Tha New Rates for Gas.

The Directors of the Gas Co. publish the schedule of rates established at their last meeting, in to-days issue, by which it will be seen the promised reduction of 331 per cent. has been made. In the bills sent out for December this reduction does not occur, for the reason no yearly contracts had been entered into with the new management hence no other course was open to the Superintendant but to send out bills based on winter month rates. To those who had not heretofore been using the fuel under annual contract rates the reduction thus made was apparent and satisfactory; but to those who had been under the contract rates the reduction did not figure out so well, in consequence there was considerable mild kicking. However, as the matter new stands every individual is on even footing with his neighbor and from the first of January all who wish can avail themselves of the cheaper plan by signing yearly con-

"The minister who will at all times and under any circumstances tell the whole truth about his members, alive or dead. might not occupy the pulpit more than one Sabbath, and in some cases might press and the pulpit go hand in hand with the whitewash brush and pleasant words magnifying little virtues into big ones. The pulpit, the press and the grave-stone are the great saint-making triumvirate."

"And I want a large sheet of black court plaster," said a young woman at a notion counter the other day, "which" she proseeded to explain to a friend at her "is my chief mending implement. I always mend gloves with courtplaster, using plack or light tints, according to the shade of the glove. I turn the glove inside out and fit the plaster over the rent, first, of course, drawing the edges together as a surgeon does a torn skin. It is much neater than sewing and lasts longer. Sometimes I get an ugly three-cornered rent in my gown. My court plaster mends the rent, leaving practically no indications of it. I mend fans, lace-every thing, almost with it."
