—Items of a personal or local interest are always thankfully received at this office. It is next to impossible for a newspaper man to keep track of everything that happens in a community of local interest, therefore we ask our friends to aid us as much as possible in this direction.
—The funeral of Mrs. Anna J. Hunter, whose death we mentioned last week, took place from her late residence at Nebraska, on Thursday last, the interment being in the Evangelical church cemetery, German Hill. Mrs. Hunter's exact age was 42 years, 10 months and 18 days.
—Mr. Mark Noble, an old-time resident of this place, died at his home in Galesburg, Ill., on the 1st of September, aged 65 years. Mr. Noble was identified with the early progress of this section, and deserves more than a passing notice, which we hope to be able to give in our next issue.
—Judge A. Cook has gone to Lower California, upon the advice of his physicians, in the hope of benefitting his health, which has been poorly for some time past. His large circle of Forest county friends will hope for the best results from his change of climate, and a speedy restoration to health.
—R. R. Dunbar, of the Iron City Lumber Co., whose plant is situated at Nash, Forest county, was a visitor at Clarion this week. Mr. Dunbar, accompanied by his wife and son, will leave for California next week, hoping that the climate may be of benefit to the health of Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar. —Clarion Democrat.
—Chestnuts, this year's crop, are small and wormy. Still, there seems to be some in the woods. One of our dealers informs us he has already bought and shipped over fifty bushels. —Franklin News. That's about the size of 'em up in this section—small and wormy; but still some chestnuts. Enough, at least, for home consumption.
—The dwelling house of Mr. Brown, at Marienville, was almost totally destroyed by fire on Monday forenoon of this week. By hard work his household effects were mostly saved, and then the men turned in with a determined will and saved the walls of the building, the roof and inside being entirely burned out. His loss was partially covered by insurance.
—We are in receipt of a very handsomely illustrated pamphlet descriptive of the thriving cities of Ashland and Washburn, Wisconsin, for which we have to thank our old friend Dr. Coburn, who now resides in the latter city. Among the illustrations is one giving a view of the Doctor's own residence and office, with a very lifelike picture of himself and his excellent wife "swinging on the gate."
—By order of Judge Taylor, of this county, and Judge Henderson, of Crawford county, Wm. Hilands, Esq., of Venango, George Long, Esq., of Crawford, and Samuel D. Irwin, Esq., of Forest county, have been appointed commissioners to ascertain and mark the boundary line between Crawford and Venango counties. The commission was appointed on petition of F. Goldhart and other citizens. —Franklin News.
—One-half of the judicial muddle in the Clarion Jefferson district has been simplified by the nomination, by the Democrats, of Heath Clark, Esq., of Brookville, the candidates having left the matter with three outside parties who made the choice. Now, what the Republicans want to do is to get together and nominate a candidate who will be strong with the people and they will elect him. It looks from this distance as though John W. Reed should be the man.
—Mr. Eugene Dean died at Bellevue, near Pittsburgh, on the 8th inst., of pneumonia. Mr. Dean had been a visitor at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. J. H. Hardison, of this place, on which occasions he made numerous friends who will be pained to learn of his sudden death. He was about 45 years of age, and leaves an invalid wife, sister of Mrs. Hardison, and one daughter, to whom the sympathy of a very large circle of friends goes out in tenderness for the great loss they have sustained.
—The long fight made by the holders of Allegheny Valley Railroad income bonds to prevent the Pennsylvania Railroad Company from getting possession of the Allegheny Valley road, will be peaceably settled without further litigation, says the Franklin News. An agreement has been prepared and will, no doubt, be signed by all of the stockholders, by which the Pennsylvania Company will get full possession of the road. The Allegheny Valley will be made a freight route to the East. Its grade is preferable to the main line. The road bed will be greatly improved, and more passenger and freight trains added. It is generally assumed that the change will be greatly beneficial to the country through which the road passes.

—Grove Bros. are putting down a well on the Frank Monday farm, located on the west side of the river, and about a mile and a half below Tionesta. It is back from the railroad track about a quarter of a mile. They will finish some time next week.
—David, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bible, was relieved of his sufferings yesterday by the silent messenger, Death. The little sufferer had been seriously ill but a short time with convulsions, although from infancy he had been an invalid. The sorrowing parents have the heartfelt sympathy of our entire community in their affliction. The interment will take place at Bellefonte, the former home of the family, who will leave on the four p. m. train to-day.
