LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Oil market closed yesterday 66. Opening this morning at 66c.

Wild geese have been flying southward in large flocks during the past week.

The slight sprinkling of snow on Sunday morning last was the first of the season in these parts.

The erection of a new M. E. Church at West Hickory has been decided upon, the work to begin forthwith.

Jas. D. Davis left to day for Warren, where he has accepted a position as book keeper in the Warren Savings bank. Jim will fill the bill.

The thriving town of Punxsutawney, Jefferson county, was visited by a fire on the 9th inst., which swept away $150,000 worth of the best portion of the place.

Rev. Hickling being in attendance at a meeting of the Presbyterian Synod in Pittsburgh this week, there will be no services at the Presbyterian Church next Sabbath.

We hear that Messrs. Wheeler & Dunsbury will soon commence work on their proposed railroad from their mills on East Hickory creek to the depot at West Hickory.

The Wesleyan Methodists will hold a quarterly meeting at the White Church on Stewarts Run, on Oct. 30 and 31. First services on Saturday evening. Rev. J. Case will be present.

The old law prohibiting the marrying of minors under a penalty of $250 has been repealed by the passage of the marriage license. It was officially declared so in Allegheny county last Monday.—Blizzard.

Mr. J. A. Hart shipped his household goods to South Oil City on Monday, where he will make his future home, intending to engage in mercantile pursuits. Mr. and Mrs. Hart bear with them the best wishes of our citizens for their future welfare.

The borough council has sensibly concluded to have gas torches erected instead of small lamps. They will cost $25 each, the company to do all the work and keep them lighted for a year, and it is calculated that four will be sufficient, and five abundant.

Mr. Charles W. Macy, of Hudson, N. Y., was in town last week and paid us a pleasant visit. Mr. Macy is the principal owner of tract 2825, on Hemlock, from which our Gas Company gets its supply of gas, and which will some day "pour forth rivers of oil," we predict.

Miles W. Tate Esq., has received the distinguished honor of being selected by State Chairman Cooper as one of the campaign speakers from now until election, and he leaves today for that purpose. We venture the assertion that Mr. Tate's speeches will rank with the best of them.

Tionesta, with her splendid supply of natural gas, her large bodies of wood of all descriptions, her excellent shipping facilities, either by rail or water, and many other qualities that might be mentioned, is a most advantageous location for manufacturers of different kinds. Capitalists on the lookout for a good opening should cast their eyes in this direction.

Quite a number of the members of the Presbyterian Church of this place attended the dedicatory services at the new church at Tylersburg last Sabbath, and were rewarded by a most profitable time. A debt of $200 on the new edifice was entirely wiped out by a collection taken up in the congregation, and the outlook for the future prosperity of the charge is full of promise.

Miss Maude Davis will take a limited number of pupils at her home, after Oct. 20th. Terms $1.00 a lesson.

Persons who intend using natural gas for fuel or lights, and who have policies of insurance issued through Findlay's Insurance Agencies, (offices at Franklin, Pa., and Parker's Landing, Pa.) are requested to send their policies for endorsement to A. Y. Findlay, Manager, Franklin, Pa.

The general quarterly meeting for the Oil City district, Pittsburgh, conference of the Free Methodist church, will be held at Newmansville, Clarion county, beginning Thursday evening, October 28th, and continuing until Sabbath evening, the 31st. Rev. J. T. Michael, chairman of the district, will have charge of the meeting. Ministers and members from different points in the district will also be present. A profitable time is anticipated.—Blizzard.

News was received by Mrs. Thos. Hassey on Saturday last stating that her brother, 'Dolph Siegel, whose home was in Nebraska, had died and was buried on the 10th inst. Full particulars were not given, but it appears that typhoid fever was the cause. Dolph will be remembered by most of our townspeople as an energetic young man. He was married to Miss Nora Hulings of this place about three years ago, who with one child survives him, and who will have the sympathy of all her acquaintances here in her bereavement.

