--Three persons were killed and five injured in a wreck on the N. Y., P. & O. R'y at Steamburg, N. Y., twelve miles west of Salamanca, on Sunday morning last. A broken rail was the cause.

--Mr. John Graham of Fryburg, one of Clarion county's most prominent and highly esteemed citizens, dropped dead in his sleigh while on his way to Oil City, yesterday. The doctor pronounced the cause to be apoplexy.

--Mr. C. D. Baker, who now has his residence at Spartausburg, paid his usual monthly visit to Tionesta this week. Clint is one of the pleasantest and widest awake "commercial tourists" that visits our town, in which he has a nice trade.

--Mr. John Cromer and family took their departure for the west on Friday last. They will stop with a son at North Lima, Ohio, until the first of March, before proceeding to their destination in Washington Territory. May success attend them.

--Hoo. Jas. T. Maffett has returned from Washington and is again at his home in Clarion, suffering a relapse of his disease, supposed to be softening of the brain. His fellow Congressmen noticed and commented upon his conduct while in the House, which was quite unnatural. Mr. Maffett will probably never take his seat again.

--Mrs. McBride, who has for years made her home with her daughter, Mrs. S. H. Halet, and who for upward of 30 years has been a great sufferer from rheumatism and totally helpless, is at present lying very low, with little hope of recovery.

--An exchange is authority for the statement that a foundered horse can be cured by wrapping his bridle-bit thick with the bark of freshly-dug sassafras root, and renewing in twelve hours. This will effect a cure if applied within twelve hours after he has been foundered.

--The dwelling house of James Wray, near North Pine Grove, Clarion county, was totally destroyed by fire, together with all its contents, on Friday last. The family were all absent at the time and the cause of the fire is unknown. Mr. Wray places his loss at $2,000, with an insurance of $500.

--Messrs. Scowden & Clark have a dozen new wagons nearly completed for the spring opening. The people hereabouts have learned that they can get a better article for a little money here than by sending away, and as a consequence this firm's orders are steadily increasing, and the money is kept at home.

--Beaver Valley Items: Willis Albaugh, of Tidioute, was in the valley visiting his relatives. His sister returned with him. Lumber hauling is rather brisk in this region at present. Rev. Rumberger has closed the protracted meeting on Whig Hill.

--An epidemic in the shape of sore eyes is going the rounds of the neighborhood at present.

--Mr. L. A. Forbush, the once popular landlord of President's elegant hotel, has leased the Saegertown House, Crawford county, and taken charge. Mr. G. L. Maybee, formerly of Ludlow, Pa., has taken charge of the President Hotel, and we dare say, from reports at hand, that the hotel will lose none of its popularity under Mr. M.'s superior management.

--A young man named Bill, of the village of Enterprise, went to Pleasantville Saturday to have his great toe amputated, an ingrowing nail having disabled him for a year. Drs. Lusher and Nason administered anaesthetics and performed the operation. The boy partially revived, but suddenly began to breathe hard and dropped over dead. All efforts to revive him proved futile.

--A close estimate puts the number of square feet of pine timber that will be run out of Tionesta creek this spring at six hundred thousand. This is considered one of the largest runs we have ever had out of the creek, and does not include hemlock square timber, of which there will be considerable.

--The run of manufactured lumber will reach about the average figure.

--A friend of Judge Trunkey, living near Orangeville, informs the Sharon Herald that in a letter from London, dated Jan. 7th, the Judge says he is in very good health; that there was no cause at any time for the sensational reports that were published in regard to his condition; that from the first his physicians assured him of his ultimate recovery from his ailment, and that he and his wife expect to return home in the spring.

--Jacob Stitzinger of Tionesta township, met with a painful accident yesterday. While assisting to take out timber on Piney Creek, near Nebraska, with tackle blocks, he slipped and thinks he must be caught hold of the rope, which drew his left hand into the block, lacerating it very badly and crushing the bones of the second and third fingers. Dr. Siggins dressed the wound, leaving Mr. S. in as comfortable condition as could be expected under the circumstances.

--Some enterprising Chicagoans have formed a company for the purpose of buying Libby Prison in Richmond, removing it carefully to Chicago and making of it the nucleus of a great war museum. This is a commendable undertaking, but it would not be surprising if some Southerner, apprised of it, should manifest his opposition by applying the torch to the structure and reducing it to ashes, and thus prevent it from becoming a lasting reminder of Southern cruelty.

