On the 5th of September next, two flat boats, each 26x170 feet, will start for Pittsburg, reaching there in time for the opening ceremonies of the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, Sept.10. These boats will be provided with sleeping bunks, tables, etc., except blankets and bed clothing, which must be provided by those who go in this way. Good cooks will be provided and all who wish to join the excursion have an invitation to do so, each participant being expected to pay his equal share of expense of trip and hard tack. The boats will be anchored hetween 6th and 7th street bridges, Pittsburg, and all who wish can make that headquarters for eating, sleeping and resting during the week of the encampment. Applicants for quarters must make their wants known to the Chairman of the committee on or before August 15, accompanying World, their application with one dollar for defraying expense of preparing the boats. It is estimated that the entire cost of the trip and stay in Pittsburg will not exceed five dollars, depending, of course, on the number who participate.

The invitation to join this excur-sion is to all, and old soldiers are especially urged to accept, and a grand time is expected. The Post band will be in attendance, and those who have "Old Glory" are requested to bring it along, as we wish to make W. A. Sixth Annual Convention. Wednesday was the close of the fifth year of the existence of the Children's Aid Society of Western Pennsylvania, and the sixth annual convention of the society was held yesterday in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church on Wood street. There were sixty-seven delegates present from twenty-six counties in Western Pennsylvania. Rev. William L. McE-wan opened the convention with prayer, after which the business proceeded with Mrs. J. L. Anderson in the chair, Mrs. Myra J. Mason as secretary and Mrs. W. P. Price as treasurer.

P. Price as treasurer.
There was present at the convention as a spectator Rev. W. H. Thomson of Illinois, who had been in Pittsburg a number of days endeavoring to organize a Children's National Home society on the same lines and for the same purpose as the Children's Aid society. Although Mr. Thompson was present by invitation to witness the business of the convention there was an impression that he was there for no other purpose than to get there for no other purpose than to get pointers for conducting the proposed new society. The Children's Aid society, al-though no action has been taken toward Mr. and Mrs. Rynd's daughter, Mary, who was married to James P. Zagst.

We would like to ask if Kellettville intends to celebrate on the 4th of July?

Surely we have a number of citizens who and made the formation of a new society appear unnecessary. The report of the secretary, Mrs. Mason, showed that the machinery of the society was in excellent condition, that the ladies were doing all the work that came to them and still looking for more. The society has no paid offices except those of the actuaries, and the membership is growing fast. Mrs. Mason, in her report, thanked the newspapers of Western Pennsylvania for lending much valuable assistence in get-ting their work before the public. The its care 616 ociety has at present under its care 616 children, 478 of whom are in free homes 65 in institutions and hospitals and 73 in boarding homes. The following verses were handed in last week, too late to be printed in connection with the death notice of the late Mrs. L. S. Combs of Tionesta township:
