F. M. Reek was down from Marienville last Thursday.

The Democrats of this county hold their primaries next Saturday.

Mr. J. B. Pearsall of Clarington, paid the town a visit last Wednesday.

Mrs. H. S. Bates and family of Titusville, are paying a visit to Mrs. May.

Esquire Jas. Cole, of Jenks township, stopped in town over Monday night.

The river is still raising rapidly—the bottom raising toward the top of the water.

Some very rich-looking bark is being hauled through here and shipped at this depot.

Barnum's show will gather in the shelds of the citizens of Oil City on September 27th.

Jas. D. Davis came down from Warren Saturday and stayed over Sunday with his folks.

The Erie M. E. Conference will meet at Jamestown, N. Y., this year commencing September 21.

Mrs. Edith Colegrove, of Corry, Pa., is the guest of her friend Miss Nellie Brownell, this week.

Sept. Kerr will commence his annual examinations of teachers next Monday, starting at Nebraska.

Misses May and Emma Sloan have gone to Cambridgeport, Crawford county, for a few weeks visit.

FOUND—A gent's gold ring, which the owner can have at this office, by describing same and paying charges.

The Republican State Convention meets at Harrisburg next Wednesday to place the winning ticket in the field.

There are several very dangerous cesspools in town that should be abated at once, before they breed disease.

Dingman & Derrickson are moving their mill to the Edmonson tract, on Little Tionesta, where they will saw oak.

The Central House is being re-roofed. Our next Sheriff, Sawyer, and Landlord Brownell are roasting themselves at the job.

Clarence Ward had his right hand quite badly lacerated by getting it too near the stove saw of Cobb's mill, across the river, Monday.

Dr. Morrow's children, Misses Martha, Nannie, Tillie, Sadie, and Master James leave to-day for a four or five week's visit at their old home in Armstrong.

Blackberries, which are said to be abundant in some sections of the county, have not yet touched this market. There would be ready sale for them here.

Samuel Bush, who lives about a mile below Nebraska, reports the killing of the father of rattlesnakes one day last week. The reptile measured over five feet in length.

Drilling on the new well on the Joslyn farm, Stewart's Run, will commence this week. It is situated a short distance from the five barrel producer on J. G. Bromley's place.

The fare for the round trip to Titusville, to those who are attending the F. M. campmeeting will be $1.55 from this place. The meeting begins next Wednesday, Aug. 17.

Mr. McDaniel, one of Titusville's prominent citizens, was visiting Mr. J. H. Dingman yesterday. The REPUBLICAN acknowledges a short but pleasant call from him.

Burglars are getting in their work on Oil City residences, stores, &c., and would be well for our citizens to be on the alert as there is no telling what night a raid may be made.

We are authorized to state that Worthy Grand Master, John W. Haney and other Grand Officers of the I. O. O. F., will visit Tionesta Lodge No. 369, on Monday, August 15th. All Odd Fellows are urged to be present.

Brilliant meteoric showers are predicted for to-night, to-morrow night and Friday night, and if the weather is fair the exhibition will be fine. Don't fail to look for them.

Dr. Conners of Oil City, affable and pleasant, is circulating among Tionesta's citizens. The Doctor is giving his attention to life insurance, and represents a very substantial company.

Esquire J. C. Hoover was called to Mercer county a fortnight ago to attend the bedside of his aged father, Jacob Hoover, who died at his home on North Hill, that county, aged 83 years.

Mr. C. W. Smith of East Hickory and Miss Louie Seigworth were married on August 1st, at the residence of the bride's father, David Seigworth, near Fiburg, Clarion county.

Wm. Carbaugh, of Tionesta township, reports that he has a stock of corn in his patch which stands nine feet and ten inches in its stocking feet. This doesn't look like a failure in the corn crop.

Judge Henderson, of Lebanon county, decides that fruit overhanging a fence belongs to the man who owns the ground over which it hangs and that he can cut off the limbs of the tree if he chooses.

Conundrum: If Kepler's income from the Carnahan well is 25 cents, and it takes 25 cents to buy a pound of coffee, (without milk or sugar) how many forged naturalization papers can be successfully colored with a peach can full of coffee?

Mrs. John Cromer and Miss Ell, of Green township were in town yesterday. We are sorry to learn that Mr. Cromer is still laid up from the effects of a cut on the leg received last March, erysipelas having set in.

Mr. Fulton has at last struck water in his well, which is now down 63 feet, the last 15 feet of which was kicked down by the old-fashioned process of drilling for oil. And, by-the-way, they found some oil in the well, too.

