LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Oil market closed yesterday 82 1/2. It is now unlawful to sell cigarettes to a person under 16 years of age.

Light weight jackets and Summer wraps at Hopkins & Co's. 2c.

Mrs. H. H. Shoemaker and three younger children returned from West Virginia yesterday.

Don't forget Rodolph Strucken's sale of household goods next Saturday, at his residence, Partridge building.

Mr. Lewis Keister, one of Hickory township's worthy citizens and good Republicans, has been appointed Postmaster at East Hickory.

Mrs. C. M. Cott with Hazel and the baby, of Meadville, spent a part of the past week here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Roberts.

Chairman Sawyer calls a meeting of the Republican County Committee for next Tuesday evening. There should be a good attendance.

There will be preaching in the Presbyterian Church next Sabbath, May 19th, morning and evening, by Mr. Sloan, of the Western Theological Seminary.

New lot of parasols and sunshades at Hopkins & Co's this week. 1c.

The St. Paul's Ev. Luth. Church at Leeper, (Tyersburg Station) will not be dedicated on the 9th of May, as previously announced. Notice of dedication will be published in due time.

Mr. Jas. G. Carsen was called to New Bethlehem last Thursday to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Wm. Trounser, who died the day previous, leaving a husband and 7 children, besides other kindred and friends to mourn her loss.

The Meadville Tribune recently appeared in a lovely new dress of type, and looks as fresh and cheerful as a new-blown rose. It is one of the ablest and best conducted newspapers in the State, and we hope it will live to wear out very many new dresses.

Some of the boys captured another live rattlesnake up at "Zip's" den last Sunday, and afterwards sold it to one of the W. N. Y. & P. conductors for $3.00. Doubtless conductors who would pay $3.00 for rattle snakes will be taken on subscription at the Blizard office.

Mr. Jas. H. Pearsall of Guitonville, Kingsley township, has posted bills announcing the sale of his farming and lumbering implements, live stock, vehicles, household goods, &c., on the 18th inst., next Saturday. Those in need of anything in this line should be on hand that day.

"The Appeal," devoted to the interests of the Constitutional Prohibition Amendment, made its first appearance on Friday last. It is conducted by the Executive Committee of Forest County, and will vigorously boom the Amendment during the remaining weeks of the campaign.

The FOREST REPUBLICAN published a six foot rattlesnake story yesterday—that is, his snakeship was six feet long, not the story.—Derrick. The mention of "snakes" always rattles the Derrick. Our snake story was a four-footer, but so long as that paper gets within two feet of the truth no one should growl.

Onion Sets 5c. quart to close out. Also, Summer Underwear, Hats, Shoes, Jewelry, &c., at Suesbarth & Co's.

Fred Morgan came up from Oil City, Monday and returned last evening with a big string of "the beauties" which he had lifted out of Bear Creek between the trout showers yesterday. Of course his brother "Billy" was along, but didn't catch many, as Fred kept him busy baiting the hooks and salting down fish.

Messrs. Hardison & Collins have a rig up just back of the grist mill on Hunter Run, but when they will commence drilling we have not been informed. The rig is a handsome one, and is located on a spot of ground that's as handsome as a well-kept lawn. If they don't get oil it will not be for a lack of beautiful surroundings.

Representative Randall returned home last Saturday evening, the Legislature having completed its work and adjourned sine die on Thursday. He informs us that the Governor signed the scalp bill, replacing the dollar bounty on foxes, and 25 cents on minks, and we hope the slaughter of these varmints will now go merrily on again.

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Coburn, of Washburn, Wisconsin, have issued invitations to their friends to assist them in celebrating the 25th anniversary of their marriage, the receipt of one by oneself and better half is hereby acknowledged with many thanks. The event is to take place to-night in the opera house of that place. We join the Doctor's old Forest county friends in congratulations and best wishes to himself and his estimable wife, and may they experience many happy returns of the day.

