17 years.

After an illness of several years, more or less severe, the spirit of Col. John D. Hunt took its flight on Sabbath evening, Sept. 18, 1887. The name of Col. Hunt was closely identified with the history of Marienville in particular and the older portion of Forest county in general, having passed the greater portion of his useful life in that section, which he has lived to see grow from an almost endless wilderness into a thrifty and prosperous community. He came to Forest county in 1833, when its present limits were embraced in the counties of Jefferson and Venango. During all these years he has borne a reputation for honesty, integrity and purity of life that is an honor to his memory, and surely a great comfort to the relatives he leaves behind. Of a quiet, friendly and slways charitable disposition he drew about him friends from all sides who will revere his memory and keep it green while they live. While this county was connected with Elk and Clearfield, Col. Hunt represented the district in the legislature, in which capacity he acquitted himself in a manner at once creditable to himself and his constituency. The deceased was aged 77 years. The funeral took place on Toesday of last concourse of friends. Peace to his ashes.

An exchange says a new and novel method of raising money for churches is most cheerfully recommended to all congregations given to heroic exploits in the way of fairs, festival and allied devices for raising money. A box is placed in some Jake Guiton, with several others, were of any member of the church or Sunday convenient place, and upon the birthday school that person puts in pennies corresponding to the number of years, and each six months the box is opened and a snug sum realized. If the church has a large congregation the amount will be surprisingly large. The boxes are called birthday boxes, and have become quite popuiar in many towns where the scheme has been tried. In a recent presentment of the Eric sounty grand jury they pointed out an evil that is apparent to any one serving on a grand jury in this or other counties, that of spiteful and petty prosecutions. The presentment set forth "That many cases have come before them appearing to have originated in spite and malice where parties sought to injure their enemies by reaching them through the aid of the courts and sheltering themselves behind the technicalities afforded under our system of laws for punishing orime." The report suggested that more care should be exercised on the part of committing magistrates, whose opportunities to reach the merits of this class of cases by hearing both side of them, would prevent the use of court for such purposes and save the people a large portion of money now ex-pended in prosecuting cases that originate pended in prosecuting cases that originate in petty spite and family wrangles. Per-sons who engage in that sort of shin-dig should pay the fiddler out of their own pockets
