LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Oil market closed yesterday 1.03 1/2. Don't forget the Band show Monday evening, Dec. 16th, at Landers' Hall.

Christmas only two weeks ahead, and the little ones are beginning to count the days.

The pipe for the new gas line at Nebraska is being hauled through here at present. It is to be a two-inch line.

There has been no scarcity of floods in the river this fall, and the old Allegheny is again bank full this morning.

Clarion county's teachers' institute will commence on the 30th of the present month and continue the usual number of days.

Services in the German and English language this coming Sunday at Mt. Zion's Lutheran Church, German Hill, R. J. Gractz, Pastor.

Court convenes next Monday, with a fair sized civil list and an unusually important criminal calendar to be disposed of. Young Hewitt will be tried for the murder of George J. Lacy, which trial will likely attract great interest. An extra number of jurors has been drawn, and the attendance will likely be large. All of our patrons are invited to call and "see us" while here.

Just received, a new line of silverware for holiday presents. Any one needing anything in that line can save 25 per cent. by going to A. C. Guth's Jewelry Store, Tionesta.

The Blizzard says that hereafter the W. N. Y. & P. and Valley Roads will recognize each other's mileage books between Oil City and Buffalo and Oil City and Pittsburgh.

The Clarion Normal is the most popular State Normal School. There are 17 teachers, a fine library, a large, well selected assortment of apparatus, and two hundred enthusiastic students.

Attention is directed to the Holiday ad. of Wm. Smearbaugh & Co. in this issue. It embraces about everything in the line of presents, and at way down prices. They invite you to call.

Mr. H. W. Roberts of Mayville, N. Y., paid a flying visit to Tionesta, remaining over Sabbath. He took with him his young son, Bart, who had made his home with his grand-parents from his infancy.

What's the rush at H. J. Hopkins & Co.'s? Christmas! Everybody says their stock is larger and styles nicer than ever before, and everybody should see them, whether they want to buy or not.

Santa Claus is anxious to have the people know where to find him this year, and therefore announces in another column of this issue that he has established headquarters in Grandin Block, Tidioute, Pa. Glance over his list. It's a choice one.

The Clarion Journalist of last week says that in the case of Com. vs. Wm. Mong and Dan. Walters, charge burglary, a motion for a new trial was argued before Judge Neal on Saturday, and his decision was withheld until argument court, on the 25th inst.

When you want a job of printing don't go where they use apple butter for ink, and punch the type into the paper so that you can read it with a stick on the back of the sheet, but bring your work to the REPUBLICAN office, where you get a neat, clean, stylish job, which you needn't be ashamed of.

Dodgers have been printed at this office announcing a fine display of holiday goods at the handsome store of Wilkins & Wheeler, West Hickory, and extending a cordial invitation to the public to call and make selections from as fine a stock as you would wish to see. These enterprising gentlemen are never behindhand in anything pertaining to the public wants.

Remember the musical treat at Landers' Hall, Monday evening, Dec. 16th.

The Jersey Lily has become quite famous for her beauty, and she means to keep it, too, for hasn't she learned in the great United States to cure colds with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

See prospectus of the Philadelphia Weekly Press in this issue. It is a great paper. Why not take advantage of our excellent clubbing rates? See the offer under the head "A Splendid Opportunity."

The show advertised to appear at Landers' Hall on Monday and Tuesday of this week failed to arrive. But it don't matter much; the Band Boys are going to have a rousing concert next Monday evening, which will be treated enough for a whole week. Go.

The Clarion Rep. Gazette says that Messrs. John W. Reed and W. A. Hindman have been retained as counsel in the prosecution against the young man, Hewitt, who shot Mr. G. J. Lacy. The case will be tried at Tionesta on the week commencing December 16th.

People wishing to buy holiday goods, or goods of any kind for that matter, should consult the advertising columns. Those who are represented there are anxious for and will appreciate your trade. You know that. People should always go where they are invited.

Mr. A. J. Sigworth of East Hickory, gave the REPUBLICAN a pleasant call Monday. As will be seen by a notice in this issue, Mr. Sigworth is anxious that the delinquents of the old firm of Sigworth & Kribbs should call at early date and settle up, thereby saving costs, &c.

