LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

—Institute week. —January 1, 1890. —Have you flopped that new leaf yet? —A Happy New Year to everybody.

—The town is full of pretty school ma'ams this week. —Miss Carrie Kron, of Kittanning, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. L. Fulton. —Miss Ray Mintz of Titusville, spent her holiday vacation with her father at this place.

—Messrs. H. M. Foreman of Bradford, and J. H. Foreman of Washington, Pa., spent the holidays in Tionesta. —Mrs. Col. Thomas, of Tionesta, was the guest over Christmas with her niece, Mrs. W. J. Bleakley.—Franklin News.

—Mr. James D. Davis, for the past two years Prothonotary Arner's efficient deputy, has relinquished that position. —Forest Lodge, A. O. U. W., installs its officers, for the ensuing term next Friday evening. A full attendance is desired. —United Presbyterian services will be held in the school house next Sabbath at 11 a. m., and 4 p. m., Rev. A. S. Stewart, officiating.

—Arthur Kelly came home from Chicago to spend the holidays with his parents. He brought with him his little niece, Bertha Banner. —The Clarion Normal School closed on the 20th ult., and a winter term of 12 weeks will begin on the 1st of January. The fall term has been remarkably successful.

—The great question of the day is: "How to keep the Irish dynamite excitement in a manageable condition." Easy enough. Give each man a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. —The "week of prayer" begins next Sabbath. Rev. McAninch announced that services would be held in the Presbyterian Church every evening during the week, which all are earnestly requested to attend.

—Franklin News: Rev. J. T. Brennan, wife and daughter, of Tionesta, spent Christmas in this city, the guest of their relative, Rev. Mr. Tobey, of the Free Methodist Church, and returned home this afternoon. —Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Heibenthal and children, of Pittsburgh, spent a few days of the past week very pleasantly with Tionesta friends. We are pleased to learn that Mr. H. is prospering finely in his new home. —"Let observation with extended view, survey good things from China to Peru" and he will not find anything of such astonishing merit in killing all the pairs that flesh is heir to, as he will know in Salvation Oil, when he has given it a fair trial.

—The REPUBLICAN was honored, and the gloom of the sanctum lighted for a few moments, yesterday afternoon by a visit from two of Forest county's brightest young school teachers, Misses Laura Clover and Clara Simpson. Jenks is the fortunate township which claims these teachers. —Rev. R. J. Graetz, who has ministered to the Lutheran congregation on German Hill for the past three years, has resigned the pastorate to accept a call at Fort Wayne, Ind., whither he has already gone. Rev. G. was very popular with his people, who part with him with deep regret.

—The following account of a most horrible accident, taken from the Meadville Tribune of the 25th, will be received with great sorrow by many of our older citizens, to whom the unfortunate victim was well and favorably known: "A terrible accident occurred at the Woodside saw mill, in Rockdale township, about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. William Woodside and his two sons were at work at the mill, and while the boys were engaged in another part of the mill, the father, in some manner, fell on the large circular saw. In an instant his left arm was cut off, and his body horribly mangled. Death was instantaneous. Deceased was aged 57 years. The funeral services were held at Miller's Station, this afternoon." —Geo. Mealy of Tionesta township, killed a large rattlesnake on Christmas day. There is nothing particularly fresh about the killing of a rattlesnake in these parts, but the season of the year in which it was accomplished rather tones up the interest in such an item, besides giving outsiders the impression that we are living in the banana belt.

