Mrs. R. B. Crawford is visiting friends in Ridgway, Pa., this week.

Miss Alice Barnes, of Ripley, N. Y., is the guest of Dr. Siggins' family.

Roasting ears are coming on, and in a few days there'll be any amount of colic laying around loose.

Capt. J. J. Haight and son, of Cooper Tract, this county, were among Tionesta's visitors this week.

Mrs. J. L. Craig gave a select number of the young people of the town a very pleasant party last evening.

Mrs. Joseph Scowden and daughter, of Meadville, were visiting with J. C. Scowden's family during the past week.

To day the County Commissioners meet to open bids and let contracts for the new improvements about the Court House grounds.

The date of the soldiers' reunion at Bradford was erroneously stated last week as August 25th. It should have been August 22d.

Mr. and Mrs. Park Grove wish to sincerely thank the friends who lent such tender aid and sympathy in their late bereavement, the death of their little babe.

Judge Propper, who finished his hay harvest yesterday, has three large barns well filled, and calculates that he has 150 tons. What's the matter with that kind of farming.

The plasterers are putting the finishing touches on Mrs. Dr. Hunter's new residence. The carpenters expect to complete their contract by the first of September or sooner.

Don't forget the excursion to Niagara tomorrow. Train leaves this station at 6:30, and those who intend going should be promptly on hand. Quite a goodly number talk of going.

Mr. Jas. G. Carson went to Nebraska to commence work on the new M. E. Church edifice building there, and for which he has the contract. It will be a fine structure when completed.

Mr. Chas. Bonner of Chicago, arrived in Tionesta last Saturday, and has been shaking hands with friends pretty much ever since. He expects to return with his family on Friday of this week.

Every available rig in town, and some which could hardly be called by that name, was pressed into service by visitors to the Whig Hill camp meeting last Sabbath. The meetings have been generally well attended, and a success in every respect.

The band boys have shipped their brass instruments away and will exchange them for silver horns, and a vastly superior quality. They expect their new ones on this week, and then we may look out for some lively music during the impending campaign.

Claude, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Steen, died this morning at one o'clock, of cholera infantum. The stricken parents have the sympathy of all their neighbors in their affliction. We did not learn what the arrangements for the funeral are.

The State Weather Crop Bulletin for the past week says, the temperature has been slightly below the average, with a large percentage of sunshine. The weather conditions were excellent for growth and general farm work. Out harvest continued during the week, and will be fully up to the average. The wheat, rye and hay yield was large, and is about all secured. Corn and potatoes are growing rapidly and promise abundant crops. Some sections need rain, particularly on pasture lands.

The motto of the proprietors of Dr. Henry Baxter's Mandrake Bitters is, "the greatest good to the greatest number," and so sell a large bottle of a valuable remedy for the small price of 25 cents, and warrant every bottle to give satisfaction or money refunded.

The "Forest Gas Co.," is a new company that is applying for a charter and will do business in the counties of Forest, Warren, Crawford and Venango. The names of the stockholders are familiar to nearly all our readers, and they are a guarantee that the institution will not be run on surface gas, by a long shot.

The Franklin News gives this timely advice: "August is at hand. It's the boss month for epidemics and intestinal 'ructions. Eat plenty of good, plain food; don't guzzle too much ice water; don't enter into the stimulating part of the political campaign until the days shorten up; don't suicide until you find out how the fall trade opens up."

After a brief illness of one week, Mrs. Catharine Flynn passed away quietly, at the residence of her son-in-law, Robt. W. Pimm, Fagundus, Pa., July 26, 1888, aged 74 years, and 27 days. Her remains were laid to rest in St. John's Cemetery, at Tidouote, the funeral being attended by a large concourse of sympathizing, friends and acquaintances.

We find the following sad news in an item among the Meadville correspondence of the Oil City Blizzard of Monday: "A little two-year-old daughter of Miles W. Tate and wife, who came here from Forest county last year, died Saturday morning, and was buried yesterday. The most excellent family have the sympathy of all who know them in their bereavement."

Geo. Raab, who now has a barber shop that would be a credit and ornament to any city, is constantly adding new and attractive features. He now carries a line of the finest brands of tobacco and cigars to be had in the market and sells them down at bottom figures. Also Dunkle, a handy little fellow, has erected a neat stand for shining shoes, and puts on a gloss like a French plate mirror, all for a nickel. Customers always receive prompt attention.

Mr. Eli Holeman met with quite a painful accident last Thursday. He was painting his barn, and had placed the ladder on a box "to make it reach," and the foundation, being rather shaky, gave way, throwing Mr. Holeman backward a distance of about fifteen feet. He struck on his right shoulder, bruising him considerably, but fortunately breaking no bones, although necessitating the carrying of the injured arm in a sling for the time being.

The large hay and grain barn of Wheeler & Dusenbury, situated on the flats about half a mile below Newtown, was totally destroyed by fire on Thursday evening last about 8 o'clock. The firm had just finished their harvest that day, and the barn was filled with hay and wheat, and the farm machinery, such as mowers, hay rakes, wagons, &c., had all been stowed away. The loss is quite heavy; we have not heard it estimated. The origin of the fire is a mystery, but the opinion prevails to some extent that spontaneous combustion was the cause.

