"SHOOTING" AN OIL WELL.

RAISING PETROLEUM FROM ITS UNDERGROUND PRISON.

A Curious Process in the Pennsylvania Oil Region .- A Theory as to the Origin of Oil.

For two hours recently, writes Samuel P. Leland in the Chicago Tribune, I stood in a bleak wind to witness the process of "shooting" an oil-well. This is accomplished by letting down with a strong wire on a windlass tin tubes about three inches in diameter and fourteen feet long. filled with nitro-glycerine. Each these tubes will hold about twenty quarts of the liquid. If the blast is to be made at the bottom of the well then the first can or tube is let down to rest upon the bottom, but if the stratum of rocks which it is desired to "shoot" be above the bottom, as is frequently the case, then smaller tubes are fastened upon the first charged tube for a support. These may be thirty or fifty feet long, or even more. The lower end of this tube, of course, rests on the bottom of the well, and sustains the charged tubes, which are carefully let down one upon the other until sixty, eighty, or even 100 quarts are thus deposited. In doing this every movement must be made with the utmost care, and is attended with great danger.

The liquid weighs about four pounds to the quart, hence a great weight must be provided for. On the upper end of the topmost tube an explo-ive cap is placed. The charge is exploded by dropping an iron slug, called, in the nomen clature of the oil country, a "go-devil." Cautious persons keep at a good distance. The operator gives the alarm and lets the slug drop. In a well 2,000 feet deep, filled with gas or oil, the weight may be twenty or even twentyfive seconds in descending. If the well is clear, of course its descent is more rapid. The first sensation one feels is a heavy thud, like the dropping of a great weight on the rocks. The next a trembling of the ground, and then a rushing roar, followed by a slight explosion, and a stream of sand, oil, water, pulverized "go-devil," and tubes, and black gas goes shricking into the air in a dense column a hundred feet or more, and all is over.

If the blast is an effective one it is immediately followed by a flow of oil or gas. Often a dead and worthless well will at once begin to flow after the shock. One well near Butler that was dead and thought worthless was awakened to activity by a heavy blast and rewarded the owner with a flow of 700 barrels of oil daily.

A sixty-quart blast costs the owner of the well about $100, including the labor of placing it. This labor, as has been said, is attended with great danger. Sometimes, when the well is full of gas, the torpedo, after descending a few hundred feet, will be driven violently out of the well. In that case it is certain to explode by hitting the timbers of the derrick or when it reaches the ground in its descent. In either case general destruction of everything is certain.

Sometimes upon the explosion of a torpedo in a well, a large volume of oil is thrown into the air. This is often a sight of surpassing beauty, the oil breaking as it falls into countless drops, and each drop becoming a prism to reflect the sun's rays in matchless coloring.

So far the gas wells and oil wells are treated alike.

Kept His Promise.

A correspondent tells this story of Dr. Weiting, owner of the Syracuse (N. Y). Opera-house: Some years ago he was lecturing in New York, and after the lecture he was approached by a young man who was an entire stranger to him, The doctor was, therefore, greatly surprised to hear him make an extraordinary request. He had been in the audience and heard the lecture, and was captivated by the doctor's eloquence, and he made bold to speak to him. The young man said he desired to go to California and wanted money.

"Give me $1.000," said he to Dr. Weiting, "and I will send you one-half of every dollar I make in California."

The doctor was so surprised at the request that he did not say anything for some time, and finally asked the young man who he was. The doctor learned his name, and then asked why he did not go to his relatives for the money. The young man replied that he had no relatives.

After a few days' thinking over the matter, the doctor concluded to give the money to the young man, and he did so. A year or so afterward Dr. Weiting received $5,000 from California. It was marked: "One-half of the money I have made." Dr. Weiting then wrote to the young man that he considered that he complied with his promise, and released him; but the young man replied that he did not consider himself released, and would carry out his bargain. Money continued to come from California, until Dr. Weiting had received $40,000. Then it stopped, and he could not find the young man, and the doctor came to the conclusion that he was dead. The do tor took the $40,000 and invested it in a block of buildings. He had hardly made the purchase before the entire block burned down, and he lost all the money made for him by the honest young man in California.

TO THE READERS OF THIS PAPER.

To THE REASERS OF THIS PAPER. In common with many publishers and editors, we have been accustomed to look upon certain statements which we have seen in our columns as merely adroit advertising. Consequently we feel justified in taking the liberty of printing a few points from a private letter recently recoved from one of our largest patrons, as a sort of confession of faith to our readers. We quote:

"We have convinced ourselves that by telling what we know to be true, we have pro-duced at last a permanent conviction in the pullic mind. Seven years ago we stated what the national disease of this country was, and that it was rapidly increasing. Three years ago we stated that a marked check had hear error if been given it.

