

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

NATIONAL. President, BENJAMIN HARRISON, of Indiana. Vice President, WHITELAW REID, of New York. STATE. Judge of the Supreme Court, JUDGE JOHN DEAN, of Blair County. Congress-at-Large, ALEXANDER McDOWELL, of Mercer County. WILLIAM LILLY, of Carbon County. COUNTY. Assembly, J. J. HAIGHT, of Howe Township. Treasurer, QUINCY JAMIESON, of Tionesta Township. Surveyor, J. F. PROPER, of Tionesta Borough.

TAMMANY never bolts. It knives.

ALL four of the Republican and Democratic candidates for President and Vice President are Presbyterians. But ours are the best.

THE Democrats are likely to lose North Carolina if they pass a free lumber bill through the House. The word is therefore passed around, "wait until after election."

GEORGE SHIRAS JR., of Pittsburgh, one of the prominent lawyers of this State, has been appointed as the successor of Justice Bradley, deceased on the Supreme Bench of the United States, by President Harrison.

SOME of the Democratic Congressmen who got up that Homestead investigation are now sorry for it. Their knowledge of the wages paid there is not worth half as much for campaign purposes as their ignorance would have been.

A FREE iron ore bill enacted by a Democratic Congress would endanger Tennessee and Alabama to the Democrats. The bill is therefore held up—but only until after election. Democrats in Tennessee and Alabama should find out all they can about this.

DEMOCRATS have been arguing that the product of the Homestead mills is protected, and therefore protection is responsible for riot and bloodshed there. There is free trade in the product of silver mines. Therefore free trade is responsible for the riot and bloodshed among the silver miners of Idaho according to the arguments of the Democrats.

THE resignation of ex-Senator Campbell as Chairman of the National Republican Committee caused a vacancy which has been admirably filled by the selection of ex-Congressman Thomas H. Carter, of Montana. The new chairman, though not so well known to the people of the nation, is nevertheless considered one of the shrewdest politicians and organizers the country affords, and may be depended on to fight a winning battle in November.

THE most notable event which has taken place at Homestead during the past week was the arrest of some of the leaders of the workmen on the charge of murder in connection with the battle which recently took place there. Burgess McLuckie, and O'Donnell, Ross, Foy and Allen, of the Advisory Committee have each been placed under $10,000 bail to await trial. Bail was promptly furnished upon the decision of the court and the men released. Otherwise matters have not changed materially at the works, and the militia has little to do except bask in the sun, which is hard enough, surely, just now.

THE Franklin News very sensibly remarks: Although matters are reported quiet at Homestead, a feature has developed that is not reassuring. A feeling of bitterness has gradually grown up between the residents and strikers of Homestead and the soldiers. A sullen and hostile feeling has taken the place of the cordial welcome at first extended to the militia. All this points to an indefinite stay of the troops at the scene of trouble. It is now high time that the Carnegie Company and the workmen got together and settled their differences. No matter what they may have said or sworn, both sides must get ready to make necessary concessions. It is ridiculous to expect the people of Pennsylvania to go on paying for keeping 8,000 men under arms to preserve the peace until it pleases two sets of stubborn contentants to settle a dispute. Let them settle it forthwith. It is nonsense to say that it cannot be fairly arbitrated or otherwise arranged.

H. C. Frick Shot.

The country was startled on Saturday afternoon last by the news that H. C. Frick, Chairman of the Carnegie Company, had been shot and probably mortally wounded. The would be assassin was a man giving his name as Alex. Berkman, a Russian Hebrew, whose home was in New York, and a Nihilist of the blood thirsty character. He had been loitering around Mr. Frick's office on Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, and finally gained admittance to his private room on presentation of his card claiming to be the agent of an employment bureau. Without a word of warning he drew a revolver and fired at his victim, sending two bullets into his neck just below the base of the brain. A struggle then ensued when the murderous devil drew a dirk knife and inflicted two deep wounds in Frick's side, after which he was overpowered by help and taken into custody. The only other occupant of the room at the moment was Vice Chairman Leibman, to whose desperate efforts is due the saving of Mr. Frick's life, as he caught Berkman's revolver just as he was pulling the trigger for a third shot, which would doubtless have penetrated Frick's brain.

