

Not Prepared For a Snip Shot.
 A characteristic little story comes from the scenes of the recent land rush in Oklahoma. One of the heroines of the occasion was Miss Mabel Gentry, of Nowata County, Kansas. She was the seventh to seize a claim, riding on a spirited pony. She was armed with a revolver and a lunch basket, and was prepared to guard her claim as long as it was necessary. But when an enterprising newspaper correspondent asked leave to take her photograph she promptly donned on the ground that she "was looking like a fright."—Detroit Free Press.

HOOD'S Sarsaparilla CURES

Blood Poisoned

By impure matter not in vaccination, caused our three little children much suffering. They became covered with sores. After taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for a month, the eruptions healed, their appetites became normal, they slept well and commenced to gain in flesh. They have not had a sick day since. No children are more robust and healthy. We believe we owe our children's lives to Hood's Sarsaparilla."—Mrs. James Throver, San Jose, Cal.

"German Syrup"

I am a farmer at Edom, Texas. I have used German Syrup for six years successfully for Sore Throat, Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Pains in Chest and Lungs and Spitting-up of Blood. I have tried many kinds of Cough Syrups in my time, but let me say to anyone wanting such a medicine—German Syrup is the best. We are subject to so many sudden changes from cold to hot, damp weather here, but in families where German Syrup is used there is little trouble from colds. John F. Jones.

 of Cod Liver Oil. It is almost as palatable as milk. No preparation so rapidly builds up good flesh, strength and nerve force. Mothers the world over rely upon it in all wasting diseases that children are heir to.

FARM & GARDEN

JAR BUTTER.
 Now is the time to put down your potted butter. Use the same accuracy as regards temperature as in other butter. Salt it a trifle over an ounce to a pound, wash thoroughly while in granular form, work well and pack. If possible, fill a jar at a single churning. On the top of each jar put a thickness of parchment paper, then tie on a stout covering and place in a cool, dark place, absolutely free from any odor.—American Farmer.

VENTILATE THE CELLAR IN WINTER.
 Most farm cellars have no partitions. Thus in one room are stored apples, potatoes, other vegetables, the milk and butter, together with the canned fruits and meat. The cellar is usually located directly under the kitchen and sitting room, and not infrequently the bedroom. It is a fact that unless the fruit and vegetables are carefully looked over every month there will be a great amount of obnoxious vapor constantly coming from them to contaminate the atmosphere, and being lighter than cold air it will rise to the rooms above. Hence it is best on pleasant days to open the cellar doors and windows for proper ventilation, not leaving them, as many do, tightly closed from early winter until spring. Milk and butter quickly absorb the odors from decaying vegetation, injuring the quality and healthfulness.

FALL FEEDING OF YOUNG STOCK.
 Young farm stock, whether intended for the slaughter or to be retained upon the farm, should be kept growing continually until nearly, if not fully, the average size is attained. Keep the animals in good pasture during the summer and during the usual droughts of early autumn. If an extra growth of corn fodder to be used as a daily feed is not attainable, then a feed of grain should be given at least once a day. During the cold, stormy days that prevail before stock finally go into winter quarters, the grain feed should be maintained, and when brought to the yard, a comfortable shelter be provided. Do not practice the foolish policy of attempting to show cheaply one can winter stock, that there may be more grain and hay to sell in the spring. On the contrary, give them the best of fodder, if there be a choice. This need not necessarily be dealt out in large quantities, but in amounts that will be eaten up cleanly previous to the next feeding. A quart of ground feed fed daily to a calf or colt, or a small heifer, will greatly stimulate growth and prove a good financial investment for the stock raiser.—American Agriculturist.

GESE AND DUCKS.
 There are two advantages with these two classes of poultry over chickens and turkeys—they are less liable to disease and are less trouble to look after. After the geese and ducks get reasonably well feathered they can be turned out into a good pasture, and if there is plenty of water they will need very little attention, at least until cold weather. It takes a good breed of layers for a hen to lay more eggs than a good Pekin duck, and it will sheltered and fed they will commence laying the latter part of January and will lay all the rest of the winter and the early spring, and will usually take a second spring the latter part of the summer. To make the most of both ducks and geese it is necessary to pick their fethers regularly, commencing as soon as they are through laying in the spring. The feathers should be picked regularly all the summer until reasonably cold weather in the fall. A sufficient amount of feathers can readily be secured to pay for their keep, so that the eggs and increase may be considered as profit.

