LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

—Miss Artie Robinson returned to her school at Chambersburg, yesterday. —Billy Steen was made happy yesterday by the receipt of a $175 pension check. —Hon. C. A. Randall was home during the vacation of the legislature, returning yesterday. —E. E. and J. E. Sitzinger, of Strobleton, gave the REPUBLICAN a call Saturday of last week. —Rev. Gaines is conducting a successful revival meeting at the F. M. Church, which is well attended nightly. —Ed. Bennett, one of Tionesta's bright young men, is taking a course of studies at Clark's Business College, Erie. —Mrs. Chas. Russell and sister, Miss Mary McMillen, are paying a visit to relatives and friends at New Hudson, N. Y. —Supt. Kerr is able to be up and about again, but still somewhat weak. He will likely be able to resume his duties in a few days. —Misses Ida Ruff and Lizzie Immer of Pittsburgh, are paying Tionesta a visit as the guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Will W. Hullings. —Auditors Jones, Gillespie and Blum, with ex Supt. Hillard as clerk, are going over the accounts of the several county officials this week. —The lumbermen of this section are beginning to feel a trifle uneasy over the slim prospects of snow. And to tell the truth the present outlook is anything but encouraging. —The prettiest sight in the world is a pretty woman's foot in a Jersey Lily boot, and since Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup cures all sorts of colds all women can wear them. —Forrest Shoup has given up Colorado, where he has resided for the past 18 months, and after spending a few days in town with his family and friends, he departed for Pittsburgh, where he expects to locate. —Nothing new from the Dawson Run oil field to report this week, none of the lately started wells having been completed. The Wolcott well at the east end of the Hickory bridge is down, and a duster, finding neither oil nor gas. —John Curtis, the eight months old child of John and Phoebe Hinder, of near Newmansville, died on the 2d inst. He was the only child and the sunshine of the household, and the bereaved parents have the sympathy of all the community in their loss. —Two oil tanks belonging to the Proper Reserve Oil Co., at Balltown, each of about 700 barrels capacity, were destroyed by fire on Saturday night last. About 100 barrels of oil were consumed. The cause of the fire is a mystery, and looks like the work of an incendiary. —"The sweetest thing that ever grew beside a human door" was little May, until she took to having headaches—for a time she lost her beauty, but one bright day her Papa bought a bottle of Salvation Oil, and lo! she is as sweet and pretty as ever. Only twenty-five cents a bottle. —Duncan Buchanan, whose illness and removal to St. Vincent's Hospital, Erie, we mentioned heretofore, died at that institution on Wednesday last, 2d inst. He had quite a large circle of friends in this vicinity, who were grieved to learn of his death. His home was on Prince Edward Island, Ontario. —The military company of this place which has been in training for some time back in the hope that it would be assigned to the vacancy in the 15th Regiment, N. G. P., under Col. Kreps, is left, a company from Erie having been chosen. But our boys can console themselves with the thought that a day may come when the powers that be may be mighty glad to receive a company of such hardy young blood into their ranks.

—An exchange says: "A prominent physician advances the opinion that the turned down kerosene lamp is the prime and most common cause of diphtheria." This theory has been advanced before, and there may be something in it. One fact is clear enough, namely, that the turning of a lamp-wick down to a low point results in imperfect combustion and poisons the air, making it suffocating and deadly. Either let the flame burn full or put it out. No oil is saved by turning down a lamp wick, or so little that it is not worth considering.—Franklin News.

—The Executive Committee of the Pennsylvania State Teachers' Association, composed of Superintendents D. S. Keith, of Altoona; T. A. Snyder, of Carbon county; Z. X. Snyder, of Reading; M. G. Brumbaugh, of Huntingdon county, and Principal J. H. Michener, of Philadelphia, met in Harrisburg Saturday and fixed July 9th, 10th and 11th, 1889, for the meeting of the association at Altoona. A splendid programme of the leading educators of the country will be announced. Hon. E. E. Higbee, the able Superintendent of Public Instruction, is chairman of the association.