Fred. Hall, an Oil City boy, was on Monday, ground to atoms by the cars. The Blizzard ends its account of the frightful affair in the following manner, which we hope will prove a warning to the boys of this place who are in the habit of jumping on and off moving trains at this depot at almost all hours of the day: "So far as can be learned at this hour, no one saw the boy killed, and it appears that he was responsible for his terrible end by 'catching on' to a moving train. Numerous young lives have been lost in this city from that cause, but it seems impossible to stop this most perilous practice. Fred. Hall was in the habit of taking free rides of this kind, and there is nothing to show that this did not cause his death."

A Pleasantville correspondent of the Titusville Citizen gives the following account of a singular freak of a runaway horse at that place last week: A strange runaway occurred last week. A horse owned by Mr. Shattuck while standing unhitched in front of the pipe office became frightened and started on a run up Main street. By the time it was opposite the residence of Mr. Isaac Connely it had become clear of the buggy except the thills, then one of the lines probably becoming entangled pulled its head toward the house and obeying the rein it entered the gate passed up the stone steps and entered the front door the thills striking the door jamb tore loose, the horse entered the room and quietly stood there until caught. Not a thing in the room was overturned or broken by it. The ladies of the house-hold seeing it coming, rushed into adjoining rooms and shutting the doors, awaited in fear and trembling its removal.

The following item concerning the death of Mr. I. N. Cummings, well and favorably known to most of our citizens, we clip from the Franklin Evening News of the 15th inst.: Isaac N. Cummings, formerly of this city, died at 10 o'clock Wednesday evening at the residence of his father, George Cummings, in Frenchcreek township, this county. The funeral took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon, at the Nicklin church. Mr. Cummings resided in this city for several years, and was a partner with his brother, J. F. Cummings, in the sand business. Two years ago he strained himself in some way while at work. The injury resulted in an inward trouble, supposed to have been an abscess, which baffled medical skill. He was obliged to give up business and go to his father's, where for two years he was a great sufferer. At times he suffered extremely, and toward the last he longed for release, being ready and willing to die. Mr. Cummings was a good citizen and was highly esteemed by his numerous friends in this city.

Notes By the Way.

After many days your tramp lays down the wander-staff and gathers up the journalistic staff to spin a news letter out of stray bits gathered here and there, caught on the thorns of memory from the flock of common place events driven along in the course of time.

The hills and valleys are ablaze and glorious with golden and red and russet and brown; a veritable field of cloth of gold on which the sovereigns of summer and autumn meet, the one to take up, the other to lay down, for awhile, the crown of the seasons.

That was the way we had seen it and thought of it prior to the rain and wind of last Thursday. There is beauty and gladness yet in the forest glade and the wood crowned hill but it is not as it was. "The purple from the grape has been brushed away. The innocence of childhood has been stripped rudely off." Of the beauties of the autumn landscape it has begun to be written, "the glory is departed."

And the tramp as he plods over roads that promise to grow muddy and bad upon the first provocation of rain and travel, erstwhile pulling his rain-drenched, sun-browned, promise-to-be-rimless old straw hat closer his very cool head, wonders if there'll be plenty of fodder for the cattle this winter.

From the poetic to the practical! Happy the man who can combine the two! as your tramp has often thought when leaving over some fence he has watched the honest farmer making hay in the meadow overrun with daisies. The full force of the combination however is felt by the fellow who buys the above hay and gets the above daisies.

The above is a specimen of journalistic brick without the straw. But let's see what we have got:

Jacob Maze is building a house on his farm just back of the old house on a little higher ground than, when finished, will be second to none in the township of Barnett. Besides the extent to which it will enhance the value as well as the appearance of the farm such improvements are a credit to the locality.

McClintock's stave mill is cutting. Mr. McClintock has bought all the oak on the Coleman tract and will turn it into staves. The mill above referred to is situated on a branch of Coleman Run in the hollow lying along the Tylersburg road at the foot of the hill on the top of which the Nulton farm, now occupied by Geo. Kuhns, lies. Mr. McClintock has another mill which at the present time is cutting near the Buckeye saw mill. It will be removed from there after a while and set over on the other side of the Coleman tract near the Fitzgerald school house. The capacity of the mill in the hollow is about 12 cords, or 6000 staves, per day. The staves will be shipped from Vowinkel on the P. & W. R. R. Some one has estimated the amount of staves to be taken from the whole tract to be not less than 6000 cords. The Coleman tract is to be stripped of all the pine still on it this winter. The same is true of the McKinley tract lying in large Greenwood. The trees that are large enough will be made into square timber, and the rest into logs.

