LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Oil market closed yesterday 56 1/2.

Next Tuesday's election day. Get out the vote.

Leat begins to-day and ends with Easter Sunday, April 2d.

Ecra to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Blum, Sunday morning last, a daughter.

Philip Paltrovitch, Marienville's jeweler, was a visitor to town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Kelly and young son, arrived from Chicago last week and are the guests of Arthur's parents.

Ex Treasurer Haggerty has begun rafting the Tionesta Lumber Co's winter out put at Kellektiville. Will Morrow will "keep tally" of the lumber as it is rafted.

A bill introduced in the House by Mr. Andrews, of Crawford county, requiring railroads to fence in their lines, was reported favorably from committee last Thursday.

Can't be beaten! Mr. J. W. Wittig, Blue Mound, Ill., writes: "I have used Salvation Oil with wonderful success for inflammatory rheumatism in my foot. It cannot be beat."

Wm. Smearbaugh froze his face last Thursday while out looking after the firm's interests in the lumber woods, since which he has been confined to his bed a pretty sick man. But he's mending now.

H. W. Ledebur was one of our East Hickory visitors last week. Owing to the "back water" in the tail race of his flooring mill, caused by a gorge in the mouth of Hickory creek, he has been unable to run the mill since the break-up.

F. R. Lanson has sold his home-stead in the lower end of town to J. B. Haggerty, who will take possession some time next month. Mr. L. has rented the Hickling house, now occupied by Mr. Haggerty, and will move there when the change takes place.

There is more shoe factory talk for Tionesta within the past few days. The gentleman who, on a former occasion, talked of locating here, was in town last Friday to look us over and get the opinions of our business people. What the outcome will be can't yet be ascertained.

Miss Gertrude Sammons will speak in the Presbyterian church this Wednesday evening, at 7:30, in the interest of education among the colored people of the South. She comes under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E. All are cordially invited to attend. No admission fee.

A party of polecat hunters from Ashtabula county, Ohio, passed through the city Saturday on their way home from above Tionesta. They did not state what success they met with.—Derrick. There are no polecats on Tionesta. This should have been understood long ago.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature to empower the Coroner of each county to appoint one or more Deputy Coroners, the same as deputies are appointed by the Sheriff. This will be a great relief to the coroners in about 65 out of the 67 counties of the State, where the coroners are kept busy (?) night and day, almost, "setting on corpses."

In the figures handed us by Supt. Kerr relative to Institute receipts and expenditures an error occurred in one instance, in which we made him say "Institute of 1881," when it should have been 1891. The casual reader would really understand that it was an error, but we note it, nevertheless, in justice to Mr. Kerr.

Some of our exchanges are bothering their brains as to what will be done with the hammock when the hoop skirt comes into fashion again. Hoops and hammocks may seem rather incompatible to the average man, yet it's a question the girls will have to wrestle with, and we prefer to let them solve the problem rather than offer any suggestions just now.

FIRE AT MARIENVILLE.

Marienville received another pretty severe scorching on Sunday night last. At about midnight fire broke out in the upper story of H. H. Hensel's hardware store, and in a short time the building was a mass of smoldering ashes. A greater portion of his stock of hardware was saved from the flames, and most of his household goods (he occupied the upper story as a dwelling) were rescued.

The flames spread from this to the Stull store building adjoining, which was owned and occupied by D. Steiner as a billiard hall, and that, too, was consumed, and with it three billiard tables and most of the fixtures.

The large Hoover livery stable, and Dr. Beck's office, located near the fire, were with greatest difficulty saved.

Mr. Hensel had, we understand, something like $4,000 insurance on his property, which will fairly cover his loss.

Mr. Steiner's loss will run close to $2,000, but whether or not he had any insurance our informant could not say.

The origin of the fire is not known.

Engineer Moriarty again comes in for a large share of praise for prompt and efficient service at the fire, having supplied the bucket brigade with several tanks of water from the railroad tank.