The fence law is still a much talked of matter, and the present status of affairs is agitating the minds of Pennsylvanians much more than one would imagine. The newspapers throughout the State are discussing the matter pretty generally, and the preponderance of opinion seems to be that the law of 1784 is still applicable to those counties for which it was passed. However, the question will not be finally settled until the Supreme Court has its say, and as Forest county has, up to this time, maintained her fences in good repair, it would be well to keep on the safe side and await a decision of the highest authority, before tearing down fences, which we apprehend will not be a great while coming, as nearly or quite two thirds of the counties of the State are in the dilemma.

Last Saturday while a number of children were fishing or playing along Tubbs Run, near Mr. Kiser's place, German Hill, a man emerged from the woods and approached them, and being black, either painted or natural, the children ran away in fright. The mysterious character commenced shooting a revolver, and followed the children a distance of nearly half a mile, or until they were within a short distance of home. One of the girls was so badly frightened that she fainted and for a time was violently sick. The feud was pursued a short distance by some men, but he soon succeeded in putting the dense woods between himself and his pursuers. What fiendish design the black devil had can only be surmised, but it would be well for people to be warned by this occurrence and keep an eye open and a Winchester handy for such characters.

A party of Oil City relic hunters will repair in a few days to the wilds of Forest county to hunt for historical chestnuts in some Indian mounds which are located in that region. Whether the mounds are burial places remains to be seen, but whether they are or not it is expected that the excavations will disclose some interesting relics. As stated in the Blizard heretofore, it has been a matter of tradition among the pioneer residents of this part of the country that there is some place in Venango or its adjoining counties where the Indians used to obtain unlimited supplies of lead, furnishing both themselves and the settlers. They never gave the snip away to the pioneers and the location of the supposed base of supplies remains a mystery. The exploring party referred to does not anticipate that an entrance to this long concealed lead mine will be uncovered in the course of its excavations, but if such a hole should be discovered the party, of course, will not throw it over its shoulder.—Oil City Blizard. Come off, it isn't lead you want. It's soap suds you're after. You'll find them in Butler county.

Last Thursday morning Michael Fitzgerald Jr., had a little experience by which he learned a dear lesson, as well as the power that is pent up in one of those little fulminating caps used for setting off a dynamite shot, in the shortest kind of a jiffy. He had been engaged the day before in blasting rocks on the new road around Stow Bend, and had placed the cap, to which was attached a small piece of fuse, in his pocket, intending to remove it shortly, but which he unfortunately forgot to do. On his way to work the next morning, and when a few rods from Dr. Morrow's office, he put his hand in his pocket and there discovered the cap, which he took out and proceeded to pick from it the head of a parlor match that had gotten in along side the fuse. The friction touched the match off, the match touched the fuse off, and the fuse touched the cap off, and it was all done so quickly that Mike's left thumb, down to the second joint went with it, as well as the points of the two first fingers of the left hand, although no bones in these were shattered. Dr. Morrow dressed the wounds, which were very painful, and they are now doing quite nicely. Mike will not likely be caught that way again very soon, at least he told us he wouldn't.

Messrs. Gorman and Sutley are still fishing. The apple trees are now in blossom. Girls, with whom did you go walking last Sunday? A. A. Hopkiss made a short call the other day. Albert Scott and family, and J. Hinkson and family are visiting relatives here. CLARE, May 13.

Poverty Hill Items.

Fires were raging in every direction, and the late rain was welcomed by many.

Mrs. Brown of Pleasantville is visiting her sister, Mrs. Sutley.

The latest report is that Mr. McCaslin is somewhat better.

L. A. Hotchkiss has been somewhat under the weather during the past two weeks.

S. A. Gorman expects to leave us some time next week.

Messrs. Gorman and Sutley are still fishing.

The apple trees are now in blossom. Girls, with whom did you go walking last Sunday? A. A. Hopkiss made a short call the other day.

Albert Scott and family, and J. Hinkson and family are visiting relatives here. CLARE, May 13.

East Hickory.

Derrick correspondence.] Bark peeling begins in earnest this week.

