OBITUARY.

Drep-At his home in President township, Venango.county, Pa., Sept. 28, 1887, Henry C. McCalmont, aged 79 years.

The deceased was one of the landmarks of this section, and is well remembered by all the older inhabitants. Of his death a daughter writes as fellows:

The Death Angel has visited our home and taken from our midst an aged and beloved father, one who has ever shared our joys and troubles alike. At 9 o'clock Friday morning, the spirit of him we loved and cherished took flight to join those dear ones gone before. He had been a great sufferer for years, but no dangerous symptoms appeared until a short time previous to his death when we began to realize that we must give up all hope, and be prepared for the dying hour. Calmly and peacefully he passed from earth as price-list to B. Wood, 54 South Salina though he had fallen as eep. He leaves a wife and five children, three sons and two daughters, to mourn his loss. He was a resident of Cherrytree, Venango Co., Pa., for some years, and moved to President, Pa., where he had since lived and died. The funeral was largely attended, and Ball at East Hickory, containing many sympathizing friends were present about eight acres, with good house to aid and comfort us in our sad bereave-

From a Former Tionestian.

Through the kindness of his cousin, Mrs. Nora Siegle, we are permitted to publish some interesting extracts of Ritchey, Sept. 3, 1887, and organized a letter from Ed. Savage, a former by electing A. B. Kelly, Chairman, Tionesca boy, but for many years back a resident of Louisville, Ky. : DEAR NORA :-

We were very much surprised to hear from you, but nevertheless, I was glad to hear from you, and especially from old Tionests. I could not imagine that I had even one inquiring friend left there.

Those old hills and the old chain ferry, if you will call to mind, have always been indelibly impressed upon my mind, and, as I have read and heard from time to time of the death of the old residents of Tionesta, of the generation before my time, I can only recall Sam, Haslet, Teitsworth and Bill Killmer, the Shoemaker, How often my mind has traveled back to those old scenes of my happier days. I want to go back some day soon and try my hand at fishing with rod and spear around some of those Islands that once looked so beautiful in the old Allegheny And I wonder if there are any trout left in old Tubbs Run, and does Sam. Haslet ever take the old hounds out over the hills after deer? Some times in my dreams I imagine I hear the baying of the faithful old dogs, far away; those were the times I used to get the buck fever, and miss a broad side shot at the most beautiful animal the world ever knew, but I would always console myself that some other fellow would get a shot sooner or later. Please remember me to Jim Fones, -and is Davy Hilands still living? or old Tom. "Jeff," Zack, Shriver, Bill Wenk, or any of the old boys of my time? I end my love to all of them.

I will send you some keepsake of mother's in a few days. Poor mother! it is sad to think of her lone grave away out on the Sage brush plains of Idaho. I would rather think of her in Cave Hill, with our little curly-haired daughter. We have five precious ones living yet, and I hope they may all live to mature years. Give my love to Hattle and her little ones. Tell her Ed. French is living here, married, and has two little daughters.

Write me soon again and tell me about the hunting and fishing if there is any thing left to hunt or fish for. I have built a very nice little house on Preston and Mechanic Streets, if you remember where that is, and we are living in it; have rented the old cottage on the hill. Truly Yours,

E. H. SAVAGE.

Ed, is well and favorably remembered by those of whom he speaks, (most of whom are still here) and a great many more, who would be delighted to receive a visit from him. The sport of hunting and fishing is by no means what it was in those days, but there are still enough fish and game to afford amusement for the lover of the rod and gun. We imagine that Ed. is the fellow who was with Sam. Haslet when, one clear, frosty morning, years ago, he had gone out on the hill, to "set the dogs out," and when they struck the track and began to "give tongue," Sam asked his friend if he heard "that lovely music! oh, that heavenly music " the fellow listened intently for a moment and then remarked, with a good deal of disgust, that he couldn't hear anything "on account of them d- hounds