Great preparations are making in Oil City for the veterans reunion to be held there on the 25th inst. It will be the largest gathering of old soldiers ever held in this section, no doubt. Stow Post of this place will attend in a body, we hear.

Forest County's Democratic paper, the Vindicator, came out last week enlarged to seven columns, and otherwise very materially improved. The Democrats now have a paper which is a credit to the party, and in which they can take just pride.

A. B. Root, Sr., who accompanied the Hickory colony to Washington territory, returned last week to arrange his business for leaving and settling in that section permanently. He reports all the Forestonians well and comfortably settled in their new home.

The premium list of the Venango county fair to be held in Franklin, Sept. 6, 7, 8 and 9, is at hand, and is perhaps the most complete of any yet issued by the association. There is no discount on the Franklin fairs; they are worth going a long way to see.

Mr. W. A. Grove came home last Saturday from Kentucky, where, with his brothers, Wilbur and Park, and Frank Hunter, he is engaged in drilling for gas. The extreme heat so affected Ab. that he was compelled to come north and get a breath of pure air.

While Kepler is riding the county over blowing his bazoo to everybody he can get to listen to him, and begging the Democrats to everlastingly disgrace themselves by voting for him, it wouldn't be a bad idea to explain whether he did not vote for Justice Shawkey against Maj. John Peterson; J. B. Agnew against J. T. Rose; for N. S. Foreman against Thos. Flynn; for Judge Arner against Wm. Hood; for C. M. Shawkey against John A. Hart; for Peter Berry against J. B. Watson; and whether he voted for S. H. Haslet in 1876? At the same time he might state how, according to his own words, he robbed the taxpayers for five or six years.

The following are the dates and places for the State fair and for county fairs in these parts: Pennsylvania State Fair, Philadelphia, Sept. 5 to 7. Chautauque County Fair at Jamestown, N. One of our exchanges mentions that an agent is doing the towns and counties selling little clocks, which pretend to be so constructed that you can tell the hour at night without the aid of a lamp or other light. It's a fraud, and we warn our readers against purchasing any such clocks.

The new marriage law for York State goes into effect on the first of September. A license must be procured before marriage, and a man under 21 and a woman under 18 are prohibited from marrying without the consent of parents or guardians. This makes it tough for preachers living along the borders, as their revenues will be very much curtailed, and the average young man must now either fish or cut bait.

The man Kelly, whom Esquire Towler, of Marienville, sentenced to six months in jail for petty larceny, made his escape Monday, by scaling the wall of the jail-yard, into which he had been let for a short time, by tearing a board from the wall, by the aid of which he climbed to the top. He took to the woods, and when last seen was making tracks for Marienville, where he staid previous to his conviction. Sheriff Agnew was absent at the time.

The storm of last Friday night, while quite severe at this place, was nothing compared with the effects in surrounding towns. Oil City was washed and drenched until the town looked so clean the inhabitants hardly recognized it when they woke up next morning. Franklin was also quite severely dealt with. The effect at Grand Valley must have been wonderful, according to a correspondence in this issue, in which the play of the elements is vividly described.

Pleasantville correspondence to Titusville Citizen: Since the development at Shamburg has proven so remunerative a good deal of attention has been paid to old territory and we confidently expect that sooner or later Pitohole, Pagundas, Mew London and Enterprise will again come into prominence as producing sections, indeed, considerable land has already been quietly picked up in those localities, and it needs but the stimulus of a dollar market to cause this whole section to again assume character on an oil field of respective dimensions.

We have the meagre particulars of the destruction by fire of the dwelling of Daniel Brecht, who lives at Beaver Valley, Hickory township, on Wednesday last. Everything, except the clothing from one bed, was consumed, even to a hundred dollars in cash which Mr. B. had laid away for a rainy day. His barn was saved only by the greatest efforts of the neighbors. Mr. Brecht is a hard-working industrious farmer and the loss falls heavily upon him. We are not informed as to whether there was any insurance on the property.

Speaking of the proposed prohibitory amendment, Kepler's sheet says it is "to be voted for at the November election." For consummate, inexcusable ignorance commend us to Kepler. Any ordinary ignoramus, who sets himself up for an editor should know that the amendment must pass another legislature before it is voted on. And still this lunk-head has cheek enough to aspire to the county commissionership. Well, when the people want a loud mouthed ignorant, blow-hard for that office, Kepler's claims cannot be overlooked. "Don't you understand?"

