The Ohio gerymander makes eight or ten districts with Democratic majorities less than two thousand. With a good majority in the State all these districts should be carried by the Republicans.

Two of Warren's prominent lawyers, Geo. H. Higgins and W. M. Lindsay, have announced as candidates for the Republican nomination for President Judge of this District, we observe by the Warren papers.

St. Louis, speaking through its great newspaper, the Globe-Democrat, pledges Missouri and the Southwest to the success of the World's fair in Chicago. There is an air of determined unity in that Western country which the effete and dolorous East may profit by.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN, the young son of Minister Robert T. Lincoln, has been hovering between life and death for several weeks, and late advice from London gives very little assurance of his recovery. A nation's prayers are that he may live to honor the great name he bears.

With all due thanks to our Democratic contemporaries for giving us correct information about Republican intentions, we are still under the impression that a State Convention will have something to say concerning who shall be the nominee for Governor, and it might possibly give some consideration to the man who shall preside over the Senate.—Lancaster Examiner.

The Columbus Dispatch truly says: "The country at large should promptly discountenance any attempt at starting a sideshow to the proposed World's Fair. It would be a manifest injustice to Chicago to permit such a thing to transpire. Furthermore, it would be seen to be the outcropping of a very mean and unpatriotic spirit if another city attempted to injure the opportunity Chicago has within her grasp."

Just before the shooting affair at the Capitol on Friday, Speaker Reed showed to Representative Stewart, of Vermont, a letter which Stewart thought too good to keep private, and gave the contents to several colleagues, through whom it turned it reached the press. The letter read as follows: WASHINGTON, D. C. Feb. 28, '90. Dear Mr. Caruth—I shall not accept the invitation presented me by the Blue Grass Club. The reason is very simple. I notice that J. F. Durham is president. Now, J. F. Durham assured me that during late "Disturbances" if they had me in Kentucky they would kill me. Knowing said Durham to be a journalist, his declarations to me import absolute verity. I do not wish to be killed, especially in Kentucky, where such an event is too common to attract attention. For a good man to die anywhere is, of course, a loss, but I think I can make more by dying later and elsewhere.

Very truly, T. B. REED.

It is to be recollected at this time that President Eliot presides over the university at whose commencement a few years ago a man then occupying the exalted position of President of the United States went out of his way in an oration to speak of "the general lying of newspapers" and to insult the profession of journalism. He was the man who ordered the newspapers to "tell the truth" and then raised merry eyes because they did so.—Philadelphia Press.

The friends of Hon. John A. M. Passmore, of Philadelphia, are giving him a remarkably fine boom for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor, and the fever seems to be catching pretty much all along the line. Mr. Passmore bears a most enviable record both in the councils of his party and among the people of the State in general, as a clean cut, honest and brainy man, and should the gubernatorial nomination fall to the Northwest, as it is bound to, if there is no bungling, then the other end should come from the East, and his nomination would admirably fill the ticket, and make it strong for his being on.

The man who doesn't make his fortune within the next ten years will never make it. Concentration and combination of capital in all lines of production will gradually freeze out the individual. That there is a general apprehension of this fact is evident by the rush from the states into newly opened territories. The Oklahoma boom is followed by the rush to the Sioux reservation, and now a hoarde waits on the border of the Cherokee strip ready to swarm in when it is opened. The whites are trying to have the Seminoles driven out of the everglades of Florida. Now, too, one hears the advice: "Salt Lake is the place for a young man; there's a new deal there." The Mormons have been driven out and the city will soon be overrun by the "carpet bagger." All want to get rich in a hurry, and they hope to find fortunes "far from the maddening crowd's ignoble strife" in a strife ignoble still—a strife of rapine a plunder in new fields. All want to get on the ground floor of life and to be what is called "on the inside." But good hard work in the old field will win. It may not win a fortune in a few years, but it will win comfort and ease. What will mankind do when all the Eldoradoes are no more?—Oil City Blizzard.

The proposition of Postmaster General Wanamaker to unite telegraphic with postal service has quite naturally excited the telegraph people, and President Green, of the Western Union, was before congress yesterday in a protest against Mr. Wanamaker's scheme. President Green will find Mr. Wanamaker about the most practical man that ever undertook the management of the postal affairs of this country; one who is thoroughly convinced that a telegraphic service "is the legitimate work of the post office, and that the people are right in stoutly demanding telegraphic facilities at postal stations, and one who believes that a telegraphic service, too, is strictly in harmony with the original design in establishing post offices and post roads: "The communication of intelligence, with regularity and dispatch, from one part of these United States to another." This is clearly his belief. He is not a Socialist, a Communist, nor an Anarchist. He intends no robbery of the Western Union property or of the property of any other corporation or individual. He is a successful business man with a full consciousness not only of the rights, but of the value of property, and can be expected to act only within those lines. But postal telegraphs will come. The people have the idea, and it is gathering force and strength every day, and the question to be determined is how it can be secured without unfairly affecting the rights of those who have invested money in telegraph lines. This is a problem that at all appearances will need an early solution.—Harrisburg Telegraph.