Robert McCloskey and wife living at the Wilderness Church were seriously hurt on last Tuesday. They were driving in a buggy, and on their way home, having been at Clarion probably, and stopped at the watering trough at Philip Gatesman's, in the Foglebough Settlement to water the horse. The horse had on a double twisted wire bit. Mr. McCloskey got out of the buggy and took the bit out to let the horse drink. When he tried to put the bit on again the horse objected and began to act ugly. Mr. McCloskey caught the horse around the neck to try to hold him; the horse started to run and succeeded in pulling Mr. McCloskey from his neck, and with his forefoot tramping him bad. The horse then ran off, Mrs. McCloskey being in the buggy. The buggy came in contact with something on the side of the road and upset. Mrs. McCloskey was thrown out and severely hurt. They were unable to be taken home on Saturday last. We hope they may speedily recover. One thill of the buggy was broken, the dash-board broken out, and the seat broken off; the horse was not hurt.

Isaac Long who for some time occupied the store-room on the corner at N. Pine Grove has lately bought the store, house, and lot, owned and occupied by Carson Crissman at that place. Mr. Crissman's health is poor, and on Wednesday last he sold out at public sale all his household goods preparatory to resting awhile here or to going to some other place. We hope our friend Isaac may have a boom in the mercantile business.

The post office at Clarington has been removed and is now in the store of Shields Bro's on the Jefferson county side of the river.

Three of the Barnett schools are now open for the winter term. R. B. Dunmire at Cooksburg, Ella Mays at Pleasant Grove, and Mary Kuhns at Redclyffe are the teachers. The term is for 6 mos. The other schools had a short summer term and do not open for the winter term until later. Wages, $28.00

At Cooksburg we notice that Judge Cook is bringing the gas down from his last oil well for the purpose of using the same in his house for fuel.

A shingle mill has been built just at the end of the bridge across Thum's Run.

The boat scaffold is still the scene of active industry. Jos. Morgan presides over that branch of industry.

Mrs. — daughter of Thomas Maza, Esq., and now a resident of Bradford, was home on a visit to her parents last week.

We met many of our old friends out in Barnett of whom we have kindly remembrances. May neither their shadows nor substance grow less.

James Gray as landlord at the Reid House sustains the character very satisfactorily. Mr. Wallace, as you know, having moved with his family to Balltown.

As of yore Mr. Elder is still the efficient and popular landlord at the Shields House.

Elder's boat scaffold is still running. Braden and Elder's mill is also active.

The building of the bridge across the mouth of Maple Creek is going on briskly. The old bridge has been propped up so as to make travel that way perfectly safe.

A NEW LEASE OF LIFE. When one has been suffering the agonies of a severe attack of rheumatism, neuralgia or sciatica, and relief comes, it seems as if a new lease of life had been granted. Such have been the feelings of thousands who, after trying physicians and numberless remedies, have used Athlophoros and found to their great joy that this medicine really did cure these diseases.

367 Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y. After suffering for nearly two years with a continuous attack of rheumatism; after trying almost every specific, domestic and foreign, which the credulity of a wise man, or a fool, might lead one to trust in, it was a double pleasure to me to find a remedy which, originating in the famous "City of Elms"—(the) home of my ancestors and its first founders—has proved so invaluable a blessing. It is nearly six months since I was led to trace out the significance of that word Athlophoros. It has proved to me, in a good degree, a renewer of my former vigor and strength; so that I have been enabled to move about with almost youthful activity, and to feel, while approaching my "three score years and ten," that I have a new hold on life. I believe your philosophy of the disease to be correct that it has its origin in the blood, and that your remedy touches those joints and muscles, loosening the nodes, which have been brought into subjection to this dreadful disease, and sets them free as no other remedy that I have tried. I have been cautious for so long a time in recommending it to others till I had tried its efficacy in my own case; and I am now free to state the estimate I put upon it, as the safest and most efficient cure I have any knowledge of.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequalled.