LATER.—Since the above was put in type the following additional particulars have come to hand: None of Mr. Hensel's household goods were saved, the family barely escaping from the upper story in time to save their lives. He also lost his pocket book which contained $300 in cash, and about $500 in notes and checks. His insurance was $3,300, which only partially covers his loss.

Mr. Steiner had no insurance whatever on his property.

Losses on the Clarion River.

The ice went out of Clarion river with a rush and burrah Monday morning, taking with it all that lay in its way. There were more than 25 boats lying in the river at the bridges, and all but three went with the swelling tide. The principal owners are the Maple Creek Lumber Co., but a few were the property of others who had trusted to the small freshet two months ago. T. W. Raine had placed a boiler for a saw mill at the mouth of Toby, and it went out also.

Clarion Jacksonian.

The Clarion Republican gives this account of the flood and some of the losses sustained:

Owners of the boats and timber scattered along the stream recognized the necessity of protecting their property, and men were hastily hired to assist in carrying this into effect, by trying to keep these boats and rafts safely moored to the shores. But the river continued to rise, the ice floated thicker and faster, heavy ropes or lines were but as whip cords, and one by one the boats and rafts were torn from their lashings, and when daylight on Monday morning arrived thousands of dollars worth of this valuable property was floating with the raging torrent toward the Allegheny river, some to be completely demolished in the crash and current.

The losers in this section are: Maple Creek Lumber Company, Forest county, 5 boats; Peter Heffron, Forest county, 3 boats; W. W. O'Neil, Clarion 1 boat; Daniel Steiner, Scotch Hill, 1 boat; Mr. Wallace, Forest county, 3 boats.

Mr. O'Neil had several boats moored in this neighborhood, but succeeded in saving all but the one mentioned above. He was on this one trying to save it when it broke loose from the bank, and made a very narrow escape from being carried along down the river with it, and probably losing his life.

Heavy cakes of ice were gorged in against the boat, and Mr. O'Neil was endeavoring to open a channel to let these pass through, when, without the least warning, the heavy ropes with which it was tied snapped in two, and the boat shot out into the stream. Night had arrived, the gloom being greatly increased by the drizzling rain that was falling, the lantern Mr. O'Neil held in his hand casting a lurid glare over the surroundings. Realizing on the instant that all hope for saving the boat was gone, and that his position was very hazardous, he hastily surveyed his surroundings for a chance to escape. The boat by this time had floated down the river probably one hundred yards, and was gradually getting farther from shore, when his eye caught a white streak of snow, some ten or twelve feet from the boat, running shoreward, and knowing that it covered a solid surface he sprang for it, and alighted on a large rock, that jutted quite a distance into the river. Persons who witnessed the affair had little hopes of his ever coming out of the place alive.

During Tuesday the river was full

FIRE AT KELLEKTIVILLE.

Considerable excitement was manifested here during the high water of last week. On Monday the rain came down in a gradual fall, and in the afternoon the people who lived on the low lands were seen making preparations for an old time flood. About all the men that live on the west side—or Brooklyn as it is called—did not rest much, but all waited in anticipation of the bridge going out.

At about 3:45 a. m. Tuesday the ice started from Buck Mills pond, and at 4:00 the bridge went on the west side of the island, the ice stopping back of the island. At 10:30 a. m. the same day one of the finest ice gorges that ever passed this place, went by, filling the creek with ice for a period of two and a half hours.

The ice was gorged at "Frog Rock," and a half dozen of the town boys went up to see it, and just as they had reached the gorge the large amount of damed-up water started the gorge, and the boys started at a 2:40 gait to be first at Kellektiville. The run was about two miles, and the boys say they did their best, but the ice beat them here. The ice passed here at a 7-mile-an-hour pace and did not stop as has been reported. The water was in several of the buildings on the west side but no damage was done.

