

Republican State Ticket.

Congress-at-Large, Hon. GALUSHA A. GROW, of Susquehanna County.

Republican Caucuses. GREEN TOWNSHIP.

The Republicans of Green Twp. will hold a caucus at Nebraska, Saturday, Jan. 27, 1894, to nominate a ticket for the spring election.

LEON WATSON, Committeeman.

TIONESTA TOWNSHIP.

The Republicans of Tionesta Township will meet in caucus Saturday afternoon, June 27, in the new Township Building, at the creek bridge, for the purpose of placing in nomination a ticket for the approaching spring election.

By order of the Committeemen.

SENATOR DAVE HILL has succeeded in having Mr. Hornblower rejected for the Supreme Bench. He must be a very good man for the place and a very decent, honorable man, or Hill would not oppose him.

HON. JOSEPH H. MANLEY, of Maine, is the man who will lead the Republican hosts to victory in 1896. As Chairman of the Republican National Committee he will be a host in himself, for he has been a Republican worker from youth. The skies are bright.

AFTER much hustling to find a victim to run against Grow, the Democratic State Convention at Harrisburg last week prevailed on J. D. Hancock of Franklin to stand as a candidate for the slaughter. When Mr. Hancock crawls out from under the 200,000 majority, which Mr. Grow will get he'll wonder who throve that bomb.

HERE are the Democratic newspapers which have revolted against the Cleveland administration and the Wilson bill:

- New York Sun. Cincinnati Enquirer. Cleveland Plain Dealer. Chicago Herald. Richmond Times. Birmingham Age-Herald. New Orleans Picayune. New Orleans Times Democrat.

THE old war Governor, Andrew G. Curtin, was too fly for the Democratic managers who wanted to nominate him for Congressman-at-Large. He said, "No thank you," to Adjutant General Greenland, and winked his other eye as he thought of the fearful drubbing the candidate will get. Besides, it is popularly supposed that Mr. Curtin is going to vote for Galusha A. Grow because of his admiration of the grand old Republican candidate.

It is given out, with an apparent show of authority, that the Democratic State headquarters are to be at once opened up, with Chairman Wright in personal command, the intention being to inaugurate an "active campaign for the election of J. Denton Hancock as Congressman-at-Large." This makes funny reading, and, simmered down, probably means that the hopeful Chairman intends bending every possible energy toward keeping ex-Speaker Grow's majority below 200,000.

THE newly organized party of Pennsylvania Democracy (so called to distinguish it from the Ohio or South Carolina or Oklahoma Territory brand of unfertilized) will have until January 24th to get 2,211 signers to its papers nominating Dr. A. D. Markley, of Montgomery county, Pa., for Congressman-at-Large. By that time they ought to pick up more than 2,211 signers—they ought to have 5,000 signers or thrice 5,000, for there are a great many disappointed pie counter Democrats in this State. —Harrisburg Telegraph.

It is announced that the Hon. Galusha A. Grow will open the Republican campaign in Lancaster on January 18th. This is a few weeks behind time. The Republican campaign was opened in Harrisburg on January 3rd when that grand statesman, Galusha A. Grow, from the Opera House stage, made one of the greatest Republican speeches ever heard in this state. The campaign is open, it is now on, and being prosecuted with vigor. Every delegate to the convention of January 30, every Republican who attended it, went home to keep up the campaign—so ably begun by Mr. Grow and to put the Republican majority up to 200,000.

"We Earn It, We Want It."

At a meeting of workmen in New York, one of the wage earners, ridiculing the advice of a free trade economist that the workmen utilize the poorest and cheapest kinds of food in these hard times said: "We don't want to know how to cook a shinbone so it will taste like a beefsteak; we want the beefsteak. We earn it, and we want it." The New York Press regards this as sound, common sense and sound Americanism, and every friend of the American workman will agree. Under the operation of the protective policy the wage earners of the United States have been able to purchase the best and most palatable food for their families and plenty of it. There has been no need for them to exercise the miserly and grudging economy in the matter of subsistence that is so prominent and distressing a factor among the ill-nourished workmen of Europe. Until the triumph of Clevelandism, the odds and ends that make up much of the diet of a large part of the laboring classes of Great Britain and the Continent have been absent from the American tables.

The era of Cleveland, free trade and shinbones is now upon us. That devoted Cleveland organ, the Boston Herald, plainly tells the people that they must learn "to make more out of little," and that "it is most important" that they shall "get used to hard times," including, of course, a diet of shinbones. It is a question of beefsteak, versus shinbones. Which do the workmen of the country want? They can make American wages and beefsteak the rule once more if they will. Kill the Wilson bill, and in thirty days every factory in the land will be running full time and there will be work and wages and the comfort of life for all. —Harrisburg Telegraph.

Millions, But No Use for Them.

It has been said that speculation gives the first sign of a coming panic and the first of a recovery from it. Last week there were more than 92,000,000 lying idle in the banks of New York alone, and although inducements were made to borrowers they did not put in an appearance. With all this money at hand, and to be had cheaply, the stock market at the middle of January was about as dull as ever, and that, too, in the face of large shipments last week from Chicago to the seaboard. The uncertainty about the tariff and revenue bills undoubtedly accounts for the dullness in the speculative markets as in all others. But when this uncertainty has been removed by the passage of the bills, assuming that they will be passed and much as they are described, how long will it be before the hoped for revival of business comes? No one pretends to say, and that fact is a sufficient answer to those who insist that the distress is due to the continuance of the old financial system and not to the attempt to reform it. Everything is held back because no one knows exactly what Congress will do, and when Congress has done its work they will still be held back because of the uncertainty as to what the effect will be. —Pittsburg Times.

HON. CHARLES W. STONE has decided, upon the request of his great host of friends in the 27th district, to again be a candidate for re-election to Congress. Men of Mr. Stone's ability and peculiar fitness are not plenty in Congress, and while his friends all over the state would rejoice to see him in the gubernatorial chair, and would gladly lend every honorable effort to that end, they still feel that he can be of greater benefit to the party and people, not only in Pennsylvania, but the country at large, in the capacity of Congressman, than as Governor. Mr. Stone's decision is contained in the following message to E. W. Smiley, of Franklin, chief clerk of the State senate: WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 13. E. W. SMILEY: After consultation with numerous friends in various parts of the district, I have decided to stand for re-nomination and re-election for congress from the Twenty-seventh district. C. W. STONE.

Now the campaign is on. Everybody rally for the grand young veteran, Galusha A. Grow. He is far and away the best candidate now before the people. He is an able advocate of the principles of protection to American industries, and he will be heard from in Congress. All along the line the cry is for Grow, and his majority will be something phenomenal. —"During the epidemic of la grippe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy took the lead here and was much better liked here than any other cough medicine." M. M. Bangs, druggist, Chatsworth, Ill. The grippe is very much the same as a very severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. This remedy is prompt and effective and will prevent any tendency of the disease toward pneumonia. For sale by Siggins & Herman.
