LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.
No Paper Next Week.
 There will be no paper issued from this office next week, on account of holidays. The office will be "open for business," however, and those who would like to square up old accounts and start in the new will find the latch string out. Our next paper will appear on Jan. 6th, 1892. Meantime we wish all a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.
 —Oil market closed yesterday 58c.
 —No paper from this office next week.
 —Representative Towler was a visitor to town this week.
 —Day after to-morrow's Christmas. May it be a happy one to all.
 —Mr. J. B. Pearsall, of Grove City, Pa., was in attendance at court this week.
 —The little sick folk mentioned in our last are all getting better, we are happy to note.
 —Mr. A. W. Cook, of Cookeburg, is this week announced for delegate to the Republican National Convention.
 —The days are now growing longer, but only for the almanacs one would scarcely know it. Tuesday was the shortest.
 —The Methodist and Presbyterian Sabbath schools will each have handsome Christmas trees, with appropriate exercises, to-morrow evening.
 —Attention is directed to the Pittsburg Times ad. in this issue. The Times sells an immense amount of reading matter daily for only one cent.
 —Dr. A. Fisher, Dentist, will be at Cookeburg, during the week of January commencing Monday, the 4th, and all desiring his services should make a note of the time.
 —"What makes that j, y, that meriment?" Rheumatic pains, neuralgic gout, Salvation Oil has put to rout—Salvation Oil, for healing sent, Salvation Oil, the liniment.
 —Perry Hill, having completed his blacksmith shop and gotten regularly to work, asks all in need of anything in his line to give him a call. He guarantees satisfaction.
 —The Mt. Jewett Herald is a new and handsome candidate for public appreciation, and if the first few numbers are an indication of what it is to be in the future it deserves to live and flourish.
 —The Harrisburg Telegraph is the leading and most reliable journal published at the State Capital. All the important news from that quarter is to be found in its columns. See prospectus in this issue.
 —The new reading room in the Hopkins building is now properly in order, and will be open to the public every Saturday evening. All who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity to spend a pleasant hour there are cordially invited to do so.
 —It is with sincerest regret that we are obliged to chronicle the serious illness of our worthy townsman N. S. Foreman. The entire community hopes for his recovery, and would receive news of a turn for the better in his case with greatest pleasure.
 —Among the REPUBLICAN'S welcome callers this week were John Myers, of Strobleton; Postmaster W. M. Coon, of Clarionville; M. C. Carringer, of Marienville; Postmaster Crawford, Pigeon; Constable Campbell, Barnett; A. K. Shipe, Jenks.
 —John C. Holmes, one of the well known conductors on the river division of the W. N. Y. & P. road, died on Friday morning last, from a stroke of paralysis received while on his run from Olean to Oil City the day previous. He leaves a wife and one son.
 —The following from an exchange fits admirably in all communities where newspapers are printed: In closing up your accounts for the year don't forget your newspaper account if you owe anything on it. It is probably for a small amount, if for anything at all, but the many small accounts which most publishers have owing them make an aggregate of a good deal of importance to them. The last of the year is an excellent time to pay up all such matters and start the year square with the publishers.

—Home from school for the holidays: George Robinson, Kenyon College, Ohio; Ben. and Ted. Kelly, Kiskiminetas Springs; Miss Maud Brennan, of Hamilton, Ontario. Expected home this week: Misses Lizzie Randall and Inez Brownell, of Oberlin, Ohio.
 —Bob. Bender was down from West Hickory yesterday and gave the REPUBLICAN a friendly call. Bob is always in a good humor, but on this occasion seemed unusually happy, and when it leaked out that he was contemplating the taking unto himself a better half we could readily understand the reason why.
 —The card of Fred. Grottenberger, machinist, of Tidioute, appears in this issue. Mr. G. is favorably known to many of our business men, who have had very satisfactory dealings with him in the past. He solicits a continuance of the patronage of our mill men and guarantees satisfaction to all who employ his services.
 —John A. Jones, of Nebraska, who is a juror this week, takes the lead, we guess, in this county for heavy weight children. His youngest boy, 21 months old, weighs 31½ pounds, while the youngest girl, 2 years and 10 months, tips the beam at 40 pounds. Both are strong and healthy, and as full of the "old nick" as John himself.
 —According to Assessor D. W. Clark, Davey Hilands has the most valuable piece of horseflesh in these whereabouts. He returned the Mustang at a value of $2000, and as Web is right where he can see the animal every day he couldn't be mistaken as to his worth; at the same time Davey has some notion of making Web take the loss at the assessed valuation.
 —Here is a free ad. for young disciples of Blackstone who want a place to hang out their shingle: "Mt. Jewett, McKean county, Pa., wants an attorney and counsellor at law. There is none there, and the Justice has more than he can do, and will aid any attorney who will settle there. It is said there is income enough to make any young attorney feel proud over it."