Frank Whitmore will move to the Queen mills where he is engaged as head sawyer.

Wm. Kribbs, ex-merchant of this place, will open a general store at Kellewille. Mr. Kribbs takes the well wishing of all his patrons here to his new business.

Samuel Davidson is about attending to his timber interests.

Noraile & Toby will start their mill as soon as their engine arrives.

A well known gentleman of this place walked two miles to fish for trout, and on arriving found he had forgotten his hooks, which caused great rejoicing among the trout.

The house of John Brecht was struck by lightning during the recent storm, but aside from slightly jarring the inmates no damage was done.

The Methodist Episcopal will hold a quarterly meeting here on next Sunday.

The shingle mill is running full blast.

The Forest Gas Company will extend their line to Irvinville and Youngsville.

Mrs. J. E. Whitmore, will make an extended visit among her friends near Kittanning.

The well on the Hill Farm, is in the sand with oil and salt water, at present an attempt is being made to exhaust the salt water in order to thoroughly test the well.

The well about one mile Southeast of here, is in the sand and dry.

HERE AND THERE.

The Commissioners to the Paris Exposition, as appointed by Governor Beaver are: Andrew Carnegie, of Pittsburgh; Russell E. Errett, of Pittsburgh; John Henry Harjes, of Paris; Charles F. Warwick, of Philadelphia; John P. Zane, of Bradford; Prof. R. M. Streeter, of Titusville; Mrs. H. A. Roberts, of Philadelphia; William D. Rodgers, of Philadelphia; J. W. Gehring, of Bellefonte, and William D. Hastings, of Philadelphia.

A special to the Blizard of last Saturday gives this sad piece of news: The house of Wm. McNall, of Ridgway, was struck by lightning during the big storm and cyclone, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. McNall and three children took refuge in the cellar. All were killed except the baby, one month old, which was in its mother's arms. The child's cries led the neighbors to the place. Mr. McNall was away from home and was prostrated by grief on his return. At Rockford, Ill., resides the Rev. George Jacob Schweinfurth, who, by his glowing and magnetic personality, has gathered around him a large following. He claims to be the second Christ, and has accumulated a fortune of half a million or so, besides a luxuriously furnished home. His dupes are principally women, over whom he exerts a wonderful influence, and who are easily convinced that he is indeed the modern Messiah. Numerous church trials will grow out of his extensive proselyting.

NORTH CAROLINA.

