LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

No Paper Next Week.

In order to allow the REPUBLICAN force to witness the foot races, tub race, the married men lay out the boys in a game of base ball, and the "balloon go up," on the 3d of July, there will be no paper issued from this office next week. These are all important matters and business must in a measure be suspended to see that they go off all right. Our next paper will appear on July 14.

No paper next week.

One of Mr. Sadner's best team-horses died yesterday.

Forest Shoup is here on a visit to his brother-in-law, C. M. Shawkey.

Mrs. S. A. Varner is visiting at the residence of her father, Judge Proper.

The band boys gave the guests at the May mansion a nice serenade last Friday evening.

Communion services will be held at the Presbyterian Church next Sabbath morning. Preparatory services will be held on Saturday evening previous.

A large force of carpenters is at work on Mr. Kelly's house and the rough frame is mostly up. It is evident there will be no time lost in its completion.

Sam and Effie Clark returned home to enjoy a few weeks vacation last Thursday, the former from Mackaburg, O., and the latter from her school at Jamestown, N. Y.

Mrs. W. E. Lathy of Newton, Kansas and Mrs. J. B. Legnard of Chicago, arrived in town last Thursday. Mrs. Lathy expects to remain with Tionesta friends during the summer.

Rev. Feitt returned Monday morning from a ministerial convention of the Franklin District of the Evangelical Church, held at Dempseytown last week, in which he took an active part.

Next Saturday will be generally celebrated as the Fourth. Tionesta presents a program which ought to furnish a good deal of fun for the boys, with just enough at stake to make it interesting.

The 16th Regiment, N. G. P., will go into camp for one week at Warren, Pa., on the 16th of July. Col. Wiley of Franklin is the commander of this regiment, which is said to be one of the finest in the State.

Prothonotary Shawkey returned from his Kansas visit last Saturday. He had an excellent time, and reports his fathers' family in good health and spirits, with everything about the farm in splendid order, and crops growing as only Kansas crops can grow.

There will be an educational meeting at Starr on Saturday evening, July 10th. The program will consist of addresses, essays, debates, practical school-work, all interspersed with music, vocal and instrumental. The people of the vicinity are invited, especially the patrons of the school.

SPECIAL EXAMINATION.—An examination of teachers to accommodate all who may wish to apply for situations in the Borough, and who do not have the proper certificates, will be held in the school building Friday, July 9, beginning at 10 o'clock. None others than those specified need apply. J. E. HILLARD, Co. Supt.

Miss Hattie Van Streenberg, teacher of Gorman school, makes the following report for month ending June 25: Per cent. of attendance, males 84, females 99. Nina Hotchkiss, Avirdie Gorman, Ida McCoy, Libbie Wiles, Allie Gorman, Willie Cannon, Bart and Fannie Wiles, were present every day. Carrie Sutley missed one day.

Our former townsman, J. D. W. Reck, carried off the boodle in a contest with the Rixford Rifle Club a few days ago. The distance was 200 yards, five shots, string measure, Jairus' string measured 5 1/2 inches, and the next best was 10 1/2, upon which we heartily congratulate him. These McKean county shooters want to let Forest county material alone or get downed.

Plummer Siggins brother to our John, is in hard luck. About two weeks ago while standing on the bull wheel at a well of his near Grand Valley, the engine was started, throwing Mr. S. into the air. He landed so as to strike his spine. He was taken with convulsions and has since been very sick, although better on Wednesday. He was taken home to Hickory yesterday.—Tidioute News.

Master Will Morrow, son of the Doctor, has secured the exclusive right to make and sell Walker's patent labor saving soap, in Forest and Armstrong counties, and will offer the same to our citizens. It is guaranteed to remove the worst of grease spots with cold water, a property not often found in soap. A trial will convince the most skeptical that it will do all claimed for it. Price no more than any other soap.

The Grand Army of Republic, Department of Pennsylvania, will encamp on the battle field of Gettysburg, July 2d, and remain until the 7th. On the 2d and 3d of July the reunion of the Third Army Corps will be held on the same historic field. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets to Gettysburg from all stations on its lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie, on June 30th, July 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th, good to return until the 8th, inclusive, at one fare for the round trip.