If the ice had stopped at "Crooked Chute," as every one thought it would, the water and ice would have certainly done considerable damage to property of both sides of the stream, but the water being so high and running at such a rapid rate, the ice did not get time to stop. The Minister flats are covered with ice to a depth of two feet, and extends three-fourths of a mile in length. The bridge spanning little Minister was carried away by the water. At the passing of the last gorge the ice on the east side of the island started out and the bridge was taken at that point.

Salmou Creek, true to its nature, was on an old time boom, and considerable damage was done to Kribbs & Fleming's logs. The logs were piled in large heaps and the water was so high the piles were carried down the stream and turned crosswise and jammed up so as to make it quite difficult to raft them. Two-mile bridge was taken out, and aside from this no other damage is reported.

Horton, Johnson & Co. have built a ferry-boat and will have it in running order to-day, Tuesday.

The bridge was built by C. A. Howe, Supt. of the tannery, 5 or 6 years ago. Last summer the bridge, which was built of pileing, became unsafe and the Road Commissioners replanked and fitted it up at a cost of about $200 to the Township.

The citizens on Monday commenced to build a temporary bridge, and they expect to have it completed in a week.

A few at the people here were heard to express the wish that it would be a good thing if the ice would take the bridge. Now that it is gone one sees how beneficial it was to the place.

A bill will be before the next Grand Jury for the building of a bridge at this place, to be a county bridge. It is not known yet whether we stand any chance of getting a county bridge, but as this township is so heavily in debt, an appeal will be made to see what can be done.

Chas. Andrews was home on a visit from Grove City.

The gas company's main line, that crosses the creek in front of W. A. Kribbs' livery stable, was broken by the ice and the pipe filled with water, and the people on the east side were without gas for a few days. WILL WALKER.

NEWSY NOTES.

Wm. J. Slater, of Tidouate, a prominent lumberman, died Sunday of last week.

Hugh O'Donnell, leader of the Home-Steer strike, was placed on trial Monday morning for murder. It is understood that no attempt will be made to prove an abill, as was done in the cases of Critchlow and Clifford, who were acquitted, but that an entire new line of defence has been decided upon. Great interest is manifested in the trial on account of the prominent part taken in the strike by O'Donnell. O'Donnell has been in jail ever since he surrendered to the authorities, but having been refused.

An oil well has just been finished at Roman, in Russia, which yields more oil than the combined output of the entire Southwest district. It started off at 60,000 bbls. a day. A surprising feature of the phenomenal well is that Roman is in the oil fields where drainage has been more or less constantly going on for years. The daily production of the Russian fields is authoritatively stated to be 170,000 bbls. Geysers such as the Roman well are admirably calculated to cause the sturdy phlegmatic Baku producer to feel his oats. They seem to be able to find phenomenal oil gushers over there in Russia with astonishing frequency and all alarming ease.—Derrick.

"Whether you handle a pick or a pen, a wheelbarrow or a set of books, dig ditches or edit a paper, ring an auction bell or write funny things, you must work," says a self-made man. "If you look around you, you will see that the men who are most able to live the rest of their days without work are the men that work the hardest. Don't be afraid of killing yourself with work. It is beyond your power to do that. Work gives an appetite for meals; it lends solidity to your slumbers; it gives the appreciation of a holiday. The busier you are, the less dexterity you will get into, the sweeter will be your sleep, and the better satisfied the world will be with you."—EX.

There's so much "anti-criminology" talk it is in a fair way to have the usual effect, and we need not be surprised to see a revival of the feminine skirt of vast circumference. One day the world is informed that an anti-criminology league has been formed in Boston; the next day it is reported that 10,000 influential women of England have signed a protest against the introduction of crinolines; and next day a statesman in the Minnesota Legislature has submitted a bill prohibiting hoop skirts. All this sort of thing is likely to have the same result as the admonition of Sam Weller to the cabmen not to put a certain offender's head under the pump. The suggestion promptly resulted in a rush to the pump.—Franklin News.

