Hypodermic Injection of Periumes.

There was quite a rage some years ago in the East for perfuming the skin. Some physicians discovered that the hypodermie injection of certain perfumes, such as white rose, lilac or violet, under the skin caused the perfume to be exhaled from the whole body, and even from the breath. All the ladies wanted to be perfumed. The operation had to be repeated about once a week in order to secure the de sired results. But, unfortunately, two or three of the perfumed ones suffered subsequently from blood poisoning, and one or two died. That put a quietus on the hypodermic injection of perfume, and the whole matter dropped. - London Answers.

A Strange Superstition.

In Bosnia the people have believed at all times that a bridge could not be firm and lasting unless a Luman being was walled up in it. Thus there is a legend connected with the handsome Roman bridge at Mostar, which says that the fine arch across the Narenta could not be finished until the architect walled up in it a bridal pair. Now that a solid bridge is being built across the Save at Brazeka this superstition is revived. It is rumored everywhere that gypsics are stealing children to sell them to contractors, who will wall one up in each pillar. - Exchange.

Boiled to Death.

The last instance of boiling to death took place in Persia in 1890. The offender was guilty of stealing State revenues and was put into a large caldron of cold water, which was slowly heated to the boiling point. His bones were distributed, as a warning, among the provincial tax collectors,

PREVENTING CHICKEN POX.

Owing to his vigilance and the constancy of his labors in the earlier part of the year, the poultry raiser is apt to take things easier now, and liable to neglect to keep the coops of his chickens clean. But they need just as much attention now as over-more if there is any difference, for the amount of droppings increases with the size of the chickens. It is in unclean coops that the chicken pox usually appears. About the sides of the face and on the comb, wattles and earlobes, may be noticed scabs. If nothing is done for them, the disease sometimes so spreads as to make the head a solid sore, and even to destroy the sight and cause death. Remove the scabs and rub in dry sulphur twice a day. A few appli-cations will usually affect a cure. In the South this disease is treated with an ointment of salt and lard rubbed into the sores. A few applications will suffice. A little salphur in the food is helpful.-American Agriculturist.

THE CABBAGE WORM. The green cabbage worm is most easily destroyed by sprinkling a solution of saltpetre on the leaves. This kills the small worms before they have done much mischief. It is much less trouble than picking off the worms, but this may be done when only a few plants are grown in a small garden. The solution may be sprayed on the plants by a suitable force pump. Such a machine is made and sold by dealers in agricultural implements, to be strapped to a man's back and carry the supply in a small tank, the liquid flowing from it through a fine nozzle as the man walks along. For a few plants the hand rubber sprayer or a large syringe may be used. It is said that wheat bran sprinkled on the plants per. will keep off the worms, but it is not

Do not hang the harness in a horse stable. The ammonia arising from the floor is very destructive to leather of any kind. Before offing the harness, re-move all dirt and daudruff by thoroughly washing with strong castile scap suds. The harness should be taken spart before commencing operations. Choose a warm day, if done out of doors, or work near a stove if indoors. As soon as dry, any of the harness oils may be applied with a woolen cloth, or soft sponge, using care to saturate every portion. After each strap has been oiled, bend it back

If not previously oiled for a long time, a second application should be given, and after a few hours go over with a dry cloth, removing all that has not been absorbed. In place of the usual neat's foot or petroleum harness oil, melted lard free from salt, or even un-salted butter, may be used. It is better still to boil up the broken shin bones of a beef. In short, these common fisher folks spent upon intericating beverages more than $1 per month for every unit of their number, including women and children. The same ratio of intemperance applied to the whole of Japan would signify an annual expenditure of $500,000,000 on in-toxicating beverages alone. In the face of this reckless outlay for liquor the people often suffered severely from hunger and cold during the winter, the price of rice ranging very high in the midwinter months and the dwelling houses being ill adapted to exclude the inclement atmosphere. The local au-thorities prevailed upon them to adopt a sys-tem of storing provisions against times of scarcity but the scarce. A new tin pie-plate, evolved by a woman, has holes in the bottom to ventilate the undercrust, and thus prevent it from becoming soggy. A crinkled rim of tin is laid over the edges of the pie-crust to keep them together and prevent the escape of the juices. Being left-handed, I took kindly, too, to a spider seen the other day which has a lip on both sides. Some other so-called improvements in the incidential atmosphere The local au-thorities prevailed upon them to adopt a sys-tem of storing provisions against times of scarcity, but their sources, refuced by pay ments on account of sake, were insufficient to accomplish anything effective in that line. These circumstances induced some hold men among them to openly denounce the ex-cessive use of alcoholic beverages as the cause of all the people's sufferings, and to preach the necessity of applying to useful purposes the funds thus squandered. The erusade provoked violent opposition, but in 1884 the inhabitants were induced to enter into the following agreement: "Covenant made by the people of Okushiri Island concerning the sale and purchase of alcoholic beverages and the use of the same in the island of Okushiri." Have uses in cooking well known to every housekeeper; but the method of refining them to make them chemically pure, and of mixing them together so as to produce their greatest leavening power and best results when combined, is a matter of great exactness, requiring the most expert knowledge and skill.

Royal Baking Powder

Is the product of this knowledge and experience and the expenditure of many thousands of dollars in patents and appliances for its preparation. It is a compound of strictly pure grape cream of tartar and absolutely pure soda, combined with exactness and care by famous chemists, and it will produce more wholesome and delicate bread, biscuit, cake, rolls, etc., than can be had where this modern agent of cooking is not used.

Beware of the cheap compounds called baking powders to catch the unwary. They are made with alum and are poisonous.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live bet-ter than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs. Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleas-ant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect hax-ative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kid-neys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance. Syrup of Figs is for sale by all drug-gists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manifactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.