All persons presenting full fare, single trip local tickets, on trains of the B. N. Y. & P. Ry., purchased and dated July 3d, 4th, or 5th, 1886, will be permitted to return on the same without extra charge on those dates, including July 6th. Conductors will punch tickets twice on presentation and return them to passengers, and will honor tickets, so punched, for the return trip, on above named dates, on any train stopping regularly, by schedule, at the stations at which they were issued. No tickets will be honored for return passage after July 6th.

A goodly number of the younger population of the town met at the engine room Saturday evening and re-organized the fire company for the ensuing year by the election of the following officers: Geo. Sawyer, Chief; Dick Davis, Foreman; R. L. Haslet and A. M. Doust, first and second assistant Foreman; H. C. Whittekin, Secretary; J. E. Wenk, Treasurer; Wm. Morgan, Geo. Holeman and Chas. Raisig, Directors. A constitution and by-laws for the proper government of the company were also adopted, and all members present signed the roll. Meetings will be held the first Thursday in each month.

A dispatch from Bolivar to the Wellsville Free Press of June 10, says: "Miss Louie Mays, who was injured in the accident on the B. E. & C., railroad near Little Genesee, May 13th, died from those injuries this morning at the residence of Mr. D. A. Newton here, where she had been under the physician's care since the accident. A post mortem will be held, and then the remains taken to her home near Clarrington, Forest County, for interment. Miss Mays was an estimable young lady of more than ordinary accomplishments. She had been teaching school at Tarport, Pa., and came here on a visit to Mrs. Dorr Newton before going home, and it was on her way homeward that the accident occurred which caused her death."

A Swing Around the Circle

Your tramp found your other older tramp, Geo. Haslet, at Sheffield, just returned from the wonderland of Northern New York and full of an enthusiastic regard for its natural beauties and unbounded privileges of meeting nature in her wildly romantic and gloriously sublime aspects.

New houses are being built at Brookston, and the tannery business is moving right along. Bark peeling, piling and hauling is the foremost business in the woods at present; that is it seems to be as you ride along on the train and listen to the conversation of the woods workers; but sit down in the shade on a log to breathe in inspiration viewing the scenery afforded by the grand green clad hills and beautifully winding valleys half hidden low down at their feet and in the section of a minute equal to a quadrant thereof you'll be willing to be persuaded that the green wood hath no industry equal to that of keeping on even terms with a small insect etymologically designated "the punkie."

Once in a while an accident occurs in the "bark woods." Near Frosts some time ago one man was struck over the head with a limb and knocked senseless for some time, but soon recovered.

Another had his leg cut severely. Two men were cutting down a tree one a left handed chopper, the other a right handed. Both stood on the same side of the tree. When the tree was nearly down, one man's ax caught on a twig or limb and being turned from its course entered the other man's leg more than half way up from the knee cutting slantingly upward reaching as deep as the bone.

Indications point to a more active trade in lumber along the line of the little road up in Howe and Jenks and to a trifle better prices—or seems to. A large amount of hemlock shingles is saved up in those woods.

At Frosts' Mr. Frosts' little son burned his feet quite bad a few days since. He had gone off playing by himself it seems, and had wandered to where there was a fire in a pile of sawdust. Tramping in the sawdust he broke through to where it was burning underneath. He pulled himself out and started for the house which he had almost reached when discovered.

The home of Mr. Black, school teacher at Frosts' was made glad the early part of last week by the advent of a fine baby girl.

Gilfoyle has a fine gas well. Part of the houses there at the mill and at the station are lighted and heated by the gas. The article is of a superior quality.

Col. Amsler is putting up a store building at Marienville located nearly south of the Center House some distance. The wall is built and the superstructure will soon arise.

Dr. Towler is kept quite busy. The Dr.'s heat extends over a large extent of territory and grows no less.

Grandmother Merciliott who has been quite low is improving in health and we are glad to learn and note.

TRAMP.

Kellettville Items.

Kellettville is a popular resort for Sunday visitors from neighboring towns.

Messrs. Butler & Caldwell were in town last evening.

One of Lee Davis' children is quite ill.

Rev. D. B. Toby occupied the F. M. pulpit yesterday by invitation.

Wm. Richards and Rev. Hogue were in Kellettville last week; they located a well while here and expect to have the rig hauled this week. This well will be close to the tannery on the Cole tract.

