Harrison and Reid!

It is well that Benjamin Harrison won his re-nomination through stress, trial, and in face of every doubt, suggestion, or argument that could be raised against him.

With a mind of high order highly trained, patriotic in spirit, thoroughly self-poised, yet modest, clear-minded and clean-handed, Ben Harrison is a splendid Republican leader, and as a Republican President his deeds praise him.

Asked to name the candidate for Vice President who could most strengthen the ticket and insure success in the Empire State, the delegation from New York chose White La Reid, the accomplished journalist and diplomat.

With such a ticket and a platform of unequalled merit the country is assured a campaign on the line of the highest and best principles of Republicanism.

Let Republicans dress their lines everywhere for a united movement against the common enemy.

A SUCCESSOR to ex-Secretary Blaine has not yet been named, but Chauncey M. Depew and Minister Lincoln have both been talked of.

EX-SENATOR JAMES S. RUTAN, a well known figure in Pennsylvania politics, died at his home in Pittsburgh, last Friday, aged 54 years.

THE Warron Mail's correct when it says: "McKinley is a bigger man than the men who tried to use him as a club to beat the President. His turn will come four years from now.

THE Chicago convention has not made a nomination, but there is scarcely any doubt but that the Democrats will be foolish enough to nominate Cleveland.

THE great thing to be pressed home on every Republican is the fact that a victory of the Democracy this fall would in all probability give that party control of both branches of Congress as well as the Presidency.

MR. BLAINE was in Boston when the news was received of the nomination of President Harrison, and immediately wrote the following "To the American People:"

"The resolution, energy and persistence which marked the proceedings of the convention at Minneapolis will, if turned against the common foe, win the election in November. All minor differences should be merged in the duty of every Republican to do all in his power to elect the ticket this day nominated by the National Republican Convention.

Every true friend of Blaine's and every Republican will unite with the great statesman and do all in their power to elect Harrison and Reid.

It was a foolish, false economy which led the conference committee in Congress to strike from the River and Harbor bill the appropriation of the modest sum of $10,000 for a survey of the Lake Erie and Ohio River ship canal.

EX-SECRETARY BLAINE is called upon to undergo another sudden and great bereavement in the death, at Chicago, of his sons Emmons, last Saturday, at 11:15 a. m. His death was caused by blood poisoning from bowel complaint, which he contracted the week before at Minneapolis, where he had been in charge of his father's interests at the Republican convention.

SENATOR HALE of Maine, gave voice to an important truth when, in the tempest of the fight over the Presidential nomination, he said:

"Those people who talk of any rupture over the result of the convention are mistaken in their judgment of the composition of the Republican party. A convention where there is a contest and the blood of the delegates is stirred with excitement and feeling is always better for the party than when the convention is dull and stupid and partakes of the character of a mere ratification meeting. It is the latter which the party has need to fear, and not the former."

It is now the duty of every Republican as far as in him lies to help prove the truth of Senator Hale's assertion.

THE thanks of the Republican party are admittedly due to the London Evening News for defining in a very accurate manner and in advance the issue upon which the approaching election will turn.

Here is the issue between the two parties in a nutshell, but it is not often that the English papers concede it so candidly. That sentence, however, will be remembered, and will, no doubt, do good service during the campaign.

SOME of the Mugwump organs express great surprise that men lacking in "national reputation" took a prominent part in the Minneapolis convention both on the floor and in committee work. The Mugwumps should reassure themselves. The prominent part taken by "new and unknown men" merely illustrates the custom of the Republican party in recruiting itself with fresh blood and keeping the way open for new men to make their way to the front.
