—Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Wheeler of West Hickory, passed last Sabbath with Tionesta friends. Mr. W. very ably assisted the Presbyterian choir during the morning and evening services. His musical talents will some day make him famous.
—Mr. J. H. Dingman for many years in the lumber, stave and tie business in this neighborhood, has sold his active interests to Mr. N. S. Foreman and talks of moving away. The new firm will be Messrs. Derickson & Foreman, who will continue the business in all its branches.
—Ben. W. May of Chicago, paid his old home a short visit last week, and shook hands with many of his old admirers. He accompanied Mrs. Chas. Bonner and children as far as Stoneboro. She is expected to arrive in Tionesta to-day and will be the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, for a few weeks.
—A Musical for the benefit of the Presbyterian Church, will be held at the residence of Mrs. A. B. Kelly, Tuesday evening, July 24th, at 8 o'clock. Such artists as Miss Maude Davis, Mrs. Sharpe and Mr. Wheeler, of Hickory, assisted by local talent will render an attractive programme. A general invitation is extended. Price, 35 cents.
—Since there has been considerable talk about the matter, a number of the married men have about come to the conclusion that it wouldn't be a bad idea to take the young men in hand and show them how to play base ball, and if present indications can be relied on there will likely be a game of that sort played about next Friday; that's if the aforesaid y. m. have as much sand as they have talk.
—The August Peterson is as fresh and interesting as a magazine can be. The steel engraving, "Good-Bye Papa," is one of those bewitching pictures for which Peterson is famous. The needlework, fancy articles, and household departments are as complete as ever. In short, Peterson, as usual, is a treasury of literature, art and fashion. Terms two dollars per year. Address, Peterson Magazine, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
—The State Weather-Crop Bulletin, for the past week says: The rainfall was an excess and general throughout the State; nearly all stations report over 1.50 inches and several over 2 inches. Harvest has been delayed more than injured by the late rains. Most of the wheat has been harvested in fine condition in the Lebanon and Cumberland valleys. The yield will be a large one. All conditions are excellent for growing crops. Corn has improved rapidly.
—Several members of the Tionesta band were the guests of the Siverlyville brass band Saturday evening, and were being entertained at Temperance hall, where ice cream, cake, etc., were served. Geo. B. Downing, who is now located at Tionesta, accompanied the party and was presented with an appropriately inscribed, gold-headed cane by the boys of the Siverlyville band, of which he is the leader. He made a short speech in accepting the gift, fittingly expressing his thanks.—Blizzard.
—The most disastrous flood known to that section occurred last week in the Monongahela river. The greatest sufferers were the lumbermen and coal men, and their losses will reach up above the millions. Immense barge fleets, loaded with coal for the lower markets were carried away. A scheme is now on foot to test the feasibility of iron barges, the Messrs. Brown & Sons being the projectors. Should the experiment prove successful it will revolutionize the barge-building industry, and prove a serious loss to the lumbermen along the Allegheny and its tributaries.
—Mrs. Susanna Knapp, of Fox Creek, Green township, died this morning, of typhoid fever, aged about 45 years. Emma J. Rice, a daughter, aged about 17 years. Mrs. Knapp was the mother of several children, of whom she was the main support since the death of her husband, upward of two years ago. She was an exemplary, christian woman, beloved by all her neighbors, and she will be sadly missed and mourned. Another daughter is at present lying very low with the same dread disease.
—Wm. Hunter, whose serious accident we chronicled last week, died from the effects of his injuries, at his home, near Nebraska, this county, on Wednesday evening last. He was aged about 53 years, and besides a wife he leaves a family of five children—three boys and two girls—all above the age of 15, except one girl. These, with a large circle of other relatives and friends, have the sympathy of the entire community in their great bereavement. The funeral took place on Friday last and was attended by an immense concourse of friends, the remains being interred in the Evangelical church cemetery on German Hill.

—On Monday of this week, Geo. Hill, brother of Judge Hill, who lives four miles above this place on the Allegheny river, met with a very painful accident. While assisting to unload some hay with a patent fork, a rope gave way letting him fall from the wagon to the barn floor, a distance of several feet, and fracturing his right leg close up to the hip joint. Dr. Morrow was called and reduced the fracture, leaving the patient as comfortable as possible under the circumstances, but it will likely be some time before he will have any use of the injured limb, he being upward of 50 years of age, which with the nature of the wound will make the healing process rather slow.

