NEWS AND NOTES FOR WOMEN. KEEPING A FEW HENS.

THE EXPERIENCE IN WHICH MR. BOWSER INDULGED.

Building the Hennery and Waiting for Eggs-Result of the Experiment as Told by Mrs, Bowser.

This fall Mr. Bowser took a notion to keep a few hens. I opposed the project at once, and recalled to mind the three or four dismal failures already scored against us, but he turned on me with that majestic air of his and replied :

"Mrs. Bowser we shall keep hens. It is true that former experiments have been failures, but there are excuses for it. In the first place, I did not get the right brand of hens. In the next, you did not take care of them as you should. The ben business, to be made a success, must be purshed the same as any other business.

"I've got all I can attend to without fooling with hens, Mr. Bowser." "Certainly. No one wants any of You just attend to your gossip and your callers, Mrs. Bowser, and I'll attend to my poultry !"

Mr. Bowser ordered up $20 worth of lumber and a carpenter, and then took the children's playground for the site of his hennery. The two men were work-ing around for four or five days, and one evening Mr. Bowser came in and said :

"Mrs. Bowser, the hennery is an ac-complished fact. I have erected a structure which even the most fastidious hen must commend for external beauty and internal convenience. I am going down to the grocery to night to see how many dozen eggs we can dispose of per week." "Can't we cat them all?"

"Can y u cat thirty or forty dozen eggs per week, madam !"

That silenced me. The grocer said he would take eighty dozen per week, provided they were fresh, and Mr. Bowser embroidery and drops of jet or old came home and made his figures as fol- silver.

"Aren't you figuring rather high on the number of eggs?" I ventured to inquire.

"High! I should say not! I'm figuring at least ten per cent. too low. We'll use about four dozen per week, and sell eighty dozen. That's eighty-four dozen, or twelve dozen per day. That is less than eight eggs a day for each hen. A hen who has our interests at heart will surely produce that many." "Well, if they'll do it."

"Doit! Mrs. Bowser, what you don't know about hens makes me tired ! What is a hen for but to lay egg? What would be her object in doing otherwise, or in skipping a day?"

During the next week he was studying up on poultry and making purchases of small lots. I heard him talking about white and black Leghorns, Cochins, Shanghais and other kinds, and I know some of 'em. At the end of a week he had twenty hens and a rooster, and he manner of the West Indian negroes. swelled with pride and said to me:

One of the most ingenious mechanical devices recently introduced is a saw without teeth, which will cut a steel rail in two minutes. The saw in question is run by an eight-horse-power enginemore power than is required to run all the other machinery in the shops-is thirty-eight inches in diameter, and three-eighths of an inch thick at the

If air filled with smoke is charged with electricity, the smoke at once flies to the sides of the containing vessel in a way that oppears almost magical. In the same way electricity will cause fine dusts, which are in suspension, and which are often very difficult to remove from the air, to condense, or coagulate so as to be

This phenomenon remained for a considerable time inexplicable; at last Laplace, in 1787, discovered the cause in the varying eccentricity of the earth's orbit, which has been on the decrease since about 12,000 B. C. Since that time the moon has been gradually coming nearer to the earth, and this will go on till 36,000 years after Christ, when the eccentricity of the carth's orbit will begin again to increase.

Lightning flashes have ometimes been observed which starting from one point, have ended in several. Some remarkaable forms of flash have been lately de scribed by Herr Leyst of Pawlowsk Observatory. In one case a flash went a certain distance in a northeasterly direction, then divided, the two branches forming an angle of about 75°. When these had reached about 35° from each other, they turned and united again to one line. The path of the lightning thus formed a quadrilateral figure. It was further observed that the lightning flashed back in the same path, as if there were an oscillating discharge. In another inter-esting flash, the path was not a crooked line, but a wavy band, which was lit up four times in succession with equal brilliancy. The time between the second and third and the third and fourth flashes seemed longer than that between the first which is Scrofulous Disease of the Lungs, is promptly and certainly arrested and cured by this God-given remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its wonderful power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now cel-ebrated remedy to the public, Dr. PIERCE thought seriously of calling it his "Con-sumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its

I don't know it. I am going to leave a lighted lamp in the coop to-night, and if they take a notion to lay they will find everything handy."

Next morning he was out of Bed at daylight to pay a visit to the coop, but we had no fresh eggs for breakfast. He said that no hen could be expected to do her best until she had become familiar with the coop and on speaking terms with the family. Day after day passed, but we got no eggs. Mr. Bowsers idea that a hen could be wound up and set to lay like an alarm clock was abandoned, and he bought lime, red pepper, egg shells, Indian meal and a dozen other things for food. On the ninth day he brought in an egg. It was one I instructed the cook to take out there and place in a nest, Bowser came running in with it, his face all aglow, and as he held it up to view he should :

"Mrs. Bowser, here is the living proof of my sagacity!

"Yes, but don't wake the baby." "Baby be hanged! What's a red-faced, wall-eyed, ten pound baby to the fact that our hens have commenced to lay!" Poor man! I felt sorry for him as the days slipped away and we got no more fortune-teller, a farmer and a dog-fancier, and he carefully followed all their suggestions, but the result was eggless. Some one told him that the hens needed a sudden fright to set their laying machinery in motion, and he sneaked out at intervals and suddenly fired an old shotgun over the coop. No good, When he was told that they were too warm he ripped off the battens. When told that they were too cold he nailed them on again. One morning when I came down stairs he paused in his majestic pacing back and forth and said : "Mrs. Bowser, while you recklessly slumbered last night some one came and stole every fowl from the coop !"

"No!"

"Solemn fact. And that's the kind of a person you are, Mrs. Bowser!" "But I've got to sleep."

"Yes, it seems so, and at my cost.

Mrs. Fowser, I'm out about $70. "But you can't blame me. I didn't tell you to go into the hen business."

"You didn't! Mrs. Bowser, I've nlways known that you were a slack housekeeper and a great gosip, but I did not suppose you could look me in the face and tell a deliberate untruth. Farewell, Mrs. Bowser-farewell, wall eyed baby ."

But he came sneaking home at 10 o'clock that night, and the word "hen" has not been spoken in our house since. -Detroit Free Press.

The latest importation of bonnets are combinations of velvet with fur of a like shade, the fur being used upon the brim, and the velvet for the oddly-shaped crown. Marie Stuart brims, much modified in shape, are shown in some of these, and the whole bonnet is much smaller than the comfortable ones worn a year ago.

Evolution of the Trotter.

One of the wonderful creations of American civilization is the evolution of days slipped away and we got no more eggs. He brought up a horse-doctor, a fortune taller a former and a former a for mile at Jamaica, L. L. in three minutes in a match against time, and obtained the first known time record for a trotter. It was nearly thirty years later that Lady Suffolk made the first mile in 2:30, and twenty years ago the number of 2:30 trotters was less than three hundred. Careful and intelligent study of breeding problems and unstinted outlays of time and money have so improved the speed -which is, perhaps, the first quality to be dessred in ane trotter-that we have tu-day such trotters as Maud S., 2:08 2-4; Jay Eye Sec, 2:10; St. Julien, 2:11 1-4, and a long list of others with records better than 2:20.

The amount of capital invested in trotting stock gives this interest a place among our leading industries, and in the ranks of the breeders may be found many gentlemen, eminent statesmen, luwyers, clergymen and financiers. The great conservator of this interest is the National Trotting Association, which extends over the entire continent and provides a well digested code of laws and precedents -- New York Herald.