—Notice the card of the Forest Hotel, West Hickory, Pa., which appears in this issue. Mr. Bender, the proprietor, is one of the most genial of landlords, and will spare no pains to make his guests feel at home in his house. Everything about the hotel is new from top to bottom, and the traveling public will find it one of the best stopping places in the country, and at reasonable rates.
 —The mystery of the disappearance of William Claak from Walnut Bend, last spring, has been in part cleared up by the receipt of a letter from Clark by his brother-in-law, T. M. Rogers, of Walnut Bend. The letter was written by Clark from Hendricks, Tucker county, West Virginia, and in it he stated that he was alive and well. As he should be conceded good authority on these points the theory held by some of our folk that he had been dropped.—Blizard.
 —The fourth Democrat medal contest will be held in the court house at Tionesta, on Monday evening, Dec. 28th, institute week. This contest is held under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Eight young ladies will speak on the subject of temperance. Three judges will be selected to decide to whom the silver medal shall be awarded after hearing each of the young ladies speak. All are cordially invited to attend. Admission, 15 cents for adults, children 10 cents.
 —The fourth class postmasters throughout the country are making a concerted effort for more efficient mail service and better pay. Every county will send a delegate to Harrisburg on the 29th inst., where a convention will be held to discuss matters and bring the subject before the present Congress for action. Forest county held a convention here yesterday and elected Dr. S. Knox delegate, with Lewis Kiester, alternate. The fourth class P. M.'s do more work for less pay than any other class of government officials, and they should succeed in their efforts to have the wrong righted.
 —The following bit of news from the Philadelphia Bulletin of the 21st inst., will be interesting in this section as showing the desire of the Pennsylvania Railroad to get control of the W. N. Y. & P. in connection with its recent purchase of the Valley Road: "The recent heavy buying of the stock of the Western New York & Pennsylvania railroad, causing an advance of a point in the common stock within a few days, is attributed to the Pennsylvania railroad, which, it is stated, desires to obtain control of the line in order to secure an outlet at Buffalo for its recently acquired Allegheny Valley road. While those who ought to know something about such a transaction if it is under way, are disinclined just now to discuss the subject. The idea of consolidation appears upon its face decidedly plausible."

 Manning Brus. vs. Dingman & Dale; jury out.
 Cases of White vs. Mintz; Empire Lumber Co. vs. West Hickory Hardwood Co.; Kaster vs. Welsh, were all continued.

 In the matter of the purchase of the Tionesta river bridge by the county, the six viewers appointed by the court at its last session reported unanimously in favor of the taking of the same as a county bridge. Objections being taken to the report, the matter went over to the next term of court.
CHANGE IN TERMS OF COURT.
 The court made an order changing the time of holding the regular terms of court, and fixed same as follows to take effect after the first of January, 1892: Third Mondays of February and May, last Monday of August, and third Monday of November.

 Mr. and Mrs. Ad. Rankin, of Siverlyville, expect to spend the holidays with Mrs. Rankin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aero Copeland.

 Mrs. Rufus Copeland expects to go to Meadville this week to visit her mother.
DEC. 21. CITIZEN.