—Christmas passed by in Tionesta very pleasantly and quietly, the day being as balmy as a May day, with the thermometer registering 63 degrees in the shade. The exercises at the Presbyterian and M. E. Churches on Tuesday evening were interesting and pleasant affairs, each little one being remembered by some token of love from Santa Claus. —In these days of extreme radicalism and hot partizanSHIP, it is quite refreshing to pick up a decidedly independent journal and read the news from an unbiased standpoint; a journal which can and does deal calmly, yet forcibly, with the great issues of the day in an unprejudiced manner. Such an one is the Pittsburgh Dispatch, one of the very first papers of the country. The Daily Dispatch has become an actual necessity in this office, and the mammoth Sunday edition is a decided wonder, and its great growth has been one of the astonishing features of journalism. The literary columns are supplied by the best writers of the country, while its special cable letters, sporting and business reviews, are features that are greatly appreciated by its more than 50,000 readers. The Daily Dispatch prints the news as it finds it, and it has a knack of finding it that gets away with all its great contemporaries, making it the newspaper of Western Pennsylvania. Representing the greatest iron city in the United States as it does, its market reports are strictly reliable; likewise all its news pertaining to that great industry. Politically, independent, yet never wavering in its support of the great question of protection to American industries. The New Year will witness great strides in the already vast facilities for news-getting which the Dispatch enjoys, and those who would be well informed of the world's doings must have it. No paper enjoys greater popularity with the people and no paper deserves it.

German Hill. Rev. R. J. Graetz preached his farewell sermon to a large congregation last Sunday. He has accepted a call from Ft. Wayne, Indiana, and started for there on Monday. Miss Myrtle B. Lee, accompanied by her young friend Miss Emma Kiser, visited friends and relatives in South Oil City during the holidays. The entertainment given in the Lutheran Church Christmas Eve was a success. Wm. F. Weingard is home from Wilkesburg, where he has been working at the carpenter trade for some time. Mrs. George Zundel, of Nebraska, visited her aged mother, Mrs. S. Blum, over Sunday.

What young man anticipates going to Indiana on his wedding trip to the near future? Little Pearl Rhees, whose parents died some time since, was taken to the Orphans' Home on Tuesday. Miss Anna Lohmeyer, of Tionesta, was a guest of Miss Eva Kiser, a few days last week. Smith Foreman has purchased the timber on William Blum's land and has put in a mill on the same. There will be some large timber hauled there this winter by several parties.

Mr. Richards, of Mayburg, is around leasing farms in this neighborhood. M. Y. East Hickory. This place has pulled through Xmas and is bracing up for New Years, so it is rather quiet here at present. The roads are very bad, but we all hope to see sleighing soon, as it has made a little start toward winter this morning. We were treated to quite a blizzard last night. Bert Hoyt, our obliging gas man, is around this morning setting up the cigars; he has a big smile on; it is a boy.

T. J. Bowman's family leave us again Wednesday for Jamestown, where the children are attending school. Rev. Zahnizer preached a very good sermon last evening in the F. M. Church. The shooting match at this place was a badly mixed up affair. Dr. Webber came out first best.

Rev. Thompson, our popular M. E. minister, is away on a visit; he is expected back this week. Dec. 30. SUBSTITUTE

Ex-Commissioner Maze Dead.

Thomas B. Maze, for more than fifty years a resident of Barnett township, Forest county, died at his home in that twp., on Thursday, December 26th, 1889, aged 81 years, and 4 days. Mr. Maze was one of the pioneers and well-known figures of his section of the county, where he spent the greater portion of an industrious and useful life, and where he always enjoyed the high esteem of his fellow men and neighbors. He was closely identified with the settlement and growth of that portion of Forest county lying along Clarion river, and endured many of the hardships incident to the early days of wilderness life, for the country was nothing but a howling wilderness when he came. In 1866, the year of the re-organization of Forest county, Mr. Maze was elected one of the board of Commissioners, serving for three years, and to his good judgment much is due for the fine court house we now have. Besides his faithful wife, now past 75 years of age, nine children out of a family of 12 survive him, as follows: John Maze, of Ohio; Mrs. Lucinda Irwin, and Jacob and Wm. Maze, of Barnett twp.; Harry Maze, of Tionesta; Orrin Maze, Barnett; Mrs. Louisa Ormsby, Lima, O.; and Mrs. Marien F. Irwin and Miss Rebecca Maze, of Barnett. All but two of these were present at his funeral, which occurred on Saturday last, and was very largely attended. Mr. Maze had been a consistent member of the M. E. Church for 28 years, and died happy in the faith.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE. The Forest County Teachers' Institute convened in the Court House at Tionesta, Monday, December 30th, 1889. The exercises were opened by responsive scripture reading and prayer. After singing, Rev. J. V. McAninch of Tionesta, delivered an address of welcome. He spoke of the responsibility of the teacher, and of the necessity of institutes. Mr. Chas. Garnett responded in a few well chosen words. The work of organization was taken up. G. W. Kerr, was appointed President; Prof. F. W. Ware of Tionesta, Vice President; Miss Scott, Miss Anderson, Miss Guenther, and Miss Fitzgerald were named as Secretaries. Each of the teachers was presented with a note-book.

