WE call the attention of the temperance people to the first plank in the republican platform as published to day, in which they reaffirm their declaration of 1886 in favor of submitting to a vote of the people the prohibitory constitutional amendment. If any party ever met an issue more fairly than the republican party have met this prohibition question it has escaped our observation. If the prohibition party wishes the success of constitutional prohibition it has but one course to take. The republican party will, in the next legislature, pass the final submission of prohibition to the people. If a majority want it they will adopt it, but if a majority of the people of the state do not want prohibition they will reject it. In this