BUFFALO CITY, DARE CO., May 4, '89. ED. REPUBLICAN:—The arrival of your paper of recent date, with its fund of cheering news from home and friends, is always eagerly received. After reading all of its home news, I notice with pleasure the letter from my old friend Alex. Mealy, now in W. T. His description of that country is certainly encouraging for those who are in search of good timber and mild climate. While I think the Southern States have a decided advantage over the West in facilities for handling lumber, and in general quantities, I suppose that W. T. excels all countries for a large yield of pine per acre. As for the climate being superior, I can not agree with him. Wherever we go we find healthy locations, and from observations taken in the past 25 years I am of the opinion that the health of a community in a neighborhood, is greatly dependent on the care which the inhabitants take of themselves, regardless of climate or fluctuations of weather. In all of my experience I have never been in a country where the change of the atmosphere is as fluctuating as in this country. I have seen the thermometer change 20 degrees in five minutes frequently, from cold to warm and vice versa, but I never have heard of rheumatism, fever, or headache since I came here, and no sickness mentioned. We have a county that has a population of 1500 and there is not a resident doctor in this county. On becoming more acquainted with this section of this State, I find that I like it very much. We have all that can be asked for in timber, and water as good as can be had anywhere. In the adjoining counties there are as fine agricultural lands as can be found in any State, and in fact I don't know of any county that produces as good corn and as great a yield as Hyde county. Oats and wheat also do nicely. Fruit grows abundantly; all of our Northern grasses grow in profusion. All this in easy transportation with the North, South and West; and for lovers of flowers, I have never seen anything to compare with it in its natural growth, of all colors and classes. In timber, we find in the Western part of this State as fine white pine as we ever cut in Penn'a, and worlds of it; the best of cherry, ash and poplar, with considerable white oak. The timber most in demand is juniper, which grows abundantly wherever it grows at all. It has a very pleasant odor while cutting it, very much like new mown hay. No insect or moth will stay where this lumber is used in building. The grain of the lumber is similar to spruce, and is remarkable for its durability; being exceedingly soft but not porous, it is extensively used in tanking and boat building. We also have here vast forests of cypress, which has become one of our principal timbers for general use. In fact, as far as I have seen the State, I am favorably impressed with it. The people are not as represented generally, but quite energetic and exceedingly hospitable, welcoming any industry that will improve their condition. In no instance have I yet found any one of the old inhabitants that regret the result of the war; very few speak of Jeff. Davis except with disgust. Could any of our Northern sympathizers with the "Lost Cause," hear the prayers of between six and seven hundred negroes, which are employed in this business, daily offered to the Almighty, for the preservation of the soul of Massa Abe, I don't imagine you would hear the oft repeated remark that "they were better off in slavery." The blacks are very good men to work; in fact, we find them in every way better adapted to the climate and can stand the sun while at work much better than white men. A very peculiar way of working in the swamps is that every man is to work by himself. Each man is allowed so many yards wide and so many yards deep in which to cut the timber and place it to the wire tram-way. The extreme lightness of the timber enables one man to handle any sized log with all ease. The output of this establishment will exceed fifteen million feet yearly, this being its first year of operations. I find the lumber is gaining in notoriety rapidly and a daily increase of orders for it from all quarters of the Earth. I do not find many men from the North in this vicinity, but learn that on Mr. Freeman's pine work there are quite a number; he is located some distance from Dare county, but I hear he has a fine plant and doing an extensive business. It is to be regretted that more Northern capital and energy is not located here, for I certainly think the opportunities greater, and more flattering; here than in any country I have any knowledge of for lumbering. Now, Jake, for sport! In hunting, fishing and horse racing, this section takes the cake. In staking for game you certainly need to be "loaded for bar," for they are here in abundance, and you are likely to hear the

"plunge" of one at any moment after you are in the swamp a few rods. They do not grow as large as I have seen in Arkansas or Texas, but the supply is far in excess of the demand. Deer are quite plenty, of the black tail species; it is easy to capture all you want, with the help of the dogs. The season for ducks and swan has passed, and in fact the absence of all feathered tribes is particularly noticeable at this time. The fishing season for shad, herring and blue fish has also passed, and I learn the field has been enormous. Horse racing is on hand in all its glory and excitement, and the variety of "speeders" which you will see on any day in town, would amaze you greatly. The average darkey is "horsey" sure, and in his mind, what he don't know about the points of a horse isn't worth the knowing. The expression of a darkey when he is giving you the history of his favorite horse, is so laughable that it would put to flight any of Mark Twain's ludicrous remarks; and to their credit, it is safe to say that they are usually correct. The season is fast approaching when we are expecting to stop work, on account of the "yellow fly," which pays its annual visit to the swamps in such numbers as to stop all business, except to protect yourself from their attention. They grow large, like a horse fly, and will not "scare" worth a cent, but stick to you until killed. They usually last about 6 weeks, and during their stay the snakes also have a picnic. I will not describe the snakes, suffice it to say that you can be accommodated with any size, kind or color. Vegetation is out in all its glory. The trees are in full leaf, potatoes are up and corn also; considerable "garden stuff" is ready for use, radishes, lettuce, &c., &c. There is a native plant here, similar to cabbage, which is used for "greens," and is very palatable, called "collard;" it is certainly very nice. I don't forget my garden of last year, and the many pleasant hours I had in it. I hope for the reputation of the garden, that it will receive the same attention this year, although Charley Russell tried hard to discourage me in my work. I notice that Judge White has about the same as closed the saloons of Pittsburgh, which act I have no doubt will meet the approval of all lovers of temperance. We have no use for that Judge in Dare county, for I don't believe there is a drop of spirits in the county and never was. It is a clear case here of water, pure "juniper water." Come down. Yours Very Truly, ROWLAND COBB.

