—Mr. Gus B. Evans of East Hickory desires to express his sincere thanks to the neighbors and friends who so very kindly gave their assistance and sympathy during his recent affliction, the illness and death of his wife.

—Wallace Imhoof, who recently sustained severe injuries by being caught by a falling tree in the lumber woods at Little Coon, was again caught by a falling limb and severely, though not seriously, bruised about the face, on Monday of this week. He is beginning to think all the bad luck is falling to his lot.

—J. N. Heath is located at Marion, Kansas, where he is doing a flourishing business in the line of selling his patent liniment. John seems to be stuck on the country out there, and says the promise is for a big crop of all kinds of cereals, the wheat and oats having already been harvested. In a private letter he makes mention of another former Forest county citizen, Mr. E. T. Purdy, who is flourishing in that State.

—Jerry Welsh and George Wellerd did a lively job of drilling for Forest Proper, on a well near the mouth of Fools creek recently, having finished a hole 1180 feet deep in 8 days and 7 hours. This time is pretty hard to beat, we should say.

—Andrew Shaul met with a bad accident in the bark woods at Groce's mill near Marienville last Saturday. He was caught by a falling tree in such a manner that both arms were broken, the left one in two places—above and below the elbow, and the right one above the elbow. Considering the severity of his injuries he is doing quite well.

—The picnic given by Irwin Council, R. T. of T., last Friday was a most enjoyable affair for all who were so fortunate as to be there. The attendance from sister Councils was not so large as was anticipated, hence there was an over supply of good things to eat. Grand Counselor Brakeman was present and delivered a very pleasing address. The band enlivened the occasion with music, and there was genuine pleasure for the large party in attendance.

—Mr. M. L. Range furnished the editor with a crock of butter from his "creamery" a short time ago, the quality of which is certainly very fine, and fully equal to any creamery butter that we have ever tested. Mr. Range has lately added a separator to his dairy outfit, by which he separates the cream from the milk before it is cold, thus avoiding the annoyance and labor of "setting" and skimming the milk. He has a large number of cows and intends giving the butter making industry a fair trial, and it does seem that the enterprise should be a paying one.

—The Cooksburg band boys took their annual outing last week, making Tionesta their headquarters, and pitching their tent on Dustin Island, about half a mile below town. The band is composed of some sixteen pieces, and they make excellent music, and are not a bit miserly about it. On Saturday evening they came up and were joined by the Tionesta boys, making a combined band of about 25 pieces and the town was treated to a delightful serenade. Mr. Bert Cook, through whose efforts the band was organized, takes a sort of fatherly care over the boys, and they get along without the jangling indulged by bands generally. The boys will always be welcomed in these parts, for they are a very gentlemanly set.

The Fourth in Tionesta.

Tionesta's celebration of the Fourth of July, 1894, was undoubtedly the pleasantest and most orderly that has taken place in many years. The day was a perfect one as to weather, and the several attractions were carried out in excellent style. The parade of the fantastics was the most grotesque in all particulars that has ever been had in the place, and afforded no end of fun for those who witnessed it. To describe it would be impossible. It had to be seen to be appreciated. The races came off as advertised, the north ward boys winning the horse race. The judges awarded the first prize for the boys' foot race to George Davis, second to Leonard Blum; hurdle race, 1st prize to David Blum, second to Jim Shoemaker; potato race, prize money divided; free-for-all foot race, 1st to David Blum, 2d to Jim Shoemaker; bicycle race, 1st to Al. Richards.

In this race Jas. Landers and Dr. Steele collided near the turning point, demolishing their wheels to some extent, and we didn't learn what became of the second prize. The day closed as it begun—pleasant and fair,—the large crowd in attendance being especially good-natured to the finish, and Tionesta has every reason to congratulate itself on the celebration of the 118th anniversary of the nation's independence.

Recent Deaths.

J. G. ROOT, George Root, of East Hickory, died on June 27, 1894, in the General Hospital at Buffalo, N. Y., whither he had gone some days previous to receive treatment for cancer of the stomach. He had been a sufferer for some time from this complaint.