--We note with genuine pleasure the success of our old friend and predecessor W. R. Dunn, of Kansas, as evidenced in the advertisement of the First National Bank of Fredonia, recently organized, and of which he is one of the directors. Strict integrity, with all that the word implies, is bound to win in the long run, of which fact Bro. Dunn's case is a fair proof; and that he may continue in his prosperity, and never change his address to Canada, (now that he is in the banking business) is the wish of his many old friends in Forest county.

--Spring elections will be held in the different townships one week from next Tuesday, 21st inst. At the same time delegates to the Republican National and State Conventions will be elected. Of course this has nothing to do with the Spring elections, but separate boards will be organized at some convenient point near by where Republicans can deposit their ballots for their choice. This course is pursued in order to obviate the necessity of holding a special election at another time when it would be difficult to get out the voters. We hope Republicans will bear the fact in mind and show up a good vote.

--The Tidouite News is in the following high glee over the prospects of early gas in that place, and well it may be: The Citizens Gas Co. are rushing things. A circular enclosed with schedule of rates, issued Tuesday evening, announces the expected gas for the 20th inst. Plumbers are already at work in a number of houses putting in the fittings. A gang of men went to work putting together the high pressure line Monday noon, the four inch pipe having arrived, and early next week we may expect to see the end of that line across the river.

--Supt. Phelps is jamming things for money, you bet. When the gas gets here how would it do to make merry and have a jolly time over our good fortune? It is a thing we long have sought, and mourned because we found it not. What say the people?

--On Saturday afternoon last the gas well from which Tidouite expects to get its gas, in Hickory township, this county, raised quite a rumpus, according to a report published in Monday's Derrick. The men, it seems, were engaged in pulling the tubing--the well being tubed with two inch pipe. The pecker, which was found to be frozen, was thawed out with hot water, and when it did let loose it came up with great force, sending 1,100 feet of tubing up into the air, shattering the derrick to splinters and sending some of the pipe hundreds of feet in the air. The object of pulling the tubing was to replace it with 3 inch tubing. The men at the well made a very narrow escape, as it happened no one was injured. The pipe line is nearing completion, and before long the citizens of Tidouite will be enjoying the luxury of vapor fuel.

--A correspondent from Ringgold township, Jefferson county, writing to the Brookville Democrat, gives the following account of the death of George Buck, well known to many of our readers: One day last week two citizens of Clarion county came to their uncle's home in this township to pay them a visit, and while there one of them became sick. Dr. McDowell was called in and found the man in such a state of fever that he could not handle him, so he got the constable to go with him. When they got back to the house he had smashed a good deal of the furniture, driven the family around wherever he pleased, and then went outside the house and deliberately laid down in the snow, where the doctor and constable found him. They got him into the house, but could do nothing with him until they put the bracelets on his wrists and ropes on his legs. Since writing the above the sick man died. He was a son of the notorious Boss Buck and one of the gang of counterfeiters sent to the penitentiary a few years ago. He died a terrible death at the house of Eli Buck, Sunday forenoon, January 29th, and his remains were taken to Tylersburg, Clarion county the next day. His parents' home is in that vicinity.

--Albert Kinney, well known to our readers in this section, died at the residence of George Carr, in this place, on Sunday morning last, of pneumonia, after an illness of about two weeks. Another of the old soldiers has thus answered to "roll call" for the last time. Mr. Kinney was born in Venango Co. He enlisted at the breaking out of the rebellion in Co. F, 58th Regiment, P. V., Capt. Lucius Rogers, now of the McKean Miner, and remained until the close of the war, being four years in the service. He received a wound in the head, which somewhat affected his mind, and by reason of which he drew a pension of $12 per month. As a soldier his record is without a stain. He passed through many battles and was respected by his comrades and officers as a brave soldier. He was admitted to the Soldiers Home in Erie shortly after it was opened, and was out on furlough when he contracted his fatal disease. During his illness he was well cared for by his comrades of Stow Post, of which he was a member, and which was out in a body at his funeral on Monday, being headed by Nick Thompson Camp, Sons of Vets, Chaplain Rhodes conducted the services at the Presbyterian Church, which were largely attended and quite impressive. His remains were laid to rest in Riverside cemetery by the side of other comrades gone before. Albert Kinney was aged 51 years, and leaves two brothers and a sister, besides other friends to mourn his death.