The Coming Institute.
 The Teachers' Annual Institute of Forest county, which convenes at the court house next Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, will be fraught with interest to all at both the day and evening sessions, and should, as it undoubtedly will, be largely attended by friends of education. The program of evening lectures has been announced as follows:
 Monday evening, Demorest Medal Contest.
 Tuesday evening, Dr. James Hedley, "The Sunny Side of Life."
 Wednesday evening, Col. I. F. Copeland, "Seeing the Elephant."
 Thursday evening, Col. L. F. Copeland, "Handsome People."
 Lectures commence at 8 o'clock.
NEWST NOTES.
 For cutting the throat of Mike Ravish, on the night of Nov. 7th last, at Walston, Jefferson county, Steve Logezo was found guilty of second degree murder and sentenced to Brookville last week to 10 years and 6 months in the penitentiary. The murder was a cold blooded one, but the prosecution, it seems, failed to establish any malice on the part of the defendant.
 Andrew Hunter, of Washington township, died at his home on Monday morning of this week, aged one hundred and one years, two months and fourteen days. He was born in Ireland, came to America when a young man, and settled in the "Boothwoods," Jefferson county, sixty-one years ago. His funeral took place Wednesday forenoon.—Brookville Democrat.
 More than 10,000 barrels of apples will be made in New Jersey this year. Applejack is a seductive fluid and a mocker of the first class. 'Tis said that a man who has been drunk on applejack may recover sufficiently to resume the ordinary duties of life, but life will always have a changed aspect to him and he will never be the same man that he was before wrestling with the spirit of the apple juice.—Franklin News.
 Peterson for January is the handsomest and best number we have ever seen of this popular magazine. It opens with an excellent portrait and sketch of the popular novelist Edgar Fawcett. The fashion and household departments are simply perfect. Terms two dollars a year, with large reductions to clubs and useful premiums for getting up clubs. Send for a sample copy and get up a club. Peterson's Magazine, 306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.
 The store of F. H. Rockwell & Co., at Tionesta, was robbed on Thursday night last. Two safes were in the store, one belonging to Mr. Clapp and the other to Mr. Rockwell. The former was badly used up by the powder which was used in blowing it up. A gold watch belonging to Mr. Clapp was taken by the burglars. On Friday night the postoffice at Sincerville, N. Y., was robbed of $400 in money and stamps, which causes the Blizard to remark that the recent through southern ton of burglars from that section has landed two of them in the penitentiary, and it is hoped that the evident northward ton now being made by another gang will result as properly for the tourists.
 The story of a wonderful phenomenon comes from Rossville, nineteen miles west of Topeka, Kan., on the Union Pacific. For nineteen days, it is said, rain fell incessantly on the orchard belonging to H. Klein, a prominent Rossville resident. This orchard is in the town and is bounded on the east by Mr. Klein's residence, on the other three sides by lines of fences. The rain did not fall outside of Mr. Klein's premises, but for nineteen days there was no intermission in the fall, and it was only stopped by a cold snap.—Exchange. The foregoing is surely phenomenal, if true, but will bet all our prospective Christmas presents against a cent that it never happened.

A Talk on Delsarte.
 The Franklin News of last Saturday, gives this account of a lecture on Delsarte by Miss Brownie Bates, who has a large and very popular acquaintance among our people:
 The third and last night of the bazaar in the new Presbyterian chapel concluded with an illustrated talk by Miss Brownie Bates, of Titusville, on the Delsarte system of culture and development. She held the interested attention of a large company of both young and mature persons. Her brief speech was a persuasive and pleasing appeal for the Delsarte methods. The fair speaker herself was unconsciously an object lesson enforcing her plea for that line of culture. Miss Bates is somewhat above the medium stature, but her slim figure, erect, easy carriage and regal pose of head, impart an air of stateliness and command that is not often associated with one so young. The touch of the Delsarte wand lifts her fine face a notch or two above normal level.
 In a brief talk, in gracefully chosen phrase, Miss Bates sets forth the methods and aims of the Delsarte cult. To attempt an outline of it, without the dictation used, would be a laudable disfigurement, and so we withhold awkward hands. The idea conveyed was to the effect that the Delsarte system aims at the development of strength, grace and health; that this trio of blessings go together and are interdependent; that all awkwardness is a waste of force. Delsarte aims at the highest and fullest uses of all the faculties of body, mind, nerve and will. Its exercises develop self-control, strength and grace. It conserves nervous force; it gives muscularity, but not at the expense of flexibility, which is at the basis of all grace. She divided the system of Delsarte exercise into three classes: 1, to relax; 2, to build up; 3, rhythmic movements.
 Miss Bates closed by illustrating this system, showing principally the rhythmic exercises. She was dressed with exquisite effect for this exercise, in a soft pink silk of antique and classic design, which gave easy play to her remarkable flexibility of body and harmonious posturing. Beginning with undulatory movement of muscles, running in easy serpentine play from shoulders to finger tips, also passed into a succession of beautiful statuque poses. In all of them there was no hurry or effort. She seemed floating as in rest, muscles and pose gliding slowly from change to change in expression—now like Hope, fronting the dawn; now like Grief, with downcast eyes; now an antique Grace, willowy and swaying, stroving flowers from rosy, slender fingers.

 To illustrate the flexibility attained, Miss Bates fell prone at full length on the platform. There was the customary dull thud, but no pain to the fallen heroine. Relaxation of muscles cushioned the fall. Lastly, by request, Miss Bates swung herself slowly into the stately, measured steps of the minuet, a measure which is a succession of that most difficult of rhythmic movements, the courtesy. It was, if possible, more charmingly graceful than any feat that had preceded.

 —We want every mother to know that croup can be prevented. True croup never appears without a warning. The first symptom is hoarseness; then the child appears to have taken a cold or a cold may have accompanied the hoarseness from the start. After that a peculiar rough cough is developed, which is followed by the croup. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse; a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will prevent the attack. Even after a rough cough has appeared the disease may be prevented by using this remedy as directed. It has never been known to fail. 25 cent, 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by Proper & Doust, Druggists.

Remarkable Rescue.
 Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at Proper & Doust's Drugstore, large bottles 50c. and $1.00.
