

Mrs. WILLIAM C. WHITNEY, wife of the ex-Secretary of the Navy, died at her home, No. 2 West Fifty-seventh street, at 3 o'clock Sunday morning of heart disease.

PRESIDENT HARRISON has made a mistake in the selection of a nominee for the Supreme Bench. Howell E. Jackson is a Democrat, but this is not all. He is a states rights Democrat. He believes that this country is a confederacy and not a nation, and no man ought to be advanced to a place in the highest court of the country who does not believe this country to be a nation, and that, too, with a big N.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

A BILL introduced by Mr. Andrews, of Crawford, authorizing the supervisors, road commissioners or other officers having in charge the constructing and keeping in repair the public roads in the townships of this commonwealth to cause to be erected a suitable building in which to hold elections, store road machinery and transact township business, has been taken out of the committee and is on the calendar of the house. It will encounter little opposition, it is said.

The bill of Senator Ross authorizing turpentine companies to enter upon public highways for the construction of their roads proposes just the reverse of what the Legislature should do. It ought, instead, to create a State Superintendent of roads and authorize him to enter upon toll turpentine and declare them to be now, henceforward, and forever free. The toll road is a survival from a short-sighted and poverty-stricken past. This State wants new roads, good roads and free roads. Those using the public highways and bridges should be as free from the danger of being made to stand and deliver to the toll collector as to a highwayman. There are both alie to modern civilization and ideas.—Phila. Press.

The annexation of Hawaii is a subject which is liable to receive considerable attention from the people of the United States for a time; at least until some more weighty matter springs up to claim public notice. The revolution there was without bloodshed, but has been well nigh complete in the overthrow of the rule of the native queen, and while the provisional government asks Uncle Sam to "take it in out of the wet," as it were, it is not certain whether the Sandwich Islanders would make the best of citizens, while on the other hand they might give us a heap of trouble. "Beware of entangling alliances," said Pap Washington, and who knows but this may be one of 'em. Of course if England goes kicking on the scheme, why then we suppose Uncle Sam had better rake in the pot, simply on the principle that what Johnny Bull don't want us to do is the best thing to be done.

PRESIDENT HARRISON has appointed Circuit Judge Howell E. Jackson, a Democrat, to be a Justice of the United States Supreme Court, in place of the late Justice Lamar. The new appointee was born in Paris, Tenn., April 8, 1832. He is a graduate of West Tennessee College, the University of Virginia and the Lebanon Law School. He practiced law at Jackson and Memphis, and was twice appointed Judge of the Tennessee Supreme Court. In 1880 he was elected to the House of Representatives, and in 1881 was elected Senator, resigning in 1886 to accept President Cleveland's appointment as United States Circuit Judge for the Western district of Tennessee. The general opinion among Republicans is that the President might have done equally well to have left this appointment for his successor to make, since he did not seem disposed to appoint a Republican, and that while he may have good reason for naming a Democrat, it will be no easy matter to make that fact patent to the party. Furthermore, he don't seem to have pleased the Democrats any more than he has his own party.

EDITOR SMITH, of the Pottawatomie Spirit, who is serving his second term in the legislature, and ought to know whereof he speaks, thinks that "the idea which some people have that the Pennsylvania Legislature is a venal, bribe taking and irresponsible collection of political toughs, is a serious mistake. That body is made up of men the majority of whom have intelligence enough to realize that any injustice or abuse they may help to inflict upon the people they must also help to bear. The majority of them want to do right, and act in accordance with the best light they have. Speaking with Hon. W. F. Stewart, of Philadelphia, the other day, Mr. Stewart said, "The popular notion is that a member of the Legislature can come here and sell out on nearly every measure that comes up, and that if he cannot get rich in one session, he must be very conscientious or very stupid. Now, I have been here fourteen years, and I can truthfully say that I never had knowledge of a single case of bribery. To be sure there have been a few circumstances during that period that looked a little suspicious, but that is all." The truth is, a man who is honest in his own business affairs, pays his debts, and is careful not to wrong his neighbor in any way, is not at all likely to make up his mind to wrong himself, his neighbors, his State and his country, simply because he is elected to the Legislature."