The Bradford Era gave the names of a number of producers who favor a shut-down. Among them are Van Vleck & Mitchell, James Amm, Coleman, Punny & Payne, John Cochran, John Denman, Woods & Young, Ralph & Tucker, Captain Jones, Dr. Van Scoy, C. B. Whitehead, P. M. Shannon and E. H. Jennings. These, it will be remembered, are all Bradford producers, and Bradford wells are very small. We do not notice in the list the names of T. W. Phillips, John McKeown and other kings of the trade whose product offset many square miles of Bradford wells. Will the big fish shut-down?—Blizard.

The enlargement of the FOREST REPUBLICAN was a gratuity on the part of its enterprising owner, J. E. Wenk, who for years has published a newspaper worth double the price of subscription as newspapers run. The addition of another column to each page is an improvement which makes the REPUBLICAN equal in size to many papers published in much larger counties, while, in its able management it is still further in the advance. The republicans of Forest owe a debt to their organ, which it is to be hoped, they will be more prompt to discharge than is the general custom.—Meadville Gazette.

Kepler's Coffee Mixed Again.

In a two-column tirade, incoherent and befuddled as usual, Kepler makes what he doubtless intends for a confession of his connection with the notorious and damnable coffee colored naturalization forgery, in his last week's sheet. If any man who wears hair can extract any sense out of his tirade, other than that quoted from the REPUBLICAN, we'd like to meet him. To divert attention from himself he rings in something about one O'Mara, a witness in the coffee investigation, whose bad character he was called to prove. Ye gods! What a monstrosity! Jake Kepler called as a witness to prove that some one else is a bad man! Shades of the notorious Guiteau! Turn over in your grave! Can you look with complacency upon this infringement on your reputation!

But why parley. Kepler has published the charge in his own paper that this infamous crime was committed in his hotel (?) Now listen to the sickening and disgusting explanation he made of the coffee business in 1880, when he had occasion to stick it at him. Here's how he tried to slink out of it then: "Since there has been so much said about coffee, we will give the true facts. During the last two years of the late war, we were proprietor of several stage lines running from Phillipsburg to Clearfield, and one to Curwensville, also proprietor of a hotel at Phillipsburg, a terminus of the railroad. Passengers took dinner at the hotel before taking the stage. During that time there were many soldiers who were returning home on leave of absence and other causes, and frequently some of the soldiers were without funds, and we, the proprietor of the hotel and stage lines would always feel those without money the same as those who had the money to pay, and many times furnished them with a lunch and good strong coffee to carry them through, besides giving them free transportation on the stage lines. This is the cause of our notoriety. We were only waiting all this time for our neighbor to give the facts, but as he did not, and wanted to make political capital out of it by so industriously harping on the coffee business, we deemed it our duty to give facts in the case."

The question now remains, in the light of your double confession, when were you lying—in 1880 or in 1887? It is a matter of little consequence, to be sure, since you have lied, but it might be well to state when.

Remarkable Electric Display.

A remarkable display of electricity was witnessed by lovers of the sublime at Grand Valley, Pa., on Friday evening, Aug. 5th. Rain fell in torrents from 5 o'clock until 8; there was but little atmospheric disturbance. The clouds coming from the northeast meeting there apparently coming from the southwest and for two hours the elements appeared to be at war. The most vivid flashes of lightning darted from the clouds to earth, followed by deafening peals of thunder. Like a mighty pall the over-hanging clouds of blackness remained motionless. But the most remarkable feature of the phenomena was the frantic display of luminous meteors, differing from ordinary meteors, by paying no respect to the laws of gravitation. Balls like fire would fall to within a thousand feet of the treetops, then burst or explode like a bomb or rocket, sending innumerable fragments at right angles from the travel of the mass. These explosions were followed by a thud not unlike that of distant artillery fire. Other bodies of the strange matter would form, dart off horizontally in an easterly direction for a considerable distance, then turn squarely upward and fade away; and others assumed a serpentine figure, leaving a lurid trace of their travels. Then another rived all other freaks, by towering upward in the form of a spiral; at times large masses of the mysterious matter would form, then dissolve and descend in a shower like drops of molten gold. Beautiful, grand and sublime was the pageant that provoked emotions of delight and fear, from the astounded beholders. J. G. W.

Boys smoking cigarettes started a fire in Chester's court house. It is still the deadly cigarette in more senses than one.

A SERIOUS GAS EXPLOSION AT GUSHER CITY

Results in the Destruction of Several Buildings, and Seriously Burns Two Women.

