MR. BOWSER SHOWS GREAT TEN DERNESS OF HEART.

But is Balked in his Endeavors To

Do Good-A Talk With Eliza. "I don't want the public to get the im pression that Mr. Bowser is not a goodhearted man," says Mrs. Bowser, in the Detroit Free Press. "Such an idea would do him great injustce. He is a little queer in some of his ways, but all right as a whole, and a more tender-hearted man never lived. When we began housekeeping and got our first hired girl, Mr. Bowser called me into the library, shut the door, and dropped his voice down to the confidential pitch and said:"

"Mrs. Bowser, let's start out right. Let's respect the feelings of that poor girl in the kitchen." "Certainly,"

"She's just as good as we are, and we musn't put on any airs over her. She shall cat at the table with us, and if she has any time from her work you might learn her how to sing and play the piano." "I can't quite agree with you, Mr. Bowser.

"Oh, you can't! Woman's mortal enemy is woman. Well, I'm going out and have a little talk with Eliza and tell her what I'm willing to do."

I listened at the kitchen door. Mr. Bowser is no man to beat about the bush, He went right at the business in hand by Eliza, nobility does not consist in riches. She slid away from him toward the sink.

"And learn to play the piano?" She opened her mouth still wider. "And, perhaps, learn how to sketch and paint? She seized a pan of water in the sink and whirled on him with:

"You cross-eved old reprobate to talk to an innocent girl in that fashion! Get out of my kitchen or I'll drown you in a minute!

When we sat down to supper I wondered why Eliza hadn't put on a plate for herself, and I asked Mr. Bowser when I should begin her piano lessons, "Mrs. Bowser have you lost the little sense you possessed two or three months ago?" he hotly exclaimed, and I thought it best to let the subject drop right there. A few days after that a boy about eight years old came to the door to beg, and as soon as Mr. Bowser caught sight of him he observed; "Call the little shaver in and let him see that the milk of human hindness has

Mr. Bowser led the boy away, and it seemed, as I afterwards came to know, went home with him. When he left the boy's house a man was chasing him with a shovel, and a woman with a hoe handle was trying to head him off, and the boy himself stood in the door and clapped his hands. When Mr. Bowser came home 1 asked what had become of his adopted son, and he roared at me:

Mr. Johnson took ten books from the library on the first day of his arrival. the second day he disappeared. So did the books. So did the harness and robes and a lot of tools. Mr. Bowser was furious. He wanted ten detectives on the case all at once, and as he started to telephone for them I said :

Perhaps he has retired to a cave with the ten books to enrich his mind."

'And perhaps I ain't the biggest idiot in the State of Michigan for marrying you?" he shouted back as he ground away at the crank and lifted the Chief of Police of his chair.

That millions, have completed arrangements for moving, bag and baggage, to this new center of emigration. I met a St. Joseph man on a Wabash train to-day. He tells me that the immediate cause of the great boom is the ex- our rubber ponchos. When we waked in tension of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad. This great system is making St. Joseph its Missouri River depot for its freight and stock traffic between Chicago and the Southwestern ranges, and has given the city a prominence as a railroad center equaled only by Chicago. The extension of the Rock Island has induced the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul to extend the diagonal southward to St. Joseph, and the Santa Fe to come up direct from Topeka and Atchison, in order to secure a short cut to Chicago, said to be sixty miles shorter than by any other way. The Rulo bridge will be completed by the first of August, and that will send the Burlington & Missouri trains from Denver He had to have both legs amputated, and straight through St. Joseph, eastward via the Harmibal. These and other favorable circum. sutler had a lot of whisky along, and the stances have combined to bring about a commanding officer offered him $3 per boom which, as I said in the outset, has be gallon for it, but the rascal wanted $7. come the absorbing topic of conversation and had the impudence when he could in every prominent hotel lobby half way not get it to ask for mules to haul it, as across the continent. I hear of men who have made a fortune in one day on an investment of $1,000. People are buying lots in hollows and on top of bluffs, and half the sales are made from the map without an inspection of the ground whereon they are located. The city has about 60,000 inhabitants, and not the least remarkable fact is that she is quoted in the last United States census as next to Portland, the richest town of next to Portland, the richest town of her size in the country, controlling the whole-sale trade of Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and New Mexico. Her shipping facilities, coupled with her large wholesale trade, has made her perhaps the best manufacturing and porkpacking point in the West. The new Stock Yards, the most complete west of Chicago, cover 440 acres of ground, and will shortly combine a hotel, Stock Exchange and several large packing houses with other facilities. Local capitalists are erecting a new $300,000 hotel, a safe depository, and companies have been organized to build a belt line and two cable roads, while the Council has just granted the roads, while the Council has just granted the right to two of the street-car companies to right to two of the street-car companies to employ the electric motor. An inspection of the Boston Past's weekly clearing-house reports for the past three months shows the percentage of increase the largest of any city quoted in the report. Under such like circumstances, my informant thought, the boom rested upon a solid footing. Strangers are coming in by every train, and he predicted that the city would have a population of 100,000 in the next twelve months. Large additions to the city are platted, but on the market and sold in two days for residences, manufacturing and business purposes, the real estate deals ranging from $250,000 to $700,000 a day, those of last week footing up $3,500,000.

