

EX-PRESIDENT HAYES DEAD.

Ex President Hayes died at his home in Fremont, Ohio, at 11 o'clock last night. He had been ill but a short time of pneumonia. This leaves but one ex President now living.

SENATOR QUAY REELECTED.

Both Senate and House at Harrisburg yesterday voted for United States Senator, the result being that Senator Quay was re-elected by an overwhelming majority. The two branches of the Legislature will meet in joint session to day to vote on the question, which will virtually be a ratification of yesterday's proceedings. The vote stood - House, 132; Senate, 33, for Quay. Dalzell received 1 vote.

WHAT IS this news from New York? HILL and CROKER have fallen out? Doubtful. They cannot afford to disagree.

SENATOR QUAY is opposed to opening the World's Fair on Sunday. Here is another reason why that organ, the New York World, should abuse him.

By proclamation President Harrison declares polygamy practically dead and the "twin relic" tardily follows its mate, "American slavery," to that bourne from which no barbarism returns.

The Democrats of Pittsburgh have nominated Republican Mayor Gourley for City Controller. Mr. Gourley seems to be on all sides of politics in the Smoky City. Perhaps he doesn't know where he is.

INTENDING visitors to the Columbian Fair will be interested in this cheerful observation of the Chicago Herald: "In view of the inexperienced crowds which will soon be entering the city, branch morgues should be erected at each of the grade crossings."

The Chicago gentlemen who are clamoring in the committee rooms of Congress that the World's Fair door be opened on Sunday should learn that the American people will not stand any fooling with the American Sabbath. The efforts of the Sunday desecrators will be in vain.

THERE was only one Benjamin F. Butler in this world, and the American people will hold him in loving memory. Sturdy, honest, a bull-fighter, quick to act for the right, his life was one of constant activity, and he will go down in history as one of the most picturesque characters of the age.

A CHATTANOOGA judge has declared that he will not hold poor people arrested for stealing coal, and has at once dismissed several cases of that character. There may not be much law back of his decision, but there is no denying the fact that he has a heart, and that is more than the unscrupulous rascals who have the power to force up the price of coal never accused of possessing.

THERE are some remarkably well informed newspaper men in Washington. One of them telegraphed that the Pittsburgh Commercial Gazette that "Sibley is a wholesale liquor dealer and Democratic politician." This is probably why he was supported for Congress by the prohibitionists. Because a man happens to be a Democrat it does not necessarily follow that he is engaged in the wholesale liquor business. He may be a retailer. -Blizzard.

A DISPATCH from Washington says that a number of ladies and clergy men made arguments before the Congressional Committee in favor of opening the World's Fair on Sunday. What kind of ladies? And of what denomination were the clergymen? This ought to be known in justice to the various churches which have so persistently fought the desecration of the Sabbath and which will never let up in the good fight as long as the opponents of the American Sabbath continue their warfare upon it.

A prominent Republican newspaper begins an editorial on American shipping. "Time was when this country led the world on the ocean." True, and it will do so again when the tariff is made to conform to Democratic ideas. -Vindicator.

Rate! Your party hasn't got the sand to touch the tariff with a ten foot pole, and when in full possession of the Government will dance around the issue as gingerly as it did in the case of the big surplus left by the Republicans eight years ago. Afraid to touch it for fear of blundering.

The quarantine bill which passed the Senate last week is a very radical measure, but it is a great improvement over the present law, which, as far as national quarantine goes, is vague and incomplete. A practice has grown up under it which is much better than the law itself and which, with improvements and extensions, is made the law in this bill. The latter does not interfere with State quarantine, but requires the Marine Hospital service to cooperate with and aid State and municipal boards of health. It requires great precautions to be taken and enforced by United States consuls at the foreign ports in the case of vessels clearing for the United States. The Secretary of the Treasury is required to send to the nearest national quarantine vessels arriving at ports not provided with facilities for treatment. The President is formally given the power which he already exercises unchallenged to suspend immigration in the interest of public health. It is probably as radical a measure as a Democratic House, tender of State rights, would be willing to pass, and is a great advance over existing quarantine legislation.