At a regular meeting of Byrom Lodge, A. O. U. W., held Wednesday evening, Jan. 25, 1888, the following resolutions were adopted, relative to the death of Bro. Frank Stroup. Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to call from among us, by death, Frank Stroup, a most beloved brother. Therefore be it

HERE AND THERE.
 G. D. Bunting, of Cambridge, Crawford county, owns, says the Meadville Journal, a fine specimen of the bald eagle. It measures nine feet from tip to tip of wings, and weighs twelve and one-half pounds. On 2 o'clock p. m., on Wednesday, Feb. 22d, the one hundred and fifty-fifth anniversary of the birth of George Washington, Mr. Bunting will give the bird his freedom.

Dr. Hamilton has received a letter from Dakota by which he learned that it was his niece, Ella Lamar, who perished by the recent blizzard. Where she was teaching school she had but to cross the street to her boarding house and was doing this with two of her pupils when overtaken by the blizzard. The two children were found alive in the morning but she was dead. She was from near Harrisville and was well educated and respected. [Emblemton News.]

After resting for years under a delusion, mankind are beginning to understand the scientific fact that the lightning-rod is a useless thing. The discovery is a sad blow to the farmers who have been at such expense to ornament their barns and houses with these supposed conductors of the destructive thunderbolt. Fewer and fewer rods are made every year. A scientific paper says the dry will come when a lightning-rod on a house will be regarded in the same light as a horseshoe over a man's door.—[Franklin News.]

The new measure as to what may be written or printed on second, third and fourth class matter passing through the United States mails, is now law, signed by the President, and promulgated by the new Postmaster General, Don M. Dickinson. It is now possible to print almost anything reasonable on the wrapper, provided proper space is reserved for the address. The little indication upon a newspaper wrapper, of when the subscription expires, is no longer prohibited, and also the directions as to forwarding, delivery and return go unchallenged.

A dispatch from Erie dated Monday says: Franklin Reber, a veteran of the 10th Pennsylvania Volunteers, died today in the Soldiers Home. Reber left his home when a lad of 19 and entered the army against his father's will. Although he returned in May, 1865, with four red-bellied bullets in his body, his father would not be reconciled and he was turned away. About two years ago Reber's wounds rendered him unfit to make a living and he came here. A few weeks ago, when he realized that his days were few he wrote to his father imploring forgiveness and begging that he allow him to come home that he might be laid beside his mother in the family burying ground. The dying request of the veteran met with no response. Major Tyson, Commander of the Soldiers Home, urged a reconciliation, but to no purpose. Death came to the hero of many battles, but no message of pardon from his father. To-morrow the patriot's body will be laid to rest beside comrades who lie sleeping in the Erie Soldiers Cemetery.

A very important decision, says the Butler Herald, has been made by the Attorney General having relation to the returns to be made out by the election officers at the spring elections. It was thought that when the returns were properly signed and sealed and delivered to the Clerk of Courts the duties of the election officers ended. But the Attorney General concluded from an examination of the several acts of assembly bearing on the subject that they are also required to make out a separate return in case of the election of Justices of the Peace, which must be filed in the Prothonotary's office. This decision is based on the fact that Justices of the Peace elected are required to file their acceptance of the office with the Prothonotary within 30 days after the election, in which acceptance the facts must be stated who they severally succeed and the cause of vacancy. Unless, therefore the Prothonotary has before him a copy of the return of the election of a Justice of the Peace, he would be unable to certify to the Secretary of the Commonwealth who was elected. The Attorney General says he has no doubt that the term "township and borough officers" used in the act of 1875 includes Justices of the Peace, and, therefore, returns are required to be made of the election of all township and borough officers, including Justices of the Peace and Aldermen, to the Clerk of the Courts of Quarter Sessions, and in addition thereto returns should be made to the Prothonotary by the same officers of the election of Justices and Aldermen.

He said he had heard that there was an end to all things—but there seemed to be none to his cough. He changed his mind two days later, after using only one bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.