FARM AND GARDEN NOTES.
 Gather the eggs twice daily. Avoid placing strange broods together. Better keep the late chickens by themselves. The pullets will do better without the cockerels. The Minorcas and Red Caps are among the best layers now. Thorough ventilation is necessary to the successful keeping of fruit. Cabbage heads should be hung up in the poultry-house for the fowls to pick at. Get rid of your surplus cockerels early and so save feeding them at a loss. Bees never store honey in the light, because honey thus exposed granulates. Study the foods raised on the farm and use them for the purposes they are suited for. New and better blood will improve the health of the fowls and the pocket-book of their owner. It is said that rye feed gives a good color to the yolk of the egg and adds richness to the flavor. Don't let your fowls stand out in all sorts of weather if you expect to make any money from them. On the pruning given a tree during the first few years of life depends the future shape of the tree. Potassic manures are best for fruit trees in general. Bone dust and wood ashes are a good mixture. It is best to begin in good season so as to be ready to winter the bees in as good condition as possible. Give your hens gravel or some sort of gritty material if you would keep them well and avoid indigestion. Fall is a good time to prune almost any kind of tree, as the wounds made at this time will not produce decay. If you would keep the young stock growing steadily and rapidly, let them have plenty of clean water at all times. Do not spoil nice white honey by storing it away in dirty-looking boxes, especially if it is to be sent to market. Commence in good season to gather up and store away in as good condition as possible all surplus combs and boxes. The successful fruit grower must be able to tell what kind of insects are injuring his tree, and apply the insecticide that is most destructive to them at once. As in beekeeping, he that can produce the greatest crop is not the best beekeeper; but he that can effect it with the least expense and manage to sell it at a good profit is the best.

THE BIGGEST.—
 Cask is the new tin at Munich. Diamond is the Jagersfontein gem of 971 karats. Cable message ever sent from Africa was King Behanzani's $1500 message. Photograph was at the World's Fair—four feet long, eighteen inches wide. Lump of coal ever mined weighs 50,000 pounds, and was, of course, at the Fair. Railroad loop in the world is probable one on a Missouri road. It is seventy miles around. Check ever drawn was for $14,949,622.49, and was written by the P. H. R. to pay for the P. W. & B. R. R. Other big things, perhaps not the biggest of their kind: Five men in Curtis, Neb., who weigh as much as a ton of coal, 1200 pounds; a bunch of grapes from Washington weighing six pounds.—New York Recorder.

WARY FOR CALVES.
 In all cheese factories districts the raising of calves is one of the most difficult problems that the patrons have to deal with. Why? You see, as a rule, put-bellied, scrawny-skinned and stunted. Calves that are to grow up and become dairy cows should not be in a better condition; yet they must be made to thrive and develop, says the

HOUSEHOLD AFFAIRS.
CARPET SWEEPING.
 With a little care you can sweep the dirtiest carpet without raising much of a dust by placing outside the door of the room to be swept a pail of clear, cold water. Wet your broom, knock it against the side of the bucket to get out all the drops, sweep a couple of yards, then rinse off the broom again. Continue this until you have gone over the entire surface. If the carpet is very much soiled the water should be changed several times. Slightly moistened Indian meal is also used by the oldest housewives. Snow, if not allowed to melt, is also efficient as a dust settler.—St. Louis Republic.

TO PREY FISH.
 "Small fish should swim twice, once in water and once in oil." Perch, brook trout, catfish and all small fish are best fried. They should be cleaned, washed well in cold water and immediately wiped dry, inside and outside, with a clean towel and then sprinkled with salt. Use oil if convenient, as it is very much cheaper than either dripping or lard. Never use butter, as it is apt to burn and has a tendency to soften the fish. See that the oil, lard or dripping is boiling hot before putting in the fish. Throw in a crumb of bread; if it browns quickly it is hot enough and the fish will not absorb any grease.—New York World.