Another theory is that the fire caught from sparks from lighted pipes or cigars which were smoked about the premises.

A distressing fatality. A distressing and fatal accident occurred Saturday last at Wheeler, Dusenbury & Co.'s mills, East Hickory. Mr. Eb. Witherell, who has for some weeks acted as brakeman on the logging railroad operated by the firm, attempted to board the engine as he was moving out of the board yard. As he did so his foot slipped out of the "stirrup" and his left foot was caught in the cog gearing, drawing him into the cog wheels, of which there are several, and completely grinding the limb to atoms from the toes to his body. When his foot was caught he cried, "hold on! I'm caught," to the engineer, Mr. Madison Church, who reversed the engine instantly, but was unable to do it quick enough to avert the unfortunate accident. When thus held, the young man coolly told the engineer to back up, but afterwards stopped him with the remark, "hold on! that won't work." Willing hands were immediately on the ground, but nothing could be done but take the gearing apart, during which the unfortunate victim displayed the most wonderful nerve. Dr. Weber of Hickory was quickly on the ground, and Dr. Siggins of this place was summoned, but the injury was so great that, notwithstanding the skill of both physicians and the pluck of the young man, the reaction was too severe, and he died in about three hours after the accident. The deceased was aged 21 years, 5 months and 4 days, and a son of Mr. Emery Witherell, well and favorably known to many of our readers. He was a steady, industrious and popular young man of good habits, and will be much missed by his associates.

This is the first fatal accident that has occurred under the management of Messrs. Wheeler & Dusenbury for many years, who are particularly solicitous for the safety and welfare of their employes, and they naturally feel the unfortunate occurrence very keenly.

John S. Everhart Bound Over.

The second arrest of John S. Everhart for complicity in the Everhart-Gillfillan murder, took place on Tuesday of last week, and on Saturday a preliminary hearing was held before Justice High Wing, of Millcreek township, Clarion county. The hearing lasted from 10 a. m. till 6 p. m., and was attended by a large crowd. The charge being conspiracy, Dan Everhart and Jim Horner were tried at the same time. The following new testimony was brought out, as reported in the Derrick:

Mrs. L. Mahle sworn: Am the nearest neighbor to J. S. Everhart. About noon I was attending our stock and was out in the road when I saw a medium sized man with a grey suit and a stick in his hand enter J. S. Everhart's from a gate that leads towards the house. Our time was then about one-half hour faster than sun time. I saw Host pass after Byers had passed. Host passed about 10 o'clock. Horner and Dan passed before Host. Dan had a grey coat on then. I saw Mrs. Marshall pass, but it was not her that entered the gate.

Host sworn: I live two miles from Everhart's and am acquainted with Byers for five years. I met Byers at cross roads; talked with him and I think it was about 12 o'clock; it took me about 15 minutes to the grist mill and when I came back to Lickingville I met Horner in the post office; he then went home with me. In our conversation home, he asked me if I had seen him? I remarked no. He then replied, "if you had watched closely you could have seen me sitting on the fence." Afterward we had another conversation and Horner again remarked, "Did you not see me on the fence? If you could say you saw me it would help me a great deal, as the people blame me for the murdering of those women." Horner said they had me arrested in Oil City, shortly after the murder and found an old pen-knife and sent it off to have it examined, as there were some marks on it which they thought was blood; afterward they told me where I could get it, but I never went after it for it is not worth going after.

Sheardon Shaw, sworn: I live in Forest county; Horner is married to my sister, but she left him. I had a talk with Horner July of 1886, about some land he got from J. Everhart. I asked him how much he paid for it, he replied: "Not very damn much; only two or three hours' work." In another conversation he asked me if two or three were in cohort in a robbery or murder and one should squeal, would he be punished as severely as the rest? I said: "I think not." In another conversation that I overheard between my father and Horner, my father asked Horner if he and J. S. Everhart are on good terms? Horner said "no damn his old soul, he must walk the chalk mark or I will squeal on him, that will make him chew his finger nails until they bleed, for trying to lay a plot to get rid of his family."

Mac Ewing sworn: I arrested Jim Horner; took him to Clarion and while in the Jones House in the presence of the district attorney, G. G. Sloan, just before I took him to jail he said "this is pretty hard for a man to lose his liberty, when J. S. Everhart the principal perpetrator in this act is at large."

At the conclusion of the testimony the Justice said, "In my opinion there is sufficient evidence to bind the defendants over for a hearing and, therefore, submit their trial to a higher tribunal."

Porkey Points.

Mr. and Mrs. Bairstow of Warren, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hawks over Sunday.

Nearly all the residents of Porkey and Balltown attended camp meeting, Sunday, at Whig Hill.

Miss Annie Meehan has returned to Porkey after an absence of a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason start for Chattanooga Monday next.

Mr. R. Shannon of Balltown will sojourn in Elk county a few weeks in the interests of the National Transit Company.

The repairs on the Balltown school house are progressing finely, owing to the efficient workmanship of Mr. Linderman.

