Get Ready to Vote.

The Republicans of Forest county should thoroughly organize and make all necessary arrangements to poll the full party vote on the third of November. County Committeemen in each district should call meetings of their fellow Republicans and arrange to systematically canvass their districts, with the end in view of polling every Republican vote. Don't delay this work. Only four weeks intervene before the election and it will be necessary to improve every opportunity in order to perfect the organization.

The contest this year is the skirmish preliminary to the great Presidential contest of 1892, and it is essential to Republican success next year that the party should be given the vantage in Chili, whatever the cost may be ground which victory at the polls on the third of November will certainly secure. The Republican ticket, State and county, is worthy of the support of all electors, and should be elected by 50,000 plurality. Now is the time

THAT prices go down instead of up under a protective tariff is very disavainly seek to show that it must mean lower instead of higher wages. The manager of a Massachusetts cotton falsity of Democratic assertion on this subject. With 50,000 spindles running continuously the Massachusetts mill would produce 17,500,000 yards per yard. In other words, it costs pounds. one-half cent more per yard to run three-quarters time than full time. Under the McKinley act the woolen and various other mills are able to run full time and to sell at lower prices than before, and still pay the same wages. That is the whole story in a nutshell -Phila. Press.

Ir is said that "Roswell P. Flower's candidacy is not stirring up the neceseary amount of enthusiaem among certain Democratic leaders of New York city." The reason is plain. The Flower hasn't shed the "necessary" golden petals.

The Constitutional Convention.

Unless something unforseen occurs the Constitutional Convention will be a fixed fact. This is not because any one is particularly in favor of it. It grows out of a very little circumstance -the printing of the tickets. The Constitutional Convention act of June 19th, 1891, does not contain in any of its sections anything relating to the printing of tickets. It was understood, when the act was under discussion, any price party, the anti-equal suffrage that a clause would be inserted dele. party, the free trade party, the pro Engating the printing of ballots to the State. For some reason this part was just about as true to the national inforgotten. It is generally conceded by those who have given the matter their attention, that this omission will lead to the adoption of the project at the period of the polls. At the general elections, the political parties supply the tickets, but this year neither party has sufficient interest in the convention to pay for the printing of tickets for or against it. In some States, when such a matter came to be voted on, both parties agreed to print at the bottom the polls. At the general elections, parties agreed to print at the bottom old party, and is too old to learn to be of their ballots the words "For a Constitutional Convention" and "Against a Constitutional Convention," leaving the voter to take his choice. Under the voter to take his choice. Under the voter to take his choice. Under the convention of the voter to take his choice. are candidates for delegates to the convention will supply the polls liberally with tickets declaring for a convention, and they will supply no other tickets. They will see also that the workers distribute their ballots. These candidates will be relied upon to put money in the campaign in order to secure the adoption of the proposition and their own election. Unless some one puts money in to pay for tickets and workers against the convention it cannot help being carried. - Harrisburg Telegraph

Very few people seem to be in favor of holding the convention, but unless they vote against it there is a good chance for its adoption. Voters should be on the alert.

THE President has once more shown himself worthy of being at the head of an administration that believes its first duty to be the protection of American interests, abroad as well as at home. There was no unnecessary fuss or bluster about it, but as soon as the news was received last week that the Chilian Junta had arrested American citizens and surrounded the residence of the United States minister to that country with an armed guard, the President directed the Acting Secretary of State to cable Minister Egau to demand the immediate release of the American citizens arrested and the removal of the guard from around the U.S. legation, and in the event of refusal to call on Captain Schley of the U. S. S. Baltomore for protection. There were other intricate questions which have at various times been the subject of important diplomatic controversies between nations, but the President said in effect: These are side issues that may bereafter be determined through the regular diplomatic channels, what we must have at once is respect for our representative There is little doubt that European influences were behind this silly at tempt on the part of the temporary Chilian government to put an affront upon the United States, but those in fluences, strong as they are, were not strong enough to hold up the Chilian backbone when Minister Egan communicated the President's vigorous and not to be misunderstood language to greeable to the Democrats, and they the Junta, and his demands were at once acceded to. The so-called Chilian legation in this city took no part in this matter for the very simple reason factory has furnished from the books that it has never been officially recogof his mill another illustration of the nized by this Government, not having yet presented proper credentials.

It is the mucus membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarris makes its stronghold. Once established it cats into the very vitats and renders life a long-drawn breath of misery and diseases dulling the sense of hearing, trammeling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membraneus lining and envelopes the bones, eating the delicate coats, causing inflammation, sloughing and death.
