LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

No Paper Next Week.

Our "old and time-honored custom" has got the better of us again—it always does about this time of year—and there'll be no paper issued from this office next week.

Another invoice of tramps applied for pie, cake and feather beds at the borough's expense Friday night.

Henry F. James, who returned recently from the American Forestry Congress at Atlanta, Ga., to which body he was appointed a delegate by Gov. Beaver, reports that the sessions were very interesting, and that the discussions developed much in a practical way that will tend to the preservation of the forests and to prevent the rapid deforesting of the country that is now going on.

Shugart Watson lost one of his team horses last Friday. Cause of death not known exactly.

Christmas to come! Well it has come and unloaded at the store of Hopkins & Co. Call in and see the display of Christmas Goods.

Rev. Rumberger and family have gone to spend Christmas at their old home in Armstrong county.

Constable White of Barnett, dropped in on us a few moments yesterday morning while attending Court.

Mr. J. I. Range of Stewart Run, has purchased the farm of G. W. Zeits, in Tionesta twp., for a consideration of $1,800.

Messrs. T. J. Reyner and M. C. Carringer represented the mercantile interests of Jenks township on the jury this week.

Hopkins & Co. have something to suit the youngest and the oldest among the Christmas goods. Look them over before you buy.

J. T. Brennan will occupy Rev. Rumberger's pulpit at the M. E. Church next Sabbath evening, the latter being absent.

Some of the boys found "Arabing" quite profitable on the river Monday. Logs, ties, johnboats, &c., were quite numerous.

Friday, the 21st, will be the shortest day of the year. After that the days will lengthen, and the cold strengthen, if the old saw holds good.

When you are out selecting Christmas presents don't forget that H. J. Hopkins & Co. have the largest assortment in town.

Hon. C. W. Stone, Secretary of the Commonwealth, has our thanks for a neat compilation of the official vote, by districts, for Congressmen in this State.

Martin Orne killed a monster black bear in the vicinity of Bobs Creek last Saturday. These pets are said to be plentier than deer in the big woods this winter.

If you want to present any of your friends with a nice silk muffler, or silk handkerchief, you can have a handsome assortment to select from at H. J. Hopkins & Co.'s.

Santa Claus will be around next Monday evening. In the meantime he is scanning the columns of the REPUBLICAN to see where the fine displays of parents are for sale.

The young ladies netted the handsome sum of $37 at the supper last Friday evening, which will go a good way toward defraying the expenses of a Christmas tree for the Sabbath School children.

The full McGraw band consisting of five pieces, will furnish the music for the dance to be given in the Rink, Dec. 25. Good order will be kept and all are cordially invited to come.

Jas. G. Carson and Henry Shoemaker are having a disagreeable time of it trying to get a new building, next to Hon. E. L. Davis' office, under roof. The building is to be used by the Gas Co. when completed.

Jack shall pipe and Gill shall dance just as long out in the open barn as they please. The free born American citizen don't fear neuralgia with Salvation Oil to the front. Only a twenty five cent investment.

The Philadelphia Record Almanac is the first really first class publication of the kind to find its way to our table, and when we say first class we mean all the words imply. It is remarkably fresh and complete in its election figures, which it gives even to the official popular vote of the United States. There's no end to the information it gives on a great variety of subjects.

The river at this writing is on somewhat of a "high," bank full in fact, caused by the steady rain of Sunday and Sunday night. The creek had frozen over at the mouth and there was promise of a good winter "set in." The sleighing on the hills was fine, and as the foundation is still pretty solid, we may have good going yet before Christmas. A very little snow will do it.

Another invoice of tramps applied for pie, cake and feather beds at the borough's expense Friday night. While they didn't just get a set up like that they managed to live through the night, and next day Policeman Shoemaker found them a place to put in a good share of the time with pick and shovel. The medicine seems to have taken effect as none of the gentry have smiled on us since.

Beaver, reports that the sessions were very interesting, and that the discussions developed much in a practical way that will tend to the preservation of the forests and to prevent the rapid deforesting of the country that is now going on.

The system of cream gathering, in which so many dairymen are interested, is gaining many friends in all parts of the north. The great object being to lessen the work at home as well as to obtain the greatest price in the sale of butter. The Cooley system seems to be leading far in advance of all others, and for factories as well as for private dairies it claims to have no equal. Notice the advertisement wherein is set forth to some extent the record of triumphs at the great fairs and expositions, to which should be added First Premium, Rhode Island State Fair, 1888. It is indeed wonderful what progress has been made in the dairy business.

Peteron's Magazine for January is a brilliant number. It opens with two very handsome steel engravings, a beautiful colored fashion-plate, and an elegant fancy work design printed in colors. The stories are excellent. The newest styles of dress are fully described and illustrated; many pretty designs for needlework are given, also useful and valuable household information. Now is a good time to subscribe or to get up a club. Terms, $2.00 per year. Sample copy free to those desiring to get up clubs. Address Peterson's Magazine, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Demosthenes, the Grecian orator, cured his stammering by having his mouth full of pebbles, and many are the modern orators who have cured their stammering by an occasional dose of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Two More Good Wells.
The Dawson Run territory receives another boost in the striking of two more good wells this week. Kelly, Wolcott & Co., on the C. O. Baird tract, tapped the sand on Monday, and the hole commenced filling up immediately. It has been necessary to send for an oil-saver in order to complete drilling, as the well stops over when agitated by the drill. It is counted a nice strike, and may make a better producer than the first strike in that locality.