—The following list of officers of Stow Post, 274, G. A. R., were duly installed last Thursday evening: Commander, Leonard Agnew; Senior Vice Commander, Daniel Black; Junior Vice Commander, G. W. Robinson; Adjutant, Sylvester J. Setley; Quartermaster, G. W. Boward; Officer of Day, John B. Eden; Quartermaster Sergeant, G. W. Boward; Sergeant Major, R. Ralle; Officer of Guard, R. B. Crawford; Surgeon, Dr. J. W. Morrow; Chaplain, Rev. B. F. Feitt. After the installation ceremonies, the comrades assembled at the Lawrence House, where a delicious oyster supper was served for them and a good time generally was had, to which Mr. Frank Wheeler of West Hickory, contributed much in the musical line.

East Hickory.

Correspondence of Derrick.] Died on Friday last, the 5 year-old son of William Kinnear, of Trunkerville. Rev. Thompson, of this place, preached an able sermon over the remains from the text, "To die is gain." The Forest Gas Company finished a well near here on last Friday. Only a small amount of gas was obtained. Mr. Geo. Day has begun work on his new house. William Kribbs will be in town for a day or so. The river is running at a very high stage, and found a fine harvest for driftwood catchers. Mr. Rounds, of Spring Creek, is attending to his business about here. The well above the bridge is nearing the gas sand. Mrs. R. M. Carter is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Dr. Weber. Collins & Co. have their square timber made and are now waiting for snow in which to haul it. Miss Mary Parret met with quite an accident on Thursday. While Wm. Hall was taking her to the train on a speeder, she was thrown off on a curve in the high trestle near the bridge, and fell 23 feet to the ground below, striking on her back and sustained a severe shaking up, although no bones were broken. At this writing she is very comfortable. The schools began on Monday after a three weeks' vacation. Rev. Thompson preached a very able sermon on Sunday evening in the M. E. Church. Jan. 7, 1889.

WEST HICKORY.

Wilson Lynch a young man about 20 years of age, died suddenly of heart disease last Monday at East Hickory. The open winter we are having is causing much complaint among the lumbermen. Scores of men and teams are idle, waiting for snow to enable them to get in timber, of which there is an unusually large lot. J. P. Keeffe expects to start for Boston to-morrow on a business trip, and when he returns will bring his family with him. Grant Kemble, of Tionesta, made a three day's visit here this week. Measles have struck town again and many of the little ones are on the sick list.

Reducing Charges.

The following letter to the County Commissioners from the Superintendent of the Insane Hospital at Warren, Dr. John Curwen, explains itself: "The Trustees of this Hospital have decided to reduce the charge for board and medical attendance of the patients sent to this Hospital by the County authorities, from one dollar and seventy-five cents a week, to one dollar and fifty cents a week, and the charge for clothing to remain, as fixed by law, at twenty-five cents a week, to commence from December 1, 1888."

Strobleton.

Mr. E. E. Sitzinger of this proximity attended teachers institute in Clarion last week. He represents himself as the pedagogue of the Lickingsville school. Miss Jennie Frill, who for several months was stopping in Franklin, returned home a few days since. Mr. Blocher of Newmansville, gave this locality a flying visit last week. Miss Lizzie Smith, who for some time was stopping in Tionesta, is at present rusticated with her friends of this section.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hepler of this place were visiting friends of Red Brush recently. Miss Agnew and brother Fin. of Tionesta, were visiting friends of this locality last week. The Hahn Bros. of this section are busily engaged in getting their saw mill in proper shape for the manufacture of excellent lumber in the coming spring. Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Harkless of this proximity were the happy guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lilly of Fryburg, last week. Mr. Wm. Hepler of this community had the misfortune of cutting his second toe with a falling ax, while endeavoring to slash down some saplings. Jan. 7. ZIGZAG.

The Week of Prayer.

