

The President's Message.

President Harrison's last message to Congress is fully equal in breadth and profundity to any State paper ever issued by him.

This message will be read and commented upon not alone in this country, but more extensively in those countries to which the President pays respects in dealing with the tariff question.

The full text of his remarkably able document will be found on the first page of today's paper, and should be read by all who would be posted on the state of the nation.

At last we have it definitely that the Weaver electors were elected in North Dakota. This great question having been settled, let the country prepare for Christmas.

JAY GOULD entered Wall street at the age of 23 with $5,000 in his pocket, saved by rigid economy.

It comes from Washington that a boom is being started there for Congressman Stone, of Warren for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1894.

Right you are. With him as our candidate, the Democrats would be saved the trouble of going to the polls.

THE Democrats pretend to be afraid that the Republicans are going to capture enough doubtful legislatures, in those Western States which elect U. S. Senators, to keep that wing of the national legislature under Republican control.

THE Hon. Tom Watson, of Georgia, to whom the world at large is indebted for the story that a maudlin Congressman asked the question "where was I at?" has reached Washington and is looked upon with disfavor by the Southern Democratic Congressmen.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR HAILE, the Republican candidate for Governor of Massachusetts, at the last election, says that on the face of the returns—that is the vote as counted—Governor Russell is re-elected, but he does not finish what he ought to say.

PRESIDENT HARRISON evidently believes that the Democrats will have a sweet time increasing the prosperity of the country by adopting legislation that must result in the reduction of wages.

NEW YORK wants a ship canal up the Hudson from New York to the Erie canal and thence to Lake Erie. Hope they'll get it. By the way, what ever became of that ship canal from Pittsburgh to Lake Erie that the Pennsylvania Legislature had a spasm over about four years ago?

THE President's message has had a very decided effect in placing the Republican party in Congress in an aggressive attitude. The rout of November had evidently left the party leaders in some doubt as to their relations in future movements in legislation.

Not Exactly In It.

A Washington correspondent telegraphs as follows: Representative Hooker and Charles W. Stone, in their desire to benefit some of their constituents by having the head waters of the Allegheny River improved, ran afoul of the Engineer Corps, and were knocked out in the first round.