The Tionesta Oil Co.'s No. 2, 400 feet from the No. 1, Dawson farm, is also in the sand and showing up for as good if not a better well than No. 1. Other wells in that vicinity will be coming in right along for the next ten days, and the excitement promises to raise to pretty white heat within next fortnight. The new oil field "is all right."

Persons wishing photographs to present to friends for Christmas presents, should have their negatives made at least 10 days before. Gallery open on Christmas and New Years to accommodate those who cannot come at any other time.

Jim Burkett, of Tabbs Run, had a surplus cat, and how to "reduce the surplus" has been a greater bugbear to Jim for some time past than the national surplus has been to the free traders. He finally hit upon a plan, and hastened to put it into execution. A small stick of dynamite and a piece of fuse would do the work; so gathering up the feline and the explosives, Jim repaired to the Mill above his house, tied the dynamite to the cat, lit the fuse and started for home. So did the cat! Jim quickened his steps and so did the cat! Jim ran and the cat ran, and the faster Jim ran the faster the cat ran, and the cat was gaining ground while Jim's hair was raising! On they came! tearing through the brush, over rocks, and jumping gullies wide and deep, and all the while Jim was hoping to hear a report, and wondering how long he had cut that blasted fuse. At last, when within a few rods of home, the welcome explosion came, and Jim "rested from his labors"—and breathed easier. The new method is a good one, but it is safe to say Jim will fall back on the old fashioned style of flour sack with a stone in it. Either that or cut his fuse shorter next time.

We are in receipt of an elegant calendar for 1889, issued by the Winchester Repeating Arms Co., of New Haven, Conn. It is fifteen inches wide by twenty-three inches in length, and contains three original colored illustrations—by the celebrated artist, Mr. A. B. Frost. Either would delight the heart of a sportsman, but the principal picture is a hunting scene, to which the artist has devoted his best efforts. There are evidences of a hand to hand conflict between a hunter and a bear—a broken gun stock, a torn jacket, blood on the snow. Retreating, the hunter has stumbled over a fallen tree, but retains a firm grasp on his knife. The bear's attitude is superb. It would be difficult to conceive a more infuriated animal. He stands over his fallen foe, claws extended, his wide open mouth the color of an anarchist's flag. But help is at hand, and just in the nick of time. The calendar proper is large, and shows the day of the week and month, and also the moon's phases. Holidays are printed in red. Sent four cents to Winchester Repeating Arms Co., New Haven, Conn., and receive a copy.

Court Minutes.

Court met at 2 p. m., Monday, with President Judge Brown, and Associates Arner and Propper on the Bench. After hearing the returns of the Constables, the argument list was disposed of.

Jury in the case of Charles A. Hill vs. Tionesta Township was sworn. Tuesday morning the case was opened and occupied the entire day. Judge Brown delivered his charge this morning, and at 9 o'clock the jury retired. This suit was brought by the plaintiff to recover damages for the loss of a horse killed, or so badly injured as to render him useless, while driving on the road leading from the depot to Jamieson. At 10:15 the jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiff for $95.

Strobleton.
Mr. A. Fletcher of Lickingville, who intends erecting a barn on his place, is busily engaged in slashing and hewing the timber on the Fallers tract near here.

Mr. F. Stitzinger finished threshing his clover seed. He speaks of having an excellent crop, which is 12 bushels off four acres. How is that for a back-woodsman.

Wm. Hepler of this proximity is busily at work taking out timber for Mr. J. Allio, near Newmansville.

Mr. A. S. Shakley of Butler county, for the past two weeks visiting friends and relatives of this locality, returned to his home last week.

Messrs. Samuel and Edward Hepler of this place were visiting friends at Newmansville, not long since.

Joseph King of Hickory, was visiting friends of this section last week.

The recent fall of snow highly excited the hunters of this community. Their success may be summed up as good, bad and indifferent.

Mr. A. Wolfe of Newmansville, gave friends of Strobleton a visit not long since.

A series of protracted meetings is in progress at Newmansville in the Free Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hepler of this proximity, who spent several weeks near Gilfoyle, came home last week.

Christmas is rapidly approaching and the boys are all saving up their spare pennies, with which to have a "time" as usual on that day. We wish a merry Christmas to all.

A Good Word for a Good Man.

