from men of high rank in public life. The best authors know that their best audiences are the readers of the Duily, Sinday and Weekly Press.

In politics The Press knows no other master than the people and the past year has seen, as has been seen before, the marked fact that it is subservient to no political boss. It has no political ambitions to foster, but looks after the interests of its readers and delivers itself upon the issues of the day in a manner both frank and fearless, letting the facts speak for themselves and evading no Lsues, but meeting them all on the basis of fair play to all men at all times. Its pages know no distinctions and the rights of one class over another are neither recognized nor supported.