Mr. Root was born in Genesee county, N. Y., and came to this section when yet a young man, with his elder brother, Aaron B. Root. He had since followed lumbering, and at the time of his illness had charge of the latb mill at Wheeler & Dusenbury's lumbering plant at Stowtown. He enlisted with the boys from this section in 1861, and was a member of the 83d Regiment. He was a good soldier, and an honorable citizen, having many friends in the community where he made his home, and, in fact, wherever known. His age was 59 years.

The funeral was held on the 30th ult, the interment taking place in the Evangelical church cemetery, German Hill and was largely attended by friends and comrades.

HENRY AHLERS.

Henry Ahlers, one of German Hill's excellent citizens died suddenly on Saturday evening last. For upward of a year Mr. Ahlers had been in rather poor health, his complaint being of the lungs. Shortly after supper on the above date he started leisurely to walk out after the cows, being accompanied by his young son; when a short distance from the house he began coughing and spitting blood. He sat down on a log and told the boy to go back and tell his mother to come out. The boy was gone only a few moments, but when he and his mother reached the spot they found the husband and father dead.

Mr. Ahlers was a native of Germany, but had been a resident of the United States since a young man, and was a veteran of the late war, having a good army record. He came to Forest county from Allegheny city about 25 years ago and settled on German Hill where by energy, thrift and a straight-forward life he had become one of the well-to-do farmers of that community, respected by all who knew him for his honesty and uprightness in all his dealings with his fellowmen. He leaves a wife, three daughters and one son, the latter aged about 14 years, besides a host of friends to mourn his sudden and unexpected death. He was aged 60 years, 8 months and 2 days.

The funeral took place yesterday from his late residence, the interment being in the Lutheran cemetery, of which congregation he had been a member for many years. Quite a number of the comrades and friends of the deceased attended his funeral from this place. Rev. H. J. Reimann of Oil City conducted the services.

At Rest.

Almira (Henderson) Evans daughter of James and Nancy Henderson was born in Oil City, Pa., June 7, 1864, and died June 28, 1894. Her parents removed to East Hickory, Pa., in 1865, where they still reside. She was converted in the Methodist Church of East Hickory when a child of about 13 years. Her profession was adorned and beautified by a meek, gentle spirit, and an exemplary Christian life. She loved the Blessed Word, and was often found reading the same, following its teachings. It was her aim to do good for the poor and needy. She was educated in the school at Jamestown, N. Y., at which place she was married to Gus B. Evans of East Hickory, May 28, 1882. She has been a faithful worker in the temperance cause, enduring many trials, "choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season." She has been a member of the W. C. T. U. for a number of years and could always be relied on to do faithfully any thing assigned to her. The Union attended her funeral in a body, to pay a last tribute of respect to a much loved sister. For some time she had been troubled with her lungs; on the 17th ult., she drove to her father's, and was feeling much better than for some time past; that evening she took hemorrhage of the lungs, and for one week was a great sufferer, yet she did not complain, but patiently endured until the end. With her just as a shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day." She called for her friends and as they gathered around her she told them of her blessed experience, and exhorted them to devote their lives to the service of Jesus, and many of them promised to meet her in Heaven. It was very hard for her husband to give her up, but when he did, finally, she said, "Bless the Lord; I can go so much easier now." As the end drew near, she heard the singing from the other shore, her face reflecting the smiles of her Savior as He bid her welcome home, closing her eyes to open them to the beauties of her home above. She leaves a husband, and a baby girl aged 17 months to mourn her loss. Also father and mother; Bros., F. J. Henderson, John and James Henderson; sisters, Mrs. W. P. Crouch, Mrs. N. E. Holmes. The funeral was largely attended. We laid her to rest in the family burying place near the home of her childhood. Ere long we shall meet at that beautiful land.

