THE leading Mugwump newspaper of New York admits that it was not satisfied with Cleveland's administration of civil service. It is needlees to say that it is dissatisfied with Harrison, and it is certainly not going it blind to predict that it will never be satisfied until one of its pharisees sits in the White House, which will bewhen?

THE Williamsport Republican very sensibly argues that som f the counties of the State are in too great hurry to elect their delegates to the State Convention. Some of them are named a year in advance, and many others a long time before any issue has been raised or the people given a chance to express themselves. It is required that sixty days' notice of the State Convention shall be given, and there is really plenty of time between the is really plenty of time between the is really plenty of time between the said estate are requested to make immediate payment; and those having claims against the same will present the same delegates. At all events, the business of electing delegates a year in advance of electing delegates a year in advance.

> THE issue for 1892 has been fixed. It will be the struggle of 1888 over again-protection against not exactly free trade but against low duties. The Committee on Ways and Means has deliberately made the issue. It was in its power to advise a much more sweeping reduction than it has done and to add largely to the free list, trade. But it has chosen conservative methods, and the contest will be fought all over again at the polls. -

ONE more Democratic Congressman elected by fraud was compelled to walk the plank last Thursday, and a good Republican, who was elected by a majority of the votes, takes his place. Sydney E. Mudd, in the Fifth Maryland district, takes the place of Barnes Compton. Mr. Mudd, however, will serve but one term, as the Maryland Legislature has so gerrymandered the State that only one Republican can be elected hereafter, and he from the Hagerstown district. Senator Gorman took mighty good care of his heelers when he prepared that apportionment
