—To be correctly dressed is one of the best introductions. You will find these essentials at Ledebur & Miles'.

—Trade conditions are all in favor of the buyer these days, and Ledebur & Miles are in the lead of bargain makers.

—The decision to hold a summer school during July at the Clarion Normal School meets the approval of many teachers who could not otherwise attend school. They can enter May 1st and remain until August 1st.

—S. W. Braco who has been in Bayfield County, Wis., during the past winter, is in town, preparing to take his family back with him, having located at that place. Willis' many friends will regret that his business interests require his removal from Tionesta.

—Rev. McAninch went down to Indiana county, Monday to assist Rev. Bell next Sabbath. In consequence of Mr. McAninch's absence, the regular services will be omitted in the Presbyterian Church here on that date, but instead, there will be Praise service at 11 o'clock.

—Mrs. J. D. W. Reck, while going down stairs Monday morning, caught her foot in the carpet and fell to the bottom. She was very badly shaken up and her upper lip was cut entirely through so that it was necessary to take two stitches in it. She is getting along nicely we are glad to note.

—Wm. Hilands, Esq., sustained a stroke of paralysis on Saturday night and his condition is now critical. His advanced age—he is now in his 85th year—is against the patient's chance of rallying, but his condition this afternoon shows a marked improvement over yesterday.—Franklin News.

—In the notice of the "Flower Queen" Cantata, last week; we set the date for Monday night. The Vindicator had it Tuesday night in its local mention and Wednesday night in the extended notice. The REPUBLICAN could have had it right too, if it had had two guesses.

—Mr. J. R. Barr has taken possession of the Hotel Marion, at Marienville, and is meeting with good success. Messrs. Branch & Powers have moved into their fine new hotel which they have named the "Keystone Hotel." In the way of hotel accommodations no town of the size in the State is better equipped than Marienville.

—The Clarion Normal School has an attendance of over 500 students this term. Many teachers who are unable to attend before the first to the fifteenth of May, have petitioned the faculty to hold a summer term through July, so as to enable them to enter in May and still have the benefit of a full term. The summer term will open July 9, being the Monday following the close of the spring term.

—Drs. Siggins, Bowman and Morrow amputated the foot of A. H. Ault, the young man whose serious condition, the result of a cut from an adz, was noted last week. The unfortunate young man is doing well at this writing and with no unfavorable change his physicians are hopeful of saving his life. The circumstances attending this case are very sad and there is an opportunity here presented for a little Home Missionary work, by the kind hearted people of our town.

—Hicks predicts May will open with cloudy, cold weather and a drizzling rain, changing to warmer on the 4th. From the 5th to 7th storms will pass over the country followed by cold weather to the 10th with strong probability of frost, and storms again from the 11th to the 14th and another cold wave. From the 21st to the 25th it will be very warm with many storms of rain accompanied by thunder and wind. About the 28th will be the last disturbances for the month bringing fair and cooler days and nights for the close of the month.

—A very pretty wedding took place at the M. E. Parsonage in Tionesta on Wednesday evening last, the contracting parties being Mr. Charles C. Payne, and Miss Lida B. Dunkle, the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dunkle, all of Marienville, Pa. Mr. Payne is one of Jenks township's prosperous lumbermen, and a popular young man with all who know him. The bride is one of the most charming young ladies of the best society of her home, and both are highly esteemed for their many good qualities of mind and heart. After the ceremony was over they took leave of friends, and departed on the eight o'clock train for the principal eastern cities where they will enjoy a two weeks visit before returning to their home in Marienville. The best wishes of a host of friends for a long, prosperous and happy life, in which the REPUBLICAN joins heartily, is extended to them.

"One of our prominent merchants is afraid of being arrested for importing foreign labor. His wife set a hen, and as usual put thirteen eggs under the hen, but by some mistake put a china egg with the rest. After the proper time the hen came clucking off the nest with the Chinaman following her. Hence, his fear of arrest."—Ridgway Democrat.