The dear one just passed o'er the tide— Shall meet and shall know her, to part never more. Safe anchored at last by her side. O, the thought of that meeting in bright realms above! So grand it seems almost a dream; There we shall be free from life's sorrows and cares, And love shall reign ever supreme. Our bark is now flowing the rough sea of life. While fiercely the mad breakers roar, The rocks of temptation the whirlpool of sin Are raging 'twixt us and the shore. Yet we will not despair, for now breaks on our sight, A light from that beautiful land, A beacon to guide us safe over the tide— Heaven's port is now almost at hand. Soon the dark waves of life will dash o'er us no more, Soon the waters be peaceful and still; Soon we shall behold that land of bright flowers, And quaff from its clear, sparkling rills. Soon into the "harbor of refuge" we'll glide, And our dangerous journey be o'er, And our dearest one greet us with kindness and love As we land on that beautiful shore. She is waiting for us on that evergreen shore, She is waiting to welcome us home; Soon o'er the cold tide we shall reach her loved side No more through life's darkness to roam. J. R. W. Kellestville.

The population in Kellestville was very small last week on account of the young people attending amusements at other places on the 4th. Barnum & Bailey's show at Warren, on the 5th, drew the largest number from town. There was not a single amusement in Kellestville on the 4th, and aside from the fact that there was considerable mountain dew disposed of, and the display of flags and bunting, one would scarcely know that it was independence day.

A. L. Waller, wife and family, visited relatives at Boliver, N. Y., on the 4th, returning home on the 5th.

Black's traveling menagerie gave a tent show on the Penn Tanning Co.'s grounds on Monday afternoon and evening, July 2nd. The performance consisted mainly of trained dogs, ponies and donkeys. All the citizens turned out and saw the sights at both performances. The show took perhaps $50 out of town.

Dr. Barber received a telegram Saturday stating the illness of his father at Pleasantville. Dr. B. drove over Saturday night and is now at his father's bedside.

The farmers are making their hay, which is considerable of a lighter job than making last year's crop.

Myers and Fleming have each received a new bicycle, a high grade Rambler. The above named gentlemen are good riders and we may look for some fancy riding now. Myers is agent for several different grades of wheels, and any person wishing a wheel will do well to consult with Myers before buying elsewhere.

Jim Day had the misfortune to cut his right shin by the mistroke of an axe, on Saturday, while peeling bark back of the tannery. It is unnecessary to state that Jim only hit the injured member once. The young folks enjoyed themselves a few hours dancing on July 2d, in the Andrews hotel. One of the members of the Black Bros. show furnished the music.

The tools were again lost in the deep well at Mayburg on June 30th. Up to date they have not been recovered.

WILL WALKS.

Stewart's Run.

Homer Barner finished his well on the Hayes Monday. He got about 40 feet of sand, but it seemed to have been drained by a well near by. It will make a small well.

Stewart & Son have another rig almost completed on the Hydekeeper. This well is located west of the wells drilled this spring and they expect black oil. They were wildcatting for the green oil field in the former wells, but failed to find it.

James McIntyre and the National Oil Co. have bought the Proper & Hardison wells on the Madison tract, joining the Fogle Farm on the west. There are six pumping wells at present on the lease.

O. B. McIntyre went to Bradford last week to build a rig for W. H. Wood of Titusville.

Truman Copeland has gone to Titusville to work for Mr. Herring during harvest.

Chas. Zahniser and Miss Nettie Thomson visited Rev. A. D. E. S., and Miss Josie Zahniser, at Bradford, a few days last week, including the 4th.

Mrs. O. M. McIntyre and family visited Titusville friends during the past week. The evidence against the boys is very strong, and it is not thought that he has any accomplices.

NEWSY NOTES.

Chicago is chasing New York for population honors. The windy city now claims to have 1,700,000 inhabitants, and New York has comparatively few more. But Chicago is boastful, and a fair count might put half a million of the claim.

Here is some good doctrine for you: Strive to be strong that you may help the weak; rich, that you may help the needy; truthful, that people will believe you without an affidavit; honest, that you can be trusted; virtuous that you may sleep well o' nights; kind, that people will love you; and, generous that you may not have occasion to despise yourself.

An Addition, N. Y., woman, Mrs. W. L. Adams, has won second prize in the New York Press contest for the best definition of marriage. Her answer was: "One man and one woman, drawn together like opposite poles, by pure and holy love; sanctified by heaven; legalized by law; blessed with fruitfulness; unchanged through time. This is marriage."