Prof. G. E. Little of Washington, gave a very instructive and entertaining lesson in drawing. He showed how drawing may be made an aid in teaching arithmetic and other branches. Instruction in drawing should begin with drawing the square, because this is the simplest form which can be taught. Prof. Little proceeded to make several sketches of familiar objects, accompanying his work by a rapid, explanatory talk. The audience was much amused by the sketch of a boy.

Prof. Wheeler spoke a few minutes on the subject of teaching music in the schools, giving many valuable suggestions as to the primary instruction. At 4:15 p. m., the institute adjourned for the day. Monday evening Prof. Little delivered his entertaining lecture entitled "Evolution of the Crayon," which, in a word, was heartily enjoyed by the large audience present. The exercises were opened by a song by Prof. Wheeler, rendered in his usual fine style, which always pleases. At the conclusion of the lecture the audience was treated to a most delightful piece of music entitled "The Resurrection Song," by Miss Susie A. Clarke of Tidoute, whose sweet and finely trained voice won for her a hearty encore, to which she responded with "The Shepherd," in a charming manner. Miss Clarke is a pupil of Prof. Wheeler, who accompanied her on the organ, and under whose careful training, together with her rare natural gifts, she will undoubtedly reach a high place among the musical stars of the future. Miss Carrie Kron captivated the audience by an excellent rendition of "Selling the Farm," which was loudly applauded.

SECOND DAY. Tuesday A. M., Institute opened at 9:30; usual responsive reading, followed with prayer by Rev. Shimp of Tionesta. Mr. Wheeler then gave a lesson in music. Prof. L. L. Himes of Clarion Normal, was elected chairman of informal session. Reces. After intermission, roll call by Supt. Kerr, at which time nearly every teacher responded, thereby showing their interest in the work of education. Prof. Little then took up the subject of drawing, clearly illustrating the fact that almost every branch of the common school curriculum can be taught with greater ease and attended with greater success than by any other method. At 11:25 a. m., Prof. Himes of Clarion Normal, gave a talk on the progress being made in the public schools. He then gave a clear and instructive talk on the subject of reading; he gave the method adopted by the Model School of Clarion, using the selection, entitled "Scott's Lady of the Lake" by way of illustration. Institute adjourned to meet at 1:45 p. m. Institute opened at 1:45 p. m. Prof. H. L. Pearsall gave a talk on Planning for School Work. He said something in regard to the importance of having a plan of this kind; especially in regard to having a plan for opening of school. The order in which he set forth the different points of his talk was: 1st, setting the school room in order; 2nd, arranging apparatus; 3d, for opening school work. Drawing was then continued by Prof. Little. Reces. Immediately after intermission Mr. Wheeler took up his work in music, fully exhibiting the subject of reces. Prof. Little gave his last talk on drawing. These lessons have been very instructive and also entertaining. Prof. Little is one of the very best instructors in this line of work. He urged us all "to know something of everything and everything of something." Prof. Little spoke very touchingly of the death of his mother. We part from him with regret and hope to greet him at some future institute.