MANY USES FOR SODA.
 Tinware may be brightened by dipping a damp cloth in common soda and rubbing it well. Very hot soda in a solution, applied with a soft flannel, will remove paint splashes. Use soda in the water to clean paint and glass instead of soap. Strong, tepid soda water will make glass very brilliant, then rinse in cold water, wipe dry with linen cloth. Ceilings that have become smoked by kerosene lamps may be cleaned by washing off with soda water. For cleaning oil paint before repainting, use two ounces of soda dissolved in a quart of hot water, then rinse off with clear water. A lump of soda laid on the drain pipe will prevent the pipes becoming clogged with grease; also, flooding the pipes once a week with boiling water, in which a little soda is dissolved. Wash white marble porches, bath, etc., with a mop dipped in boiling hot water and soda. A good deal of soda should be dissolved in the water.

WEAK AND NERVOUS.
Sleepless Nights, All Unstrung.
 East Groveland, N. Y., May 19, 1893.
 Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y. Gentlemen—Last March I suffered very bad with heart and kidney trouble. After using two bottles of your Swamp-Root I feel better and stronger and I now feel like another person. I do not have those terrible pains in my back and across my kidneys. My food does not digest, and I have no appetite and sleep well nights something I have not done in a long time. Now I do not have that tired dragging feeling that I used to have before taking your medicine. After sitting down awhile and getting on my feet I would have to stand and steady myself before I could place one foot before the other on account of the pain across my back and kidneys.

MONEY WORSE THAN THROWN AWAY.
 The amount of money uselessly spent for liquors in the United States simply to satisfy the appetite (having off the revenue derived from the traffic) for good results from the use for industrial, artistic, mechanical, and medicinal purposes) would, each year, pay all the expenses of the United States Government, and all the collections made on account of tariff, and for all property destroyed by fire in the United States, and pay the national debt of 77,911,525 dollars for "pin money."

HE WAS A TEETOTALER.
 Dr. Thomas Guthrie was an indefatigable preacher against intemperance, and was the originator of ragged schools, which became a National feature. He took a temperance meeting in Belfast, "to form a high opinion of the cause of temperance by the bearing of a Irishman. It is now some twenty-two years ago. I had long been a teetotaler, sitting, blasting day, with a blazing rain, and had to travel across a cold country to Cookstown. Well, by the time we had got over half the way we reached a man, an Irishman, which we went, as sailors in stress of weather run into the first haven. By this time we were soaking with water outside, and as these two men had been drinking, we thought the best way was to soak ourselves with whisky inside. Accordingly, we rushed into the inn, ordered warm water and got our tanks of today. Out of kindness to the car driver, we called him in. He was not very well clothed—indeed, he rather belonged in that respect to the order of my ragged school in Edinburgh. He was soaking wet and we offered him a good runner of today. We thought that what was sauce for the goose was sauce for the gander, but the car driver was not such a gander as we, the goose, took him for. He would not taste it. "Why," we asked, "what is the matter with you?" "I am a teetotaler," he replied, "and I won't taste a drop of it."

A DISEASE OF THE NERVES.
 It is said by those in a position to know that it is of no use to disguise the terrible fact that intemperance is more frequent among women than it has ever been before, more general and more ruinous, to the point of physical and mental insanity. It is time, to listen even to the suppositions concerning its causes, one supposition being that only women who are giving up the opportunity of going through life at a great pace, make it necessary that they should resort to whisky and spurs to maintain the gait. It is, however, now necessary to understand that intemperance is not a disease of the nerves, but a disease of the system, and that it is more prevalent among women than men, and that it is more prevalent among the lower than the higher classes of society. The most common cause of this disease is the use of alcohol in the form of beer, wine, and spirits. The effects of alcohol on the system are to excite the nervous system, to increase the secretion of the secretory organs, and to produce a general debility of the system. The most common symptoms of this disease are, loss of appetite, indigestion, and a general feeling of weakness and debility. It is necessary to treat this disease with care, and to avoid the use of alcohol altogether.