This is "the week of prayer," which commenced on Sunday and will close on Sunday next. Following are the subjects for the remainder of the week as arranged by the Evangelical Alliance: Wednesday—Families and Schools; that families in their mutual relations may observe the law of Christ; that domestic life may be sweetened and hallowed; that Sunday and day schools, universities, colleges and all institutions of learning be blessed. Thursday—Home Missions and Social Reforms. For a blessing on all home mission work; on sound literature; for the suppression of cruelty; for the better observance of the Lord's day. Friday—For Missions to Israel, to Moslems, and to the heathen. Saturday—For Nations; for the outpouring of the Spirit upon all nations; on all rulers, legislators, judges and all in authority, for soldiers and sailors; for social order and universal peace; that religious liberty may prevail; that politics may be moralized and public life adorned by integrity. Sunday, 13th—Sermon: "Wherefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast," etc. I. Cor. 15:58.

HERE AND THERE.

Wednesday, Jan. 2, was in one respect the most remarkable winter day on record. The maps of the Signal Service showed that on that day not a drop of rain or a flake of snow fell within the borders of the entire United States. It is so very seldom that an entire clear day prevails all over such a wide and vast expanse, especially in winter, that the fact caused a great deal of comment among the scientific and the curious. Meadville Tribune-Republican: The last will and testament of the late Joseph Derickson, of this city, was probated Monday afternoon. The principal bequests are as follows: Joseph Lenhart, $10,000; Major D. V. Derickson, $5,000; Meadville City Hospital, $1,000; J. D. Durand, a nephew, Westfield, N. Y., $400; to several nieces, each $200; to his faithful housekeeper, Lydia Rust, $2,000; to D. V. Derickson, the old homestead. The residuary legatees are D. V. Derickson and Joseph Lenhart. Monday means "washing day" in every well regulated family, and we take pleasure, says the Ocean Herald, in giving a recipe which makes washing easy, quick and satisfactory, leaving the clothing of unusual whiteness, with no possible injury to the fabric. It is now used by a practical housekeeper in this town, who for sixty years could never be persuaded into any "new fangled" ways of washing. The directions are as follows: In a five-pail boiler of water dissolve a bar of soap, and put in three table-spoonsful of kerosene oil. Put the soiled clothes in dry, boil fifteen minutes, and drain them into a tub, leaving the suds just as it is in the boiler for the new lot of clothes. Usually no extra-soap is needed in rubbing, which is done in the suds which cling to the clothes, water being added to make a sufficient quantity. Rinse thoroughly in plenty of water then put through the bluing water. Some prefer benzine to the oil, but in either case a thorough rinsing will take away any disagreeable odor from the clothes. —1889—We start on a New Year with a good line of Rubber Boots and Shoes, Mittens, Gloves, Underwear, Pants, Shirts, Overalls, Dry Goods, and Notions. 21. From Washington Territory.

