.

John Haliday of the meat market, Is a good honest man; He sells us meat low, And still makes all he can. Charlie Smith, white apron on, Drives 'round the meat to sell, And while he makes a sale of pork He'll make a mash as well.

And there is our blacksmith, Perry Hill, A nice, fair headed chap; I hear him away with a right good will— He works him now! tap! tap! From early morn until the eve, There is no rest for him, He then he gets the work all done He then rakes in the tin.

Mr. Stoughton with sleeves rolled up, And dirty apron on, Puts on horseshoes and drives in nails, For the upper part of town. Next are the rival shoemakers, Their names are Conard and Nuss, Both of them mend our boots so well You can't tell which is worse.

If you get your harness broken Take it to Mr. Burns; He'll mend the straps and buckles too; Give work for what he earns. You'll get your wagons mended too, By calling at the shop Where Mr. Whitmore does his work; I tell you he's no fop.

Mr. Hall of the "Spider and Fly" Took the hearts of the men by storm With his glossy hair and brilliant eye, But he's left them all to mourn. The business now is left to Frank; He'll try to please you all. But nothing will ever console the boys For the loss of Charlie Hall.

There's the clerk in T. J. Bowman's store, With his beautiful big mustache, While waiting on the ladies He is just the one to make a mash. If you go into the store Maek files around with speed, And while you view the dry goods o'er He'll try and sell you all you need.

Warren Whitten, please to list, Until I ask of you A real straightforward question, Give me the answer true: What is it shines upon your head Just underneath your hat? Now don't get angry with poor me, But try to answer that.

Our young townsman Charlie Ball Likes the girls and wants them all; With his lovely face and dandish air He takes the girls both dark and fair. He gets one whenever he tries, They come without the least surprise Although they know without a doubt, When the next one comes that they'll be out.

Jimmy Connelly, pretty lad, With hair oiled up so neat, Try and grow up just like your dad For time is all too fleet To while away the present time In trying to raise a beard; If you would stop shaving for a month I don't think we'd be scared.

But hark! let me think a while— There's Grant and Less and Burt, Gene, Frank, George, Ginger, Charlie, Smith, And Will, Edd, Roy, and Curt, And numerous others large and small, Of every name and age, If I would try to name them all It would cover all this page. HELIOTROPE.

Didn't Congratulate. In reply to an item in the National Democrat of March 25, setting forth that the party who visited Washington from Tionesta had called on the President and "congratulated him on the doings of the administration," would say, as one of the parties, that we wished Cleveland success with the administration, but as to passing congratulations with President Cleveland, he will have to change the administration to our views; we're on the other side of the fence.

H. C. WHITTAKER.

BILIOUSNESS. Bilious symptoms invariably arise from indigestion, such as furred tongue, vomiting of bile, giddiness, sick headache, irregular bowels. The liver secretes the bile and acts like a filter or sieve, to cleanse impurities of the blood. By irregularity in its action or suspensions of its functions, the bile is liable to overflow into the blood, causing jaundice, sallow complexion, yellow eyes, bilious diarrhoea, a languid, weary feeling and many other distressing symptoms. Biliousness may be properly termed an affection of the liver, and can be thoroughly cured by the grand regulator of the liver and biliary organs, BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. It acts upon the stomach, bowels and liver, making healthy bile and pure blood, and opens the culverts and sluiceways for the outlet of disease. Sold everywhere and guaranteed to cure.

JOB WORK of every description executed at the REPUBLICAN office.