THE HAUGHTY TOBACCO PLANT.
 Professor Tchernas, in his talks about Armenian folk lore, says that according to tradition the Saviour was once passing through a certain field in Armenia. All the plants therein bowed down to him excepting the tobacco plant. Displeased, the Saviour said to the plant: "Accursed thou art; born forever." The Armenians, according to the professor, assist largely in carrying out the sentence which they believe was pronounced upon the plant.—Springfield Republican.

TEMPERANCE NEWS AND NOTES.
 The ancient Indians killed their klags if they became drunk. France has one drink shop for every eighty-seven of her population. No one of the anarchists pardoned by Governor Algebe, of Illinois, has quitte naturally gone into the police regions. There is nothing to laugh at in getting "right." It is not "funny" to see a man railing himself and his family and losing his soul. The Indians of the Omaha reservation, it is stated, have put aside $2000 for their "pasture money," to be used in temperance work. M. Faville, of Paris, has estimated the amount of persons using morphine in the city at forty thousand. And Paris not a prohibition city. The Young Abstinence Union, of China, now numbers in its several branches of Shanghai, Foo Chow, and other cities, upwards of 3000 members. There is some hope for Chicago. Its new City Directory shows an increase in its population of 100,000 since 1892. Ernest Pecker, of the Pecker Brewing Company, is authority for the statement that "of the 7229 saloons in Chicago, fully 4000 are owned by the brewers."

The Young Abstinence Union, of China, now numbers in its several branches of Shanghai, Foo Chow, and other cities, upwards of 3000 members. There is some hope for Chicago. Its new City Directory shows an increase in its population of 100,000 since 1892. Ernest Pecker, of the Pecker Brewing Company, is authority for the statement that "of the 7229 saloons in Chicago, fully 4000 are owned by the brewers."

TEMPERANCE NEWS AND NOTES.
 The ancient Indians killed their klags if they became drunk. France has one drink shop for every eighty-seven of her population. No one of the anarchists pardoned by Governor Algebe, of Illinois, has quitte naturally gone into the police regions. There is nothing to laugh at in getting "right." It is not "funny" to see a man railing himself and his family and losing his soul. The Indians of the Omaha reservation, it is stated, have put aside $2000 for their "pasture money," to be used in temperance work. M. Faville, of Paris, has estimated the amount of persons using morphine in the city at forty thousand. And Paris not a prohibition city. Studying a Rattler's Rattle.
 The growth of the rattle of the rattlesnake has been studied by a German scientist, who finds that the rattle is frequently shed; and, after being shed (his snakes were kept in a very warm room), in three or four months two rattles were present, their appearance having nothing to do with the casting of the skin. The snakes were made to register the vibrations of the rattle on smoked paper, and it was found that the vibration was a compound one, consisting of the vibration of the tail as a whole, and of the rattle independently of the tail vibrations. The approximate figures of vibrations were, for the tail, seventy-five; of the rattle, 110 a second.—Chicago Herald.

Towed by an Iceberg.
 When interesting tales of adventure at sea are told, Maine men always take a leading part. Captain Chase, of the bark E. O. Clark, a son of Captain Loring Chase, of East Machin, now advances the claim of being the only skipper whose bark was ever towed by an iceberg. This experience was enjoyed on a late voyage from Greenland to Philadelphia. The bark was caught in drift ice and carried many miles out of her course, but rode out the experience in safety, a line having been made fast to one of the nearest bergs to keep her steady until several days later the wind changed and the rope was cut, the vessel soon freeing herself from the ice.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

WEAK AND NERVOUS.
 Sleepless Nights, All Unstrung.
 East Groveland, N. Y., May 19, 1893.
 Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y. Gentlemen—Last March I suffered very bad with heart and kidney trouble. After using two bottles of your Swamp-Root I feel better and stronger and I now feel like another person. I do not have those terrible pains in my back and across my kidneys. My food does not digest, and I have no appetite and sleep well nights something I have not done in a long time. Now I do not have that tired dragging feeling that I used to have before taking your medicine. After sitting down awhile and getting on my feet I would have to stand and steady myself before I could place one foot before the other on account of the pain across my back and kidneys.