The following pleasant notice of our old friend W. R. Dunn, we find in a recent issue of the Neodesha, Kansas, Register. After referring to the suspension of Mr. Dunn's paper the article goes on:

While this step on the part of Mr. Dunn was not altogether unexpected to us it is one that we regret very sincerely as the men of Mr. Dunn's stamp, capability, and sterling character as well as moral integrity are not so plentiful in the ranks of journalism that we do not feel the loss of one. The Chronicle and its editor have deserved better at the hands of its patrons, and especially of those of Fredonia, than to be allowed to suspend, but a number of persons seem to think that a newspaper man is able to live on vague, general promises, or broken and unfulfilled ones and have thus, as in this case, forced many a good man to the wall. The Chronicle was always a clean, newsy sheet, with a steadfast adherence to the principles of morality and religion and to the grand political tenets of the Republican party. And it deserves a special recognition of this latter characteristic inasmuch as it is patent to all acquainted with the circumstances and conditions under which the Chronicle was started and run that if Mr. Dunn had allowed it to be a mugwump sheet and an organ for bolters, scrappers, kickers and soreheads that he could have obtained a much better support. But he would not sacrifice his principles for money or even for the requisite support necessary to enable him to keep the means he had already secured, and for this we honor him, as should every other consistent man. We understand that Mr. Dunn will continue to make Fredonia his home and that he will probably engage in practicing law, he having been admitted to the bar in this district some time since.

Again we express our regrets at the combination of circumstances that has led to this step on his part. We shall miss the Chronicle from our exchange table and the genial face of its editor from the ranks of our brother editors. In public and in private life his character has been consistent and without reproach and that of a true christian gentleman and our best wishes for his success in whatever avocation he may enter upon are hereby tendered.

Birthday Party.

Fifty of Mrs. S. M. Ward's friends and neighbors gathered at her home to remind her of that day being her fifty-fourth birthday. At dinner time the table was prepared and fairly groined with the abundance of good things prepared by the ladies. All did ample justice to the refreshments, after which Rev. Delo presented her with the many presents from her friends, which are too numerous to mention. After appropriate remarks and prayer they departed for their homes, feeling that it was good to be there. Our sincere wish is that Mrs. Ward may live to see and enjoy many more birthdays.

ONE WHO WAS THERE.
Barnett twp., Dec. 7, 1888.

HERE AND THERE.

Last week an engine on the Toledo, Columbus & Southern railroad drew a passenger train from Toledo to Findlay, O., on fuel furnished by Ohio crude petroleum. The trial was such a success that President Brown announces that he will have all his engines arranged for the use of oil and do away with coal altogether. The experiment will likely revolutionize the fuel problem in railroading and furnish a new use for Ohio petroleum.—(Blizzard.)

An editor died and slowly wended his way down to where he supposed a warm reception awaited him. The devil met him and said: "For many years thou hast borne the blame for the errors that the printers made in the paper. The papers have gone, alas! for one dollar; alas! the other dollar has failed to come in. You were bedeviled by the printers for wages, when thou hadst not a cent to pay them. Men have taken thy paper without paying for it, and cursed thee for not getting up a better paper. Thou hast been called a dead-beat and a fraud by men who were both. All these things thou hast borne in silence, and thou canst not come in here." And Satan murmured to himself: "Heaven is his home, and besides, if we had let him in here he would have been continually dunning his delinquent subscribers and thus creating discord in my kingdom."—[Exchange.]

Parents in Oil City, as well as elsewhere, can, if they will, derive a lesson from the fate of Franklin Asbury Hawkins who was hanged at Riverhead, L. I., last Tuesday, says the Blizzard. When a child he was cold, sullen and vicious, and his parents did little to correct him. He revolved in inflicting pain upon some harmless animal. To choke a kitten to death or to tear the leg from a quivering frog were of his pleasures as to catch all the cats of the neighborhood he could lay his hands on, tie them into a bunch, watch them tear one another with claws and teeth until weakened from loss of blood and then fling them into the furnace of his father's moulding mill. His mother, whom he afterwards murdered, called such exhibitions of devilishness "tricks" and excused them on account of his "tender age." When anybody else reprimanded him she would be extremely incensed, once sending him to another school because the teacher at the one he attended whipped him for tearing a living kitten asunder before some of the other pupils. His youth was filled with deeds of even more cruelty, and he finally finished his career by shooting his mother and hiding her body in a swamp. Lack of proper training is very likely responsible for the development of his viciousness to such colossal proportions. The rod was spared and a child bad by nature was permitted to grow into a fiend.

A CHRISTMAS STORY IN SIX STANZAS.

Air, "PADDLE YOUR OWN CANOE,"
If you want to buy a suit of clothes,
And something for your feet,
Buy them of H. J. H. & Co.,
And then you won't get beat.
Their prices are away down
Below the prices others ask,
And when you buy your goods of them
You get something that will last.
Just try H. J. H. & Co.—
You can tie to every word they say—
And when you lay your money out,
You know you made it pay.
Their stock is large, their goods are new,
And of the best that's made—
'Tis plain to see that that's the place
For careful men to trade.
They have everything you want—
Clothing, dry goods, boots and shoes,
Flour, feed, and hay and straw,
And the finest groceries, too.
In Christmas goods they always lead,
And make a dandy show;
Buy your girl a present there,
And then she won't say "no."