The Burgess act of 1893 makes a Chief Burgess practically the Mayor of a borough, and his old prerogative of presiding over Town Council, on whose acts he has a veto, is taken away. The law makes this plain, but as custom is very pertinacious in this State it has taken a lawsuit to get one Burgess to give up his office of presiding officer of Town Councils. Burgess everywhere should take note of this change, for it is made for the whole State. Its non-observance might nullify borough legislation—Phila. Times.

Ex-Senator James W. Bradbury, of Maine, who has just celebrated the ninety-second anniversary of his birth, is probably the dean of American statesmen, for he is two years older than Geo. W. Jones, of Iowa. Mr. Bradbury sat in the Senate with Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Benton, Sam Houston and Jefferson Davis, his seat being next to the last named senator. At college he was a classmate of Longfellow and Hawthorne. He has enough reminiscences of the political and literary life of the country to make a most readable book.

The latest swindle to be worked on the farmer is just now going the rounds. A smooth stranger representing himself to be a government officer calls on the farmer and claims to be hunting for counterfeit money, and demands that the farmer submit his coins for inspection and test to ascertain if he has any spurious coin in his possession. The stranger usually selects one or two pieces which he says look "suspicious," and subjects them to a test that turns them black, and he then alleges they are spurious. Of course the farmer has no right to carry counterfeit money and the stranger, in his capacity of a government officer, walks off with the coins. The swindle is being worked quite extensively.—Ex.

The bride looked very well in a traveling dress, but all eyes were centred on her groom. He wore a dark suit that fitted perfectly his manly form, a large brocket decreased his coat label and in his daintily gloved hand he carried a bouquet of American Beauties. His hair was cut close, and a delicate odor of barber's oil floated down the aisle as he passed. The young people will miss him now that he is married. He is loved by all for his many accomplishments, his tender graces and his winning ways. The bride commands a good salary as a bookkeeper in St. Joe, and the groom will miss none of the luxuries to which he had been accustomed. The crowd of pretty young men saw them off at the depot. (A sample of a wedding notice of ten years hence.)—Acheson Globe.

The Philadelphia Inquirer, which is reproducing its war news of thirty years and more ago, recently contained this bit of history, which event will doubtless be remembered by many of the "old boys" of the 83d still living in this section: Moving out of Middleburg this morning, the troops under General Buford took a road to the right, leading to Unionville, when General Gregg moved up the main road towards Ashby's Gap, passing through Reector's Cross Roads. Colonel Vincent with the Eighty-third Pennsylvania Sixteenth Michigan, Forty-fourth New York and Twentieth Maine Infantry were moved up the main road in advance, two companies in advance of each regiment. Deployed skirmishers while other companies acted as supports. Fuller's regular battery was placed in the first favorable position west of the town, and fired seven shots before receiving any response. The enemy finally opened fire with two guns and a brisk cannonading was kept up for half an hour, when the capture of one of the enemy's guns exploded by a shell thrown from a section of Fuller's battery commanded by Lieutenant Kelly and another shell broke the timber of another piece. Both guns were captured by the cavalry.

About 9 o'clock on the evening of the 4th John McAndrew, aged 17 years, newboy on the Dunkirk & Allegheny Valley road, was foully murdered in Spruce alley near Brown Street, Titusville. The fatal wounds were inflicted on the head by a conpling pin, and the throat was also cut, severing the jugular vein. The murderer is supposed to be one Fred McDonnell, and the crime was evidently for the purpose of robbing the victim of his 4th of July money. A short time after the murder F. W. Trussell's wife informed him that a man had run through their yard in the direction of Walnut street. Mr. Trussell hastened around to that street, and in a corpnatch of the fences of H. E. Potter he intercepted the fugitive, who proved to be McDonnell. The latter had thrown a bundle in a brush pile, where Trussell found it. It was a coat and vest, covered with blood, and was identified as belonging to Johnny. The suspected murderer was handed over to the officers. His collar and cuffs were stained with blood, and the two boys had been seen together in the vicinity but a short time previously. The murdered boy was always known to be exemplary in his habits. The evidence against the boys is very strong, and it is not thought that he has any accomplices.