Mr. H. C. Whitekin hands us the following letter from a former Forest county gentleman, which will interest many of our readers who are looking in the direction of Washington Territory at this time: Thursday morning, November 22, 1888, we all arrived in Tacoma, W. T., safe and sound, with the exception of a slight cold all 'round. There is no use going over our route and journey here, as nothing worthy of note occurred. My first failure stared me in the face right after breakfast, when I went out to look for a house in which to domicile my family, while I did a little prospecting. There was none to be had, and we were obliged to stop at the hotel for the time being. Friday morning I met a gentleman named Jones, a "locater" by the way, who was about starting with a party of ten to look up claims. I told him, if he had no objections, I would make it eleven, since there was luck in odd numbers, and of course he readily consented that I should be one of the party, and I immediately went about fitting myself out for the campaign. A hunting coat and vest, a pair of corduroy pants, and a pair of long legged rubber boots; a pair of blankets, tin plate, cup, knife and fork, a week's provision and my gun swung over my shoulder, and I was ready to "take the trail." Taking a boat in the evening for Seattle, we arrived and staid there all night. Next morning we took another boat for Port Washington, where we landed at 11 o'clock, and after striking our trail, we unbuckled our provender and proceeded to tackle our bill of fare, which consisted of sardines, Boston baked beans and water. After dinner, we again took up our trail and traveled about eleven miles, when we struck a railroad track, which we followed about a mile, or as far as it had been built. A gang of employes directed us to a vacant shanty and told us to make ourselves at home. We didn't need a second invitation, it being near night and we were cold and hungry. We weren't long in building a fire and preparing our meals, after which we smoked, swapped lies and played euchre till bed time. Next morning when we got up it was still dark and raining quite briskly, and after breakfast we fell in line again, and from here on we had to make our own trail. After traveling until three o'clock we learned that we had made but three miles in a direct course. During all this time it had rained continuously, and drowned rats were only a trifle moist compared with us. We thought we were hungry the night before, but it wasn't a patching to what we were just then. Ten frying pans full of bacon, eight loaves of bread, four quarts of oat meal, four quarts of beans and two quarts of canned salmon is what we sat down to. This wasn't all we had, but we concluded any more might be injurious to our delicate constitutions, so after getting ourselves outside of the above we called it quits for that day. I only wish you could have seen the mountains we traveled up and down! 'twas enough to make a sick man hungry to look at them. But next day we had a better streak of luck. Pitching our tent in front of a settler's house, we were shown a great deal of hospitality by our new friend, who had the day before killed a deer, of which we secured a quarter, and I must say it was a little bit the sweetest morsel of venison I ever helped to dispatch. So much for my first little experience, and now a little about the country in general. The climate is fine. Today is the coldest we've had, and yet the grass, and a good deal of the garden stuff still out, is nice and green. We have had no snow yet. I am located five miles from Seabeck, a harbor for steamers and vessels. A large steam saw mill will go up there in the spring. Nearly opposite Seabeck is Port Orchard, a place where steamers and vessels load and unload. Before next fall there will be a railroad running within ten rods of the land I have taken since I filed mine. I would like awfully to take another claim, but cannot before six months, and the way things are going here now, thirty days will just about close up everything. There is beautiful timber and farming land here. I have quite a good lot of timber, and part of it will not require much labor to make it tillable, and I expect to commence clearing next week. I am surrounded by neighbors, and we are going to have a school house built in the spring. The principal industry just now is raising log cabins and making roads. A day or two ago I went, in company with a friend, on a little fishing excursion. The hooks we use out here are about 10 times the size of your ordinary bass hooks, and are fastened to the butt end of the pole. No lines or bait are used, but you walk along the stream and "hook" the fish. We were gone three hours and got as many salmon as we could carry home, and some of them weighed eighteen pounds, the smallest being a nine pounder. What do you think of that for fish? I assure you it is no "fish" story but a solid fact; furthermore they told me I came too late for good fishing, the spring and fall being the best time. Besides this fine sport we have plenty of deer and bear to vary the monotony. While out surveying to day I saw some bear tracks, and ran onto 5 deer. But the usual luck—none of our party had a gun; however I will fool some of them before spring comes. Small game of all kinds is very plentiful here, such as partridge, grouse, etc. I live within six rods of a lake which abounds with ducks, but I have been too busy to hunt. I want to build a house and clear about 15 acres of land before spring, but don't know as I will get it all done. I was very fortunate in getting a house here, and the man who owns it says I can have it as long as I wish. I have about 80 acres that will be easily cleared. When the railroad gets in here I will sell some of my timber on the stump. I could fill dozens of sheets of paper and then not run ashore for news about this country, but I must draw to a close this time with the promise of another letter before long. So far we are more than pleased with what we have seen here. The weather has been very mild and balmy thus far. A great many of my old friends in Forest county wanted me to write when I got located, but if you will kindly hand this to the REPUBLICAN they can all see it, and thus I can kill several birds with one stone. One word before I close: Should any of our friends contemplate a journey here, I would advise them to get transportation through Mr. R. H. Wallace, Oil City, Pa. Myself and family got splendid treatment over the route he shipped us. A good sleeper from St. Paul, and everything to our comfort just as he represented to us. With kindest regards to all my old friends, I remain, Yours Truly, SETH JAYNES. Seabeck, Kitsap Co., W. T., Dec. 24, 1888.