On Saturday evening last about 7:30 p. m., the people of Gusher City, this county, were startled by a terrific explosion. On hasty investigation, the St. Petersburg House was found to be a mass of ruins and all on fire, caused by a leaky gas pipe under the house. The house was occupied by a family named Phipps. The family consisted of Mr. Phipps, his wife and child and a lady by the name of Lizzie Manson. Mrs. Manson was in the act of lighting the fire in the stove. She struck a match and the explosion followed. Miss Manson was seriously burned internally, and is not expected to live. Mrs. Phipps, who was standing close by with the baby in her arms, was badly burned, but neither mother nor child are considered burned fatally. Mr. Phipps lost his all, besides $53 in cash, which was in the house. The citizens are circulating a subscription paper for their relief. The number of buildings burned are as follows: St. Petersburg House, owned by John Reagan, loss $600; Conway & Graham, groceries, loss $3,500; insurance $1,100. The next building consumed by the fire was the town hall. This building is an irreparable loss to the town; stage effects and theatrical paraphernalia went up in smoke, loss $1,000. Citizens say the hall will be rebuilt. The next buildings, A. L. Anderson, Captain J. J. Haight's cottages, the Captain was on business at Warren. On returning at 10 p. m., he found his pleasant home in ashes. The next came the residence and postoffice of our worthy postmaster. The fire then spread to the residence of Charles Beebe and W. B. Rice, where by the heroic efforts the fire was got under control at 10:30 p. m. Conway & Graham, grocers, W. S. Cole, Charles Beebe, A. L. Anderson, and W. B. Rice, will all rebuild again. C. W. Atkins wishes to thank the boys for their efforts in saving his house.—Derrick.

HERE AND THERE.

A price has been put upon the head of the sea serpent by showman Barnum, who offers $20,000 for the monster dead or alive. Here is an inducement which induces.

The Michigan man who tried to light a fire with some wood from a box which had contained nitro-glycerine, succeeded. But he can't do it again.

August weather proverbs:—When the dew is heavy in August the weather generally remains fair. When in the beginning of August thunder storms are passing they will generally last to the end of the month. When in August the sun shines warm and moon and stars are bright it is good for grapes, because they then ripen well. When it rains in August it rains honey and wine. If the first week in August is unusually warm, the winter will be white and long. When the months of July, August and September are unusually hot, January will be the coldest month. As August, so the next February. As Bartholomew's day (24), so the whole autumn.

In the contest about collateral inheritance tax upon the estate of John DuBois a decision has been rendered in the Clearfield courts by Judge Krebs in favor of the Commonwealth. The large amount involved and the nature of the case have caused it to attract general attention. John DuBois was one of the most extensive and wealthy lumbermen in the State. He lived at DuBois, Clearfield County, where he had a large body of timber land and extensive saw-mills. He died May 5, 1886, unmarried, aged 77 years and reputed to be worth millions of dollars. His nephew, John E. DuBois, claimed nearly all the property under a deed of January 17, 1884. The unpaid collateral inheritance tax amounts to $136,000. It is supposed the case will be carried to the Supreme Court.

The Clarion correspondent of the Pittsburgh Sunday Leader says: "David King, the murderer, whose case has been taken to the Supreme Court, grows more confident each day that he will never hang. The future does not seem to bother him much, and as for the present, many a man would worry and fret more about being shut up for a few dollars cost than King does for his life. During the trial it was said the confinement was telling on his health, and that he would not live to be hung. There is no complaining now, and he does not look as if he had any notion of quitting this world in a natural way, but struts back and forth in his cell like a well fed, hale and hearty dude. He longs for the companionship of Mrs. Dinsmore, his associate in iniquity and murder, who occupies a cell on the same floor, and pleads to the turnkey to permit him to visit her. But it is in vain; he is never out of his cell, and will be kept there until he marches out under the shadow of the gallows."

MARRIED.

MOONEY—DAVIS—August 3, 1887, by Rev. F. M. Small, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. T. S. Mooney of Stratausville, Clarion County, and Miss Nellie R. Davis, of Gilfoyle, Forest County, Pa.

There were a number of invited guests present, as follows: Mrs. Miller of Foxburg, sister of the groom, presided at the organ, showing that she was a master hand with wedding marches. Jas. Mooney of Clarion, brother of the groom; T. L. Ray, wife and daughter, of Clarion; W. S. Mooney and wife; Mrs. George Davis and Mrs. Frank Bucklin, of Jamestown, N. Y., nieces of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Davis. There were a goodly number of presents, and the big-hearted Whit, did the very handsome thing in loading down the tables with good things. Especially elegant were the pyramids of ice cream made by that master hand Mr. Carringer. We would be very glad to have the pleasure of attending again, but it cannot occur but once more in this excellent family as but one is left. Long life to you, Miss Blanch.