The New York World opposed Murphy for Senator. It now says: "In the Democratic party of New York, as at present organized, the fundamental principle of Democracy, that every man shall have a fair chance is not recognized. No Democrat in this State has a fair field. Nobody can be a candidate for any office except by favor of an oligarchy which assumes the right to parcel out all the offices in the gift of the party in secret council to suit itself. No man can present himself to the people or to the Legislature as a candidate without the consent of the ring unless he is prepared to incur its hatred and revenge. Its arrogance has reached such a degree that it dares affront public sentiment by forcing the election and appointment of men to the highest offices who are notoriously unfit in qualifications and character. Mayard, Scannel, K. ch, and Murphy are recent evidences of its impudence. The people have had more than enough of such despising of their sentiments and their interests. The existing oligarchy is an incubus on the Democratic party."

COMMENTING on Judge Woodward's decision with respect to the employment by Road Supervisors of members of their families, the Reading Times says: The decision of Judge Woodward, of the Luzerne County, against the right of a Supervisor to employ members of his own family or teams owned by themselves in the work of road repairs, should be generally known. The laws very properly forbid the public officials from profiting by their own delegated authority in the matter of contracts, and this decision would no doubt be reaffirmed by the most of the Judges of the State were the matter properly brought before them. Persons violating so plain a principle of law can not legally collect the money alleged to be due for such service. The decision is in harmony with the law as well as with common sense, and its enforcement would aid in preventing a very common abuse in the case of such officials.

It is proposed to introduce a bill in the next Legislature, says an exchange, providing for putting a stop to deer killing for a period of three years. That there is necessity for such a law every true sportsman will readily agree. At the present rate of killing of the deer it will be only a few years until they are exterminated, and the most exciting sport known to Pennsylvania hunters will end. -Ridgway Advocate.

Right you are, but the legislature will do no such sensible thing. The average legislator is about as fitted to pass upon common sense game laws as that "hot place" is for a powder house. And, by the way, we notice that a "committee" has been appointed by a down east "sportsman's association" to look after game law legislation this winter. It's dollars to buttons that not one of this committee knows a sandpiper from a fly-up-the-creek, and yet they'll doubtless be consulted as to what should be done with the game laws.

The Republicans in the Connecticut Legislature reflected credit on themselves and their State and did the nation and the Republican party a service by nominating General Joseph R. Hawley for another term in the Senate. General Hawley has been through all his service at Washington a useful legislator and the model of the representative of a New England State. He has shown equal ability and independence, and his return for six years more insures to Connecticut a Senator who represents the best desires of his State and the best purposes of his party.

The Farmer's Alliance people are now after $21,500,000 with which to build a railroad from Mexico to Canada. They intend to ask Congress for this little trifle. Of course they will get it. They have done so much good everywhere that they are just the sort of persons that should receive a nice little reward in the shape of twenty-one millions and more. The idea of a railroad from Mexico to Canada is a good one. We don't understand why it wasn't thought of long before this. One would hardly be enough. There ought to be two. It is too bad that the projectors of the scheme are so notoriously selfish in all the legislation they favor.

THE decision of the lower court on the conviction of the Pittsburg Leader for publishing a newspaper on Sunday has been sustained. The Judge thinks the old law is a good one to keep on the statute books, but admits that its repeal is only a question of a very short time if it is as rigidly enforced as to this case. He says the friends of the law are its worst enemies. A law which requires so much discretion in its enforcement would seem to need some little amendment to make it applicable to the present day and generation. Of late years arrests for violation of this old law have been made more often through spite than out of regard for the law.

A BOY in Philadelphia was found dying on the steps of his home recently, and expired shortly after being taken into the house. His death was caused by cigarettes. From morn to night, except when he ate, he smoked cigarettes, and the poison permeated his entire system. The crusade against cigarettes cannot be too vigorous. It is said that a bill will be introduced in the Legislature at its present session to abolish the manufacture and sale in this State of cigarettes, and it is hoped the bill will pass. We pass laws to abolish the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine, and let the deadly cigarette go. Nobody ever heard of oleomargarine being deadly.

SPEAKING ABOUT BEN BUTLER, at least a score of the men who couldn't meet him in a fair and square fight have now taken the warpath against him with some hope of not being knocked out in the first round.

The Use and Abuse of Whiskey. This subject could be dwelt upon to a considerable length, and yet much would remain unsaid, but all agree that the use and proper use of pure rye whiskey is an absolute necessity, especially so now, when nature insists upon being stimulated. All regular physicians prescribe rye whiskey, and justly claim that Keen's Silver Age and Duquesne Whiskies are most reliable. They do this not only because they have tried them but because the leading hospitals use them - limit them to the best stimulants in the world. Silver Age sells for $1.50 and Duquesne for $1.25 per full quart. For sale by all dealers and druggists. Ask for them or send to Ludwig Mayer, Oil City, Pa.
