"Keep it out of the paper" is the cry which the local newspaper publisher daily hears. To oblige often costs considerable, though the party who make the request ported by Miss Guenther and adopted as thinks the granting scarcely worth saying "thank you" for. A newspaper is a peculiar article in the public's eye, The cause he does not get another. Young men and often young women, as well as older, perform acts which become legitimate items for publication and then rush to the newspaper offices to beg the editors not to notice their escapades. The next day they condemn the same paper for not meeting, which resulted in the election of having published another party doing the office. The subscriber expects to read the news, and there is always wonder when, for charity's sake, an item on the street and in everybody's mouth is not found in the next issue of the paper .- Er.