The winter of 1892-3 will be memorable as the one of most widespread severity known in this generation. In this country there has been more severe and continued cold than for many years, and in the far South there has been an unusual amount of snow and freezing weather. There has been snowfalling on the streets of Savannah, heavy snow in Texas and frequent sharp freezing in northern Florida. All Europe, from the Arctic circle to the Mediterranean, has experienced a most distressing and unusual wintry severity. It is necessary to go back forty or fifty years in most regions to find a precedent. In Austria and Hungary the cold has been more intense than in any winter since 1840. At Buda-Pesth the mercury has marked 20 degrees below zero.—Franklin News.

"Take care of your stomachs, boys," was the advice of the late Judge James Campbell to a company of young Philadelphia lawyers with whom he was chatting. The conversation had turned to the subject of longevity. "To what do you attribute your long life?" asked one of the company of the octogenarian. "To a weak stomach," replied Mr. Campbell with his usual kindly smile and a humorous twinkle. "A weak stomach?" "Yes, a weak stomach," reiterated the old gentleman. "You see, I realized 40 years ago that I had it, and started in to take care of it. As a result I established a regimen that has resulted beneficially to not only my stomach but my whole system; and here I am to-day over 80. Take care of your stomachs, boys, and your stomach will take care of you."

Reference was recently made to a typographical error on the new one-cent Columbus postage stamp, an "R" instead of a "B" in "Columbus," but a greater blunder still has been found. On the one-cent stamp Columbus is pictured in sight of land, standing on the deck of his vessel. He is represented there as a smooth shaven man, not a sign of a beard being visible. On the two-cent stamp Columbus is shown as landing on San Salvador, holding aloft the banner of Castile, with a full beard! As only a few hours elapsed between the time he sighted land and the landing, his beard undisturbedly gazed upon Columbus. This will be a grand opportunity for a hair vogue company. All they will need will be testimonials to prove that Columbus used his particular hair grower on that memorable night four hundred years ago.—Blizzard.

For pains in the chest there is nothing better than a flannel cloth saturated with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound over the seat of pain. It will produce a counter irritation without blistering, and is not so disagreeable as mustard; in fact is much superior to any plaster or account of its pain-relieving qualities. If used in time it will prevent pneumonia. 50 cent bottles at Siggins & Nason's.

Drunkennes, or the Liquor Habit, positively cured by administering Dr. Hanes' Golden Specific. It is a substance as a powder, which can be given in a glass of beer, a cup of coffee tea, or in fluid, without the knowledge of the patient. It is absolutely harmless, and will effect a permanent and speedy cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. It has been given in thousands of cases, and in every instance a perfect cure has followed. It never fails. Cures guaranteed. 48 page book of particulars free. Address GOLDEN SPECIFIC CO., 185 Race St., Cincinnati, O., Aug. 10-ly.

"In buying a cough medicine for children," says H. A. Walker, a prominent druggist of Ogden, Utah, "never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it, and relief is always sure to follow." Particularly recommend Chamberlain's because I have found it to be safe and reliable. It relieves especially for colds, cough and whooping cough. 50 cent bottles for sale by Siggins & Nason.

The Use and Abuse of Whiskey.

This subject could be dwelt upon to a considerable length, and yet much would remain untold, but all agree that the use, the proper use of pure rye whiskey is an excellent tonic, especially so now, when nature insists upon being stimulated. All regular physicians prescribe rye whiskey, and justly claim that Klein's Silver Age and Duquesne Whiskies are most reliable. They do this not only because they have tried them but because the leading hospitals use them—find them the best stimulants in the world. Silver Age sells for $1.50 and Duquesne for $1.25 per full quart. For sale by all dealers and druggists. Ask for them or send to Ludwig Mayer, Oil City, Pa.

Deserving Praise.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never had a complaint that we have not cured, or that has given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Siggins and Nason Druggists.