Archie Poffenberger spent the Sabbath at home. Archie is teaming at Russell's Mills; he reports business moving along there with the energy usual with the Messrs. Russell.

Ed. Morgan has returned from Lacy's Mills. Besides being the boss teamster, Ed. is quite a fisherman; but, as the season will soon be out, we advise him to hurry and catch his minnie before it is too late.

Probably the first dance that ever took place in a tannery building, occurred here last Friday evening. The second story was used, and it afforded sufficient room for all to dance who cared to; refreshments were served and every one seemed happy; the married men doubly so, but that can be accounted for as they had to enjoy it for themselves and absent wives also.

EZEKIEL. June 28.

Stewart's Run Notes.

We have had quite a spell of weather, especially wet.

The farmers are busy putting in their buckwheat.

Mrs. D. F. Copeland and daughter Myrta were visiting relatives on the Run last Sabbath.

Mr. W. C. Bromley killed a large rattlesnake on his way home from Sabbath School last Sabbath.

Mr. W. Y. Siggins, of Tionesta, paid James McIntyre's strawberry field a very pleasant visit one day last week. Jim says he would not care so much if Billy had only left him enough for a short-cake.

Work on Mr. Haudy's cellar is progressing finely.

Preaching and Sabbath school at the Wesleyan church every Sabbath. We understand they have a nice Sabbath School and are glad to hear it.

Judge Brown on License.

Considering the action taken on the license question in this county at the last term of court, all parties will doubtless be interested in the disposition of the matter in Warren county last week. In Warren borough six were granted, in Clarendon six, Sheffield three, and in other sections of the county four were granted, making nineteen in all, out of fifty-seven applications. Judge Brown delivered a lengthy opinion, and from the Tidioute News we take the following synopsis: "In brief it is founded upon the act of 1867, which makes it necessary for the applicant to show that a 'license to sell liquor' is necessary, and not a 'license to keep hotel, inn or tavern.' In determining this necessity the proper method was to hear petitions and remonstrances from the residents of the ward, borough or township in which license was applied for.

"We must look principally to the opinion of the voters of the locality in determining the necessity for the proposed license, but (and we here adopt the language of the able judge of the Fourth district) we are not bound by the result of a simple count of the names of the voters. We may consider also their character, their business relations, their local prominence, and such other circumstances as may be seen to give value to the opinions expressed by them and enable us to determine the sentiment of the borough or township. And we avail ourselves of the words of the same judge: "We have always received respectfully and taken into account the remonstrance of adult women. They do not vote, it is true, and we do not attempt to fix the formula by which the weight of their remonstrances may be calculated with exactness, but we never have, and we never shall, shut our ears to the cries of the wives and mothers who ask to be heard on this question. They are the greatest sufferers from the consequences of intemperance, they have the greatest interest in the subject, and they have no other method of striking at the traffic."

"What we have said indicates our convictions of the duty imposed on us by the laws of the commonwealth. Aided by any knowledge either of the judges may have as to applicants and localities, we shall try to dispose of each one of the pending applications upon its merits. Our duty is a perplexing one. The evidence on which we must act is in many instances vague or conflicting. That we shall make mistakes is probable. That the decisions we shall render will not meet the approval of all is certain. If we could assent to the proposition maintained by some very able judges, that the necessity of the particular house for the entertainment of strangers and travelers, together with the other prerequisites, being shown, the court is bound to grant a license, our duty would be an easy one.—But we cannot so assert. In the absence of express legislative enactment or positive decision of the court of last resort, we are not able to conclude that it is indeed the law that one man who happens to own or occupy a house so situated and equipped as to be convenient or necessary for feeding and lodging the wayfarer, may demand as a right, and in the face of an overwhelming adverse popular sentiment, that the court shall commission him to thrust the business of selling intoxicating drinks upon an unwilling community.

"While we have great respect for the opinion of the judges from whom we differ we must follow our own convictions of duty, and this we do when we hold that the necessity of a license to sell intoxicating drinks is to be determined, in great part, by the sentiment of the locality as expressed in the petitions and remonstrances presented to the court."

The News adds: "Logically following out the Judge's opinion remonstrances against the granting of licenses in Warren and Clarendon must have been very light, both as regards the character and business relations of the signers."