CONVICTION AND SENTENCE

Of Charles W. Hewitt for the Killing of George J. Lacy.—Ten Years in the Penitentiary. On Thursday morning, Dec. 19, 1889, the trial of Charles W. Hewitt for the murder of Geo. J. Lacy, at Golitzia, this county, on October 21st, last, was begun. The jury empanelled to try the case was as follows, and we may just here remark that a more intelligent jury it would be difficult to obtain: W. R. Hasselback, Jenks, lumberman. Adam Emert, Hickory, farmer. John Cropp, Tionesta, carpenter. John Eck, Barnett, farmer. Truman Hill, Tionesta, farmer. A. W. Stroup, Tionesta, farmer. Amos Ledebur, Green, farmer. L. B. Wells, Hickory, farmer. Amos Clinger, Harmony, oil producer. James Cook, Barnett, farmer. T. W. Allender, Hickory, tollkeeper. Robert McBeth, Barnett, bookkeeper.

The Commonwealth was represented by District Attorney Clark and Lawyers Agnew and Davis of Tionesta, Ritchey of Oil City, John W. Reed of Clarion, and A. B. Richmond of Meadville. Mr. Ritchey opened the case for the prosecution, outlining briefly what the Commonwealth would attempt to prove. The main witness in the case was Will. L. Klinefister, who was in the store at the time of the tragedy. His testimony in brief was as follows: I am bookkeeper for the Lacy's; Chas. Hewitt was employed as chore boy by George Lacy, from July 4 until October 2; Mr. Lacy had been away from home and returned Saturday, the 19th, Monday morning Charles Hewitt came in the store about 8 o'clock in the morning and sat down on the counter. Mr. Lacy and Mr. Roth came into the store. Lacy passed Charley, spoke to him and came on back to the private office, Charley coming with him. Mr. Lacy said to me: "Charley thinks he has a grievance." He told Charley to sit down. Charley told me he was charged with $2 he did not think he had received. I read the articles for which he was charged $2, and he said "Oh!" Mr. Lacy asked him if he had not paid something for his wife. He said, "Yes, 25c." Mr. Lacy told me to pay it to him. Charley said there was one and three-quarter days in October he had not been paid for. Mr. Lacy told me to pay him at the basis of $16 a month. Charley said he could not work for that amount. Mr. Lacy said: "Charley you know you were nearly dried up the cow, did not feed the horses, starved the colts and did not feed the pigs." Charley said: "By—, I won't take it. I will have the law before I do."

Mr. Lacy struck at him. I don't know whether he hit him or not. Charley swore he would not stand it and jumped out of his chair. The latter continued to strike and I saw him strike Charley's cheek once. I said "don't," and they desisted. I turned away from them; I heard a scuffle, turned around and Charley and Mr. Lacy were very close together and pushing each other. Lacy moved to one side, Charley's face was toward him; I saw Charley put his arm down toward his pocket, heard a pistol shot and Lacy roared back and said, "My God, he has shot me." I jumped down from the desk, put my arms around him and said, "Come let us get out of this." Lacy said, "Yes, let us get out of this." I saw Mr. Roth, and he took charge of Lacy. When I went to Lacy's assistance I saw a revolver in Hewitt's hands, which was smoking. After Roth took Lacy, Hewitt came out rubbing his coat, saying: "He did not care a—, if he had shot a hole through his coat." I then went to the barn and met Hewitt. I said: "My God, Charley why did you do that? You have murdered on your hands." He said: "By—," he did not care a—; he would allow no man to call him a—, if he hit for it."

Mr. Roth testified: "I went home with George Lacy the Saturday evening before the homicide. Monday morning I went to the store with him. When we went in, I heard him say 'Charley' and 'grievance.' I went outside thinking they wanted to talk privately. About 19 minutes afterwards I heard a noise as if a saw had fallen. There was a stream of running water near and I could not hear distinctly. I went to the store and saw Klinefister assisting Lacy. I went in and Lacy says, 'I am hurt; I am a dead man. Send for Dr. Ross, and send for my wife.' I took him to his room and undressed him. He looked at the wound and said again, 'I am a dead man, there is no show for me. No man was ever shot as I am and got over it. Tell my wife, if I die before she gets here, that she is to have full charge of my funeral.' He then called his book-keeper and disposed of his property, naming his brother as executor. He said he was not afraid to die, but would like to have lived until his children had grown up." Considerable other testimony was heard, but as our space is limited we give only the most important.

