Don't Overlook This.

This week most of our subscribers will receive a sample copy of the Philadelphia Weekly Press, a splendid ten-page, mammoth paper, containing enough reading matter to keep an ordinary man busy a whole week.

The State Board of Health has issued a circular to the clergymen of the State in which it asks those of them who live in cities and boroughs to urge the municipal authorities to adopt an ordinance relating to public funerals.

Mrs. Rachel McIntyre, of Sigel, Jefferson county, mother of Mrs. Pritzer Agnew, Mrs. M. Hepler, and Mr. John Saylor, is paying her children a visit expecting to remain during the winter.

Mr. A. F. Tuttle advertises by posters, at West Hickory, Pa., Saturday, Dec. 13, next, a public sale of two heavy work teams, one driving horse, one heavy wagon, one passenger hack, two spring wagons, one buggy, two set double harness, three single harness, and many other articles.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Shriver, for the past ten years residents of Kansas, came back to their old home on Friday last, to remain a year.

The ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps of this place desire to express their heartfelt thanks to the public for the splendid patronage given them at their late festival at the Rink.

It is with infinite satisfaction that I state the fact that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has been long used in my family and always with marked success.

—Harris & Forrester's Lyceum Theatre Co. gave two excellent shows at Landers' opera house, on Monday and Tuesday evenings, and to-night will give another equally fine.

The house was well filled both nights, and should be while the troupe remains here, the balance of the week, not only because the performances are well worth the admission fee, but because they deserve well of our citizens, the men folks having turned out at the fire Monday morning and did noble work.

TIONESTA'S BIGGEST BLAZE!

Three of her Main Business Blocks Licked up by the Fiery Elements.

Monday morning last, between the hours of 2 and 3 o'clock the cry of fire was heard in our borough, and of course in a very few moments almost the entire populace was on the run.

The women, like ministering angels, passed around hot coffee during the fire, which was most stimulating to the exhausted workers, and went far toward keeping up their spirits.

The M. E. Church, just south of Bovard's, had a very narrow escape. The snow on the roof and the brick wall helped to protect the edifice, although the cornice and bell tower were somewhat scorched.

During all this time the flames were spreading very rapidly, and the work of fighting them with all the persistency of determined men was bravely carried on.

Mr. Barnett tells us he intends to resume in a short time. A subscription was raised for Mr. Ralle, which has given him some temporary relief.

The Oil City Blizzard says: In response to a message from Tionesta, about 4 o'clock this morning, the Fire Department was ready to put a steamer and detachment on the cars when notice was received that the fire was under control.

Prof. Barrett of St. Lawrence county, N. Y., speaking of pulmonary disease, says: "Not one death occurs now where twenty died before Downs' Elixir was known."

Don't suffer with indigestion, use Baxter's Mandrake Bitters. For sale at Bovard's.

The reason why Arnica & Oil Liniment is so popular with the ladies is because it is only very healing and soothing but it odor is not at all offensive.

A SPLENDID OPPORTUNITY. Our combination with the Philadelphia Weekly Press affords an opportunity for obtaining an immense amount of reading matter at a very low price.

materials, about $150, with no insurance.

Edward McKean, operator of the gallery, also sustained a loss of about $150.

Dr. J. L. Acomb, loss on building $1,500; no insurance.

Joseph Clark's furniture, although carefully handled, was still damaged considerably.

G. W. Bovard, loss on building $2,500; insurance $1,000; net loss $1,500.

Mrs. Bovard's loss on millinery goods was quite extensive, but we have no estimate of it.

Mr. Butler, who occupies the little building to the north of Barnett's store, removed all his household effects, but the building did not burn, although considerably charred.

Altogether the fire was the worst our town has yet had, and considering the limited means the borough has to fight fire, it is fortunate it was no worse, as it might have been.

The women, like ministering angels, passed around hot coffee during the fire, which was most stimulating to the exhausted workers, and went far toward keeping up their spirits.

The male members of the Lyceum Theatre Co. turned in and worked like beavers. One of them seemed to have had experience at the business of fighting fire, and showed exceptional bravery.

It would be unjust to single out this or that one as having done well where all did their duty so nobly, with one or two exceptions perhaps.

Mr. Bovard has moved his stuff into the room formerly occupied by Herman & Siggins, in the Kepler block, corner of Bridge and Elm Sts., where he will continue his business until he can rebuild, which he intends doing as soon as the weather will permit.
