LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.
—Mrs. L. Agnew is paying her mother a visit at Indiana, Pa.
—Miss Lu Best of Edenburg, Pa., is paying her friend, Miss Emma Sloan a visit.
—Mrs. Jobb Frick and daughter, of Philadelphia, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Irwin.
—Mercantile Appraiser White passed through town yesterday on his rounds of the county.
—See Smeath & Co.'s new ad this week, and then call at their store and get a nice almanac for the new year, free.
—Smith Sanner of Balltown, has purchased the pleasant little home of Mrs. D. Robb, near the Oldtown school house.
—The ice crop does not promise a very large yield this winter, and "iced tea" will likely be a scarce article next summer.
—Frank Weaver of Green township, started for Washington Territory on Monday of this week. He will send for his family in the spring.
—Another bad wreck on the N. Y., P. & O. Road occurred near Tallmadge, Ohio, on Monday. Eight were killed and many more badly injured.
—Samuel Bush, who last summer moved to Armstrong county from Green township, has returned and will again take up his residence at his former place.
—Mr. E. S. Hoyt, Supt. of the Forest Gas Co., was down from Tidouate on a short business visit last week. He reports his company in a flourishing condition.
—The Venango Spectator celebrated its 40th birthday last week. May it see another forty years and be as handsome and good as now, is our New Year's greeting.
—The Blizard mentions as somewhat of a coincidence that "since the Pennsylvania legislature convened there has been a marked falling off in the number of tramps in this section."
—Messrs. Wade & Co., of Edinboro, Pa., have leased the Russell property in Kingsley township, and were moving goods to that place last week. They will open operations there once more when spring opens.
—I have always been much annoyed by neuralgia and headache and finally determined to try Salvation Oil. I am glad to recommend it as it made a perfect cure in my case. Mark New, 62 Aisquith St., Baltimore, Md.
—Representative Randall has been made chairman of the committee on Vice and Immorality by Speaker Boyer, besides which he has been placed on the following important committees of the House: Agricultural, Federal Relations, Military Affairs, and Ways and Means.
—The Northeastern Ohio, Northern Pennsylvania, and Western New York Bee Keepers' Association will hold its 10th annual convention in the City Hall, Franklin, Pa., Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 30 and 31. Hotel rates at $1.00 a day have been secured, and a general invitation is extended.
—The Philadelphia Times Almanac for 1889 is issued, and is fully up with former issues of that excellent publication. There is a fund of valuable information contained in the compact and handsome pamphlet, which should win it a place on the table of every business man.
—And yet no snow! There's a wail of disappointment going up from the lumbering camps of this county, where business has about arrived at that point called stagnation. Two weeks of good sleighing would help wonderfully, and if it should come there will be greater activity, and more demand for teams than for many years past.

—Fourteen of the twenty tombstones for the graves of deceased soldiers of this county ordered by the Grand Army Post here, have arrived and are now at the station. The Government furnishes these monuments, which are tastefully gotten up and of first class material. They will be properly cared for and erected as soon as the weather will permit.
—A man in New York stabbed his friend fifteen minutes after the New Year came in, in order, as is alleged, that he might enjoy the distinction of being the first to test electricity as an executioner. There's Yankee enterprise for you; but wouldn't he be in a fearful fix if, by some hitch in his trial and conviction, some other wide-awake chap were to get ahead of him.
—The "fire department" was called out yesterday forenoon in double-quick time. The alarm, which came from the upper story of the Accomb building, was caused by the discovery that the working apron of Mr. Ralle, the watchmaker, had caught fire, raising a fearful smoke, which rolled out of the windows, doors, etc., in a great volume. Had the fire gotten under good headway it would have made bad work.
—From the Tidouate News we get the following, which will cause a pang of sorrow in the hearts of those who were acquainted with the subject of the item: We regret to learn of the decease of our former townsman, E. A. Baldwin, which occurred last Sunday, at Los Angeles, Cal. To the bereaved family we extend our sympathy and trust they will not be lacking in kind friends in their new home and that many will be ready to assist in the last sad offices of laying away their dead.
—The Blizard says: "A new time card will go into effect on the river division of the W. N. Y. & P., Sunday January 20. The principal change will be that train 28 will leave Oil City at 8 o'clock a. m., instead of 6:50, as at present. Its first stop will be at Tionesta, and passengers bound for intermediate points will be taken on the way freight, leaving Oil City at 7 a. m. under the new schedule." We hear of other changes, but can get nothing definite. It will be well for travelers to keep in mind these changes.
—D. C. Cowan, teacher of North Pine Grove school, makes the following report for the month ending Jan. 10, 1889: Number of pupils enrolled, males 25, females 17, total 42. Average attendance during month, males 21, females 14. Per cent. of attendance, males 90, females 90. Progress and conduct fair. Fritz Kuhl, Steven Dotson, Willie Rario, Geo. Greenawald, Oran Casies, William Slater, Thomas Slater, Edward Slater, Annie Pierce, Caroline Kuhl, and Rosa Slater missed not more than one day.
—The Pittsburgh Dispatch is entitled to the distinction of having furnished its thousands of readers the fullest and best account of the great calamity in that city caused by the cyclone of last Wednesday. Its graphic and profusely illustrated description of the horrible scenes on the morning following the disaster showed its wonderful enterprise and remarkable facilities for gathering the minutest details from such a state of chaos as must have existed when the report was made up. The Dispatch is a truly great paper, and leads all competitors in the race for news.
—The Clarion Jacksonian says: "A despatch from Las Cruces, New Mexico, stating that Mr. A. A. Carlisle was dying was received by his family, now living in Brookville, on Tuesday of last week, and on Wednesday morning Mrs. Carlisle started for that point. On Tuesday last a despatch was received by the friends in Brookville from the lady, stating that she had arrived safely, had found Mr. Carlisle still alive, but in a very critical condition." This will be sad news to Mr. C.'s many friends in the editorial profession, who look upon him as one of the brightest of their number.
—In the Supreme Court, now in session in Philadelphia, the case of Commonwealth against Reysberg, in which the Quarter Sessions of Warren county held that cider was not an intoxicating liquor and that a person was not liable to conviction for selling it without a license, was reversed on the 14th, and a new trial ordered. The Court holds that under the high license act, the question in such a case is not whether a liquor is intoxicating, but whether it is malt, brewed, vinous or spirituous. This is a question of fact and not of law and the Supreme Court, therefore sends the case back to let a jury decide the momentous question whether cider is a spirituous or vinous liquor.
—That fat man, who the ladies declare is the handsomest man in Washington, used to be an invalid, but he took to hard drinking, not of whiskey, but of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and now he walks right over the very slenderest dudes, and don't care at all.