The "campaign hats" are becoming quite numerous. Let it be said to the credit of Balltown and Porkey that they are mostly Harrison hats.

The reported burglars of Balltown must have taken their departure for parts unknown, as no recent deceptions have been committed.

July 31.

Starr Glimmers.

The rain yesterday afternoon and evening caused a goodly number of our young people to miss their visit to camp meeting in the evening.

Mr. W. B. Heath is about to build a roofed porch to the west end of his house, which will improve the looks, and at the same time make it very comfortable.

Mr. Adam Zuendel has the lumber on the ground for a building which is intended for his wagons, driving rigs and farming tools. This is sensible; it is not so much the wear that does the damage to these things but the exposure to rain, snow, and sunshine.

Mrs. Tailor came to German Hill yesterday evening to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Heath.

Boys, you can make harvesting easy if you wish to; just call at the P. O. and order a reaper from the P. M.; he will put one into your field in good running order, or no pay. Give him a call.

Who has the best painted house on the Hill? Why it is Mr. H. Kiser.

Who has the best corn? Messrs. A. Zuendel, F. Lohmeyer and some other farmers.

Mr. H. A. Zuendel will dig the most potatoes this fall, and don't you forget it.

Where can we find fine large cherries up to date? At Mr. C. F. Lederer's. OBSERVER.

Card of Thanks.

To the citizens of Hickory and vicinity:— Permit us in this manner to extend to you all, our heartfelt thanks, for your kind attention and tender sympathy during our recent affliction, the death and burial of our dear son.

We thank you for your beautiful floral offerings, words and acts of condolence. Our boy's sudden taking away brings to us a crushing load of sorrow, which the respect shown his memory in a manner alleviates. As you have shown your love and kindness to us, so may you all be rewarded, not alone by earthly friends, but by One who is mightier by far, than all the earth combined, is the prayer of

EMERY AND ELLEN WITHERELL.

HERE AND THERE.

One of the subjects recently discussed by the State Editorial Association at Erie was the capacity of the advertiser who continually wants something for nothing, and whose cheek offers get beyond the line of impudence. Recently a patent medicine firm sent out a circular to the Republican newspapers of the country offering to furnish them with a cut of an old log cabin free, provided the firm name of the donors is permitted to be engraved on the cabin and $10 or $15 worth of local advertising is thrown in gratis. Gossip is glad to note a tendency on the part of some of the Republican newspapers to reject this cheeky offer, but regrets that others have accepted it. Advertisers of this kind are of no benefit to a newspaper, and the publisher who accepts their offers simply encourages them to further demands and discourages those who are fighting for decent pay for legitimate advertising.

(Harrisburg Telegraph.) The REPUBLICAN'S ever convenient receptacle for all such waste basket—is somewhat richer by the addition of one of these magnificent offers.

It seems a pity, says the McKean Miner, that any one not contented with the rapid extermination of robins, orioles, thrushes and many other species of singing birds, by sparrows and other unmelodious causes, should thoughtlessly aid in their disappearance, by shooting them, hoping to thereby benefit themselves in some way, but it is so in several different cases. There was a time when the balmy air of Summer days, throughout our valleys and meadows, was filled with the music of these numberless birds, rendering our earth almost a paradise. Following is an extract from the game laws of Pennsylvania, in regard to birds: "No person shall at any time within this State, kill, trap or expose for sale or have in his or her possession after the same has been killed, any night-hawk, whip-poor-will, sparrow, thrush, lark, finch, martin, chimney-swallows, barn-swallow, wood-pecker, flicker, robin, oriole, red or cardinal bird, cedar bird, tanager, cat-bird, blue bird or any other insectivorous bird, under a penalty of five dollars for each bird killed, trapped, exposed for sale or had in possession."

DIED. GROVE—On Saturday, July 28, 1888, Roy, infant son of Park and Fanny Grove, aged 5 months and 14 days, of cholera infantum.

There seems to be but little to write when we sit down to record the death of these little ones whose whole life is measured by only a few days or weeks. They enter the circle in which we live and unconsciously but very surely become a part of that life and a part of ourselves. Our lives may have been happy before they came but their coming brings a new happiness. And when the smile has faded from the bright little face that was so beautiful to us, and the light has gone out of the bright little eyes so full of wonder and love, and the little form has been laid away from our sight forever, how changed and strange it all seems. Our hearts are sad and how desolate. Something has been taken from our lives that never will be taken back again. We go about our daily work but it is not as it once was. Then, as we toiled, there came to cheer us and encourage us the remembrance of a little one who had come to share whatever of good befell us and to look to us and depend upon us and love us and trust us and in whom we would live our lives over again. Now, instead, we see only a little mound in the church yard, and there is a throb of pain at our hearts and our eyes grow dim as we bend closer over our work to hide the tear that will come. If our thoughts were confined to that little grave how gloomy would it be indeed. But as our desire and all our labor was for that little one's good while it lived, so now when it is gone our sorrow is softened and our hearts comforted with the thought that He who once was the Babe of Bethlehem, Himself said, "Of such is the Kingdom."
