DOGS.

Away back in August, 1868, when Col. Reisinger published The Bee, out of which grew the FOREST REPUBLI-CAN, he hit upon the novel idea of publishing a list of owners of dogs, together with the names of the canines at the time resident in the borough, which we here re produce. It will be observed that a number of the then owners have lost none of their attachment for "man's faithful friend," for they still keep dogs:
