

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

COUNTY.

Delegate to Constitutional Convention, E. L. DAVIS.

District Attorney, P. M. CLARK.

Auditor, JOHN A. DAWSON.

Coroner, Dr. C. C. RUMBERGER.

Mrs. SARAH POLK, widow of President James K. Polk, died at her home in Nashville, Tenn., Thursday, Aug. 14, 1891. She was aged 85 years.

Two great men passed away last week. Hon. James Russell Lowell, and George Jones, the founder and publisher of the N. Y. Times, both died on the same day.

"WHAT is the matter with Blaine?" asks an esteemed contemporary. A good many of our esteemed contemporaries are worried for fear there isn't anything the matter with him.

TARIFF PICTURES.—The "doubler" in the English sheet iron mills, where they make black sheets for tin plate, receives, $1.92 per day. In Pittsburgh the doubler gets $3.85 per day.—New York Press.

OATS in Iowa run to 70 bushels to the acre and weigh 40 pounds to the bushel. The Republicans feel their oats as they contemplate the crop and the assistance it will give them in knocking the Democrats into the middle of next week.

MR. CLEVELAND warns his New York friends that if he has to fight for every delegate he gets in New York, he is going to quit. He is above wrangling over little things. This is very topical on Mr. Cleveland's part, but it shuts him out of the race for the Presidential nomination.

If present indications are not at fault it will not be long before the democratic contest for Speaker of the House will develop into a free fight, in which all of the democratic members of the House may take a part without being compelled to leave their brass knuckles, razors or revolvers at home. Republicans should keep their hands off and let the fight be to a finish.

SENATOR GORMAN was red hot in favor of free coinage of silver when he thought the passage of such a bill through Congress would embarrass the republican President; but when a proposition was made to insert a free coinage plank in the Maryland democratic platform the other day he squelched it in short order. Votes, not principles are the regulators of Gorman's conduct.

THE New York Evening Post unwittingly gives away the free trade case by saying that if we had ships we could not run them, for the wages on American vessels are just double what they are on European vessels. The same fact would apply to other enterprises if it were not for the tariff; either wages would have to come down or we would have to quit business.—Home Market Bulletin.

THE main question in Ohio seems to be whether the long headed farmers will allow themselves to be cajoled by demagogues of the Jerry Simpson stripe into deposing Senator Sherman, a statesman whose career will furnish lessons in the great science of finance to generations yet unborn, and whose place in history will shed much lustre upon the great State of Ohio, as one of her most illustrious sons.

It is talked about in the inner Democratic circles that Mr. Gorman, who is spoken of for President, is really in favor of Governor Pattison receiving the nomination. Mr. Gorman recognizes that as a distinctive Southern man his candidacy would jeopardize his party. He, therefore, turns from Cleveland and Hill, and the lesser candidates, to Pattison who has everything in his favor. Gorman has the reputation of being the shrewdest Democrat in the country. He is the William F. Harry of Maryland.

EX-SENATOR INGALLS never spoke truer words than when he said in a recent lecture: "I urge as one of the medicines for the diseases of the future, intelligent partisanship." We heartily agree with him in commending "intelligent partisanship;" this country owes to that source every step forward that has been taken in its matchless march of progress and prosperity; it is not the milk and water men who accomplish things in this world, but the partisan, who honestly believes in something, and zealously advocates that something at all times.

OWING to the great demand for two dollar notes and the lack of time to get the plate ready for the new design which has been adopted for these notes, because of the counterfeiting of the old design, the Treasury department has given the Bureau of Engraving and Printing orders to print 1,000,000 notes from the old plate, which has a vignette of Gen. Hancock. The new design, which will be used as soon as it can be got ready, has a vignette of the late Secretary Windom.

THE most eloquent testimony in behalf of the McKinley bill, the baleful influence which it has exercised over the trade of England and its directly opposite effect on the trade of the United States, comes, not from the Republican newspapers of this country, but from the large and influential journals of London, Sheffield, and Birmingham, which are, after all, probably the most competent, though not disinterested, judges in the matter. Their views on the principal measure enacted by the Fifty-first Congress carry their own significance. Yet they will receive no notice from the Democratic and Mugwump press, unless it be to pronounce them forgeries. The enemy has no time for impartial testimony. It is too busily engaged in fabricating testimony for campaign use only.

THAT Anglo-maniacal free trade paper, the New York Times, the other day printed the following in its advertising columns:

Wanted—Tin plate rollers and helpers who are familiar with the business; wages double the price per box paid in England for the same work. Call or address office of St. Louis Stamping Co., 96 Beekman Street, New York, or at the works, St. Louis, Mo.

The American workingman will note that the wages to be paid in America are double those paid in England. Just blame this on the McKinley bill, and then send the tin-plate liar to the land of his fellows. How it does gall the average free trader to be compelled to acknowledge that tin-plate is made in this country, and the men who make it receive big wages.

AN exchange makes a "don't" to the effect that it is unhealthy to attach a wire clothes line to the house because "it will attract lightning," and bases its deduction on the recent case in Franklin. As this was the only fatal case out of thousands where wires of all sorts and kinds have been affixed to buildings, it looks as if the prohibition was somewhat hasty. We refer to this suggestion more especially because it is typical of a lot of "don'ts" and "do's" commands of which there is an epidemic at times and which are current always. Some one sees a happening and notes a previous fact that he thinks was a cause, and rushes into print with a vehement warning against the fact, thing or whatever. Somewhere else another person sees a happening averted under similar conditions, grasps on the most apparent fact in connection with it, gallops off to the nearest newspaper and recommends what the first has condemned. This obtains especially in the care of the body, and ignoring the fact that every man must make his own rules for the regulation of his physical being, each one strives to enforce on all the world his own manner of living, and the would-be disciple grows dizzy in the contemplation of the prescription and prohibition of the same formula.—Derriek.

HON. CHARLES S. WOLFE died of heart disease, suddenly, on Thursday afternoon of last week, while attending a meeting of the State Commission of the World's Fair, of which he had just been elected the executive head. Mr. Wolfe was born at Lewisburg, Union county, April 6th, 1845. He was chosen in 1872 to represent the counties of Union and Snyder in the lower house of the General Assembly, and was re-elected to represent Union county. He took an active part in preparing the legislation for carrying into effect the provisions of the new constitution and was again re-elected for the session of 1875-76. He made himself prominent at that session by conduct of the Boom bill investigation, which resulted in the trial and expulsion of Lynott, of Luzerne, and Emil J. Petroff, of Philadelphia. In 1876 he was unanimously nominated by Union county for the State Senate, but was beaten in the conference and the Republicans were defeated at the polls. In 1879 he was again elected to the House. Mr. Wolfe was also prominent in his opposition to the Pittsburgh riot bill, and in 1882 he managed the campaign for Stewart, the Independent Republican candidate for Governor. In 1881 he announced himself as an independent candidate for State Treasurer and polled 49,484 votes. In 1886 he was the Prohibition candidate for Governor, and polled 32,458 votes.

A Word About Catarrh. It is the mucus membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established it eats into the very vitals and renders life a long-drawn breath of misery and diseases dulling the sense of hearing, transmuting the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assails the membranous lining and envelopes the bones, eating the delicate coals, causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient and all alleviations are simply procrustean sufferings, leading to a fatal termination. The doctors have, by a treatment local and constitutional, made the cure of this dread disease a certainty, and has never failed. Even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions, hearing, smell and taste have been recovered and the disease thoroughly driven out.
