

NELLIE BLY arrived in New York on the 25th inst., completing her trip "around the world" in the remarkably short space of 72 days, 6 hours and 10 minutes.

THE Republican Congress is making a good beginning. It fired out an illegally-elected West Virginia Democratic Congressman last week, and gave his seat to the legally-elected Republican. Keep it up.

BECAUSE the farmers yesterday asked the Ways and Means Committee to put a tariff on certain farm products imported into this country the Free Trade organs are on their hind legs shrieking "Monopolists." Great Scott! The idea of a farmer being a monopolist!

THE distress in North Dakota is reaching alarming proportions. It is time that Eastern benevolence was waking up to the fact that thousands in this new commonwealth are on such a short allowance of the necessities of life that starvation is staring them in the face.

THE Democrats re-elected Chairman Kiener at their meeting of the State Committee in Harrisburg, last Wednesday, without a struggle. In this they are wise as well as humane.

THE Bourbons say, in effect, to the negroes at the South: "This country is not large enough for all of us. Our plan for adjusting the difficulty is to have you move out." To which the negroes may reply: "We rather think not. You brought us here and we are here to stay. Suppose you do the moving."

THE death of Adam Forepaugh, the veteran showman, removes from the scene of action one of the most picturesque characters in American life. His life was a romance. From a butcher's block to the highest pinnacle of amusement fame was a big step, but Mr. Forepaugh made it and proudly held his place.

A MEMBER of Philadelphia's Common Council the other day asked the clerk to read a communication which he sent up with the remark that it had a bearing on the subject then being discussed. The clerk began: "Dear Will: Come and see me to night at..." when he was stopped by the excited Councilman, who had sent up a love letter instead of an official document. That reminds Gossip of a funny incident in the House in 1881. A prominent western man was making a speech and to secure a rest he sent to the clerk's desk what he said was a letter signed by twenty of his constituents asking the passage of the bill then under discussion. Harry Huhn was chief clerk and a grim smile flitted over his face as he read: "Old man, come around to No. — Blank street to-night. We are going to have a little game." The house fairly roared with laughter at the mistake, and the fun broke out afresh when Speaker Hewitt, who was somewhat of a wag, remarked: "It could hardly be called a little game with twenty persons in it."—Harrisburg Telegraph.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Jan. 24, 1890. Senator Ingalls is still a postmaster in the art of exhorting democrats, particularly those who are his colleagues in the United States Senate. Yesterday afternoon the Senator from Kansas made a characteristic speech to crowded galleries. It was made in reply to Senator Butler's remarks in favor of his proposition to send the negroes to Africa.

Speaker Reed is ruling the House with a strong and steady hand, and now that the republicans have pulled themselves together and are acting in concert the democrats find it utterly impossible to succeed in any dilatory tactics. As soon as one of them attempts to do anything irregular Mr. Reed decides promptly against him and the House stands by the Speaker's decision, or at least the republican majority does, which amounts to the same thing. Of course the democrats who expected to keep the House in a tangle all the time by filibustering are kicking hard and yelling "usurpation," but Mr. Reed only smiles at them and goes ahead in his own way. The republicans are congratulating themselves that no mistake was made in electing Mr. Reed to be Speaker.

Secretary Blaine is so greatly prostrated with grief for the death of his son, Walker, that he has not yet been able to regularly resume his duties at the State department.

The House isn't making very rapid progress in disposing of its World's Fair question, in fact it doesn't seem to be making any progress at all. The trouble seems to be that none of the advocates of the rival cities wish to take a single step forward unless it favors the particular city for which they are working. Unless some sort of a compromise is agreed upon there will be no World's Fair.

The President has removed a batch of receivers of public moneys on account of their being short in their cash. The officers removed were in Arizona, California, North Dakota, Colorado and Kansas. There are more removals of the same sort already determined upon.

The House committee on Elections has reported in favor of unseating Jackson, the sitting member from West Virginia, and declaring Smith, the republican contestant, entitled to the seat. This is the first of the seventeenth contested election cases to be disposed of by the committee. There was a minority report signed by all of the democratic members of the committee.

Secretary Tracy has appointed a Naval Court of inquiry to gather the information asked for by Senator Chandler's resolution, as to Naval officers banding together to influence certain legislation, recently adopted by the Senate.

Senator Jones has introduced a bill to discontinue the coinage of $3 and $1 gold pieces and three-cent nickel pieces. The coinage of these pieces has already been practically abandoned by the Government because there is no demand for them.