—There is nothing particularly new to report from the Dawson Run oil field this week. The Tionesta Oil Co. is working away at its No. 3, and will likely bring it in this week. Kelly & Co., on the Baird tract have their No. 2 nearly completed which will also be in the sand this week should they have no bad luck. Besides these operations Messrs. Kribbs, Emminger & Hill are about ready to commence drilling on the Noble Farm, on the east side of the river, adjoining Judge Hill's farm, four miles north of Tionesta. Several years ago a well was put down on the bank of the river, not far from the above location, which showed up for a five to ten barrel well, but for some reason was abandoned.
—Hon. John P. Park died at his residence in Franklin, on Tuesday, January 8, 1889, from the effects of a fall received at his place of business in Oil City, nearly a year ago. Mr. Park was well known and highly esteemed by many of our older citizens, having, away back in the 50's been engaged in the mercantile business in this place; afterwards removing to Franklin where he has since resided. He was one of the originators of the banking firm of May, Park & Co., of this place, in which firm he continued for several years. Of late years he was engaged in the hardware business in Oil City. He leaves a wife and four children, among whom is our former young townsman Mr. Geo. P. Park, now a resident of Jamestown, N. Y.

RAILROAD UP TIONESTA CREEK.
The talk of a railroad up Tionesta creek is again revived with good prospects of being a go this time. It is not necessary to rehearse the many advantages that would accrue to the projectors of a narrow gauge road along the creek, or to the land owners, lumbermen and residents on the route. These have been demonstrated repeatedly and are too well understood to need mention at present. Mr. T. D. Collins is at the head of the scheme, and that means no "rainbow chasing" nor castles in the air, but it does mean "go ahead" because it will be a paying investment. The lumbermen of this section are beginning to see the necessity of shipping by rail instead of by the old fashioned water route as has been the universal custom heretofore, and an outlet for the great forests of pine and hemlock still standing along the Tionesta is what is causing practical men to cast about for such outlet. The best route by all odds is down the creek to Tionesta, although a route up Ross Run and over Whig Hill, thence down Beaver and Hickory creeks to West Hickory, has found some advocates. This latter is by no means a feasible one, being hilly and roundabout. We understand that Mr. Collins and his co-projectors are in some doubt about the possibility of getting the right of way through our borough. If this is the only hindrance, we can see no reason why the road should not be commenced immediately, as we feel assured there is not a property owner along the line of the proposed route within our limits who would not readily and cheerfully say, "Come on with your road, free of charge." All with whom we have conversed on the subject talk that way, at any rate.
Such a road would materially enhance the business interests, not only of this place, but for a radius of several miles around, and we have every confidence would ultimately result in the erection of a first class tannery in our community, as the bark from the great hemlock forests of the Tionesta valley — thousands of cords of it — could then be easily and cheaply transported here, where every natural advantage is to be had, among the first of which may be mentioned natural gas in abundance.
Give the project all encouragement and let us see if we cannot give another twelve-month has passed around.

The recent storm, it is reported, caused great damage throughout this entire community, it threw some of the fences down, and uprooted a number of large trees in this proximity.

Rumors of a change in the railroad time table have been going the rounds for some time, but have not yet materialized yet. A Sunday train, either up or down the river would be hailed with delight by our young men and would no doubt be well patronized.

HERE AND THERE.
P. Dolan, a patent medicine man, has mysteriously disappeared from Corry, Pa. He has been missing nearly a month, having last been heard of at Bradford about December 15th. He is about sixty years of age, short and rather stout, has a smooth, red face, is of Irish nationality and is a rapid talker.
Mrs. Nancy Coleman reached Cincinnati last week after a walk of over 350 miles from her home on the Big Sandy river, in West Virginia. She had with her two children, one of whom is so young that she carried it the entire distance. She told the police a pitiful tale, to the effect that her husband deserted her for another woman, taking the children. She followed him, and recovering the little ones set out on foot for Cincinnati, hoping to procure work there. She was entirely out of money.
A piano tuner who says that pianos frequently deteriorate because they are allowed to become too dry, prescribes this remedy: "Keep a growing plant in the room, and so long as your plant thrives your piano ought, or else there's something wrong with it. Just try it, and see how much more water you'll have to put in the flower-pot in the room where your piano is than in any other room. Some people keep a huge vase or urn with a sopping-wet sponge in it, near or under the piano, and keep it moistened just as a cigar dealer keeps his stock. They keep this up all the time the fires are on."
