

THE FOREST REPUBLICAN.

J. E. WENK. EDITOR & PROPRIETOR.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1892.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

- NATIONAL.
 President, BENJAMIN HARRISON, of Indiana.
 Vice President, WHITELEW REID, of New York.
- STATE.
 Judge of the Supreme Court, JUDGE JOHN DEAN, of Blair County.
 Congress-at-Large, ALEXANDER McDOWELL, of Mercer County.
 WILLIAM LILLY, of Carbon County.
- COUNTY.
 Congress, CHARLES E. ANDREWS, of Clarion County.
 Assembly, J. J. HAIGHT, of Howe Township.
 Treasurer, QUINTAIN J. HANSON, of Tionesta Township.
 Surveyor, J. F. PROPER, of Tionesta Borough.

CHOLERA'S STILL RAGING.

Cholera's ravages are still very great in the European countries, the city of Hamburg being almost one mass of infection with scores dying every day. The disease has not touched American soil as yet aside from the quarantine stations, yet a number of new ships have arrived with the scourge on board. Besides the Moravia, Normania, and Rugia, heretofore mentioned, there have two others arrived, the Wyoming and the Scandia, the latter ship the worst of all. On her voyage across 32 deaths are recorded, and 2 had died up to Saturday night since her arrival at quarantine.

Up to present writing the number of deaths that have occurred at sea and in port is as follows: Moravia 23, Normania 14, Rugia 9, Wyoming 3, Scandia 34, making in all 83 deaths, out of a total 136 cases, considerable more than one half of the cases proving fatal.

At none of the other seaports of America has the disease appeared, and Acting Secretary of the Treasury Spaulding has expressed the belief that the Scandia would prove to be the last of the ships to reach these shores with contagion on board. The strict measures are being employed by authorities to keep the plague from gaining a foothold in our land, both by Canada and the United States.

The President's Letter.

President Harrison's letter of acceptance, like all of the letters and speeches of that gentleman, is characterized by vigor and able handling of important subjects just at present engaging the attention of the American people. What he says is said forcibly and frankly. President Harrison knows that he has the American people with him and he talks for their benefit. There is no comfort for Eric Traders in his letter. His praise of the McKinley law and protection in general is hearty and without reserve, and the benefits the country has derived from these sources are pointed out in a way that shows the President to have carefully watched every detail and every foot of progress the country has made under the doctrines of the Republican party.

The President renews his declarations regarding finance, and he denounces the Democratic party and its free trade doctrine in severe terms. Reciprocity is touched upon in his graceful and cogent manner, and the great benefits we have derived from it are set forth in facts and figures.

It is throughly a Benjamin Harrison letter, and, therefore, American. Compared with the dreary platitudes of Grover Cleveland it is a great document.

The Senatorial deadlock which has been hanging on about all summer between Jefferson and Indiana counties, was broken last week by the withdrawal of Indiana, and the nomination of Capt. James G. Mitchell of a very popular Republican.

The redemption of a dis-republican party which away four years ago by Jerry.

PRÉSIDENT HARRISON'S letter was made public on Labor Day. It was a good American letter for good American protected workmen, and its influence will be far reaching.

ONCE MORE "OUR TRAMP" WRITES.

"By the wayside, on a mossy stone," underneath the boughs of a hemlock that has all gone to limbs instead of timber, on this beautiful afternoon of early September, we sit at rest, and having come into possession of some paper and a stump of a pencil,—no matter how—and not knowing when such a combination of fortuitous circumstances may again occur, we lay hold of our opportunity to renew long-time acquaintance with the world through the columns of the REPUBLICAN.

This has been quite a summer, full of surprises and all kinds of weather. The weather and the produce prophet have had hard fortune, but unabashed they'll rise again, and be found doing business at the old stand as usual. Our wanderings since the snows and frosts disappeared last spring have carried us over much territory, and if not happier we're wiser than we used to be. We've fared as well as we have deserved, and that's satisfactory, although it is less than some can say.

Up in Warren county, in and near the Brokenstraw valley, we think we have seldom seen such crops of hay as were harvested there. One man at Spring Creek who does a large business in which horses figure conspicuously, and who has also a large barn, offered $5 per ton for hay delivered in the barn, and easily filled it at that figure. With hay plenty as that would sleep on a bed of rails? There's some fruit in the country, too; tame fruit, we mean. Not enough for any large amount of shipment, but plenty for dried apple pies and vinegar. In Pleasant township in Warren county, we found a small fruit farm that would do credit to the Lake Shore region. There were raspberries and blackberries and currants and gooseberries and strawberries, and some other things; of some of these a number of varieties. There were the finest and largest red raspberries we ever saw grown. The owner of this farm last year sold to one dealer, from his own farm, over 100 bushels of berries, and this year his crop would be nearly double that. This is seven miles from Warren, out on the hills, but as free from frost as the river bottoms are. We saw Lombardy poplars growing there with many a dead limb to be found anywhere on them.

This part of the State will show in the year to come that it is capable of some things other than timber, oil and great men. Had it not been for the more terrible disaster at Oil City and Titosville there was material in plenty furnished by the floods along the Brokenstraw and Conewango to make columns of sensational reading. It will take time and many dollars to repair the damage done in those valleys. What a pity that sympathy is yoked-fellow to so poor a traveler as memory. And still it is a good thing, a short memory is. Most of us (not tramps alone) have reason to be thankful that our memories are not measured by a whole meridian of longitude. Our noses would never curl up as they show tendencies to do, sometimes, were it otherwise.

The blackberry crop was a big one, and is a thing of the past. The aforesaid berry has been noted these many years as the basis of more than one product, and has been loved by the wild beast and the civilized human alike. And with the changes of time has added to its original possibilities some new items. It has lately become the avowed enemy of strict truthfulness, and has added to many a man's veracity a stretch it aforesaid wot not of. Berry-gatherers and fishermen hereafter will travel in the same category of virtuous prevarications. As a specimen of what this industry has produced we append a sample: "One hundred quarts in one day!" "Sixteen quarts in 11 hours," or 128 in a day of 12 hours. These fables teach that the spirit of Cesar lives, and the lengths to which it tempts extend beyond the vision of old Julius even.