Indignation was generally expressed at the cowardly crime and the perpetrator was denounced on all sides by all classes. As he was escorted to the station a large crowd followed crying "shoot him," "hang him," etc. He was quickly taken to the Central Station and locked up. At first he refused to give his name but afterwards admitted that it was Berkman and that he came from New York.

A description of Berkman is thus given by a reporter: He is not a wild-eyed maniac, but his appearance is not very prepossessing. The most remarkable part of his facial characteristics is his mouth. It is certainly forboding. His lower lip and his upper lip are double, remarkably so, even in the eyes of detectives, who have had to study these characteristics. His eye is clear, there being no gleam of insanity in it, but he insists on wearing glasses and these help to change his appearance. He never removes them. He has a short growth of beard, has large ears, and his forehead is narrow.

At last accounts the wounded man was progressing finely, and it is thought the danger line is passed, and that he will pull through all right, the only thing now feared being the extreme hot weather.

Berkman, the would-be slayer of Mr. Frick, arose at 6 o'clock Monday morning and the first person he saw was Warden McAleese. His first question was in reference to Mr. Frick's condition. The Warden informed him that Mr. Frick would recover. "Well, I am sorry for that," said Berkman. Just at this time one of the guards came along and left a loaf of bread and some fresh water in Berkman's cell.

"What's that?" asked the young Anarchist. "Why, that's your breakfast," said the Warden. "Is that all I get? At the other prison I was in on Saturday they gave me eggs and coffee? Can't I get a little ham and eggs for my breakfast?" "That is our regular fare and you will have to live on it."

"How many meals do I get a day?" "Three," said Warden McAleese with a smile. "Are they all like this one?" he asked. "Oh, no, we have some variety." "At what time do I get the two meals?" "Well, you get your breakfast now, and at dinner time you get two meals," said the Warden with a smile. "Don't I get any supper?" "Yes, you get that at dinner time."

"This is a great place to live," he said and then started on other subjects. "I was born in St. Petersburg, Russia, and was educated at the Gymnasium, one of the leading colleges at that place. I speak very poor English as I have to take it from the Latin. What do the people say about my act?" said he, rapidly changing the subject. "They say it was a most cowardly act, and you have no sympathy." "Oh, yes I have," he replied. "I know the people will be with me, and I am sorry I made a bad job of it."

"Well, don't you know that if Mr. Frick dies you will be hung, and if he lives you will have a long term of years to serve in the penitentiary."

"I know all that. I looked the matter up, and I am willing to stand the consequences, no matter what they are. What do the newspapers say about me?" was the next question. "They say you are a bum printer who only earned eight dollars per week."

The young man then asked for a newspaper. He said he wanted to see what they said about him. It is probable the Warden will grant the request.

PASTOR KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC

Perfectly Well. FILLMORE, Dubuque Co., Ia., Sept. 1891. Miss E. Fillingim writes: My mother and sister used Pastor Koening's Nerve Tonic for neurasthenia. They are both perfectly well now and never tired of praising the tonic.

It Was Indeed a Miracle. 1881 First St., BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 8, 90. I wish to state what a wonderful cure Pastor Koening's Nerve Tonic has done for my brother, who has suffered from rheumatism since childhood. He has been able to do his work of any kind since that time. He has tried all kinds of patent medicines and different doctors of skill, but all without benefit, until he took the Tonic. He has continually improved since, and I will say, and indeed rejoice to see who have seen him during his sickness, that it was indeed a miracle to see him restored to health.

FREE

A Valuable Book on Hygiene and Free to any address and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge.