"Seven years ago we stated that the condi-tion of the kidh ys was the key to the condi-tion of health; within the past five years all curreful life insurances companies have con-ceded the truth of this statement, for, where-as, ten years ago, chemical analysis to deter-mine the condition of the kidneys was not required, to-day millions of dollars in visks are refused, because chemical examination discovers unsurant dimension of the kid discovers unsuspected diseases of the kid

He was not frank enough to admit that the apoplaxy which overtook him in his bed, was the fatal effect of the kidney poison of the blood, which had eater away the substance of the arteries and brain; nor was Logan's physician bonest enough to state that his fatal rheumatism

The writers of the above letter give these Into writers of the above letter give these facts to the public simply to justify the claims that they have made, that "if the kidneys and liver are kept in a healthy con-dition by the use of Warner's asfe cure, which hundreds of thousands have proved to be a specific, when all other remedies and a miled, and that has received the endorsement of the highest medical talent in Europe, Australasia and America, many a life would be pro-longed and the happiness of the people preserved. A New Way to Pay Old Debra. (Prom the Weekly Record, Dundse, N. T.) There are many people in this country who are suffering untold agony from the ravages of disenses, who have been medicated until the very sound of the word "medicins" sends a thrill of horror through their sensitive organism, and yet they are still looking— looking for something that will prove a bene-ti to their shattered constitution and restore are suffering untold agony from the ravages of diseases, who have been medicated until the very sound of the word "medicine" sends a thrill of horror through their sansitive organism, and yet they are still lookinglooking for something that will prove a bene-fit to their shattered constitution and restore to them their health. To this class of mifferers the Record, without solicitation, desires to say a faw words, not with the intent to adsay a few words, not with the intent to ad-vertise a man who to-day is doing more for this class of sufferers than pen can describe, but because we know, not only from personal experience, but from the experience of others, that what we are about to say in regard to Dr. Kilmer, of Bingham-ton, N. Y., and his Herbal Remedies are facts, and it is a pleasure to let the sufferer know that there is a Medicine that has done, and is still doing so much lasting benefit to the afflicted. Dr. Kilmer has been repre-sented in the advertising columns of the Record for over two years, and during that opening the period we have received many communica-

ons asking if his Remedies were as repre-nted, and have always felt that we could safely recommend them. Dr. Kilmer is one of the best-read Physicians of the present day. He probably has the largest practice and examines and treats personally more pa-tients at his large and fully equipped office in Binghamton yearly, than any other phyin Binghambon yearly, than any other phy-sician in the country. These Herbal Remedies which he sends out are prepared and prescribed by him in his own private practice. Their component parts are carefully selected from Nature's great laboratory, and are compounded in a scien-tifle manner so as to be expecially adapted to the different forms of diseases for which they are used. They are the result of years of hard, patient study of the science of medi-cine.

There seems to be at the present time a tendency toward a great many Kidney. Liver and Bladder troubles with the people of this country, and we wish to speak more particu-larly about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root Kid-ney, Liver and Bladder Cure. We will say ney, Liver and Diadler Cure. We will say on the outset, we are not writing sensational "gush" for Dr. Kilmer, but knowing person-ally as we do, of many important cures wrought from the use of this medicine, we believe it to be our duty to the afflicted to encourage them to be our duty to the aniscient to show a courage them to avail themselves of the use of this valuable Remedy. We know a Mr. Class E. Ros, of Union-ville, Steuber Co., N. Y. who had Bright's disease, and was told by the best Physicians of Hornellsville, N. Y., that there was no hous for him, who was provailed upon by of hornelisville, N. Y., that there was no hope for him, who was prevailed upon by a friend to try Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root Kidney Cure. He did so, without the least idea of being benefited, but the result was most gratifying to himself and family, for he was cured. Saved from death by that dreadful disease. Another case, that of Russell Sandford, of Wayne, Steuben Co., who had a terrible bowel difficulty which would not vield to the medical skill of good would not yield to the medical skill of good doctors, who, at our own solicitation, tried Swamp-Root, and he told us after using sev eral bottles his trouble was removed, al-though he had no control over his bowels for though he had no control over his bowels for a year previous to using the medicine and had been told that he would never be any better, and that his earthly caresr was limited. Our druggists here in Dundes tell us they have sold hundreds of bottles of this medicine and in no instance have they ever heard aught but praise from the parson using it. have they ever heard aught but praise from the persons using it. We might men-tion scores of similar cases that, to our own personal knowledge, have been helped out of serious trouble by using Swamp-Root. We hops it will help some one, and we have no fears of the result of a trial, by any one who is suffering with a Kidney, Liver or Biad-der trouble. "It is worth its weight in gold." W. W. Carious White Iron.

A writer upon the products and resources of Arkansas says: The most remarkable and interesting mineral of all this region is the white malleable iron ore, regarding the existence and malleability of which a great deal of skepti-cism is said to exist. It is found in the corner of Howard County, adjoining the frontier of Montgomery, Polk and Pike. During the war, it is stated on good authority, the inhabitants of the vicinity used to take the ore as it was picked up from the ground, and in an ordinary blacksmith forge, hammer it into horse shoe nails. Whether this be true or not, it is certain, and can be abundantly proved, that the ore can be taken, and, being heated in an ordinary blacksmith forge, can be welded and beaten into any desirable shape. The outcrop of this ore, as far as it has been explored, runs for two miles west to east, showing a width of from fifteen to thirty feet, with an unknown depth. There can be no doubt that this development of iron, in so pure and maileable a form, will some day be im-mensely valuable. The magic touch of a railroad will convert it into gold.