—On Thursday of last week an accident happened in Betts' saw mill, situated two and a half miles north of Marienville, which resulted fatally. Ruloff Stevens, a young man aged about 21 years, was edging boards, and in some manner a board was caught by the saw and thrown toward him striking him on the abdomen with great force. He was conveyed to his room and medical aid summoned, but his injuries were of such a nature as to make human skill of little avail, and he died on the following day. The young man was a son of J. P. Stevens, whose tragic death in the flames which consumed his dwelling at Newmansville about three years ago is still fresh in the memory of our citizens. His remains were buried at the latter place on Sabbath last, Rev. Rumberger conducting the services.
—Chas. E. Dagenett, President of the delegation from Carlisle, Pa., at the Indian School, who attended the convention of the Y. M. C. A., which closed at Franklin on Sunday night, came up on Monday to see Samuel D. Irwin, Esq., an old acquaintance with his father, Ed. Dagenett, who was an assistant of Mr. Irwin when he surveyed the Indian lands for the Government of the Peoria nation, and a grandson of Baptist Peoria, the famous Chief of the Confederate tribes, who now reside in the Indian Territory. His grandfather was U. S. interpreter for many Indian nations, understanding 7 languages, viz: English, French, Spanish, and four Indian languages. He was a man of remarkable presence—straight as an arrow and about 6 feet tall. Mr. D. intends taking a course in Dickinson College. He is a graduate of the Catholic Government School, and a very promising young man.
—When great preparations were being made in London for the celebration of the Great Queen's Jubilee, loyal citizens anxious to participate were rapidly curing all their aches and pains beforehand, by a generous use of Salvation Oil.

OBITUARY.
DIED—Jennie, wife of Wm. A. Brennan, on October 7, 1891, at Tionesta, Pa., aged 44 years, 2 months, and 27 days.
The funeral took place at East Hickory on Friday following her decease, Rev. Robt. Whitcomb conducting the services. Mrs. Brennan's health had not been good for some time, but such serious results had not been apprehended. Mr. Brennan for a number of years had been a resident of Forest county, he having removed from Mayburg to Tionesta about a year ago.
The deceased leaves a husband and nine children to mourn her loss, the youngest child being 4 years of age. She was a Christian woman and died in the full assurance of a Christian's hope.
Mr. Brennan and his bereaved family have the sincere sympathy of his many friends in the very sad affliction that has come to them.
NEWS NOTES.
Waterford, Erie county, now claims to have a mineral spring of remarkable medicinal qualities, and the place is getting ready to take a hand in straightening up the livers, kidneys and stomach works of mankind.
Ex-President Cleveland said recently in answer to an inquiry regarding the name of the newcomer in his house: "We have settled on a name, and it is 'Ruth.' This was the name of Mrs. Cleveland's grandmother and has always been especially liked by her."
Here is a new and novel method of ascertaining the age of a horse: After a horse is nine years old a wrinkle comes on his eye-lid, at the upper corner of the lower lid, and every year thereafter he has one well-defined wrinkle for each year of his age over nine. If, for instance, a horse has three wrinkles, he is twelve, if four, thirteen. Add the number of wrinkles to nine and you will always get at it. —Erie.
An exchange says that two scamps are reported to be making a living by watching the papers for the stray notices; then going separately to the person who has taken up the animal, identifying it and selling it to him. When a stranger calls regarding an animal you have taken up make him describe the animal before showing it to him and prove himself a responsible person before letting him have it or buying it from him.
Whether you are a faith curist or not, says the Oil City Herald, just think you're all right and as a general thing you will soon feel that way. In proof of this it is said that at Hannibal, Mo., recently, a man bought two pills and put them in his vest pocket. When it came time to take a pill he opened his mouth shut his eyes and gulped one down. He was relieved of his headache and went on his way rejoicing. Afterward, having use for the collar button, he felt in his pocket and found two pills, but no button. Swallow this statement. It may do you good.
A few years ago, notes the Erie Herald, all the oak in the market was cut in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Indiana. Now there is comparatively little left in these States. About all the best is cleared out and now West Virginia and Tennessee furnish the bulk of hardwood lumber, with Memphis the center. From there it is shipped all over the world. Very few people are aware of the many things oak is used for. The finest houses are now finished in natural woods, with oak in the lead. Furniture, the finest, is oak. Ancient furniture made of oak is as good as it was a hundred years ago, and far more desirable. All kinds of staves are oak and no other wood will take its place. Wagon work, since hickory became so scarce, is oak. Railroad ties, bridge timbers and planking are principally oak. Black walnut and cherry have had their day and are nearly out of the market. Oak lumber that a few years ago could be bought in Erie for ten to eighteen dollars is now worth from thirty to sixty dollars, and at the rate that it is being slaughtered will soon be hard to get at any price. Inventors will have to bring out something to take the place of hardwood before long.
