which candidates for the General Assembly are nominated.
SECOND.—Hereafter the State Conventions of the Republican Party shall be held not earlier than the third Wednesday of August, except in the year of the Presidential election, when it shall be held not more than sixty days previous to the day fixed for the National Convention, and except in Gubernatorial years. The State convention of June 30th, 1886, having abolished Senatorial representation, Delegates to the approaching State Convention will be selected according to the number of Representatives in the Legislature to which each county or city is entitled under the Representative Apportionment law passed at the recent session of the Legislature.

THOS. V. COOPER, Chairman.

Note.—In compliance with requests from many sources, that the National Rules of the Republican party be publish-ed, they are given below. THE NATIONAL BULES.

The Republican National Convention of 1884 adopted a resolution offered by Hon. Galusha A. Grow of Pennsylvania, which now embodies all of the National Rules of

"Said [National] committee shall issue the call for the meeting of the National Convention six months at least before the time fixed for said meeting; and each congressional district in the United States shall cloct its delegates to the National Convention in the same way as the nomination of a member of Congress is made in said district; and in the territories the delegates to the Convention shall be elected in the same way as the nomination of delegates to Congress is made; and said delegates to Congress is made; and said National Committee shall prescribe the mode for electing delegates for the District mode for electing delegates for the District of Columbia. An alternate delegate for each delegate to the National Convention, to act in case of the absence of the delegate, shall be elected in the same manner and at the same time as the delegate is elected. And the delegates-al-large for each State and their alternates shall be elected by State Conventions in their respective States."

The changes embodied in the above

The changes embodied in the above, from the rules and customs which previously obtained can be explained very

First.—All specific limitations as to the time of selecting State or District Delegates, have been abolished.

gates, have been abolished.

SECOND.—State Conventions cannot hereafter subdivide into district conventions, for the selection of district delegates, since this class of delegates must be elected in "the same way" as Representatives to Congress are nominated and by the people of the respective districts.

Thind.—Where new apportionment laws are in operation, and counties have been displaced from former districts, district delegates must be selected from the new Congressional district, in like manner as candidates for Congress are nominated.

Members of the State Committee and officers of County Committees will rapidly promote a knowledge of these rules by requesting their publication in all of their local Republican journals.

The Issue Presented.

The preliminary skirmish between the free trade and protection wings of the Democracy of Pennsylvania in this city yesterday resulted in a victory for the President and his friends, and Mr. Randall and his partisans have been sent about their business. Whether the rank and file of the Democracy of the State will in their selection of delegates to the State Convention ratify the action of the State Committee, and give themselves over, bound hand and foot, to the enemies of American manufacturing interests and American workingmen, the future must reveal; but it must be confessed that it looks as if Mr. Scott and his allies will succeed in whipping the party of the State into endorsement of FURNITURE AND UNDERTAKING the President's free trade views, and that they will be able to send a delegation to the National Convention pledged to his renomination. The result of such action must be apparent | Telephone.]

to all who are not blinded by partisan bigotry or misled by greed for office or political power and influence. Pennsylvania, always a strong protection State, must become almost solidly so on the issue as presented by the Democratic committee. Let the contest come. The free trade leaders have grown bold to rashness, but the people of the country are ready to meet them, and when the battle of the ballot takes place Pennsylvania will give a good account of herself .- Harrisburg Tele

Ar the meeting of the Democratic State Committee in Harrisburg last week, Free Trade was king. Raudall's man Sanders was knocked out, and Scott's man Kisner was elected Chairman. Cleveland and his free trade message were endorsed body and breeches, and the Democratic party of Pennsylvania placed squarely and unequivocally upon a free trade platform of the rankest order. No denying the charge any more; the issue is made, and the Republican party accepts the challenge, with the promise, upon that issue, to roll up not less than a hundred thousand majority in November.

THE Elections Committee of the House seems to thoroughly understand what is expected of it by the Democratic majority, and to be determined that these expectations shall be fully realized. It has hustled Thoebe out of its presence with almost brutal disregard of the rights of contestants, and this act is to be followed by the ousting from his seat of Mr. White, the Republican member from the Twelfth Indiana district. It looks as if the Democratic majority of fifteen is not large enough to suit the leaders of that majority, and as if the Elections Committee have undertaken to increase it.

Ir anything were needed to convince the people of the peril which threatens the best interests of the State and country under continued Democratic rule, the evidence was furnished last Wednesday in the almost unanimous adoption by the Democratic State committee of the resolution endorsing President Cleveland's free trade views and pledging the party to his renomination. Just what Democratic protectionists think of this action we shall doubtless soon discover; but it is eerthe party, touching the time for calling Conventions and the election of Delegates.

The text of the rules in this, as officially printed in the proceedings, pp. 70-78:

"Said [National] committee shall issue of the election of a Republican Presitain that it will not lessen the chances. dent next November.

> CONGRESSMAN ENLOE, a Democrat from Tennessee, has introduced a bill appropriating $150,000 for the erection of a National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers in the State of Tennessee. This Home is to be open to all honorably discharged Union soldiers or sailors disabled by disease, wounds or otherwise, and "to all honorably discharged or paroled soldiers and sailors who served in the army or navy of the late so called Confederate States." This puts patriots and traitors on exactly the same footing. Well, if Mr. Lamar is good enough to sit on the Supreme Bench, why should the privates in the Confederate armies be slighted ?-Mercer Dispatch.