THE DEFENSE. The defense was represented by F. E. Bible Esq., of Franklin. Mr. Bible opened for the defense, giving a brief summary of the line of defense which they would pursue. First witness put on the stand was the defendant himself, Charles Hewitt, who testified as follows: "I was 15 years old October 5. I have been living with my grandfather since April. I have lived in Pennsylvania 18 months. Sunday October 20 I was at the boarding house at Golitzia in the afternoon; Charley Heekathorn saw my revolver and took it out of my pocket. Wm. Lease asked me if I would sell it. I said yes. I quit working for Mr. Lacy October 2. There was something over $20 coming to me. We had a dispute that morning. Mr. Lacy said if I ever gave him the lip George Klinefister he would break my lip—a neck. Sunday evening Mr. Lacy called me out of the boarding house and told me to come to the store in the morning and we would settle. Monday morning I went to the store. On my way I stopped at the barn; I said I was going to settle with Lacy, and if he did not settle right I would have the law. Lacy came in the store and told me to come and we would settle; I went back to the office. There was one and three-quarter days in October I was not credited with. Lacy told Klinefister to credit me at the rate of $16 a month. I said I could not stand it to work for that. I would go to law first. He said he would carry it to the Supreme Court if necessary. I said I would sue him anyway. He sprang toward me and struck me. I jumped up and raised my left hand to ward the blow. He forced me into the corner between the desk and the wall, threw his arm around my neck and kept hitting at me with his left hand. I could not throw him off and I pulled my revolver, holding it downward toward him, intending to shoot him in the leg to disable him. He grabbed the revolver and a struggle ensued. Mr. Lacy holding the barrel, when it discharged. Mr. Lacy was against the wall on one side and my side against the other. I did not say after he was shot that I would give him more. Mr. Klinefister was in the office. My little half-brother was in the store. After I got out of the store, I found my coat on fire and that my revolver was caught in the flap of my pocket. I met Klinefister on my way home. He said, 'My God, what do you mean?' O, said I, I will allow no man to call me a—, and then take a lick for it. I then went home and went to splitting wood. I was arrested at 11 o'clock. I sent for the revolver September 30. It cost $175 from Klinefister. I went to Newmansville and sent a registered letter for the revolver. I carried a revolver previously. I bought it from Lacy's."

Mrs. McKenzie, Alice McKenzie and Effie Dunkle, the latter schoolmates of Charley Hewitt, and R. Shaffer, his school teacher, testified to the good and peacable character of Charley. Mr. Reed addressed the jury on behalf of the Commonwealth, followed by Mr. Bible, who in turn was followed by Mr. Osmer, both for the defense. Mr. Richmond closed for the Commonwealth. Judge Brown's charge to the jury, an able and impartial deliverance, was finished before noon on Saturday, and the twelve "good men and true," retired immediately after to deliberate upon their verdict. Shortly after six o'clock of the same evening the court house bell rang, which was the signal that the jury had agreed, and in a very short time the house was quite well filled up with interested spectators. Associate Arner and Proper were on the bench and took the verdict, which was "guilty of murder in the second degree." Attorney Bible demanded a poll of the jury, and as each man's name was called he arose and in a clear voice repeated the verdict.

THE SENTENCE. On Thursday of last week Judge Brown came down to pronounce sentence. At 12 o'clock Sheriff Sawyer came in with the prisoner, and after a last plea for clemency by his counsel, Mr. Bible, he was ordered to stand up, and to the question as to what he had to say why sentence should not be pronounced upon him, answered in a clear voice that he had nothing, whereupon the Judge, after feelingly alluding to the unpleasantness of his duty, sentenced the young man to ten years in the penitentiary. From the beginning to the end young Hewitt gave no evidence of uneasiness, and never displayed the slightest emotion. The verdict of the jury as well as the sentence was very generally approved by public opinion.