John S. Everhart Discharged.
The hearing of John S. Everhart for complicity in the murder of his wife and mother-in-law was held before Esquire T. J. Payne, of Paint township, Clarion county, on Monday of this week. After all the witnesses had been examined, and the lawyers concluded their arguments "Squire Payne rendered his decision discharging Mr. Everhart, and from the evidence elicited it is difficult to understand how he could do otherwise. It seems foolish for a set of detectives to cause the arrest of a man against whom they cannot find sufficient testimony to even hold for trial, much less convict. Following is the testimony as reported by the Derrick:
George Fullmer was the first witness sworn. He came to John Everhart's April 18, 1888, and left his house December 18, 1888. During this period I stayed there all the time. I am 71 years old next October. John Everhart and his wife quarreled frequently about giving Dan a deed for his land. They often quarreled and Mrs. Everhart said she would go and live with her daughter who was going to school at Edinboro. Some times they would not speak for three or four days. These quarrels would occur about once a month, and made the woman, Gilliland, childish and John threatened to take her to the Asylum at North Warren. I left John Everhart's Dec. 18th, and took some of my clothes with me, and on Feb. 19th came back and got some more but did not get all. On the 1st day of March I went back to get them but John Everhart told me to come back on the 8th of March, as the women would wash them up and have them ready for me. I told him as he was coming up to Fryburg on that day he might put them in his buggy and leave them at Moran's store, which was on his way, but his excuse was that he wanted to start early and that they would not be dry. The cross-examination elicited nothing new.
D. Byers sworn—I was at Everhart's house, March 30th, '88, saw Mrs. Everhart in the spring house laying in the drain. She was dead, with her throat cut. Had two large cuts extending from ear to ear and two small ones lower down. There were blood marks on the door. I knew her for eight years. I was at home on the day of the murder. Ed. Owens preceded me to the spring house. The old lady was found first in the house, with her throat cut.
Daniel Byers was called to the stand again and said that after Mr. Everhart looked at the woman he said that he went to the house and found that $300 had been taken. At first he said there was no money taken. John Everhart asked me before the hearing at East Brady to state that I had seen a red-headed man with a broad-brimmed hat at the window in the Everhart house about 1 o'clock the day of the murder. I told him that I never seen such a man in his house on that day. I saw some person through the window as I passed by the Everhart house that day, between 12 and 1 o'clock; could not distinguish who it was; heard Mrs. Everhart's voice.
John Seigler, a German, sworn.—Have been in America 40 years; am 66 years old; live near Fryburg; I heard of the murder on Tuesday. Saw Everhart on Tuesday, the day of the murder. Everhart asked Hargreider if Fulmer was at home. Did not hear him say anything further of Fulmer. Witness failed to tell all that the attorney wanted, though he knew, and said he would get it all at the general term.
J. P. Fuller, sworn.—Live in Fryburg; I was at home in my office; I heard Everhart say that Fulmer was a very abusive man and he might kill the boy that I had adopted.
Richard Lyman sworn.—I was in Fryburg the 8th of March, '88; had a talk with J. S. Everhart; Everhart asked me if I ever had any trouble; I said I had, was stuck as ball; he said he was stuck also by a man by the name of Myers; he refused to bail him, but his wife said he was a cruel man; I then bailed him and had to pay it, which was $200; I once gave my wife $50 in gold; I asked her for it some time afterwards, but she only gave me $15; she swore up and down that that was all she ever got from me.
Wm. Frazer sworn.—I recollect the date of the murder; I got there at 9 a. m. next day, being met by Dan in the yard. We went to hunt the track of the men they suspected of being the murderers. Found them near a coal bank; followed them through a fold and woods within a quarter of a mile of Hargreider; first found one track and a little further on found another, one coming and one going; the first track was found within 50 yards of the coal bank in a field; a regular path was beat to and from the coal bank and house; we followed the track to the big road towards Hargreider; within a quarter of a mile of Hargreider found Fulmer in the yard; I heard him step out into the snow; measured his track, which nearly corresponded to those found in the field; the coal bank is 300 yards from Everhart's house; tracks were made several days before, as near as I can tell; it snowed very hard on the 8th of March.

Joseph Brewster, a lad of 10 years, was sworn.—He was living at Everhart's and going to school, and the day of the murder told Mr. Everhart that Mrs. Everhart was going visiting to the Weavers, and he was going to stay at home that day. Everhart scolded him and told him to go to school, and also in forcible language told his wife not to go to the Weavers. When Mr. Everhart started for Fryburg his wife told him to bring home some coffee and sugar; he said to her "After-to-day you will not need any sugar and coffee;" I went to school, and when I came home I found grandmother's throat cut, and then I ran down the road and told Mrs. Mahlo, Howard Everhart, Dan Everhart's son, and I were hauling manure and found a coat buried in the manure, when Howard exclaimed: "That is papa's coat." John Everhart came and took the coat away and I never saw it since. Afterwards Mr. Everhart bought me a suit of clothes and told me not to say anything about finding the coat, and if the lawyers ever asked me anything to say that I did not remember anything.
Max Fletcher's testimony was as follows—Live near John Everhart; held the office of Justice of the Peace for 13 years before the murder. At one time, about three or four years before the murder, John Everhart sent a boy for me to come down to his house. I went to his house and found him and his daughter in the room; he wanted me to make a deed of 100 acres of his farm to his wife; inquired for his wife and he said she was down a half mile at a neighbors. The idea he conveyed to me was that he was doing this under compulsion, and he was a little excited and I did not like to make out a deed, not liking the way things looked. I told Mr. Everhart I wanted to see his wife before I made the deed. I went down to Mr. McMichael's; was introduced and broached the subject, and she was determined to have a deed for the 100 acres. She told me that she wanted to build a house, and that her and Mary would live together. I talked to her awhile and tried to effect a reconciliation, and she said if John would come down in the morning she would go home with him. At another time, about one year before the murder, John Everhart came to my house, threw down a deed and wanted me to make out a deed for 100 acres to his wife. I told him I guessed I would have to go down again and get things fixed up, which I did, and accomplished a second reconciliation. About six months before the murder, I was passing by Mr. Everhart's house and asked him how he was getting along, when he remarked "With the grace of God in my heart I can bear anything."