Cigarette dealers should paste this law in their hats: "Be it enacted, etc. That if any person or persons shall sell cigarettes to any person or persons under the age of 16 years, he or she so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than $300."

In the trial of an election case in Philadelphia a year ago, Judges Allison and Arnold ruled that election boards are justified in refusing the votes of men whose taxes have been paid for them with money not their own. A man must pay his own tax. It cannot be paid for him, unless he refunds before election the amount expended in his behalf. The practice of buying tax receipts at wholesale and giving them to voters is illegal. A voter may be questioned as to whether he paid his own tax, or whether it has been paid for him.

No paper can be published without home patronage, and every man is interested in keeping up a home paper. If a railroad or factory is wanted the newspaper is expected to work for it. If a public meeting is wanted for any purpose, the newspaper is called upon for a free notice. If any of the societies have a supper or reception of any kind, the newspaper is expected to give the necessary notice. The newspaper must puff the schools and everything else to advance the interests of the business of the place, and then give them a handsome notice when they pass away. And yet some of them do nothing to keep up a home paper.

In a talk concerning the work of the newly appointed Commissioners to revise the road laws, Governor Beaver expressed himself in these words, recently: "I think there should be but one supervisor in a township, as now provided by law, and all road taxes should be paid in cash. The law now permits taxes to be 'worked out,' and the work is now done in a bungling manner by inexperienced men whose only object is to put in sufficient time to make up the amount of their tax. Where there is but one supervisor he could devote his entire time to the work and see that it would be done well. The most grievous abuse, however, is the working out of taxes on the road. The work is not done. One supervisor and cash taxes would be a capital beginning in the right direction."

Forest County's Insane.

Commissioners of Forest County:—The condition of the patients under your charge in this Hospital is as follows:

John Clary is very much deranged but not so noisy and excited as he was. Sarah Shoupe is very much deranged but quiet.

Isaac Reed is quiet but his mind is weak and confused.

Wm. Barnhart is restless, excited and noisy at times but not violent.

Samuel Hawthorn is quiet and pleasant but his mind is confused.

Olive Noble is quiet and pleasant except when she has the fits.

Peter Guenther has been very dull and stupid for months, not speaking to any one.

Very Respectfully Yours, JOHN CURWEN. Warren, Pa., Dec. 2, 1889.

GRAND CONCERT.

The Band Boys.—One of Their Superb Concerts at Landers' Hall, Monday, Dec. 16th, 1889.

This enterprising band has labored hard during the past few months to prepare a musical treat for the people of Tionesta and vicinity. They will be assisted by the best local talent. The program will consist principally of fine music, interspersed with comical farces, laughable jokes, and applause from the audience. The Band Boys are in hard sledding. Drop in Monday evening of Court week, and drop a quarter.

Notice to Settle.

All persons indebted to the old firm of Sigworth & Kribbs, are hereby notified to call on the undersigned and settle either by cash or note on or before January 15th, 1890, otherwise the accounts will be placed in the hands of a collector and parties compelled to settle by law.

SIGWORTH & KRIBBS, 4t. East Hickory, Pa. Important Notice!

Owing to the terrible condition of the roads and the amount of territory I have to get over, I have concluded to leave the principal part of my pack with H. J. Hopkins & Co., where my many friends can get a supply for the little ones at very reasonable prices. SANTA CLAUS.

MONEY.

We will pay the highest price in cash for all kinds of saw logs delivered at the Stave Mill at Tionesta Station. DINGMAN & DALE.

A Strange Tale.

Oil City Blizzard.