MEMORIAL DAY.

At a meeting of Stow Post, G. A. R., May 1st, 1889, the following program was adopted for Memorial Day, May 30: Blessed are the Martyred Dead, who lie in holy graves, for freedom won; Those sorrowed deeds shall never die, While coming years their cycles run. PROGRAMME.

At 10 A. M., the church bells will toll for 15 minutes, in memory of our fallen comrades.

Citizens and business men are requested to display the National Colors, draped in mourning, on their houses and at the stores and offices.

Stow Post will meet at their hall at 1:30 P. M., sharp, to march to Riverside Cemetery.

The following named Comrades are appointed a Committee on Music for the occasion of the march, and also at the cemetery: John Albaugh, J. W. Morrow, D. S. Knox.

The following organizations and orders are cordially invited to march with us and participate in the ceremonies at Riverside on the day: Nick Thompson Camp, S. of V.; Patriotic Order Sons of America; Tionesta Lodge L. O. O. F.; Olive Lodge Masons; Ancient Order United Workmen; and Royal Templars.

The Sunday Schools will meet at the different churches and fall in line under charge of their Superintendents and teachers, behind the music.

D. S. Knox will act as Marshal, and G. Root as Assistant.

At the cemetery a hollow square will be formed when a dirge will be played.

1. Prayer by the Chaplain. 2. Ode by choir. 3. Adjutant calls roll of the dead. 4. Commander's Address—Ritual. 5. Music by Band—Ritual. 6. 1st Comrade's address, G. W. Robinson—Ritual. 7. Song by choir. 8. 2d Comrade's address, G. W. Bovard—Ritual. 9. Music by Band.

10. 3d Comrade's address, S. S. Canfield—Ritual. 11. Song—American. 12. Decoration of graves with salute by Sons of Veterans. 13. Chaplain's address—Ritual. 14. Music by the Band. Assembly call will be sounded. Chaplain B. F. Pett will be the Orator of the Day. Benediction by Chaplain, after which Comrades, Orders, and people will form line and march back to town and be dismissed.

J. W. Morrow, S. D. IRWIN, Committee.

"A stitch in time" often saves consumption. Down's Elixir used in time saves life. For sale by D. Barnett.

In Henry & Johnson's Anica & Oil Liniment is combined the curative properties of the different oils, with the healing qualities of Anica. Good for man and beast. Every bottle guaranteed. For sale by D. Barnett.

Eyes and Ears.—What and How to Do When Afflicted.

Have a personal examination by a reliable Oculist at once. The most sight destroying diseases often have similar, or even less prominent symptoms than the simplest affection, and require prompt and correct treatment to prevent permanent loss. Don't wait to write. It is a fact that one half the permanent blindness has been caused by delay.

Sudden deafness is nearly always curable. Chronic deafness can be benefited in nearly every case. Discharges from the ear can be cured by the necessary attention. Catarrh and throat diseases successfully treated. Spectacles adjusted. In all cases it is best to make at least one visit to the specialist. There is no additional charge for examination to cases that are treated by me. Each case is charged according to the method, time and skill required for the best result.

"Dado" Wins Her Youth. Mrs. Phoebe Chesley, Peterson, Clay Co., Iowa, tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouched for by the friends of the town: "I, at 73 years of age, have been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years; could not dress myself without help. Now I am free from all pain and soreness, and am able to do all my own housework. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having renewed my youth, and removed completely all disease and pain." Try a bottle, only 50c, at Bovard's Drug Store.

Their Business Booming. Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at G. W. Bovard's Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

English Spavin Liniment removes all Hard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes from horses. Blood Spavin, Curbs, Splints, Sweeney, Ring-Bone, Stiffles, S. m. m. all Swollen Throats, Coughs, Etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted. Sold by Herman & Siggins, Druggists, Tionesta. nov-25-ly.
