Hypodermic Injection of Perinmes.

There was quite a rage some years ago in the East for perfuming the skin. Some physicians discovered that the hypodermic injection of certain perfumes, such as white rose, lilac or violet, under the skin caused the perfume to be exhaled from the whole body, and even from the breath. All the ladies wanted to be perfumed. The operation had to be repeated about once a week in order to secure the desired results. But, unfortunately, two or three of the perfumed ones suffered subsequently from blood poisoning, and one or two died. That put a quietus on the hypodermie injection of perfume, and the whole matter dropped.-London Answers.

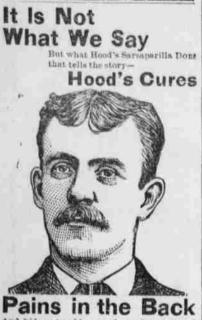

A Strange Superstition.

In Bosnis the people have believed at all times that a bridge could not be firm and lasting unless a human being was walled up in it. Thus there is a legend connected with the handsome Roman bridge at Mostar, which says that the fine arch across the Narenta could not be finished until the architect walled up in it a bridal pair. Now that a solid bridge is being built across the Save at Brazeka this superstition is revived. It is rumored everywhere that gypsies are stealing children to sell them to contractors, who will wall one up in each pillar .- Exchange, Boiled to Death.

The last insiance of boiling to death took place in Persia in 1890. The offender was guilty of stealing State revenues and was put into a large caldron of cold water, which was slowly heated to the boiling point. His bones were distributed, as a warning, among the provincial tax collectors.

THE CARRAGE WORM. The green cabbage worm is most easily destroyed by sprinkling a solution of saltpetre on the leaves. This kills the small worms before they have done much mischief. It is much less trouble than picking off the worms, but this may be done when only a few plants are grown in a small garden. The solution may be sprayed on the plants by a suitable force pump. Such a machine is made and sold by dealers in agricultural implements, to be strapped to a man's back and carry the supply in a small tank, the liquid flowing from it through a fine nozzle as the man walks along. For a few plants the hand rubber sprayer or a large syringe may be used. It is said that wheat bran sprinkled on the plants will keep off the worms, but it is not so effective as the seltpetre solution. The parent of this worm is a white butterfly with small black spots on the wings; if this is caught by a small hand net it will prevent the laying of hundreds of eggs, and as many worms that will have to be killed otherwise.

A very pretty lunchoon table cannot well have cold meats upon it unless these are particularly well aranged. Haphazard slices will not do at all, nør will even a liberal parsley garnish help matters greatly. The daintiest and the most picturesque way to serve cold meats is to slice them and then rearrange in bulk again. To do this nicely a large piece of meat-say a fine roast of beef-must be cooked and then allowed to get very cold. When quite cold the beef is sliced all the way across in mammoth slices, one by When all the slicing is done the one. pieces are carefully put in place again just as they were when whole, and the "roast" is apparently untouched. For greater convenience in the serving the entire piece of meat is cut once agross so that the slices when taken off are half size instead of colossal in dimensions. A piece de resistance like a full sized roast of beef in the centre of a luncheon table is a stately thing to gaze upon, and gives the guests the comfortable assurance that the substantial part of the feast is not to be sacrificed entirely to delicacies.-New York Telegram.

UTENSILS THAT ARE IMPRACTICABLE.

A new tin pie-plate, evolved by a woman, has holes in the bottom to ventilate the undercrust, and thus prevent it from becoming soggy. A crinkled rim of tin is laid over the edges of the pie-crust to keep them together and prevent the escape of the juices. Being left-handed, I took kindly, too, to a spider seen the other day hich has a lip on both sides. Some other so-called improvements in household utensils have little to recommend them except that they are new. Among them are a flour sifter that may be fastened against the wall and turned with a crank, a metal kneading board which fastens to the table so that it will not slip about, and a wooden roller covered with Turkish toweling for dusting hardwood floors or carpets. The latter is not half as good an arrangement for dusting as the English dark-blue flannel kept purposely for hardwood floors, made into a bag and kept on a broom, as it can-not be used in the corners of a room. Whon a damp cloth is to be used, it would not equal a clean flannel cloth in a self-wringing mop. Small meat-choppers, fruit-presses and evaporators for drying fruit are really labor-saving contrivances. Too often complex pieces of help-fulness are only an added care and an added expense. Before buying them as a pleasing novelty they should be carefully studied. All kitchen utensils should be as plain and simple and as light weight as possible, for the sake of the person who lifts and cleanses them each day.-New York Post.

Cream of Tartar and Soda Have uses in cooking well known to every housekeeper; but the method of refining them to make them chemically pure, and of mixing them together so as to produce their greatest leavening power and best results when combined, is a matter of great exactness, requiring the most expert knowledge and skill.

Royal Baking Powder

Is the product of this knowledge and experience and the expenditure of many thousands of dollars in patents and appliances for its preparation. It is a compound of strictly pure grape cream of tartar and absolutely pure soda, combined with exactness and care by famous chemists, and it will produce more wholesome and delicate bread, biscuit, cake, rolls, etc., than can be had where this modern agent of cooking is not used.

Beware of the cheap compounds called haking powders to catch the unwary. They are made with alum and are poisonous.

Miss Georgia A. Knight, of this city, tells a peculiar story. At a con-cert in Bangor recently Miss Knight was singing her favorite solo, "Sleep, My Baby, Sleep," when the stillness of the opera house was broken by a "dull thud" in one of the galleries, followed by a roar of laughter that quickly spread all around the bouse. It appears that a college student had grown aweary with long application to his studies, and, lured on by Miss Knight's sympathetic tones and kind invitation to repose, he fell asleep and disgraced himself by rolling off the seat.—Portland (Me.)