We have received a little pamphlet, written by Henry Burr, of Washington, D. C., which attempts to prove that Shakespeare could not have been the author of the great dramas bearing his name because he could not write legibly, if at all. None of his writing is in existence excepting his signature to some legal documents, which is very bad indeed. But that, in our opinion, knowing George A. Jenks as we do, is mighty poor evidence. If, several centuries hence, some leucostroke were to arise and say that Mr. Jenks was no great shakes as a lawyer and had never been Solicitor General of the United States, and attempt to prove it by exhibiting some choice specimens of his hand-writing, he might find many people to agree with him. It will not do to gauge a man's mental capacity by his chiropigraphy.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

The honorable business of "housewifery" takes equal and recognized rank with that of "husbandry" in Colorado now. When the wife of ex-Governor Roubid stepped up in front to register as a voter in Denver under the new equal suffrage law recently, and was asked her occupation, she replied, "Housewifery." And hundreds of women who had felt some embarrassment on this point took the cue.

An exchange has compiled the following penitentials which are to be found in the calendar. The calendar offers certain curiosities which are little known, the following are a few of them: No county can commence on a Wednesday, Friday or Saturday. The month of October always commences on the same day of the week as the month of January. February, March and November commence on the same day of the week, whereas May, June and August commence on different days. These rules do not apply to leap years. The ordinary year is always finished on the same day of the week when it commenced. The years repeat themselves—that is to say, they have the same calendar every 28 years.

Rev. I. R. Hicks in the May Word and Works says: "We believe that May and June will be propitious for agricultural interests, to all who will make good use of their opportunities. Let crops be planted with all the haste consistent with thorough preparation, and let the early stages of cultivation be as rapid and perfect as possible. With a clean, pluviosus condition of the soil, as a general thing there will be ample moisture in June to start, and even mature crops, especially the early crops in all the southern parts of our country. The Venus equinox in July is favorable for rains of more or less frequency, even in that month, so that all crops that can be brought to maturity by August, may, we think, be counted on with much assurance. We fear that the 'hot winds' and much lack of general rains will make greatly against farmers who are caught with crops whose success depend upon good seasonal conditions after the middle of July. Crops that cannot be matured so early should by all means, be given unceasing cultivation. A perfectly clean, thoroughly pulverized soil is almost absolute proof against the inroads of drought, for even weeks and months. Prepare for the worst then you will not only be ready should it come, but if the worst does not, you will be prepared for the benefits of the best. The care and preparation we insist upon are on the side of common sense and the most trustworthy experience.

Here are a few hints on the proper treatment of a man, supposed to have been written by a horse: When a man drops from sheer exhaustion or illness, promptly seize an enboard or a cart-stake and pound him on the head and on the ribs. If this does not recuperate him, kick him violently in the belly. This treatment will restore him if persistently administered. If a man finds his head too heavy and feels that it will seriously strain him to proceed, kick off a fence board and knock him down—and hammer him thoroughly with it. This will give renewed energy, and he will make no more fuss. But do not on any account reduce the load. That would look too much like common sense, or humanity, and he'd be likely to balk again when overloaded. If a man refuses to drink when you offer him water, don't give him any for two years. That will "teach him" to be thirsty any time you find it convenient to attend to him. It is a good plan to play the whip frequently on a man who is at work. No matter if he is doing his best, hit him now and then on "general principles" and to prevent him taking any comfort. If his load is not too heavy, obliging him to go faster to make up for it. Work him hard enough as is done with horses. If no whip is handy use a club. The your man's head back in an unnatural position, with his eyes up toward the sun. This will give him a "fine appearance" and prevent "stumbling." Of course he will not be able to do much work in this fix, but it makes him wretched, so it's all right. If it is not perfectly convenient to feed a man who is working for you at noon let him go without, and, by active use of the whip, secure as much work as the food would have secured. Of course it wears out his vitality and distresses him, but that is no matter. These are correct principles, I am sure, for I learned them when a colt from my master, who treated all his horses on this plan.—Ex.
