I retire from the field after several months bard work with my labor for my pains. This town is fine enough to booze, but the express office has the call as the medium of procuring it. My original package venture did not pan out as I had hoped. I sold a great deal of tamarack, and gave four tin cups with each keg, free of charge, but Congress, with a perversity well known as a characteristic of that body, kicked the prop from under the Fuller soft snap, and left me high and dry, and my with his Jewish nasal appendage be-I leave the town. -Ou Saturday night last Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Boyard received the very sad intelligence of the death by accident of Mr. James McElhaney, whose wife is a sister of Mrs. Bovard, and paid her a visit about six weeks ago. The accident occurred near Petersville, Butler county, on Saturday morning, the particulars of which are given in a disputch from Butler, as follows: "James McElhaney, a prominent producer known all over the oil urday morning, reaching there about 10 o'clock. He was assisting to draw the rods, when by some mishap the tubing line became entangled around the sucker rod board above, causing it to come crashing down through the derrick. Mr. McElbancy heard the crash and exclaimed, "Look out boys," involuntary ducked his head forward, the board coming end first struck him squarely on the back of his head, crushing in the base of his skull and breaking his neck. Death was insuit or overcoat too long, but go to stantaneous, and his hand, when picked up, held in death grip the reverse and the sad intelligence conveyed to his family. The body was taken to his home in Butler last evening. Mr. McElhaney had operated in the Millerstown and Bradford fields and had accumulated quite a fortune. He moved his family from Millerstown to Butler little more than a year ago. He was 40 years of age and leaves a wife and two grown up children and a death." Mr. and Mrs. Boyard left on Sunday for the scene of the distressing occurrence, and were present at the funeral.

OBITUARY.

CHARLES E. LANDERS.

Charles Eben Landers, one of the most highly respected citizens of Neill town, Harmony township, this county, died at his home on Tuesday, Oct. 14, 1890, of typhoid fever. He had been sick for some time but had so far recovered as to be able to leave his bed, when he was taken with a relapse which ended in his death as above noted. Mr. Landers was born, Aug. 4, 1849, upon the farm on which he of Peter and Caroline Landers, the former a native of Eastern N. Y., and the latter the first white child bern in Cassadaga, N. Y. In 1839 they settled in Harmony township, and cleared and improved the farm above men-Mr. Landers was reared on the old homestead where he has always resided. On May 11, 1880, he was married to Miss Emma L. Demun, who died March 1, 1881. January 4, 1887, he married Berdie V. Bromley, who, with three children, survives him. The deceased held many responsible offices in his township, all of which he discharged with fidelity and great eredit. He was a member of the Presbyterian church, and lived an wife and friends have the assurance of the tenderest sympathy of the entire community in this great loss.

NELSON G. BALL.

Nelson G. Ball was born at East Hickory, Pa., April 28th, 1827, and died near Pithole, Oct. 14, 1890, aged 63 years, 5 months and 16 days.

Mr. Ball was one among the old landmarks of Forest county. He was a son of Isaac and Sally (Manross) Ball, and when a young man, in 1848, entered into co-partnership with his father and built a grist mill at East Hickory. In 1863 he bought his father's interest in the mill, and also a portion of the old homestead containing the buildings, and after the death of his father he bought the remaining portion of the farm on the east side of Hickory creek. In 1885 he sold the grist mill and farm to Thos. J. B.w. man. A few years later he bought the Clinton M. Ball farm on Pithole, which was the once celebrated oil farm, in Pithole's palmiest days, where and picked up a club to hasten his departhe resided to the day of his demise. Dre. Aurilla, his youngest. Mr. and Mrs. Ball, for many years were members of the M. E. Church, and about ten years ago united with the Free Methodist Church, where Mr. Ball was imbued with many spiritual blessings, and builded up in a most holy faith. He had been a sufferer the cradle was found with its brains beaten from Bright's disease of the kidneys out. Four children in the sleeping room for the past twelve years, making life up stairs were found similarly mangled to him a burthen, yet he was always cheerful and seldom a murmur was in the fire-place of the wash house, in allowed to escape his lips. His suffering was borne with a Christian fortitude, and with a resignation that foretold a well spent life. The writer was present at his bedside when the Ministering Angel came to welcome his spirit across the "swellings of Jordan." Truly it is a gain to die in the Lord.

NEWSY NOTES.

The post office at Cambridge was entered one night recently, the safe blown open and $250,00 worth of postage stamps and $35 in cash taken. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the deed.

Eighteen thousand acres of timber 'in Elk county were on the 2d inst. conveyed from J. K. P. Hall, of Ridgway; A. Kaul, of St. Mary's, and Sampson Short, of North East, to S. S. Bullis, of Olean. The purchase price was $369,000. The tract is heavily timbered with hemlock and va rious kinds of hard woods, and is perhaps the largest virgin tract remaining of the famous "Pennsylvania hemlock belt."

Mohawk's Awful Crime.

The recent death of James Wigton, of Cranberry township, Venango county, at memorable tragedy with which his name was connected. He was a man of powerful frame, a typical backwoodsman, and he lived in Slipperyrock township, Butler county, near what is known as the Stone House, until an event occurred which cast a gloomy shadow on all his future life, An account of the tragedy that thrilled and horrified all this part of the country is thus condensed by the Franklin News; On the last Saturday of June, 1843, an Indian known as Sam Mohawk, who had passed down the road to Butler from the upper lumbering country some days previous, came to the Stone House on the stage on Friday, late in the evening. In Butler he had been acting suspiciously, On his arrival at the hotel, without a knock or a warning, he passed up stairs into the room where the landlord, Mr. Sill, was sleeping. Sill ordered him out the Stone House, as he was seen going up the road early the next morning. He went directly to the house of James Wig-

Mrs. Wigton and her five small children were alone in the house. Just what passed there no one was left to tell. Before the return of the husband, Lemuel Davis, who with his wife and son, had come to help Wigton with his hoeing, entered the house and beheld a scene such as no pen can deplet. Mrs. Wigton was found lying in a pool of blood. Evidently she had not vielded her own life and the lives of her children without a struggle. One of her hands was cut nearly off as though a knife had been forcibly drawn through it. It is supposed that she tried to defend herself with a butcher knife which was found near by, stained with blood. Her babe in and dead. A stone which had been used place of an Iron, was found covered with blood. This had been the instrument of death in the hands of the fiendish savage, Mr. Davis aroused the neighbors, and soon more than a hundred excited people were at the seege, It was soon learned that the Indian had been at Joseph Kennedy's and had thrown a stone at young Joseph. Mohawk was hotly pursued and ran to Philip Keister's house. There were no men about the place, and the women, who were already informed of the murder, hastened to leave the house. The Indian entered and ran up stairs. The pursuers rushed after him, and one of the number, Mr. Blair, was knocked down by a stone thrown by the savage. Next an attempt was made to get a dog up stairs, but to no

At last, several of the men, carrying a board over their heads, to keep off the missiles of Mohawk, made a rush up the stairway, seized the Indian, overpowered him and tied him with bedcord. Then they led him to the house where the mangled bodies of his victims lay. He acknowledged his guilt but said nobody could prove it.