About the origin of oil and gas there has been much speculation. The surface indications are very unreliable. Some notion, however, may be formed from a knowledge of the geological structure of the rocks underlying a country. For instance, the gas and oil regions of Pennsylvania are on the central beds of the Devonism system, or old red sandstone, made famous by the writings of Hugh Miller. As is well known this formation teenth century commenced with the 1st is below the carboniferous system, in which are the coal measures. Long ago the notion was abandoned that the oil and gas come from coal. It is much more probable that they have an animal origin. The early seas were prolific of life, and the unsubstantial crust of the earth readily yielded to the volcanic forces. This caused continents and seas to frequently change places. By these upheavals of the ocean beds the waters were driven with great violence outward, carrying measureless masses of the shell fishes and crustaceans into the great estuaries and burying them under The beds of sand and mud. These beds 81, 200. hardened into rocks. In these depositions, the sand being heavier than the mud, naturally fell to the bottom. This accounts for the fact that in nearly all oil borings a rock of slate or shale is passed before reaching the oil sand.

These vast beds of carboniferous matter, closely sealed, generated "spon-taneous heat," and so intense was this heat that the oil was literally "tried" out of the organic forms. This oil was deposited in great basins, or mixed with the vast beds of sand. The weight of the superincumbent crust of the earth makes the wells flow, if the oil is abund-If not, the pump must be used. ant.

Add to this material water and atmospheric air, and gas is produced by the same process. And such gas, too, as the wells produce-rich in carbon, but largely lacking nitrogen; hence this gas is good for fuel, but has not the proper qualities for illuminating purposes. Knowing so much, we have, at least, a slight guide. The gas formation in Pennsylvania, stretching from Bradford on the north, in an irregular line, with varying width, to Washington County on the south, lies on what geologists call an "incline."

A Costly Note.

The Marquis de Santiago, who is equally well known for his millions and for his liberality to professional singers and other artistes, lately necosted Gayarre, who is at this moment earning laurels in Spain: "To hear your upper C full from the chest I would gladly give 2,000 francs ($100)." Gayarre at once sat down to the piano, and, running up the scale, rang out the magic C as clear as a bell. The Murquis cried, "Encore !" The tenor willingly complied, and gave a succession of upper C's. Our enraptured Maccenas handed over his pocketbook, while expressing his fears that the amount did not reach up to the hight of his marvelous voice. Gayarre bowed his thanks, adding: "I am prepared. Marquis, to sign on the spot a yearly engagement with you on the same terms."-La Nation.

A Question of the Centuries.

The Louisville Courier-Journal decided day of January, 1800, and ends with the 31st day of December, 1899." One of the parties to the dispute was dissatisfied with this decission, and wrote to the New York Graphic, which paper takes a different view as follows:

Colonel Watterson's hasty ruling is wrong and must be reversed, as a little figuring and common sense will easily demonstrate. A century is a 100 years exactly. Ergo, speaking of the Christian era.

The first century ended December 31, 100.

The second century ended December

The third century ended December 31, 300

The second century began January 1, 101.

The third century began January 1, 201

The fourth century began January 1, 301

Proceeding with this computation it is quite obvious that the ninetcenth century began the instant 1800 years had passed-that is, on January 1, 1801-and will terminate with the completion of the 1900th year, on the last day of De-cember, A. D. 1900. That ought to be plain enough now, although it puzzles many persons hereabouts as well as in Montana.

The Hair of the Reindeer.

A Norwegian engineer, W. C. Moller, has found that reindeer, hair and skin possess remarkable buoyancy, and when the unshorn skin is used as a life-belt it has the advantage over cork of warming the wearer while in water. He attributes great value to suits made from the reindeer hair, one of which of the weight of a pound may keep a man from drowning, while it furnishes greater protection from cold than oil-skin and other materials.

Bleached Diamonds.

Everyone, of course, knows something about paste diamonds and Paris dia-monds, and the thousand and one imitations of this gem of great price. And most people, we imagine, know the various tests by which the genuineness of a stone can be established; but the revelations made at the Marylebone polica court the other day will probably be news to some of us. As to the case itself, we need say no more than that the prisoners were committed for trial; but certain facts came out during the inquiry which possess considerable interest for the public, or at least for those of the public who are the happy owners of diamonds. That there should be any means whereby yellow diamonds, which are worth about one-seventh of white diamonds of the same size, can be bleached -for that is what the manipulation amounts to-so as to deceive an expert, is enough to cause very serious disquietude in many a fair bosom. But Mr. Streeter went even further than this, for he gratuitously informed the magistrate that about two years ago a Frenchman succeeded in foisting upon the London market some £4,000 pounds worth of diamonds which had thus been chemically improved. It would be interesting to know what has become of those dia-monds. What has become of their doubtless numerous successors?
