STATE DELEGATE.
We are authorized to announce JAMES D. DAVIS, of Tionesta, as a candidate for Delegate to the Republican State Convention.

STATE DELEGATE.
It is neither a condition nor a theory that confronts Mr. Cleveland just now. Rather, it is one of our prize intellectual sluggers, whose name is Dan.

STATE DELEGATE.
EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has secured a quiet retreat for the Summer. For quietness in all the broad significance of the term, however, it can never compare with the one to which he was elected in the cold Fall of 1888.

STATE DELEGATE.
A STORY is printed from Washington to the effect that the friends of ex-President Cleveland have persuaded ex-Congressman Scott to draw out of the fight against Wallace. This is rather startling news and probably has no basis. Mr. Scott has not been in the fight against Wallace for a month, and the announcement that these two Democrats had an understanding came by the way of Erie several weeks ago. Mr. Wallace's troubles will not come from Scott anywhere near as much as they will from the close friends of Democrats who have been running for office in Pennsylvania in the last ten years without any assistance from Mr. Wallace. These are things not easy to forget.—Phila. Press.

STATE DELEGATE.
The Clayton-Breckenridge investigation at Little Rock has developed the fact that negroes are allowed to vote in some districts of Arkansas. They vote the Republican ticket, or intend to, but by some metamorphosis the ticket is transmuted into a Democratic ballot before it is counted. In the White river precinct, investigated Friday, the election officers found the result to be 210 votes for Breckenridge and 44 for Clayton, but about 75 negroes told the investigators that they voted for Clayton at the polls of that precinct. In Arkansas a number is written on a ticket corresponding to the number opposite the name of the voter on the poll books, so that it is easy to ascertain the ticket cast by each voter. In nearly all the cases where a negro unable to read had cast his vote, the ballot produced was a straight Democratic one. These disclosures recall Boss Tweed's famous remark that he cared not how elections were held, so that he could count the votes.

Next Republican Convention.

The meeting of the Republican State Committee in Philadelphia, on Wednesday of last week, was a largely attended and enthusiastic one. Every county in the State was represented. Hon. C. A. Randall was present from Forest. Wednesday, June 25th, was the time fixed for the next Republican State Convention, and Harrisburg was selected as the place. Among the other transactions the Committee unanimously passed the following resolutions amid great enthusiasm:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Republican State Committee are due to Hon. W. H. Andrews for the faithful and skillful performance of his duties as chairman and that this committee heartily congratulate him upon the result of the campaign of 1889.

Resolved, That the State Committee of Pennsylvania recognize the indecent conduct of Representatives Allen and Spinola, in the National House of Representatives, yesterday, only as a fuller development of a plot upon the part of leading Democrats to assail the public and private reputations of the members of the Republican National Committee. The selection of Senator Quay as the most prominent object of this conspiracy, the outrageous assaults upon his character by leading Democratic papers in New York City, and finally the act of Tammany's chief representative in spreading their scandalous publications upon the records of the House, calls for the unqualified condemnation of all men who have any regard for reputations and character. The people of Pennsylvania have twice passed upon these charges, in 1888, when, in the face of their presentation, they gave to Senator Quay, the candidate for State Treasurer, the maximum Republican majority, and subsequently, after distinguished and honored services, elected him to the United States Senate with greater unanimity than ever before accompanied the selection of any man for that position. The extent of his offending is that he has, as Chairman of the National Committee, prevented a repetition of the frauds which in New York and Brooklyn gave Cleveland a false title to the Presidency in 1884, and the future purpose of the conspiracy is so plain that "he who runs may read."

History is repeating itself in the hall of the National House, where partisan rancor once before did palpable injustice to one of the most distinguished sons of Pennsylvania, in the person of General Cameron.

The House subsequently expunged a record which was but evidence of its former injustice, and while the record yesterday was made against its will, and under the privilege of a free-erater from Mississippi and a direct representative of Tammany, we ask the Republicans of the House to see that the character of the National Chairman shall not long suffer under this or any other form of assault which these who have now stepped into public view as partisan conspirators may select.

That the State Committee conveys its thanks to the newspapers of Pennsylvania, which have, with one or two unworthy exceptions, wholly discontinued the publications of the Democratic party of New York.

Next to the vote of the people given twice to unprecedented heartiness in answer to these charges our newspapers reflect the public sentiment, and through their refusal to encourage any of the methods of this conspiracy, show the contempt which all feel who are not chronic revellers in political and private scandals.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
From our regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, April 25, 1890.

The President evidently values the preconcerted Democratic attacks upon Senator Quay for about what they are worth, as within the past forty-eight hours Mr. Quay has been cordially received at the White House and his advice asked upon several important state matters. The principal cause of the Democratic dislike of Mr. Quay is fear of him as a political manager. Mr. Quay is all right, and will remain so, despite the barking of the little curs.

Gen. John C. Fremont, who has just been placed, by act of Congress, on the retired list of the army with the rank of Major-General, arrived here this week. He found more than two thousand messages of congratulation awaiting him.

Secretary Blaine regrets very much that the members of the Three America's Congress did not go South, but he could not compel them to do so.

Representative Cannon made some of the Democratic members of the House who pose as economists feel very bad by telling that when the Democrats controlled the House these fellows would get up with economical protestations and have certain appropriations struck out of bills and then when the bill went to the Republican Senate these same men would privately request the Senators to add amendments they had stricken out in the House.

The tariff bill will be taken up in the House between the 1st and the 10th of May. The Democrats have refused to accede to the Republican proposition to limit the debate to six days, but the bill will be passed by the House before the first of June, and there will be no delay in the Senate, as the Senate Finance committee has already begun work on the bill so as to be prepared for it when it passes the House.

The President has procured copies of all bills providing for the erection of public buildings, and is carefully examining each of them to see what there is in the cry of "extravagance" raised by the Democratic press.

Senator Mitchell made a ringing speech on his proposition to elect Senators by direct vote of the people, and he poured a terrific broad side into the secret sessions of the Senate. He concluded with: "The people demand a voice in the election of Senators and they demand further that their proceedings shall be public and open to all the world."

Representative Grosvenor took occasion when discussing the appropriation for the Civil Service commission to express his opinion of that law: "I do not believe," he said "that the civil service law and its administration is approved by one-fifth of the members of either House of Congress." He also said that the law was a fraud upon the people of the country.

The World's Fair bill having become a law the Chicago folks have gone home to "hustle."