THE amendments to the Baker bill introduced into the Senate are important. It adopted one per cent. of the largest vote cast for a State officer instead of three per cent., which will give a political party the right to certify its nominations. Nomination papers must be filed 35 and 28 days respectively before elections, instead of 58 and 49, as under the present act for the highest class of officers, and for county and municipal 28 and 21, instead of 42 and 35 as now. The time for filing objections is also materially reduced. All nominations must be certified from the State Department twelve days before election. A mark must be placed opposite each candidate voted for except in case of electors, when one mark will suffice for the entire group. Instead of a voting compartment for every fifty voters one must be provided for every seventy five. Reasonable compensation is to be allowed for party watchers and included in proper election expenses of political committees. When a voter requires a helper in making up his ballot, the latter must take an oath not to influence the voter or divulge the contents of his ballot.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

There is only one way to amend the Baker law to suit Boroughs and Townships when it comes to Spring elections, and that is to knock the whole business into smithereens, and give us the old-fashioned way, which suited the people far better than the present cumbersome, bothering and expensive law for electing minor officials.

It is barely a year since the Baron Hirsch colony was founded near Woodbine, New Jersey. It is safe, however, to-day to say that the experiment is a perfect success and that the richest man in the world is blessed with both a practical head and a generous heart. The land purchased by the baron was divided into sixty-two farms of thirty acres each, provided with all necessary buildings. Each man is given ten years in which to pay the $1,200 at which modest price the baron holds the farms. A town is now being laid out also, and thirty-five new houses there are inhabited by workers in a cloak factory, which the baron started. A trouper factory, just about ready to go into operation, will give employment to five hundred people. The rules of the colony are quite rigid as regards temperance, morality, honesty and truthfulness, and all are expected to yield the most implicit obedience. The applicants for farms must be men with families who have been in this country less than a year. There are two school houses, and a general manager in the colony. This scheme has the advantage of practicability. It is a charity that does not pauperize. It makes self-respecting workers. It is a grand idea, and it is being carried out with remarkable ability. Would that more rich men possessed the philanthropic spirit of Baron Hirsch.

Music in the Woman's Building. Mrs. J. Barry Colahan, Chairman of the Music Committee for Philadelphia county, has just given out for publication the following brief rules of the Board of Lady Managers about music in the Woman's Building during the World's Fair: A committee, called an Advisory Committee on Music, shall be appointed in each State and Territory, which shall consist of the resident musicians in different sections of the State, so that candidates for vocal and instrumental examination may not be obliged to traverse great distances. It will be the duty of the Advisory Committee on Music to decide whether applicants are artists, amateurs or professionals, and whether their performances are sufficiently good to receive a letter of recommendation to either of the expert juries (vocal and instrumental) which will hereafter be appointed in Chicago by the Bureau of Music. The artists who are considered worthy of distinction by the expert juries appointed in Chicago will receive the honor of an invitation to perform in the small Concert Hall, or in the Woman's Building, during the World's Columbian Exposition. No money has been appropriated by the World's Columbian Exposition, or by the Government of the United States, to defray the expenses of applicants who may wish to appear in Chicago. The expert juries (vocal and instrumental) to be appointed in Chicago will not hear applicants until the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on and after May 1, 1893, and will hear no one without a letter of recommendation from her State Advisory Committee on Music.

FOREST COUNTY, ss: We, the undersigned, Auditors of the County of Forest, do hereby respectfully certify that we in said County, according to law and in pursuance of our duties did audit and adjust the several accounts of the Treasurer, Sheriff, Prothonotary, District Attorney and County Commissioners, for the year ending January 2d, 1893, and find the same to be as set forth in the foregoing report for the year 1892. The Auditors further report that in view of public policy, that when County bridges are hereafter built by contract, that proposals for the construction of the same ought to be published, so as to invite sealed proposals for the same, and award contracts to the lowest and best responsible bidder, as said course would be more satisfactory to the public, which course is adopted by some of the adjoining counties, and we recommend in the future a more economical administration of County affairs. In testimony whereof we have hereunto set our hands and seals at Tionesta, this 20th day of January, A. D. 1893. R. J. FLYNN, [L.S.] J. A. DAWSON, [L.S.] W. W. THOMAS, [L.S.] County Auditors.
