REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION. It Does It's Work Quickly and Rarmonionsly. Fell for Judge, and Jackson for Treasurer.

Kingsley Twp.

The Republican State Convention which met in Harrisburg last Wednesday, did its work very promptly and harmoniously, and nominated a winning ticket. Col. Jackson's entrance into the campaign same shall amount to 40 dollars per capfor the nomination at a late hour was ita of our population, and approve the at first little expected to result in a winning race, but he developed so rapidly in strength that before the this convention we repeat the following convention met all opposition melted away and his nomination for State Treasurer was made by acclamation, Messrs. The platform adopted has the right ring, being strong and out- of the producers of the country, its farspoken on all the great issues which are now so prominently before the people. Personally the ticket is strong enough to carry by the usual 75,000 or 80,000 majority, but standing on such principles as are laid down in this document, the majority will hardly be less than 100,000.

THE CANDIDATES

The nominee for Judge of the Supreme Court, David Newlin Fell, of Philadelphia, was born in Buckinham township. Bucks county, in November, 1840. His preliminary education was conducted by his father, who was at the time the County Superintenpent of Schools, and he subsequently graduated at the State Normal School at Millersville, then under the presidency of the late Professor J. P. Wickersham. In August 1862, immediately after leaving the Normal School, Mr. Fell entered the army with a company of students enlisted from the rank of Lieutenant to that of Major of the 122d of protection. Pennsylvania Volunteers. At the close of the war he studied law in Philadelphia with his brother the late W. W. Fell, and was admitted to the bar on March 17, 1866. Entering at once upon the practice of his profession, he rapidly rose at the Bar and commanded a large and lucrative practice in the civil courts. political affairs, and in February, 1876, he was elected a member of Common Counell from the Twentieth ward. In Decemappointed him a member of the Municid Commission created to devise a plan for the better government of the cities of the Commonwealth. On May 3, 1877, the death of Judge Pratt, and he resigned his membership of the Municipal and of Common Council to accept this position. In September of the same year he received the Republican nomination for a full term of ten years, and was endorsed expiration of his first term, Judge Fell was renominated by the Republicans and again endorsed by the Democrats, and was elected for a second term without opposition in November, 1887.

Colonel Samuel M. Jackson, the candidate for State Treasuser, lives in the thriving little town of Apollo, in Armstrong county, and about forty miles northeast of Pittsburg. He was born on a farm near Apollo on September 24, 1833, and is thus nearly 60 years of age. He was reared at his birthplace, and at the age of 16 entered the academy at Jacksonville, Indiana county. Before he completed his course, the death of his father compelled him to leave school and abandon his contemplated liberal academic education. He took an active part in the State militia, in which he obtained his enrollment at thirteen years of age as a drummer. Efficiency as a soldier secured him successive promotion until he was commissioned a captain. When the war broke out Captain Jackson immediately proffered his services to the Government and recruited Company G, or the Apollo Independent Blues, of the 11th Pennsylvanis Reserves, of which he became captain when it was mustered into service. On July 3d, 1861, he was promoted to Major, and on October 28th was commissioned lieutenant colonel. On April 10th, 1862, he was promoted to colonel of his regiment. He served gallantly through his three years' term of the presidential or gubernatorial election service, received two slight wounds, was conspicious at Gaines' Mill, Bull Run, South Mountain, Antistam, Fredricksburg, Gettysburg, Wilderness, Spottsylvania Court House, and Bethesda Church. He particularly distinguished himself at South Mountain, Fredricksburg, Gettys- in Congress are trying to steal Tom George S. Hindman. burg and the Wilderness.

turned to his home and the pursuit of ousiness life. He was engaged in the oil business in Venange county for some time, but returned to Armstrong county in 1860 and was elected to the Legislature. In 1870 he was re-elected. In 1874 he was elected to the State Senate to represent the 41st district, composed of Armstrong and Butler counties. His serthat he was tendered a renomination, which he declined. In 1871 Col. Jackson was instrumental in organizing the Apollo Savings Bank, of which he was made cashier, and served as such until April, 1882, when he was appointed by President Arthur as Collector of Internal Revenue in the 23d district. He assumed the duties of this office on July 1st 1882, and served until July 1st 1885, when the first Cleveland of the Apollo Savings Bank, which office he has since held. He is also secretary and treasurer of the firm of P. H. Laufman & Co., Limited, manufactures of sheet iron, etc.

THE PLATFORM.

The Republicans of Pennsylvania, in convention assembled, reaffirming their adhesion to the declaration of principles adopted by the National Republican convention of 1892, resolve:

That we demand the immediate and nconditional repeal of the purchasing lause of the act of congress entitled, 'An act directing the purchase of silver oullion and the issuing of treasury notes," approved July 14, 1890.

We congratulate the country on the recent and prompt and patriotic action of the house of representatives, and request the Senators from Pennsylvania to support similar legislation now pending in the senate.

We favor the expansion of the circulating medium of the country until the proposition to issue to National banks notes to the par value of the bonds deposited to secure their circulation. In declaration of the last Republican National convention:

WHAT's this? A net increase in the public debt of $10,000,000 and a decrease in the cash in the Treasury of $10,500,000? Where are the Democratic financiers who berated the Republicans for spending the Nation's cash? They ought to come to the resadministration came into power. THE latest supension is Hoke Smith's suspension of his pension suspension order. After grimseing and smarting under the righteous indignation of an outraged public until he could stand it no longer, or until he saw that contemtible order was about to be carried into court by the Graud Army, he backs completely down and calls it a modification. He has shown his hand, and reversal of himself at this late day will not belp the administration out of a bad hole.

THE Democrats of the Committee on Ways and Means are now prepared to go ahead with their free trade schemes. The chairman is alleged as saving that be would prefer the House to take a recess in order to get rid of members of Congress who will be bothering the Committee with their constituents who wish to make statements in defense of their incustries. He says, the Committee propose to get up a a bill to suit themtion or opinions from American manafactures or wage workers. This is on the interests of the people and enterprise of the North which has yet been made.

Deal Gently With the East.

The Hon. Joseph C. Sibley, the millionaire Pennsylvania politicsfancier, told the House of Represened upon the people west of the Alleghenies and south of Mason's and Dixon's line.
