

SHOULD Reed and Rusk be the nominees in '92, the anti-temperance people would refer to it as the Tom and Jerry ticket.

SENATOR PEPPER and Congressman Simpson predict that the Farmers' Alliance will put a Presidential ticket in the field in 1891. As both Pepper and Simpson are candidates for the nomination, they will do their best to have their prophecy fulfilled.

THERE comes from Chicago the news that work on the world's fair building will be begun within the next ninety days. They had better do something out there. Up to date they have all been hard at work "getting a move on." Now let them shovel dirt.

THE New York Sun is hedging on Hill for President and now looks askance at Senator Gorman. It is gradually getting its eyes Pennsylvania-ward, and then it will be Governor Pattison's turn. In the meantime our Governor is sawing real hard Democratic old hickory wood, and is not saying a word.

DEMOCRATIC journals are enthusiastic in the cause of placing further constitutional safeguards about the ballot-box in States where they are in the minority. In States where they are in the majority they are content with that system which will keep them in power with the smallest waste of powder and shot.

How many people know that the present silver law is practically free coinage of all silver produced by American mines, that is to say, that the 4,500,000 ounces of silver bullion which the Treasury Department is compelled by law to buy each month is more than the average amount produced by all of the American mines? That shows how unfriendly the Republican party is to silver, doesn't it?

A FREE TRADE editor says: "We would like to know how taxing a laboring man on everything from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet is going to enrich him?" That free trade editor shouldn't want to know so many things that are not so. Next thing he'll want to know why so many American laborers go to England to secure work because laborers' wages over there are two-thirds less than in this country. — Norristown Herald.

HENRI WATTERSON used a swear word in his newspaper to express his joy that the Fifty-first Congress was dead. The chances are that he will have far more temptation to profanity before the first session of the Fifty-second Congress is completed. Colonel Watterson further astonished his readers by informing them that the late Congress was "most unrepentant." Then what in the name of all that is Democratic will he call the Fifty-second Congress?

BEN BUTLER is of the sanguinary opinion that another war is about due in this country. He says: "Unless the inexorable logic of history is about to fall, the time when we will have the next war on our hands is not far off. With whom, or about what it will be, I do not attempt to say. It may be slow and somewhat out of time in coming, but that come it will is the certain lesson of all our history. It may solve the Canadian problem, or it may not have nothing to do with it."

ONE O. K. Paxton is a resident of White Springs, Florida. One Morrison, a Republican, was appointed postmaster of the town. Paxton put up a conspiracy by which Morrison was thrown into jail and prevented from serving as postmaster. Morrison brought suit, the United States took a hand in the matter, and on the trial Mr. Paxton was convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000. Served him right. Paxton belongs to a class of Southern fire-eaters who need a lesson once in a while, and he will have to take his dose, as the court has refused a new trial.

THERE are people, says the Richmond, Me., Bee, who seem to believe that they can be saved without paying their debts or restoring stolen property. A chap of this description recently addressed the following communication to a music dealer in St. John: "Seven years ago I stole a concertina from your workshop, which was getting repaired. Some time ago I joined the Salvation Army, and Christ has pardoned all my sins. I think it right I should let you know. May God bless you and meet me in heaven." A man who is too mean to pay for a stolen concertina isn't likely to make an angel who may be safely trusted with a golden harp. — Blizzard.

The Democrats in control of the New Jersey Legislature seem to have concluded to do a little gerrymandering, just to be in harmony with the Democratic Legislatures elsewhere. It is proposed to so district the State that the Republicans shall not be able to elect more than two of the seven Congressmen. That is all that were elected last Fall, but ordinarily the delegation has been pretty fairly divided. But there is to be no more chance of that under the proposed Democratic gerrymander. Those sensitive and fair minded Democratic papers which are so terribly shocked by the way in which Republican Legislatures make Congressional districts will have no time to take any notice of the progress of Democratic events in New Jersey. Republican Legislatures ought to be getting some valuable lessons from these Democratic bodies.

We desire to specially call the attention of our Democratic free trade friends to a few solid facts, which like all other facts present the only convincing argument known to poor weak doubting human nature: When the McKinley bill was pending, and indeed after it had become a law, you insisted that it was absurd to put a tariff on linen, because this country could not build and successfully operate linen mills. The tariff was put on linen, and the result is, that three linen mills are already in operation in the New England States, while others are being built and equipped as rapidly as possible at Minneapolis, Minn.; at Eau Claire, Wis., and at Sioux Falls, South Dakota. So much for one free trade prediction. Now, for another. All during the last campaign the workingmen were told by Democratic editors and orators that the tariff on tin plates put a tax upon his dipper and dinner bucket, notwithstanding they knew, or should have known, that the tin plate section of the McKinley bill would not become a law until July 1, 1891. Now for the effect of that law upon American industries. Before its enactment not a pound of tin plate was made in the United States, now American Mills are turning it out by the ton and more than a dozen large mills are in process of erection in various sections of the country, and the tin mines in this country are being for the first time profitably worked, and, most important of all, the price of tin plate is to-day, in Chicago and New York, twenty per cent. less than it was last September, and dealers are predicting that it will be still cheaper after the new mills get to work. This isn't a campaign bluster, but it is a plain statement of hard, solid facts, which can be fully proven.