It was a wet day in February, 1883. One of those days which come in that month, when the rain washed the snow from the hillsides, and leaves the roads covered with ice in ridges where the sleighs have beaten it down, and transforms the slopes into dangerous sheets of ice. My partner, whom I will call George, and myself had ridden horseback from Gardfield to Murphy 19, which was due that day at Balltown. Having obtained the information needed, we started back on our ten mile ride just at dusk. The clouds hung low, the rain came down with gusts of wind to hurl it against us, and with our rubber coats tightly buttoned about us, we allowed the horses to pick their way along the slippery roadway. Half way up Minister Hill the road ran for several rods along a shelving rock. This was now a glare of ice where the water had run over it, and washed by the rains, required the utmost caution to pass it in safety, for on the lower side from the edge of the ice to the ragged rocks below was a sheer drop of over forty feet. All of the Balltown scouts will remember this place. George was ahead and my horse trailed behind as we approached this spot. A stronger gust of wind and rush of rain caused the horses to stop a moment, and as we started again we heard the rapid hoof beats of another horse coming down the road beyond. By the sound we knew it was some one on horseback, and I made the remark, "If that fellow doesn't check up before he strikes the ice, he'll go over the bank." At that moment we saw the rider turn the bend in the road beyond the icy spot, and through the dusk recognized one of the scouts, Geo. Graham. He was riding at a reckless pace, and although both of us shouted to him his horse was on the ice before he heard or heeded our warning. The animal slipped, caught itself, slid again, made a desperate attempt to check its headway, then fell side-saddle on the treacherous ice, with Graham's leg caught under the saddle. The horse's impetus carried it forward rapidly toward the precipice, and its struggles only increased the danger. Both of our horses were sharpshod, and the same idea must have come to each of us. I do not remember just how it all happened next; but our horses sprang forward with a bound as the spurs touched them; we dropped from our saddles and the next moment George had hold of the horse's tail while he clung with his other arm to his own horse's forelegs, and I had grasped the horse's bridle, with my own feet braced against my own horse's hoofs. Those horses seemed to know what was up as well as we, for they stood like rocks, and I could feel my own animal brace himself to keep his feet in place as the strain came upon us. But we were in time, and the taller horse and rider were stopped in their dangerous slide within a few feet of the brink. I don't know how the others felt, but after Graham had got on his feet, and his horse had been pulled and slid into a safe place, I found myself so weak that I had to lean against my horse's side several moments before I had strength to reach the saddle. As for Graham, he left his horse for a moment, crept on hands and knees to the edge of the ice, and looked down forty feet to where the jagged rocks were piled up below, then creeping back, said: "I'd been dead by this time, boys, if it hadn't been for you, I guess, but I'll even it up with you some day, or else speak a good word for you when I die."

The scouts drifted to Wardwell, Thorn Creek and became scattered around Pittsburgh; all but Graham. He left soon after the above adventure and went to Columbus, Ohio.

George and I began wildcatting. We made several failures; began to scratch the bottom of our pockets, and tops of our heads to obtain ways and means, and finally began scouring the country in search of indications. We found several promising openings, and one day, while sitting in our office puzzling our heads as to which place we should locate in, a telegram was handed us. It read as follows:

COLUMBUS, O., June 11, 1885.

Locate your well at —. You will find oil there. GEO. GRAHAM.

We laughed at Graham's assurance that we would find oil, until the thought struck us, how did he know that we were thinking of such a location. We had found it within a week, and no one, we thought, knew anything about it.

"We will locate there, anyway," said George. "It's as good a place as any, and Graham may be onto something we don't know of."

We drilled the well, struck oil, and made a nice little fortune. A week or two after the well was completed I wrote to Graham telling him of our fortune, thanking him for the suggestion he made, and inviting him to come to see us. A few days after I got this letter:

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5, 1885.

Dear Sir—My brother, Geo. Graham, to whom your letter of the 30th was addressed, died last June. He had told me of your saying him from a terrible death, and as your card was on the envelope I opened it. On the morning he died he spoke of you and —, and hoped you were doing well.

Respectfully yours, WM. J. GRAHAM.

I wrote at once to Mr. Graham, asking on what day George died. The answer I got was "June 11th." I wrote again asking for the hour of his death. He replied that it was at half past 12, on Saturday, the 11th of June.

We had received that message from Geo. Graham at fifteen minutes to 1, on Saturday, the 11th of June. He had spoken a good word for us when he died.