"It is an ill wind that blows nobody good," says the proverb, and no one should endorse that ancient saying more heartily than Mrs. Jerome, better known to fame as Lady Randolph Churchill's mother. After suffering from paralysis for some years and being quite bed-ridden, the poor old lady was so terrified by the first shock of the earthquake at Cannes that she sprang out of bed, fled down stairs and, instead of delivering up the ghost then and there, as her amazed and terrified friends and attendants fully expected, she has been able to walk ever This is a case which should find its way into manuals of philosophy and explaining miracles.-London

The command to which I belonged in our Mormon campaign was conveying "Most remarkable statements are heard live stock sufficient for the army the morning it was bitter cold and we were unable at first to move. We were buried under six feet of snow, which had fallen during the night. The tents of the infantry, whom we had left below, were all blown down, and the stream of water by which they had camped was frozen solid. All our stock had stampeded and we were in a great strait for three days. The sheep, of course, could not get far, and the cattle were soon got together; but most of the wagon stock had got away, and the 500 mules with their two herders had disappeared entirely. Vocation of the Cowboy, It surprises one not to the manner born to discover how much skill, judgment and experience is required in the proper handling of big herds on the trail and round up. Many people look upon the vocation of the cowboy with a touch of contempt, and imagine that his business calls for little beyond rough oaths and hard riding. And yet a ranchman learns something new every day, and is frequently called upon to display an amount of tact that is the balance in the scale of success. Did you see a couple of thousand range beeves on the trail? They will frighten at their own shadows, and the only way to manage them is to make them believe that they are doing as they please To know when to push them and when to let them rest, when they should drink and how much they can be crowded without losing flesh, are subjects requiring as much generalship in their way as the movements of a human army, and no one who has witnessed a successful drive will ever afterward belittle the knowledge of the much-maligned cowboy .-Globe-Democrat.

Rochester, N. Y., March 68, '85, For many years I have been troubled with severe pains in the back of my head and neck, the pain being so severe at times that I was nearly insane, and my friends feared that I would be. Lumps as large as a hickory nut would swell up on my forehead and neck. I tried many different kinds of medicines and physicians, but none seemed to reach my case, until I commenced the use of Dr. Pardee's Rheumatic Remedy, and before I had used it four days the pain left my neck and shoulders and went to my hips and limbs. I continued taking the remedy, and the disease seemed to work downward, but there was but little pain. I am still using the remedy, and I feel confident it will entirely cure me: for I am so much better and stronger than I have been for years. I cheerfully recommend it to all.

TREATING THE WRONG DISEASE.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here or there, and in this way they all present alike to themseives and their easy soins and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he prescribes his pills and potions, assuming them to be such, when, in reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some womb disorder. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages his practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine, like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery.

Mrs. E. F. Morgan, of No. 71 Lexington St. East Resion, Mose, says: "Five years ago I was a dreasting suffered from uterine troubles. Flaving exhausted the skill of three physics of the local treatment recommended in his "Common Sense Medical Advisor." I commenced to improve at once. In three months I was perfectly cared, and have had no trouble since. I wrote a letter to my family paper, briefly menticaling how my beaith had been restored, and offering to send the full particulars to any one writing me for them, and reclosing a stamped-encelope for reply. I have received over four hundred letters. In reply, I have described my case and the treatment used, and have carnestly advised them to do likewise. From a great many I have received second letters of thanks, stating that they had commenced the use of "Envertee Prescription," had sent the $1.50 required for the 'Medical Adviser, and had applied the local treatment so fully and plainly hid down therein, and were much better already."

A Marvelous Cure.— Mrs. G. F. Sprague, of Crystal, Mich., writes: "I was troubled with female weakness, leucorrhea and failing of the womb for seven years, so I had to keep my bed for a good part of the time. I doctored with an army of different physicians, and spent large sums of money, but received no lasting benefit. At last my husband persuaded me to try your medicines, which I was loath to do, because I was prejudiced against them, and the doctors said they would do me no good. I finally told my husband that if he would get me same of your medicines, I would try them against the advice of my physician. He got me six bottles of the Favorite Pre-cription, also six bottles of Discovery, for ten dollars. I took three bottles of Discovery and four of Favorite Pre-cription, and I have been a sound woman for four years. I then gave the balance of the medicine to my sister, who was troubled in the same way, and she cured herself in a short time. I have not had to take any medicine now for almost four years."
